TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFACE TO THE NEW EDITION

The arrangement of the present volume of the Inventories of Oriental manuscripts in Leiden University Library does not differ in any specific way from the volumes which have been published earlier (vols. 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 20, 22 and 25). For the sake of brevity I refer to my prefaces in those volumes. A few essentials my be repeated here.

Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the present project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively or sufficiently, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. These have, of course, always been indicated. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark.

The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said elsewhere about the method of compilation.

Prof. Jan Just Witkam, Leiden, 4 August 2007
Interpres Legati Warneriani

This is the first volume of a complete survey of the collections of Oriental manuscripts in the library of Leiden University. The enormous amount of Oriental manuscripts in the Leiden Library implies that the following survey cannot be but very incomplete, and incomplete in many respects. First of all there is the consideration that each entry should be as concise as possible. On numerous entries I could have said much more than I have done now.
Secondly, there is the sad but inevitable fact that nobody in the world has a direct knowledge of all languages in the collections described hereafter. From that follows that the quality of the inventory cannot be but very uneven. For large parts of the collection for which I have some sort of expertise, which is mainly the material written in the Arabic and Latin alphabets, the reader can be assured that the short descriptions in the inventory have been checked first hand, or will be in the future. For those parts of the collection to which my access is by necessity limited and through the work of others only, I had to rely on a great variety of published and unpublished sources. It goes beyond saying that these are always indicated, either as part of the description of the manuscript, or, when they are frequently used sources, under the list of references at the end of the inventory.
It was precisely that great variety of sources about the Oriental manuscripts in the Leiden library gave me a powerful motive to compile the present inventory in the first place. The many years of handling handwritten inventories of all sorts that had been made of the collections made it clear to me that so much information about parts of the collection was hidden in so many places, that it became imperative to bring all disparate pieces of knowledge together in one comprehensive list. These sources range from notes of my many learned predecessors in the Leiden Library and Leiden University, which were left somewhere in the collection, to published catalogues, and everything inbetween.
An effort has been made to capitalize on the method chosen for the compilation of the present inventories. Even if all philological knowledge about the individual items of the collection seems to have been randomized by the present approach, at least the history of the collection, and of the numerous sub-collections contained therein, gets its full share, which, in earlier catalogues almost never received. In the philologically orientated catalogues that have been published during the past two centuries, that aspect has almost entirely been neglected. In course of time I have come to consider precisely that as an essential starting point for any further research on the Oriental manuscripts in the Leiden collections.
There are a few additional motives by which I let myself be guided while compiling this list. A great number of the original sources about the contents and provenance of the collections is written or published either in Latin or in Dutch, neither being very well known in the 21st century. An effort has been made to summarize the information contained therein, not to entirely replace them, but to provide those who do not read Latin easily anymore with an easy tool to their first acquaintance to the Leiden collection.

The problem of diacritics for all these Oriental languages has not been solved in this inventory. Nor could it be expected to be within the scope of this project. Instead, an effort has been done to give a sensible, recognizable transliteration for titles and names. But it must be clear that the amount and the variety of the material could not but cause numerous inconsistencies in the presentation of the bibliographical information.

There exists in the Leiden Library a handwritten volume (called 'Journaal'), which serves as an inventory to the Oriental collections. It was possibly conceived and written by the learned curator and adjutor interpretis Legati Warneriani, Cornelis van Arendonk (d. 1946), but this register does not mention his name. Younger entries have been registered by Van Arendonk's successors, P. Voorhoeve (1899-1996) and others. For the older Oriental collections the 'Journaal' is nothing more but a concordance of class-marks with references to older catalogues, usually the CCO. Hereunder follows the integral English translation of the introductory pages of the 'Journaal', which is relevant not only for the present inventory but also for the following volumes of the present survey. The highest inventory number in that first volume of the 'Journaal' is Or. 8470.

Introductory remarks and notes

Originally (that is to say already in the beginning of the eighteenth century (see H.E. Weijers, Orientalia I, p. 302, line 4) the Oriental manuscripts were divided into two parts, the smaller of which consisted of 21 (almost exclusively) Hebrew codices from the Legacy of Scaliger and also 63 (equally almost exclusively) Hebrew manuscripts from the Legacy of Warner. The larger part comprised all other manuscripts (mainly Arabic, Persian and Turkish ones) of the Scaliger Legacy (No. 212-268) and the Warner Legacy (No. 269-1199) in addition to the manuscripts purchased by Golius (No. 1-212).
When the collection was expanded later on, the new arriving manuscripts were almost all added in the Arabic division, after the Warner Legacy, so that the Arabic part comprised in the middle of the 19th century already 1634 (read 1635) numbers (Dozy, Cat. Cod. Orient. I, p. xvii). Some newly acquired items were immediately incorporated in the Hebrew section, among others the two codices that were purchased in July 1854 from Mozes Hecht, and which have never been known under other numbers than their present shelfmarks (No. 93 and No. 94).
In the year 1860 the most recently acquired manuscript in the Arabic division bore No. 1686. The two items that followed (No. 1687 and No. 1688) are the 'libri aenei' from the legacy of Professor H.A. Hamaker. When in the year 1864, after the closure the Royal Academy in Delft, the collection of around twohundred Malay and Javanese manuscripts, which was kept there, had been brought to Leiden, these codices were registered as Nos. 1689 till 1886. Soon afterwards they were set in a third, Malay-Polynesian section with new shelfnumbers (No. 1 and following).

Manuscripts that came into the collection later were always registered in a continuing numbering system (No. 1887 and following), irrespective of the section in which they were actually placed.
In the meantime, the lacunae on the shelves of the Arabic, Persian and Turkish section (Nos. 1-1686) which were caused by the transfer of several manuscripts to other sections, were filled by newly arrived (after 1864) Arabic, Persian and Turkish manuscripts (see Houtsma, Cat. Cod. Orient. IV, prologus).
Because of this circumstance the following has to be observed while consulting the inventory.
1. De class-marks 1-1686 are usually also the shelf-marks of the manuscripts in the Arabic, Persian and Turkish section. For these no separate shelf-mark is written in the inventory, except for those volumes that have been transfered from the Arabic section to other sections. It is not noted in the inventory by which numbers these have been replaced in the Arabic section, but this appears from the presence-lists of the different sections which are arranged according to the shelf-marks, and which refer to the class-marks belonging to these. The survey of numbers as given in volume VI of the Cat. Cod. Orient is now not complete anymore (Note: These "presence-lists" have not been found by Dr. van Arendonk when he became a curator of the collection. Only in years 1946-47 a concordance arranged according to the shelf-marks has been made again, and added to this is an inventory of the loan collections.)
2. Starting with No. 1689 the shelf-mark is added to each class-mark.
3. The Hebrew manuscripts which had, till now, not been incorporated into the serial number sequence of the inventory have been registered in the inventory immediately after the manuscripts of Van der Tuuk's legacy (from No. 1718 to No. 4814).
After Professor Kern had donated in the year 1864 to the Library a collection of Sanskrit manuscripts, and after some 150 Batak manuscripts of the Van der Tuuk Legacy had entered the Library, the Oriental manuscripts were divided into six sections, namely:
1. Ar. = Arabic, Persian and Turkish manuscripts.
2. Hebr. = Hebrew, Samaritan, Syriac, Armenian, Coptic, Ethiopian and other manuscripts.
3. Mal. = Malay, Javanese, Madurese, Sundanese, and other languages of the Indian archipelago.
4. Lont. = The manuscripts from the Indian archipelago, written on palm leaves.
5. Bat. = Batak manuscripts and other manuscripts from Sumatra on tree bark or bambu.
6. Skr. = Sanskrit, Tamil, Sinhalese, Japanese and Chinese manuscripts.

(End of the English translation of the introduction of the first volume of the ‘Journaal’)

The present survey is not meant to be a catalogue, nor a handlist. It is just what is says to be on the title-page, an inventory. As such it is part of a project to compile and publish inventories of collections of Oriental manuscripts in private and public collections in and outside The Netherlands. Earlier I have published a trial volume of part of the collections of Leiden University, Inventory of the Oriental manuscripts in the Legatum Warnerianum in the Library of the University of Leiden and other collections in The Netherlands (Leiden 2001), and I have several more such volumes ready for electronic publication. Those will note come out on paper anymore, however, and the 2001 publication of the 12th volume is by the numerous corrections and additions which have been made severely out of date.

I will shortly explain how and why this inventory was compiled. Presently my choice of format is just a list, and the reader will see soon enough how it is structured. It is not a database on purpose, although I have heard, in the past decade, whenever I discussed this project with colleagues and friends, not few suggestions that I compile a database instead of lists. I can understand the implicite criticism, which I reject. For the moment I prefer to come up with lists. One reason is implicit in the material itself. The structure of numerous Middle Eastern manuscript volumes is that of a collective volume. Often there is a rationale behind this, as the owner or compiler may have had a reason to place certain texts together in one and the same volume. In a database this information is largely lost, and text-oriented approach of a database is now generally abandoned among codicologists. But there is a more important consideration in favour of the compilation of lists, rather than the construction of a database. This is the enormous variety of origin in time and space of the material described. For some languages there has been achieved, in course of time, a quite sophisticated level of bibliography. The Hebrew manuscript literature is an example of a relatively small corpus of texts which has received relatively ample attention of bibliographers. A far larger literature, that of Arabic manuscripts, has received much attention from the scholarly world, yet it is, in comparison to Hebrew manuscripts, relatively underresearched, precisely due to its enormous quantities of textual witnesses. Some languages of South-East Asia, such as the Batak or the Buginese languages, or even the far larger Malay and Javanese languages, only have received attention from a relatively small number of bibliographers, and hence remain relatively little known. Now, all these different cultures, with their different outlooks on their own traditional literatures, in their different stages of development of description, ask for different approaches on different levels of detail and sophistication. They cannot be caught in one single system of description without the risk of superficiality or the other extreme, an excess of detail. Such database systems, which would have been designed from a Western point of departure and with non-indigenous requirements, would never do justice to the material described here. That in particular was my main reason for preferring the freedom of a list over the straitjacket of a database. Yet the present inventory is not entirely unstructured, it shows a fixed sequence of elements of bibliographical information, in a codicologally sound way without the necessarily text-oriented approached of a bibliographical database. Whenever needed, additional information is added to each description, which will be as full-text searcheable as any other element of the descriptions, in an entirely open structure, and thereby practically beyond the risk of being outdated as so many databases have become.
A few words on the originality of the present work are due here. As Oriental manuscript collections, even if we limit ourselves to those in a small country such as the Netherlands, may contain materials in many, sometimes more than a hundred languages, it is evident that there is no person on earth who is able to compile single-handedly such an inventory with first-hand knowledge. Personally I do have a long-standing knowledge of Arabic and Persian, and I combine this with some working knowledge of Turkish, Urdu and Malay. Generally speaking, as long as a manuscript is written in the Arabic script or a derivation thereof, I can more or less form myself an idea of its content. That is a lot, but it is not enough by far. The present collection, which counts only a few hundreds of bibliographical entities contains materials in 27 different languages.

That means that for a number of manuscripts I have had to rely on data made available by others more competent in their own fields than I. Extensive, but critical use has been made of some of the older and newer catalogues of the Dutch collections, and the information contained therein was often checked against the originals and then cast into the format of the present inventory. I do not, of course, claim authorship of all such information, as I am only the compiler, the intelligent compiler, of the present inventory, using numerous sources and investing time and effort in the display of the bibliographical data. Claiming anything else would be preposterous. I cannot but advise the user of the inventory to always consult the sources to which reference is made in the entries. These may be fuller and more detailed than the entry in the present inventory, but when they contradict the present inventory they are not necessarily always right. Whenever quotations or summaries of text by others are incorporated in the present inventory, this is always indicated by source and origin. On the other hand, I should not be too modest. Numerous bibliographical details were noticed by myself for the first time in the manuscripts here listed and then added to the descriptions of the present inventory.

In orther to make up for the relatively primitive search possibilities of a text, more sophisticated search engines may come into place at a later stage. When a large descriptions and entries are completed, and after a basic editorial activity on it has been performed, a search engine will be designed which will enable the user to quickly find an answer to his or her bibliographical queries, with all the advanced possibilities of an electronic tool. In addition, it is probable that such an electronic inventory will stimulate the publication of in-depth catalogues of part of the collections. The mass of bibliographical information which is herewith provided will, I hope, also give a stimulus to cataloguers of manuscript collections outside Leiden or the Netherlands to design the same or similar projects. I have avoided to accept the invitation to sloppiness which all this might entailed.

Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume have already been viewed by autopsy. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the project. When a manuscript was not (yet) inspected this can be seen by a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, or when there is no shelf-mark at all, I have not, or not extensively, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark. The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

The present inventory is not a publication in the old-fashioned sense that it is an unchangeable monolith. Books of this sort need no longer be written in such a way, they are permanenly under construction and reconstruction. The version of the inventory shown here is nothing more than a reflection of the state of research of today on the Oriental manuscripts which it contains, and it is constantly being kept up-to-date. As said above, the stage of completion of the descriptions in this volume makes it possible to come with a first version, which is then enlarged and improved by myself and, and this is really the best part of present-day technical developments, by the users of the inventory themselves. They especially are requested to come forward with suggestions and corrections.

A short note on transliteration is due here. In order to facilitate searching the inventory, the transliteration has been reduced to the absolute minimum. In names of authors and titles of books no diacritics at all have been used. I am aware of the severe shortcomings of this minimal transliteration, but the alternative would have been a severe flaw in the functionality. In the occasional annotations to my descriptions I am using diacritics according to international standards. This fact once mores stresses the importance that the reader should always have recourse to the original catalogues or, preferably, to the manuscripts themselves.

INVENTORY OF THE ORIENTAL MANUSCRIPTS OF THE LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LEIDEN

VOLUME 1

MANUSCRIPTS OR. 1 – OR. 1000

ACQUISITIONS IN THE PERIOD BETWEEN 1609 AND 1665.
MAINLY THE COLLECTIONS OF JACOBUS GOLIUS (1629),
OF JOSEPHUS JUSTUS SCALIGER (1609)
AND PART OF THE COLLECTION OF LEVINUS WARNER (1665)

Or. 1- Or. 211 The Golius collection

The collection which Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) brought together, first in Morocco, then, between 1625 and 1629 in Aleppo and Istanbul, and then, between 1629 and 1667 from various other sources. It was first registered in the Leiden library in 1629, and with it the Leiden series of class-marks (Codex Orientalis, or Cod. Or., or even shorter Or.) was started. Registration took place by first sorting the manuscripts by size (in an approximate way, as can be seen from the different sizes of the volumes in Or. 2), and then numbering them from 1 through 211. This does not mean, however, that the Golius manuscripts were the very first Oriental manuscripts in the Leiden collection. Those were the Oriental manuscripts in the Legacy of J.J. Scaliger (1540-1609). They were not immediately divided into Western and Oriental sections, nor were they registered in 1609. They were kept in a special cupboard that was placed in the Library and which can be seen on the engraving of the first Leiden library made in 1610 by W. Swanenburgh after the drawing by J.C. Woudanus. A few other Oriental materials had entered the Library before the Golius collection, and these too were probably kept in the Scaliger cupboard. It may be surmised that only when the Golius collection entered the library, the need for organization of an Oriental collection was felt, and the system of class-marks that is still in use today was devised. In that sense the arrival of the Golius collection does indeed mark the beginning of the Oriental manuscript collections in the Library of Leiden University. The Scaliger Oriental manuscripts were then registered (Or. 212-Or. 268), see below. See there also for a discussion on the disputed origin of a number of the Scaliger manuscripts. The Golius collection was first described in a letter which Golius had sent to his friend Pierre Gassendi (1592-1655) in Paris, who, realizing its importance, published it as a separate booklet.[1] Golius had purchased the manuscripts with funds provided by Leiden University. On many of the title-pages or fly-leaves, the prices are written.
What few people knew at the time was that Golius had also brought together an almost equally large collection of important Oriental manuscripts for himself. He kept that collection in his own house, and it was auctioned off by order of his successors in 1696, almost thirty years after his death (Catalogus insignium in omni facultate, linguisque, Arabica, Persica, Turcica, Chinensi &c librorum m.ss. quos [...] Jacobus Golius [...] collegit. Quorum auctio habebitur [...] ad diem XVI. Octobris [1696]. Leiden 1696). See on this matter now J.J. Witkam, Jacobus Golius en zijn handschriften. Leiden 1980. A few items of Golius' own collection eventually arrived in the Leiden collections, see below Or. 1229, 1272, 1280, 1283, 1284 (?), 1499 (?), 1628, 1929 (?), 3080, 3081, 3082, 3083, and Acad. 10, 29, 50, 111, 130, 145, 146, 150, 152, 155, 156, 164, 166, 170, 172, 174, 176, 182, 183, 187, 188, 194, 204, 208, or were already extant in the Library, without their provenance fully realized so that they had to registered at a later date (Or. 1221, below), or in other Dutch public collections, such as Utrecht Or. 98.

In both Golian collections was a Greek manuscript. The manuscript with Ptolemean tables and related texts (Or. 182, below), which Golius had brought from Constantinople for the Leiden library, has now been transferred to the Western manuscripts department, where it is registered as BPG 78. The volume which contains the Elementa of Euclid, together with a few other texts, Golius had acquired from the estate of his predecessor in Leiden of the chair of mathematics, Willebrord Snellius (1580-1626). That manuscript eventually also came to the Leiden library, after it had been auctioned off in 1668, as part of the Golius collection of printed books (Catalogus bibliothecae Jacobi Golii, quae publ. auct. distrah. 4 jun. 1668. Leiden 1668, p. 26, No. 67). That manuscript is now registered in the Leiden library as BPG 7. See for a full description of its content: K.A. de Meyier & E. Hulshoff Pol, Codices bibliothecae publicae graeci. Leiden 1965, pp. 10-12.
With the MS which is registered as Or. 37 there is a problem of chronology, as it is dated 1050/1641. Golius may somehow have acquired it after his return from the Levant.
See for a full and detailled survey of Golius' life and work the thesis of W.M.C. Juynboll, Zeventiende-eeuwsche beoefenaars van het Arabisch in Nederland. Utrecht 1931, pp. 119-183.
The posthumous portrait of Golius by Hieronymus van der My (1687-1761) which is kept in Leiden University's Senate Chamber and its iconographical sources are described in Icones Leidenses, No. 81. The original portrait of c. 1650 mentioned there is possibly the one which is now extant in the private collection of the Dutch politician M. van der Goes van Naters (born 1900), who is a far descendant of Golius.

Or. 5
Arabic, paper, 46 ff., naskh script, expert gadwala work, dated end Gumada I 960 (colophon on f. 46a), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, blind tooled, and also gilded, ornamentation.
Qabs al-Anwar wa-Bahgat al-Asrar, ascribed to Ibn al-`Arabi (d. 638/1240), GAL G I, 446. Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 261. This ascription would seem to be incorrect. It is based on a later note written on a ff. 3b-4a. Several parts of the work point to an older, more Oriental and partly Christian origin. The volume contains a great number of (mostly) divinatory texts, highly artistically executed in different types of gadawil. Together it is a true divinatory encyclopedia, executed in a most attractive way. Survey of the contents, see also CCO 1220 (III, pp. 172-174):
(1) ff. 1b-2a. World map, in the Ptolemaean projection. See the reproduction in Youssouf Kamal, Monumenta cartographica Africae et Aegypti. Leiden 1926-1951, p. 971.
(2) ff. 3b-4a. Introduction to Qabs al-Anwar, by Ibn al-`Arabi.
(3) ff. 4b-5a. Ikhtiyarat al-Ayyam, according to the day and night, and the days of the week and the month.
(4) ff. 5b-6a. Ikhtiyarat according to the moon in the 28 mansions.
(5) ff. 6b-7a. Ikhtiyarat according to the moon in the 12 signs of the zodiac.
(6) ff. 7b-8a. Ikhtiyarat according to the ascendants and the location of the moon and the stars, on the authority of Abu Ma`shar al-Balkhi.
(7) ff. 8b-9a. Ikhtiyarat according to the moon and the higher and lower stars.
(8) ff. 9b-10a. Table for zagr and fal according to Buzurgmihr and the wise men of India.
(9) ff. 10b-11a. Ikhtiyarat according to Hermes and Zosimos, according to the position of the moon in the 12 signs of the zodiac.
(10) ff. 11b-12a. Table for Ikhtilag, the interpretation of involuntary bodily twitchings, according to Ga`far al-Sadiq.

Or. 6
Samaritan, parchment, the oldest part was copied in 751 AH (1350 AD).
Samaritan Pentateuch. CCO 2341 (V, p. 63). The Leiden manuscript is MS G of the edition by August von Gall, Der hebräische Pentateuch der Samaritaner. Giessen 1914-1918 (5 vols.), cf. vol. 1, pp. ix-xi. Von Gall gives a detailed description of the content of the volume and he edits and translates the buyers' notes in the MS.
Added are two folios of parchment of smaller size, equally with Samaritan text. These contain Numeri 22:19 - 23:25 (fragment y in the edition A. von Gall [I, p. lxi]).
A modern Samaritan reader has on July 7, 1975, added a note in Samaritan script.

Or. 14
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, and one in Persian (No. 22), European paper (from the Dutch consular chancellery in Aleppo?), 501 pp, and blanks. Full parchment binding, apparently made in Holland.
Copies made by al-Darwish Ahmad (his colophon on p. 163, but he seems to be the copyist of the entire volume; against this assumption see R.P.A. Dozy, in CCO I (Leiden 1851), pp. xiv-xv. Dozy mentions the Christian Arab Niqulaus b. Butrus 'Nicolaus Petri filius' as the copyist of the texts after No. 1. An argument against this is my remark concerning the original of No. 19, below) in Aleppo for Jacobus Golius. The drawings in No. 1 were made by Golius himself, who occasionally wrote hawashi as well. The other drawings and figures appear to be by the copyist. Golius had most texts in this volume copied because he apparently could not acquire the originals. The exception to this is, of course, the first text in the volume, which is a working copy of the MS in his private collection. As I have shown (J.J. Witkam, Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) en zijn handschriften. Leiden 1980, p. 63), Levinus Warner could acquire manuscripts which were, earlier, not available for Golius for purchase (see the example, text No. 19, below). See for similar manuscripts als Or. 161 and Or. 162 below. The MS is misbound, but in the following description the order of the pages as numbered in the MS is followed. This does not always reflect the order of the leaves in the MS. See in this connection especially the transition between pp. 377-378. Petri has copied the Apollonius text, as is clear from his letter to Golius in Or. 1228 (38), below.

(1) pp. 1-163. Books 5-7 of the edition by Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1274), GAL G I, 508, and 511, No. 33, of the Arabic version of the Conica by Apollonius of Perga (GAS V, pp. 136-143), in the translation by Thabit b. Qurra (d. 288/901), GAL G I, 217, and edited by the Banu Musa (GAL G I, 216), with glosses by Ibn al-Bawwab. Copied from the MS in Golius' private collection (now MS Oxford, Bodleian Library, Bodl. 943). CCO 979 (III, p. 44-45). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 180. Golius had this copy made as a working copy, probably in order not to spoil the magnificent original which he kept at home. Dated Friday 15 Dhu al-Higga 1036, copied by al-Darwish Ahmad b. al-Hagg Husam al-`Akalshani (colophon on p. 163, and edited in CCO 979 [vol. III, pp. 44-45]). Occasionally Golius' notes are in the margin. The figures and their legends have been drawn by Golius. Extensive Hashiya in Golius' hand on p. 52.

On p. 163 details on the compilation of the work, the completion of the exemplar, and the colophon of the present manuscript are given: 'The writer of these lines, Muhammad b. Muhammad b. al-Hasan al-Tusi completed the recording (Dabt) of this book and the correction of this copy with God's help and mercy, on 21 Dhu al-Higga of the year 645. He had begun to work on this on 12 Rabi` I of the same year. He did not have spare time for this for more than two thirds of the period. The completion by the writer of the glosses on this text and the correction and improvement of the figures was completed by Ahmad b. `Ali b. CCO 1008 (III, p. 60). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 195. GAS V, 370. This is manuscript KH1 in the edition by Elaheh Kheirandish, The Arabic version of Euclid's Optics (Kitab Uqlidis fi Ikhtilaf al-Manazir). Edited and translated with historical introduction and commentary. New York 1999, 2 vols. See the description of the Leiden MS, with bibliographical references on I, p. xlvi. However, Kheirandish erroneously mentions for this manuscript the date of copying as c. 500 AH. The present MS, however, being commissioned by Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) during his journey to the Middle East, was copied in the late 1620's, is is clear from the colophon on p. 163, above.
(9) pp. 237-240. Mas'ala dhakaraha Abu Nasr al-Farabi fil-Maqala al-Ula min al-Fann al-Awwal fil-Musiqi. Fragment of Kitab al-Musiqi, by Muhammad b. Muhammad Abu Nasr al-Farabi (d. 339/950), GAL G I, 212. CCO 1424 (III, p. 301). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 242. See, however, Amnon Shiloah, The theory of music in Arabic writings (c. 900-1900). München 1979, No. 299, pp. 392-393, where the ascription to al-Farabi is refuted, on the basis of mathematical principles, and since the (unknown) author mentions the 'learned Abu al-Futuh', who is identified by Shiloah with `Umar al-Khayyam. The question raised by al-

Farabi is here apparently quoted in order to be refuted.

CCO 1068 (III, pp. 95-96). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 305. Space for figures has been left open, possibly because the exemplar lacked the figures as well.
(16) pp. 315-321. Fragments (al-Maqala al-Sabi`a) copied for Golius from a MS of Kitab al-Fihrist by Muhammad b. Ishaq Ibn al-Nadim (d. 377/987), GAL G I, 147. Ishaq Ibn al-Nadim]. Mit Anmerkungen herausgegeben von Gustav Flügel. Nach dessen Tode besorgt von Johannes Roediger und August Mueller. Leipzig 1871-1872, 2 vols. There must be a connection between this copy and Leiden Or. 1221, which was once in the possession of Golius. The present fragment exactly ends at the place where there is a lacuna in the text as preserved in Or. 1221, f. 8b. The beginning of Or. 1221 is damaged, but may have been less damaged in Golius' time than it is nowadays. The present fragment is, at the beginning of the text, slightly more complete than the text in Or. 1221, f. 1b. See Flügel's edition, I, p. 241, line 27, for the beginning of the lacuna in Or. 1221.

Place for figure left open. Or. 1024 (6), below, seems to be the exemplar of this copy. The text is identical, and see also the relationship between Or. 1024 (7) and Or. 14 (19).
(19) pp. 341-349. Kalimat min Sharh al-Maqala al-`Ashira min Kitab Uqlidis. Commentary by Ahmad b. al-Husayn al-Ahwazi, GAL S I, 387, possibly identical with Abu al-Husayn Muhammad b. al-Husayn al-Ahwazi (c. 330/941), GAL G I, 96, on the 10th book of the Elementa by Euclid. CCO 971 (III, p. 41). CCO 22 (I, p. 17). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 392-393. The exemplar of this text seems to be Or. 1024 (7), below. See J.J. Witkam, Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) en zijn handschriften. Leiden 1980, p. 63. Apparently Levinus Warner, the former owner of Or. 1024, could acquire that MS which had not been available to Golius for purchase. Pp. 350-357 blank.

(20) pp. 358-379. Commentary by Abu Dawud Sulayman b. `Uqba, a contemporary of Abu Ga`far al-Khazin, GAL S I, 855, on the second half of the 10th book of the Elementa by Euclid. Arabic, paper (101 ff. old medieval paper, and 34 ff. new paper), 135 ff., maghribi script in an old and in a recent han, full-parchment European binding Kitab al-Musta`ini, the tabular pharmacopeia of simple medicines by Yusuf b. Ishaq Ibn Baklarash al-Isra'ili (c. 500/1106), GAL G I, 486. CCO 1339 (III, pp. 246-249). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 243.

Title and author are mentioned in a marginal addition written over the beginning of the introduction:

كتاب المستعينى فى الادوية المفردة مما عني بجمعه وتاليفه يونس بن اسحاق بن بكلارش الاسرآئيلى للمستعين بالله تعلى ابى جعفر احمد بن المؤتمن بالله

Over the beginning is also written in bold script: كتاب المستعينى فى المفردات الطبيه.

It is evident that the original part of this volume is an incomplete medieval copy of the text, which was supplemented and completed by a much more recent hand, writing on European paper (watermark: helmet with a towering crown on top). The MS was purchased by Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) while travelling in Morocco in 1624. The MS is mentioned by one of his correspondents, Ahmad b. Qasim, who writes to Goloius that the MS is available from its owner, al-ṭabīb 'the physician'. He estimates its age as four hundred years. This can, of course, only apply to the old part of the present MS (See Or. 1228 (32), below).

The division between the old part and the supplement of the text is as follows:

New paper	Old paper
ff. 1-13	ff. 14-15
16	17
18	19
20-23	24-29
30	31-43

48	49-82
83	84-96
97	98-100
101	102-115
116	117-125
126	127
Total: 34 ff.	Total: 101 ff.

The medical materials are given in alphabetical order by their names, whereby the following order is used: alif, bāʾ, ğīm, dāl, hāʾ, wāw, zāy, ḥāʾ, ṭāʾ, yāʾ, kāf, lām, mīm, nūn, sīn, ʿayn, fāʾ, qāf, rāʾ, ṣād, tāʾ, thāʾ, khāʾ, dhāl, ghayn, shīn. This order is neither the western nor the eastern abğad order, but in fact a mix with elements of both.

¶ Pasted to the fly-leaf in front, and loosely inserted are two papers with notes in the hand of R.P.A. Dozy (1820-1883), dated 16 June 1867, concerning MS Naples of the Kitāb al-Mustaʿīnī. Dozy quotes the colophon of the Naples MS which is dated 14 Dhū al-Ḥiğğa 888 (1482) and copied in Almeria, and which itself was copied from a MS dated 17 Rabīʿ 663 (1265) copied in Cordoba.

On 15 October 2003 a very old MS of this text (which was copied in Aragon on Saturday 18 January 1130 / Safar 524, and thereby the earliest known dated MS of the text) was sold by Sotheby's in London. Apart from the Arabic text, that MS also shows marginal headings in Latin and Latinized Greek. It has been extensively described and illustrated in Sotheby's auction catalogue Arts of the Islamic World, pp. 20-25. In the auction catalogue it is argued that that MS is the only surviving work from the library of the Banu Hud. The MS was purchased on behalf of the Arcadian Library in London, where it now is and where it has been inspected by me in the course of July 2004.

See H.A. Hamaker, Specimen catalogi codicum mss. Orientalium Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae [...]. Leiden 1820, pp. 177-195, where the class-mark of the MS is given as MS 1348 (referring to the 1716 catalogue of the Library, p. 463).
¶ The dating of the MS, 1050/1641, which is unquestionable, makes it impossible that Golius purchased the book in the Orient, where he acquired his collections in the period between 1625-1629, and in 1641 his pupil Levinus Warner had not yet arrived in the Levant.

Or. 46
Arabic, paper, 32 ff. and blanks, naskh script with thuluth headings, possibly an autograph or author's copy (f. 32b), mid-10/16th cent., illuminated title-page (f. 1a), illuminated `unwan (f. 1b), illustration (f. 10a), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, with gold and coloured ornamentation (borders, medallion).
`Umdat al-`Irfan fi Wasf Huruf al-Qur'an, a Qasida on the pronunciation of Arabic by Hamd Allah b. Khayr al-Din (a preacher in the Aya Sofia mosque, fl. 948/1541), GAL G II, 438. CCO 1646 (IV, pp. 12-13). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 386. With an illustration of the human instrument of speech, executed in gold ink, with legend in black (f. 10a). The introduction, which is in prose, contains a Qasida in praise of Sultan Sulayman the Magnificent, to whom the book is dedicated.
f. 1a. Illuminated title-page. Roundel (12 sections) with text in white on gold fond: `Umdat al-`Irfan fi Wasf Huruf al-Qur'an min Nazm al-Shaykh al-Imam wal-Ustadh al-Hammam Qudrat al-Qurra' al-Muta'akhkhirin Uswat al-Ruwat wal-Mugawwidin Mawlana Hamd Allah b. Khayr al-Din al-Khatib bil-Gum`a al-Ghara' al-Mashhura bi-Aya Sufiya as`adahu Allah wa-as`ada bihi al-Muslimin.

The additional texts on f. 32b are two Taqriz for the main text of the volume, both of which are undated. One is signed by Muhammad b. Baha' al-Din. The other, written in a script which shows maghribi features, is signed by Abu al-Karam b. Abi al-Barakat al-Tunisi. Then follow three blank leaves, which must have been intended to write more Taqriz on. From this, one may assume that the present volume is indeed the author's copy, as he, more than anyone else, would be interested to collect Taqriz texts from his circle.
Golius' price: 1 Dal. (front fly-leaf).

Or. 48
Arabic, paper, 132 ff., naskh script, copied by Taqi al-Din Ibn Ma`ruf (f. 1a: malakahu istinsakhan, followed by the signature), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, blind tooled ornamentation (medallion, borders).
Kitab `Unwan al-`Ibar wa-Diwan al-Mubtada' wal-Khabar, being the introductory volume, better known as al-Muqaddima, which is the first volume of Diwan al-Mubtada' wal-Khabar fi Tarikh al-`Arab wal-`Agam wal-Barbar wa-man `asarahum min Dhawi al-Sha'n al-Akbar, the history by `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad Ibn Khaldun (d. 808/1406), GAL G II, 244. CCO 767 (II, pp. 149-153); CCA 850 (II, pp. 24-27). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 120.
The MS is in many smaller details different from both published versions (Bulaq 1274/1857 by Nasr al-Hurini and Paris 1858-1868 by Quatremère). It has several readings, all of a few lines of text, which are in neither of the two editions. See on this M'barek Redjala, 'Un texte inédit de la Muqaddima', in Arabica 22 (1975), pp. 320-323. See now also for remarks of textual criticism with reference to the Leiden MS: Ibn Khaldûn, Le Livre des Exemples. I. Autobiographie. Muqaddima. Texte traduit, présenté et annoté par Abdesselam Cheddadi. Paris 2002 (Bibliothèque de la Pléiade 490), pp. 1293-1295. Within the textual transmission of the Muqaddima, Cheddadi classifies the Leiden manuscript, which he gives the siglum B, as 'version primitive'. The other manuscript witness of this 'primitive version' is, according to Cheddadi, MS London, British Library, Add. 9574 (Cheddadi's siglum: A). There exists a partial edition by M'barek Redjala of the primitive version: Ibn Khaldûn, al-Muqaddimah, première version orientale. Aix-en-Provence, vol. 1 (1981), vol. 2 (1983), vol. 3 not (yet) published.

¶ Taqi al-Din Ibn Ma`ruf signs as the judge of al-Manufiyya (f. 1a: not in this MS, but where [in a Leiden MS]?!), and he is probably identical with the famous astronomer by that name, who was active at the court of Sultan Sulayman I (reigned 926-974) and established an observatory. He is also the main figure in the well-known miniature in the Shahinshahnama (MS Istanbul University Library No. F 1404, f. 57a). See a reproduction of the miniature in M.Ş. Ipşiroğlu, Islâmda resim yasağı ve sonuçları, Istanbul 1971, p. 102 [OLG 10:7331].
Note: As his observatory was located just below the location of the Dutch embassy in Pera (now the Palais de Hollande on Istiklal Caddesi in Beyoğlu), it is not too far-fetched to assume, that Jacobus Golius (1596-1667), as a temporary secretary of the Embassy and at the same time highly interested in astronomy, had established a relationship with the librarian or keeper of the by then inactive observatory. The presence of this autograph in the Golius collection may well be the key argument for this. See also Suheil Ünver, in: ?.

This is the copy which Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) used for his dictionary (Lexicon Arabico-Latinum, contextum ex probatioribus Orientis lexicographis. Leiden 1653), for which the present MS was a main source. Four illuminated title-pages: Or. 85a, ff. 1a, 254a; Or. 85 b, ff. 1a, f. 263a. The copyist has written the lemmata in large script in red ink in the margins. Numerous pencil notes by Jacobus Golius can be seen in the margins.
The text in the first illumination reads (Or. 85a, f. 1a): al-Guz' al-Awwal min al-Sahah fil-Lugha. Tasnif Abi Nasr Isma`il b. Hammad al-Gawhari [with indication of the letters of the alphabet covered by that part]. One illuminated space has been left open for an indication of the ex-libris which was never added.

The text in the second illumination reads (Or. 85a, f. 254a): al-Guz' al-Thani min al-Sahah fil-Lugha. Tasnif Abi Nasr Isma`il b. Hammad al-Gawhari [with indication of the letters of the alphabet covered by that part]. One illuminated space has been left open for an indication of the ex-libris which was never added.
¶ Acad. 69 (2), below, was made on the basis of this MS. Acad. 70 is a copy of al-Gawhari's introduction, taken from Or. 85a. Acad. 71, vol. I, contains collations with this MS by Everard Scheidius (1742-1794).
See H.A. Hamaker, Specimen catalogi codicum mss. Orientalium Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae [...]. Leiden 1820, pp. 48-51, where the class-mark of the MS is given as MS 1350 (referring to the 1716 catalogue of the Library, p. 462).

Or. 92
Arabic, paper, 2 + 149 + 3 ff., naskh script, dated 15 Gumada I 660 (?), copied from an exemplar dated 1 Ragab 622 (colophon on f. 149b, wronly quoted in CCO), owner's note by `Abd al-Rahman al-Samanudi, dated 966 AH (f. 1a), full-leather standard Library binding. Lacuna between ff. 1b-2a. Also part of the end of the text seems to be missing. Beginning and end may have been written as replacements.
The first part only of Kitab al-Hiyal wal-Hurub wa-Fath al-Mada'in wa-Hifz al-Durub, ascribed to Iskandar Dhu al-Qarnayn. On f. 1a is the title: Kitab al-Hiyal wal-Hurub wa-Alat al-Salah wa-Hisar al-Qila` wa-Sifat al-Darb bil-Sayf wal-Ramy bil-Nushab wa-`Amal al-Barud. On f. 149b is the title: al-Muntakhab min Kitab al-Hiyal fil-Hurub. CCO 1415 (III, pp. 291-292). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 116-117.
¶ See H. Ritter, 'La parure des cavaliers und die Literatur über die ritterlichen Künste', in Der Islam 18 (1929), pp. 116-154. On pp. 151-152 Ritter mentions MS Istanbul, Topkapi Saray 3469 (2), which contains the same text (here with title Kitab al-Hiyal fil-Hurub wa-Fath al-Mada'in wa-Hifz al-Durub. The authorship in the Istanbul MS is given as follows: ... min Hikam Dhi al-Qarnayn al-Iskandar b. Filibus al-Yunani, and the origin is said to be as found in 'a vault (or dungeon or cave, Daymas) in Alexandria, between two stones ... and written in Greek, and then translated into Arabic'. These details are missing in the present manuscript due to the lacuna in the first chapter. Or. 499, below, is another and more complete copy of the text.

Anawati No. 3. CCO 1452 (III, p. 321). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 139. Title on f. 310b: Sharh Mushkilat al-Isharat. Marginal and interlinear glossing throughout. On ff. 205b-206a, 259a many notes.
- ff. 1b-95a. The part on Mantiq.

¶ The second part (al-Tabi`iyyat and al-Ilahiyyat) have been published (Cairo 1325 AH).
Also in the volume:
- f. 1a. Lines of poetry ascribed to Ibn Sina (d. 428/1037), GAL G I, 456, in three different hands.
- ff. 1a, 310b. Readers'notes, some with dates: 695: Musa b. Abi Mansur b. al-H... al-Mutatabbib al-Isra'ili al-Mawsili; 778: al-M... al-Mutatabbib al-Masihi al-Mawsili (f. 1a); 781: Ibn al-Muhadhdhib al-Mawsili (f. 310b).
- ff. 95a-b. Reading and ownership notes. On f. 95a: readership note by Muhammad b. Muhammad b. Yusuf al-..., known as al-Riyadi, who did find a fault in the book. Also (on f. 95b) poetical quotations, by al-Buhturi (d. 284/897), GAL S I, 41, and al-Wazir Mu'ayyad al-Din Muhammad b. al-`Alqami. On f. 95b also a readership note by Gamal al-Din Muhammad b. al-Mutahhar al-Hilli, who has collated the text with the author's copy. He read once with the author and he heard another time from the author.
- f. 96a. A note on al-Kayf.
- ff. 96b-97a. Persian poetry, by Mawlana Nasr al-M... (?).
- f. 310b. Qira'a note of reading sessions, the last one of which took place on 13 Safar 691, noted down in Madinat al-Salam, Baghdad, by `Abd al-`Aziz b. Gum`a b. Zayd al-Mawsili.

Added: a loose leaf, of different make, with four distichs in Arabic.

On the end fly-leaves: a chronogram in Persian for the death of Nasir al-Din al-Tusi, namely 672 AH, taken from a gloss in the Sharh al-Tagrid.
On the final fly-leaf a table of contents for parts 1 and 2, with the remarkt that the sections in part 1 are called Nahg, and those in part 2 Namt.
Earlier provenance: No. 10 of an earlier collection.

'Niksar', in EI[2], as can be seen in the MS on f. 19a), modern paper covers (19th century?). Fly-leaf in front has a title, in a modern hand.
(1) f. 1a. Gadwal-i Sa`at Nisf al-Nahari-yi `Ard-i LTH.
(2) ff. 1b-19a. Commentary in Persian on the Arabic translation of Ptolemaeus' Karpos. CCO 1172 (III, pp. 145-146) proposes Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1273) as the possible author. As the study note at the end is dated Ragab 625, al-Tusi cannot be the author. The MS can be as old as that. The language is Persian, but it contains many phrares en sentences in Arabic.
(3) f. 19b. Arabic. A note on arithmetics, beginning: Wa-billah al-Tawfiq. Idha aradna an nagma` al-A`dad al-Mutawaliya min Wahid ...
(4) f. 19b. Persian. A note on time calculation, with the title Istikhrag-i Tali` az Irtifa`-yi Waqt. With a drawing as illustration.

f. 2b. al-Maqala al-Ula fi Ma`rifat Istikhrag al-Awtar al-Waqi`a fil-Da'ira ..., divided into 10 sections (Fasl).
f. 23b. al-Maqala al-Thaniya fi Ma`rifat al-Burhan `ala al-Shaklayn al-Mughni wal-Zilli wa-Istikhrag al-Maqadir al-Maghula minhuma..., divided into 3 sections (Fasl).
f. 31a. al-Maqala al-Thalitha fi Dhikr al-A`mal al-Muta`allaqa bil-Layl wal-Nahar ..., divided into 11 sections (Fasl).

f. 51a. al-Maqala al-Rabi`a fi Dhikr al-Usul al-Mawdu`a li-Harakat al-Shams al-Mustawiya al-Gariya `ala al-Istidara wa-Zaman Sanatiha wa-Harakatiha al-Wusta ..., divided into 9 sections (Fasl).
f. 65b. al-Maqala al-Khamisa fi Dhikr Istikhrag al-Harakat al-Mawdu`a lil-Qamar min Qibal Irsadiha fil-Khusufat ..., divided into 12 sections (Fasl).
f. 84b. al-Maqala al-Sadisa fi Dhikr Ikhtilaf Manzaray al-Tul wal-`Ard ..., divided into 18 sections (Fasl).
f. 111a. al-Maqala al-Sabi`a fi Ma`rifat Istikhrag Mawadi` al-Kawakib al-Thamaniya min Falak al-Burug ..., divided into 7 sections (Fasl).
f. 122a. al-Maqala al-Thamina fi Ma`rifat Istikhrag Mawadi` al-Kawakib al-Khamsa al-Muta... (?) min Falak al-Burug wa-Harakatiha fil-Tul ..., divided into 13 sections (Fasl).
This is the last Maqala in the manuscript, although the table of contents on f. 2a mentions two more Maqalat:
- al-Maqala al-Tasi`a fi Ma`rifat Istikhrag Maqadir Rugu`atiha wa-`Ardiha `an Falak al-Burug wa-Zuhuratiha min Irtifa` al-Shams wa-Ihtiqabiha fihi.
- al-Maqala al-`Ashira fi Ma`rifat Tastih al-Dawa'ir al-Waqi`a `ala Sath al-Kura ila al-Sath al-Mumass laha wa-Kayfiyyat `Amaliha fi Safa'ih al-Usturlab.
Red owner's seal print on f. 1b (a Sultan's seal?).
¶ The claim that this MS is considered to be an autograph is solely based on a reader's or owner's note on f. 1a: Hadhihi al-Nuskha bi-Khatt al-Musannif Yahya b. Muhammad b. Abi al-Shukr al-Maghribu al-Andalusi. This note, consisting of two lines of text, is followed by three lines of rhyming text, most probably in another owner's hand, Sahmay al-Turkani, in the town of Kalastan (?, all names difficult to decipher), dated 656 (?, in ghubar figures).
Another owner's note on f. 1a is by `Abd al-`Aziz b. `Ali b. Muhammad al-Munaggim, dated 20 Ramadan 746.
A third note of ownership on f. 1a is by the famous Ottoman astronomer, Taqi al-Din b. Ma`ruf (see also my notes on him under Or. 48, above): min Kutub al-Faqir Taqi al-Din b. Ma`ruf al-Rasid bil-Bab al-Sultani, `afa `anhuma.
On f. 137a is yet another owner's note, by `Ali al-Faqir al-Riyadi al-Munaggim bi-`Ataba al-Saltana al-Mardiyya.
¶ MS Leiden Or. 110 was an important source for the following studies by Georges Saliba:
- George Saliba, 'An Observational Notebook of a Thirteenth-Century Astronomer', Isis 74 (1983) pp. 388-401. In this article Saliba writes that the MS is not an appendix to the Khulasat al-Majisti, but an independent work entitled Talkhis al-Majisti (see the title in one of the owners' notes). In this work al-Maghribi analyzes the observations which he has conducted in the famous observatory of Maragha between 1262 and 1274, and he deduces from these new values for the parameters of the planetary models. Saliba further develops this in two other publications:
- George Saliba, 'Solar Observations at the Maraghah Observatory before 1275. A new set of parameters', in Journal for the History of Astronomy 16 (1985), pp. 113-122.
- George Saliba, 'The Determination of New Planetary Parameters at the Maragha Observatory', in Centaurus 29 (1986) pp. 249-271.

Or. 115
Arabic, paper, 20 ff., illuminated title-page and gold ornamentation inside, copied by Mahmud b. Abi al-Mahasin al-Qashi (f. 20b).
Diwan of Qutba b. Aws al-Hadira (Gahiliyya period), GAL G I, 26, with a commentary. CCO 533 (II, pp. 35-37); CCA 573 (I, pp. 352-353). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 63. Acad. 111 is a copy by J.P. Berg.

Or. 122
Arabic, paper (various colours), 86 ff., dated according to Voorhoeve on 614 AH (1217-1218), but this cannot be corroborated from the MS. Voorhoeve, or one his predecessors must have mistaken one of the many dates given in the sama`at. Copied by al-Shaykh Khalil b. Baran (owner's note on f. 1a).
Kitab Makarim al-Akhlaq wa-Ma`aliha wa-Mahmud Tara'iqiha, by Abu Bakr Muhammad b. Ga`far b. Muhammad b. Sahl al-Samiri al-Khara'iti (d. 327/938), GAL S I, 250. CCO 1929 (IV, pp. 184-189). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 179. See on him also Ta'rikh Baghdad I, pp. 139-140 (No. 551).
The volume is arranged in agza', with numerous igazat al-sama` at the end of each guz'. These have been analyzed in an unpublished thesis by N. van den Boogert, 'Beschrijving van ms. Leiden Or. 122' (May 1990). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 179.
Separate title-page for each guz' (ff. 1a, 10a, 20a, 30a, 42a, 54a, 64a, 72a, 80a). Each title-page has one ta'lif, followed by four riwayat. The ta'lif giving the full author's name and the riwayat are, in order of appearance:
- Ta'lif Abi Bakr Muhammad b. Ga`far b. Muhammad b. Sahl al-Samiri al-Khara'iti, `anhu
- Riwayat Abi Bakr Muhammad b. Ahmad b. `Uthman b. al-Walid b. al-Hakam b. Abi al-Hadid, `anhu
- Riwayat Ibn Ibnihi Abi al-Hasan Ahmad b. `Abd al-Wahid b. Muhammad b. Abi al-Hadid, `anhu
- Riwayat al-Shaykh Abi Muhammad `Abd al-Karim b. Hamza b. al-Khidr al-Sulami, `anhu
- Riwayat al-Qadi Gamal al-Din Abi al-Qasim `Abd al-Samad b. Muhammad b. Abi Fadl al-Ansari, `anhu.
(none of these names in the Index of GAL, nor ibn Hagar's Tahdhib al-Tahdhib). Needs to be compared with the edition, Makarim al-aklaq wa-ma`aliha, Cairo 1350 (1931-1932) [8203 B 25].

Or. 123 a
Arabic, paper, 80 ff., with geometrical figures.
Originally described as a fragment of an unidentified mathematical work. CCO 2646 (V, pp. 238-239). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 432 (where the text is referred to as: Or. 123 (1)). It is in fact part of the Kitab al-Istikmal by Yusuf al-Mu'taman b. Hud (c. 478/1085), as has been demonstrated by Jan Hogendijk, 'Discovery of an 11th-century Geometrical Compilation: the Istikmal of Yusuf al-Mu'taman ibn Hud, King of Saragossa', in: Historia Mathematica 13 (1986), pp. 43-52. See also J.P. Hogendijk, 'Le roi-géomètre al-Mu'taman Ibn Hud et son Livre de la Perfection (Kitab al-Istikmal)', in Histoire des Mathématiques Arabes (Actes, Premier Colloque Insternational sur l'Histoire des Mathématiques Arabes, Alger, 1, 2, 3 Décembre 1986), Alger 1988, pp. 51-66. See also a reproduction of ff. 32b-33a of the manuscript in Les Andalousies de Damas à Cordoue (Paris 2000), p. 237.

Golius' price: 1¾ d.
(Ar. 126)

Or. 127
Arabic, paper, 2 [title-page and verso] + 300 + 4 pp. (the additionally mentioned papers are later additions), maghribi script, old but undated; full-leather Islamic binding with flap with blind tooled and gilded ornamentation. Binding described in Max Weisweiler, Der islamische Bucheinband des Mittelalters (Wiesbaden 1962), pp. 177-178, No. 351, where the age of the MS is gaven as 14th-15th century, and where it is said that the binding was made for the manuscript.
Lacunous copy (abrupt beginning, damaged end) of volume 2 only of Murug al-Dhahab wa-Ma`adin al-Gawahir fi Tuhaf al-Ashraf min al-Muluk wa-Ahl al-Dirayat (title-page on a reconstructed leaf before p. 1, in a more recent hand) by `Ali b. al-Husayn al-Mas`udi (d. 345/956), GAL G I, 144. CCO 752 (II, pp. 145-146); CCA 827 (II, p. 16). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 241.
See H.A. Hamaker, Specimen catalogi codicum mss. Orientalium Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae [...]. Leiden 1820, pp. 46-48, where the class-mark of the MS is given as MS 1731 (referring to the 1716 catalogue of the Library, p. 479).
After the newly added title-page the text of volume 2 begins abruptly and, to judge from earlier page numbers, at least 10 pages seem to be lacking. The leaf of pp. 299-300 is damaged with loss of text, but p. 300 does indicate the end of volume 2 (al-Sifr al-Thani), and mentions a third volume to follow (Awwal al-Thalith).
On the titlepage are in several hands birth notes. One birth (name erased, possibly Muhammad) is dated Friday at `Asr on 20 Rabi` II 988 [3 June 1580]. The reconstructed title-page must therefore be older than that date. The next birth (child's name: Muhammad) is dated at early morning (tabassum sabah) of Wednesday 5 Rabi` II (year undecyphered). The next birth (child's name `Abd al-Malik) is dated in two calendars: the first hour of sunrise on Tuesday 12 June (year undecyphered), corresponding with 17 Ragab (or according to vision 15). One wonders why in the second half of the 16th century such a date (12 June) is given, if not because of some Christian connection. At the end of the volume, after p. 300, are two leaves added. Only the first page has three texts in Arabic in different hands. It is a prayer (Istikhara?) and two shorter notes.

Or. 141

Arabic, paper, 204 ff., maghribi script, written before 645 AH, full-leather standard Library binding.
Incomplete (end missing) and lacunous copy of al-Risala al-Qushayriyya by Abu al-Qasim `Abd al-Karim b. Hawazin al-Qushayri (d. 465/1072), GAL G I, 432. CCO 2224 (V, pp. 2-4). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 310.
¶ The recension of the text in the present manuscript in many respects differs from modern editions, in size of material given, in the order in which the material is presented, and in variant textual readings. A case in point is the edition by Ma`ruf Zurayq & `Ali `Abd al-Hamid Baltagi (Damascus 1408/1988 [8262 F 2]), which is almost unrecognizably different from the Leiden MS.
¶ See also Amnon Shiloah, The theory of music in Arabic writings (c. 900-1900). München 1979, No. 181, pp. 263-264, where the passage on hearing, sama`, is discussed.
¶ About the dating of the manuscript: As the first listening certificate on f. 2a makes it clear that the manuscript was read in Damascus in 645 AH, it is evident that the present manuscript was either brought there from North Africa or from Andalusia, or that it was at least copied by someone who had the habit to write in maghribi script, irrespective of the place where this happened. The date 645 AH is therefore a date ante quem. However, the loosely inserted note signed by Qasim al-Samarra'i, saying: 'The hand writing of this Risala is much older than 645 A.H. I think it goes back to around 5th C.A.H.' is based on no evidence in the MS. Samarra'is's conjecture may have been inspired by the wish to date the MS back as near the author's lifetime as possible.
There are several sama` notes on the page preceding the text (f. 2a). They are produced here in their probable order of having been noted down. The date in note No. 3, namely 2 Ragab 572, is copied from an earlier note. No. 5 has the earliest date (13 Dhu al-Higga 641), but was, to judge from the lay-out of the page, evidently written down some years later. A note in the inner margin of f. 2a has been effectively erased.
Note 1 (f. 2a). A sama` note of listenening sessions, presided by `Imad al-Din Abu al-Fada'il `Abd al-Karim b. `Abd al-Samad b. Muhammad al-Ansari, who derived his authority from a listening certificate from his father Gamal al-Din Abu al-Qasim `Abd al-Samad (who derived his authority from Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. Ahmad b. Sulayman al-Muradi, who derived his authority from Abu al-Muzaffar `Abd al-Mun`im b. Abi al-Qasim, who transmitted on authority of his father. The president of the sessions also had diplomas issued to him by his father, already mentioned, and Abu al-As`ad `Abd al-Rahman al-Qushayri, and from al-Farawi and other, all of whom transmitted on the authority of the Imam Abu al-Qasim b. `Abd al-Karim b. Hawazin b. `Abd al-Malik al-Qushayri. On these sessions the text was read by Yusuf b. Muhammad b. `Abdallah al-Shafi`i. The participants of the session were Gamal al-Din Abu Muhammad `Abdallah b. Yahya b. Abi Bakr b. Yusuf al-Ghassani al-Gaza'iri, Kamal al-Din `Abdallah b. Abi al-Farag b. Sadaqa al-Baghdadi, and Muhammad b. Yusuf b. Muhammad, whose father was the reader of the present text. As secretary of the session served the reader Yusuf b. Muhammad. The last of the reading sessions took place in the Great Mosque in Damascus on Friday 9 Gumada II 645.

Note 4 (f. 2a). This is actually not a sama` note, but rather an explanation of the sigla used by the collator, Rafi` b. Abi Muhammad Muhammad, who was active with the MS, as is clear from the here following note, in as early as 641 AH. The present note was added only later to the MS, as becomes clear from the page layout of f. 2a. One of these is explaned as follows: The sin-qaf mark over a word refers to a marginal note, which has a qaf written over it. This can be encountered on many instances throughout in the MS.

(Ar. 165)

Or. 166
Arabic, paper, 165 ff., naskh script, almost entire devoid of punctuation, apparently very old, full-leather standard Library binding. Copy with ex-libris of al-Safadi (d. 764/1363) on f. 1a: min kutub Khalil b. Aybak al-Safadi.
Translation ascribed to Yahya b. al-Bitriq of Aristotle's Kitab al-Hayawan, Historia Animalium, vol. 3, containing De partibus animalium (edition by R. Kruk, on the basis of this manuscript The Arabic version of Aristotle's Parts of animals. Book xi-xiv of the Kitab al-Hayawan, Amsterdam 1979, esp. pp. 34-35) and De generatione animalium (edition on the basis of this manuscript by J. Brugman & H.J. Drossaart Lulofs, Aristotle, Generation of animals. The Arabic translation commonly ascribed to Yahya ibn al-Bitriq. Leiden 1971, esp. 54-55. (Publication of the De Goeje Fund No. 23)). CCO 1276 (III, p. 211). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 112.

¶ The first quire has been misbound. The correct order of the leaves is ff. 10, 2-9, 11. The manuscript contains part of the second book of De partibus animalium (ff. 1b, 10, 2, 3a) and the complete text of the third and the fourth books (ff. 3b-114b). The order of the text of the third book (Maqala 13 of the Kitab al-Hayawan) has been upset as a result of a copyist's error. After f. 31b, line 7 (agwad) the text is resumed on f. 34b, line 7 (ablagh), then after f. 37b, line 6 (al-yusra) one should continue on f. 31b, line 7 (al-yusra) up to f. 34b, line 7 (ya`ridu), aftwer which the text is resumed on f. 37b. (edition Kruk, introduction p. 34).
Brugman and Drossart Lulofs estimate the age of the MS as 5th/11th century and the origin Syrian (p. 54 of the introduction). This is nothing more than (educated) guessing, however. From the title-page is is evident that the present MS represents the third volume of a series of four, but the other three are not longer extant. As the present volume actually comprises Maqala 11-15 of the work, there can be no doubt about the contents of the three others. Volumes I and II must have contained the Maqalat 1-11, that is the ten books of the Historia Animalium and book I of De partibus animalium. The present volume has Maqala 12-15 (De partibus II-IV and De generatione I), and the last volume must have contained Maqala 16-19 (De generatione II-V). Apparently, the srcibe who distributed the text over the four volumes was unaware of the natural division of the work into 10+4+5 books (Brugman & Drossart Lulofs, introduction, pp. 54-55).
The division of the chapters (Maqala) in the manuscript can be seen as follows:
f. 1b. Maqala 12.
f. 3b. Maqala 13.
f. 48a. Maqala 14.
f. 115a. Maqala 15.
¶ Or. 14.211, below, is a photographic copy of ff. 115a-165a of this MS which was used Brugman and Drossaart Lulofs for their edition.

Or. 198
Collective volume with two Arabic texts, mainly on firasa, paper, 76 ff. (origibal foliation, e.g. on f. 3a: 3 min 1, on f. 4a: 4 min 1, etc.), naskh script, dated Monday 8 Ramadan 757, copied by `Abdallah b. Sulayman al-Rayhani al-Mawsili, in Damascus (colophon on f. 76a), half-leather Islamic binding (flap now lost), pasted boards. Owner's note on f. 2a by Muhammad Aslan, dated 702 ((?!), and anothet one by Muhammad b.

`Ali b. Riyad al-Khuza`i, known as Ibn al-Katib. Owner's seal on f. 2a: eagle with snake with text on top: Sahibuhu Muhammad `Ali.
On f. 2a is a note saying that there are three texts in this binding, namely the two mentioned hereunder, plus al-Mukhtar fi Kashf al-Asrar. The latter text is lacking and must have been removed from the present volume, before it was bound in its present binding. With this text is probably meant al-Mukhtar fi Kashf al-Asrar wa-Hatk al-Astar, by `Abd al-Rahman b. `Umar al-Gawbari (c. 620/1223), GAL G I, 497. Golius has a copy of this text in his collection (Or. 191, above), but it seems unlikely, though not impossible, that that copy ever formed part of the present volume.
ff. 1a, 76b. Asrar Ghariba (fa-Afham al-Ramz tafuz bil-Kanz on f. 1a). A note on eschatology, apparently in connection with the coming of the year 1000 in the Higra calendar. Added later to the MS, in a nasta`liq hand. F. 1b blank. Also eschatological notes in another nasta`liq hand on f. 76b, where that note is referred to as al-Kalimat al-Jafriyya al-Natiqa bil-Asrar.
(1) ff. 2a-50a. Kitab fil-Firasa, ascribed to Iflimun/Aflimun (Polemon). CCO 1206 (III, pp. 165-166). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 84. See also on the author: J.J. Witkam, art. 'Aflimun', in: Encyclopedia of Islam. New Edition. Supplement (1980), pp. 44-45. Text edited on the basis of this manuscript by G. Hoffmann, Polemonis De Physiognomia Liber, Arabice et Latine, in : R. Foerster, Scriptores Physiognomici Graeci et Latini, Leipzig 1893, pp. 93-294.
(2) ff. 50b-76a. Bab al-`Irafa wal-Zagr wal-Firasa `ala Madhhab al-Furs, by `Amr b. Bahr al-Gahiz (d. 255/868), GAL S I, 244, No. 45. Edited on the basis of this manuscript by N. Inostrançew in: Zapiski wostocnago otdelenija imp. russk. arch. obsc., vol. 18, fasc. 2-3 (1908), pp. 113-232. CCO 1210 (III, pp. 167-168). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 135.
Golius' price: 2½ Dal.

Collective volume with texts in Arabic and one in Persian (No. 3), paper, 2 + 102 ff., followed by blanks (with the framework for gadawil), naskh script (one copyist), dated Ramadan 608 (f. 36a) and 5 Sha`ban 615 (f. 100b), copied by Mas`ud b. Muhammad b. `Ali al-Gulfari (colophon on f. 100b), half-leather Islamic binding, with remnant of flap, pasted boards.
(1a) ff. [1-2]. On each side of f. [1] is an unfinished Da'ira, with some scribbling. On f. [2]a notes of astronomical nature: Falak al-Burug, with the number of degrees (360), minutes (21900), seconds (1296000), till sevenths (1007769600000000), and another, similar list, starting with 30 degrees and going till tenths. Also Asami-yi Zigat, a list of names of astronomical tables. And Tawarikh ki Musta`mal ast, 'calendar systems used', mentioning five calendars, beginning with 832 Higri. On f. [2]b a table with fractions, used for the portions of inheritance, all in words. On f. 1a is the title-page of the Magmu`a, with an owner's note dated 774 AH.
(1) ff. 1b-19b. Masa'il fi Ahkam `Ilm al-Nugum min Qawl Hermes al-Hakim. Anonymous. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 198. Astrological instructions for events in life, ascribed to Hermes. CCO 1077 (III, p. 99). See GAS IV, 42.

(2) ff. 19b-20b. Ikhtiyarat al-Ayyam, by Ya`qub b. Ishaq al-Kindi (d. after 256/870), GAL S I, 374. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 126. An Ikhtiyarat collection on the basis of astronomical conjunctions. CCO 1050 (III, p. 82).
(3) ff. 21a-27b. Zig-i Taylasan. Astronomical tables, preceded by a short Persian prose text: Bab dar Ma`rifat-i Zig-i Taylasan. Added (on f. 21a) is yet another table, Matali` al-Burug li-`Ard LZM. CCO 1175 (III, p. 147). Ff. 28a-29a blank.
(4) ff. 29b-36a. Risala fi Istikhrag al-Ab`ad bi-Dhat al-Shu`batayn, by Ya`qub b. Ishaq al-Kindi (d. after 256/870), GAL S I, 374. Dated 608 AH. CCO 1049 (III, p. 82). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 298. Letter directed to Abu al-`Abbas Ibn al-Mu`tasim Amir al-Mu'minin. With geometrical drawings. Dated Ramadan 608 (f. 36a). CCO 1049 (III, p. 82).
(5) ff. 36b-48b. Masa'il al-Gabr wal-Muqabala. Anonymous. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 199. CCO 1023 (III, p. 69).
(5a) ff. 49b-50a. Untitled and anonymous text on algebra. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. Three Mas'ala's. CCO 1023 (III, p. 69).
(6) ff. 50b-58b. Possibly incomplete copy of Tara'if al-Hisab, by Abu Kamil Shuga` b. Aslam (c. 300/912), GAL S I, 390. With tables. CCO 1003 (III, p. 58). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 369. According to CCO 1003 (III, p. 58), the text on ff. 101a-102a, below, would be part of this treatise as well. The edition by Ahmad Salim Sa`idan (in MMMA 9 (1963), pp. 291-320) contains a reproduction in facsimile of the Leiden MS.
(7) ff. 59b-74b. al-Masa'il al-Hisabiyya, or Sharh Nukat al-Arithmatiqi (so on f. 60b), by Abu Zayd al-Hasan b. `Ubayd Allah al-Farisi, GAL S II, 1020. With numerous calculations, by figures. CCO 1022 (III, p. 69). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 199. CCO 1022 (III, p. 69). According to the title-page (f. 1a), this text is Imtihanan li-Abi Hafs al-Sigazi.
(8) ff. 75a-100b. Risala fi Sharh ma Ashkala min Musadarat Kitab Uqlidis, by Abu al-Fath `Umar b. Ibrahim al-Khayyami (d. 526/1132), GAL G I, 471; GAS IV, 109-110. Text completed according to the author's colophon (reproduced by the copyist on f. 100b) in the end of Gumada I 470, in an unrecorded town, in the Dar al-Kutub there. CCO 967 (III, p. 40). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 392. With geometrical figures. Dated 5 Sha`ban 615, copied by Mas`ud b. Muhammad b. `Ali al-Gulfari (colophon on f. 100b, nisba read according reading in CCO 967 (III, 40)). On the title-page (f. 1a) two more titles ascribed to Abu al-Fath `Umar b. Ibrahim al-Khayyami are mentioned: Kitab al-Gabr wal-Muqabala, and Mushkilat al-Hisab. These are, however, not found in the present volume. Editions: T. End of the collection of Jacobus Golius

Or. 212 - Or. 268 The Scaliger collection

This collection of Middle Eastern manuscripts is registered in the Library as the Legacy of J.J. Scaliger (1540-1609). This indication needs some comment and adjustment, however. Alastair Hamilton has convincingly proven that a number of the manuscripts which were, traditionally, considered to be part of the Scaliger Legacy in Leiden University Library, in fact originate from Franciscus Raphelengius (1539-1597) and that they have entered the Leiden library after they had been auctioned off in 1626 (Catalogus Variorum Librorum e Bibliothecis Francisci Raphelengii Hebreae linguae quondam Professoris & Academiae Leidensis Typographi, ejusque filiorum [...]. Leiden 1626). See Hamilton's list in 'Nam tirones sumus', pp. 586-588, where Or. 214, 218, 222, 228, 230, 231, 235, 246 and 251 are identified as originating from Raphelengius. Raphelengius' Hebrew manuscripts would be Or. 4719 and 4732 (Hamilton, op.cit., p. 586, n. 94). A collection of unpublished texts on Arabic grammar coming from Raphelengius is Or. 3041. The two Syriac manuscripts Or. 1198 and Or. 1199 may equally originate from Raphelengius' collection. All these manuscripts which were acquired at the auction of the library of the Raphelengius family were probably added to the Scaliger cupboard, and in later years the information about the provenance apparently was lost and the manuscripts were considered to be part of Scaliger's legacy of 1609. Only when Golius returned from the Orient the Leiden series class-marks of Or. 1, etc., started to be used (see above).
Other Scaliger manuscripts (mostly in Hebrew) are registered as Or. 4718 - Or. 4738, Or. 6882, below. Another document showing a combined involvement of Raphelengius and Scaliger is the the former's Persian dictionary, Or. 2019, below.
Manuscripts that cannot, for chronological reasons, have come from Scaliger are: Or. 219 (as it contains dates as late 1040/1630), Or. 224 (dated 1055 AH), Or. 226 (dated 1048 AH), Or. 229 (with dates 1144 [or 1044?] and 1037 AH) and Or. 266 (was already in the library in 1597).

Ever since the publication of the Catalogus bibliothecae publicae lvgdvno-batavae noviter recognitus. Accessit Incomparabilis thesaurus librorum orientalium, praecipue mss. by F. Spanheim (Leiden 1674), only the Scaligerani were mentioned and knowledge about the provenance through Franciscus Raphelengius and other previous owners seemed to be lost.

Arabic, Latin, and occasionally various other languages, paper, 251 ff., original numbering by quire marks, written at the bottom of the first page of the new quire, Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Arabic scripts, autograph of J.J. Scaliger, contemporary parchment binding.
Thesaurus Linguae Arabicae Iosephi Scaligeri, the Arabic-Latin dictionary by J.J. Scaliger (1540-1609), who completed the work on 5 April 1597, after two months of work (f. 1a). CCO 171 (I, p. 94) mentions two copies, one in Göttingen, the other in Munich, both presumably taken from this autograph. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 378. See also A. Hamilton, 'Nam tirones sumus', pp. 558 (n. 2), 570 (n. 45), 577-578 (n. 63).
Division of the book:
f. 1a. Title-page.
f. 1b. Scaliger's introduction, with mention of his sources (see below).
ff. 2a-246a. The Thesaurus, with lemma's in abgad order.
f. 246b. Short lists of useful words, taken from the Glossary.
- the names of the seven planets;
- the names of the twelve signs of the Zodiac;
- a list of colours;
- the names of the six grammatical cases.
ff. 247a-251a. Blank.
f. 251b. A recipe for black ink, apparently copied by Scaliger from a manuscript. Further a more lists: the names of the chapters of the Qur'an, in a division which seems to be made for a four-volume copy. Further the names of the founders of the four law schools, with the areas in which they are established, and other, apparently lexicographical, notes.
¶ Scaliger writes in his preface, on f. 1b, about the Arabic alphabet and the arrangement of lemmata in the Arabic lexicon:
'Arabum literae totidem sunt, quot et Hebraeorum, duae et viginti: quarum haec series fuit (arabic): quae quidem series constantissime servatur in omnibus veterum Arabum indicibus, ut apud Avisenam et R. Mosem filium Maimonis, qui literas Arabicas eodem ordine se sequi, quo et Hebraeas clarissime ostendit. Rursus cum in numeris literae apud Arabes non minus, quā apud Hebraeos et Syros nom... locum obtinuerat, cu... ordinem et potestatem servent, nullum clarius argumentum adferri potest, quo ... unum eundemque ordinem et numerum literarum apud Arabes fuisse probemus, qui hodie apud Hebraeos servatur. Sed postea descissus est ab eo, nescio qua superstitione, et alius institutus, qui his technicis verbis comprehenditur (arabic). Hic unus tantum et viginti sunt diversi characteres. Sed septem ex illis sunt gemini: quia punctis insigniti alium a simplicibus sonum obtinent. Hi duobus his verbis comprehenditur (arabic). Ita fiunt octo et viginti characteres, quibus penultimo loco accessit (lam-alif), ex duabus literis compositus. Ergo pro veteribus duabus et viginti, nunc undetriginta ab illis usurpantur.

In concinnando Thesauro duo praecipua spectanda, series literarum, et series syllabarum. Series literarum, ut diximus, duplex est, vetus et nova. Nos igitur veterem, ut longe meliorem, et commodiorem secuti sumus. Syllabarum series contexitur aut secundum originem verborum, seu radicem [///] ipsorum, aut secundum literas. Posterior artificiosior est: prior commodior, ut in hoc quoque nos arti commoditatem praehibimus. Nam tirones sumus, et multa verba sunt quorum origines aut ignorari, aut pr...um sumi possumus quare ars postulat, ut gll exempli gratia, prius ponatur, deinde gl, galla, magall et sic alia, si quos ex eadem origine pendent. At in nostra methodo gl erit omnium primus, deinde glb, tertio glg, quarto gld et sic deinceps, ut ordo vetus in ultimis literis postulatur. Qui ordo non solum tironibus commodissimus est, sed etiam apud Arabes ipsos in usu est, ut patet ex eorum Lexicis.
Literas septem punctis notatas singulas partim post suas simplices apposuimus.
Verba merrubaa, hoc est, quae excedunt tres literas, in calce singularium classium collocavimus, in hoc ipsos quae Arabes, Avisenam praesertim sequuti. Si quis inter simplicia commodius legi posse putat, per me quidem faciat licet, neque factum reprehendemus. Sciat tamen nos in hoc quorum exemplum habuisse, quod sequiremur. Aliquando occurrit vox merruba anceps, hoc est, qui posset habere locum inter simplicia, ut laban. Eiusmodi, quae paucissima sunt invenies et inter simplicia, et loco suo. Hoc volui me noscius esses, quicumque in hos labores nostros incideris, quis boni consulas, oro.'
Then follows, in slightly smaller script, the list of sources used by Scaliger, with the abbreviations used in the Thausurus:
'H. Hispanum Glossarium optimum ante DC plus minus annos scriptum Latinoarabicum. Latina charactere Longobardico difficillimo, Arabica charactere Africano elegantissima descripta erant.
G. Glossarium Granatense Hispanoarabicum. Arabica Latinis literis sunt descripta pessima fide.
Gerard. Gerardus Cremonensis interpres Avisenae.
Iosue. Chronicon Samaritanum Arabicum, charactere Samaritano.
Canon. Canones patrum, sive Poenitentiale.
Horolog. Horolog. Maronitarum, Syriaco charactere.
Geogr. Geographia Liber optimus de climatibus.
Legend. Legenda, seu vitae Patrum.
Liturg. Liturgiae tam Copticorum, quam Maronitarum.
Colloq. Colloquium duorum doctorum, Sinan et Ahmed.
Alc. Alcoran.
Proverb. Proverbia Arabica.
Grammat. Grammaticae atque praeceptionum appendix in qua vocabularium Arabopersicum, et Araboturcicum.
Then follows a poem of six lines:
'Signem dura manet sententia iudicis olim

Devotum aerumnis suppliciisque reum:
Hunc neque fabrili lassent ergastila massa,
Nec rigidas vexent fossa metalla manus.
Lexica contexat. Nam caetera quid moror? Omnes Poennaque facies hic labor unus habet.'

Arabic, paper, 174 ff., dated 1035.
Manahig al-Fikar wa-Mabahig al-`Ibar, by Muhammad b. Ibrahim al-Watwat (d. 718/1318), GAL G II, 55, 3rd and 4th part (fann). GAL does not mention the Leiden manuscript. CCO 1288 (III, pp. 217-218). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 182. CCO III, pp. 217-218 (No. 1288), gives the full table of content. Roughly speaking the 3rd fann treats the animals and the 4th fann treats the plants and agriculture. Ff. 89-131 are written by a different copyist. Title in colophon of fann 3 (f. 85b), but both title-pages (ff. 1a, 89a) give rather indications of the contents than exact titles.
On f. 1a the author is indicated as Ibn Wahshiyya (3rd/9th cent., GAS IV, 282-283, where no mention is made of the present manuscript), whereas the ascription to al-Watwat is done on the basis of the introduction to fann 4 (f. 89b). On f. 1a is an owner's note with seal print by Fath Allah b. al-Hagg `Abd al-Salam, dated Muharram 1040 (1630).
As author of the second part, which has the outward appearance of a separate bibliographical entity, is given (f. 89b): Muhammad b. Ibrahim b. Yahya al-Kutubi. This second part has an extensive literary component, with numerous poetical quotations, especially from f. 132a onwards.
On f. 89a the copyist of that part of the manuscripts dates his work with Ramadan 1035 (1626). These two dates preclude any ownership of Scaliger, who died in 1609, and makes even ownership of Golius improbable, as the latter's manuscripts arrived, for the greater part, already in 1629. This manuscript must have come to Leiden at a later date, but apparently before the organizing and numbering of Or. 212-268 started, and was then, as so many other manuscripts, included under the Scaligerani.

¶ The texts of the two title-pages go as follows:
f. 1a. Kitab al-Fann al-Thalith fi `Ilm al-Hayawanat wa-fi Sharaf al-Insan wa-Kamiyyatihi lil-Shaykh `Umar al-Warraq wa-Ba`d Haqa'iq `an Kitab al-Qamar li-Ibn al-Wahshiyya [...] Guz' al-Thani wal-Thalith.
f. 89a. Kitab fi `Ilm al-Filaha Tahrir Muhammad al-Katib al-Shahir bi-Nawa'i [...] fi Shahr Ramadan al-Mubarak min Shuhur Sanat 1035.
Title on lower edge: Kitab al-Fann al-Thalith fi Taba'i` al-Hayawan wa-fi Thamrat (?) al-Filaha li-Ibn Wahshiyya.

Or. 231
Arabic, Latin, paper and parchment, 146 ff., ca. 1175 AD, probably copied in Toledo, modern binding, and restauration (early 1970's) by Lucie Gimbrère (the former binding standing next to the manuscript on the shelf).
Mozarabic Latin-Arabic glossary. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 102.
Earlier mention also in CCO 170 (I, p. 94), CCA 131 (I, pp. 77-78), P.C. Molhuysen, Codices Scaligerani (praeter Orientales), Leiden 1910, p. 29. See also A. Hamilton, 'Nam tirones sumus', p. 587. The text was edited by C.F. Seybold, Glossarium Latino-Arabicum, Berlin 1900. An analysis of the Mozarabic function of the glossary, and a full codicological survey of the manuscript, with a convincing dating to Toledo, c. 1175 AD, is given by P.S. van Koningsveld, The Latin-Arabic glossary of the Leiden University library. A contribution to the study of Mozarabic manuscripts and literature. Leiden 1976. An analysis of the lexicographical material in the Glossary is given by F. Corriente, El lexico arabe estandar y andalusi del 'glosario de Leiden', Madrid 1991.
On f. 140a are several notes about previous ownership:
Ce liure fut fust de Guy postell
Qui de tout veoir fist diligence
(Soy cognoissante home mortel)
Pour chasser de soy l'obliance.
In an other hand is written, side by side to this note, but almost all lines are incomplete because of the trimming of the manuscript:
Riche ne fut dont pour ...
Le feist estre si vigil ...
Qui en tout bon scavoir ...
Escoute comme en bien ...
Estant a richesse venu
Lors la laissa pour son d...
Quant il voulut estre ...
De soy et daultry fonda ...
Underneath the first note is written in Latin in another hand, possibly of Franciscus Raphelengius (still to be compatred however with his notes in Or. 3041, below):
Postea fuit Francisci Raphelengii ex dono Postelli.
(See the edition of the French verse C.F. Seybold, Glossarium Latino-Arabicum, p. viii, note 1, and his reproduction of this page as frontispice to his edition. See also P.S. van Koningsveld, The Latin-Arabic glossary, p. 37).
Provenance: The MS was acquired by Guillaume Postel (1510-1581) in 1532. It was used for the edition of the Antwerp Polyglot Bible after it had been borrowed by Christopher Plantin (c. 1520-1589) through the intermediary of Andreas Masius (1514-1573) who put it at the disposal of Guy Le Fèvre de la Boderie (1541-1598) when the latter was working on the Antwerp Polyglot Bible. It must have remained in Plantin's office and hence have come into the possession of Franciscus Raphelengius (1539-1597), who used it as a main source for his Lexicon Arabicum, which was posthumously published by his son, Franciscus Raphelengius Jr., Leiden 1613 (cf. A. Hamilton, op.cit., p. 559).

Last provenance: Collection Franciscus Raphelengius (1539-1597) acquired in or shortly after 1626.

Greek, Arabic, paper, 556 pp. (but without pp. 333-4, 433-4 and 505-6), dated 981 (Era of the Martyrs = 1265 AD, colophon on p. 555). Before p. 1 are 10 ff. of more recent date containing an Index Lectionum, quae hoc Codice continentur, ex Euangeliis, Actis Apostolorum et Epistolis, with reference to the pages in the main text. On p. 556 a poem in Latin, beginning: 'Dum trepidant itali ...' The copyist of the Greek text is called Petros (p. 554), and he is apparently a monk at one of the monasteries in the Wadi Natrun. The copyist of the Arabic text is Rahmat Allah b. al-Qiss Rashid al-Misri. He dates his work as 19 Ramadan 981. He first started using the remainder of p. 554 for a colophon, then took p. 555 for that purpose.
Greek-Arabic Lectionary of the Coptic Church. Lectures from the Gospels, the Acts, the Epistles and the Psalms. CCO 2368 (V, pp. 78-79). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 50. P.C. Molhuysen, Codices Scaligerani (praeter Orientales), Leiden 1910, p. 29. See now especially H.J. de Jonge, 'Joseph Scaliger's Greek-Arabic lectionary', in Quaerendo 5 (1975), pp. 143-172, who also gives reproductions of pp. 332, 554 and 555 of the MS. De Jonge summarizes his research in eleven conclusions on pp. 170-172, a few of which are mentioned here.
- The MS originates from Wadi Natrun, Egypt;
- It was written in 1265 AD by a Greek and by an Arabic-writing copyist, whose names are given;
- In about the year 1500 the codex may have been brought to France by emissaries of Louis XII to the Mamluk Sultan in Cairo, and by the end of the 16th century it became the property of Daniel Chamier (1565-1621);
- Chamier gave the MS to J.J. Scaliger (1540-1609).

Javanese, palm leaf, ff. 15-74.
Notes on Islamic mysticism, in prose. A 16th-century text. Edited by G.W.J. Drewes, Een javaanse primbon uit de zestiende eeuw, Leiden 1954 (Uitgaven van de Stichting De Goeje No. 15). Earlier editions are by J.G.H. Gunning (1881) and H. Kraemer (1921). The manuscript was received in 1597 as a gift from the Amsterdam ship-owner and merchant Mr. van Dulmen, after it had apparently been brought back from the first Dutch expedition to Southeast Asia. See Pigeaud II, p. 25. The Catalogus principvm, civitatvm, et singvlariorvm, qui donatione vel inter vivos vel mortis caussa, bibliothecam pvblicam, in Academia Lugduno-Batava institutam, liberaliter ditarunt, Leiden 1597, mentions the manuscript as having 75 leaves. Would ff. 1-14 and f. 75 have been lost in the meantime? Or. 266 is the first Indonesian manuscript in the Leiden library. It came well before Scaliger’s demise, and is, therefore, not part of his legacy.
[* Lont. 11]

Russian, paper (ff. 5-6 are parchment, with circles and tables), 166 ff., in several hands, the oldest estimated from the 15th century.
A collection of religious texts, and of a commercial treaty. The orthodox creed, prayers, tables of the patriarchs, calendary, psalms and (in a more recent hand) a commercial treaty between the town of Novgorod and seventy Hanseatic states for the period of ten years, beginning with the year 7023 (anno mundi), the beginning of the reign of Emperor Basil.
Earlier provenance: Friedrich Lindenbrog (1573-1648). The Library's catalogue of 1716 mentions the manuscript twice: once on p. 340 as Scal. 24 B: 'Liber Russicus de Confessione et Liturgia Russorum. Olim Frederici Tiliobrogae [...]', and once as part of the Oriental manuscript collection on p. 411, No. 57: 'Liber Russicus'. Transferred in 1876 to the Department of Western Manuscripts, where it is now registered as Scal. 24 B. See P.C. Molhuysen, Codices Scaligerani (praeter Orientales), Leiden 1910, p. 6.

arabische Anthologie Ǧamharat al-Islām Dhāt al-Nathr wal-Niẓām. Cod. Lugdun. 287', in ZDMG 14 (1860), pp. 489-501.
De dedicatee of the anthology is the last Ayyubid ruler of the Yaman, al-Malik al-Mas`ud Salah al-Din Yusuf b. al-Malik al-Kamil Muhammad (ruled 612-626, see E. de Zambaur, Manuel, p. 98).
The anthology consists of two parts (ǧuzʾ), in one binding. Part 1, books 1-8 and Part 2, book 16 constitute about half of the volume and are here presesented as the first half of the anthology. Books 9-15 constitute the second part. Each book (kitāb) contains ten chapters (bāb), alternatingly in poetry and prose, dedicated to the subject matter of the book. Some chapters have a subdivision in section, faṣl. At the end of each book the compiler presents a poetical composition by himself, and one by his son Ahmad b. Muslim b. Mahmud al-Shayzari, each of which is explicitly dedicated to the dedicatee of the anthology. The compiler mentions his house in Zabid (f. 141b).

f. 1a. Title-page of volume 1.

Arabic, paper, 228 ff., naskh script, profusely illustrated, dated with Persian solar dating and also with Muslim lunar dating (Yawm-i Tir of Isfandarmuz = 13th day of the 12th month), coinciding with a Monday in the middle of Ramadan in 475/1082), copied in Samarqand from a copy in the hand of Abu `Abdallah al-Natili, the author of the corrected version of the translation, which he wrote for the Amir al-Umara' al-Mu'ayyad min al-Samā, Abu `Ali al-Simguri (al-Simğūrī). The date of the colophon of the author's copy was a Friday in the middle of Rabi` I 380 (colophon on f. 228a). Not old full-leather Islamic binding with flap, with blind tooled ornamentation (borders, medallion).
Kitab al-Hasha'ish fi Hayula al-`Ilag al-Tibbi. Arabic translation of Dioscurides, Peri Hulès Iatrikès, the Materia Medica, in the revised edition of Abu `Abdallah al-Natili (380/999), GAL G I, 207. CCO 1301 (III, pp. 227-229), of the original translation by Hunayn b. Ishaq (d. 260/873), GAL G I, 205. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 109.
Title-page: Kitab al-Hasha'ish fi Hayula al-`Ilag al-Tibbi min Islah al-Husayn b. Ibrahim b. al-Husayn b. Khurshid al-Tabari al-Natili (ff. 1a, 228a). Also in the title-page owner's notes, but incomplete since the lower half of the leaf is illegible since it was pasted over.
Colophon on f. 228a:

وقع الفراغ من نسخه يوم تير من اسفندارمذ ماه الموافق يوم الاثنين منتصف شهر رمضان سنه خمس وسبعين و...... ـه نسخته
من خط الشيخ العالم ابى عبدالله الناتلى المصلح لهذا الكتاب الذى كتبه لاميرالامرا المويد من السما ابى على السمجورى مولى
امير المومنين ـالـ... الله اياه حرمها الله خيرا وكل من اعينى باحيا العلوم بسمرقند حرسها الله والحمد لله كما هو اهله والصلوه
على رسوله المصطفى محمد وآله هـ
تاريخ الشيخ الناتلى للكتاب كان يوم الجمعه للنصف من شهر ربيع الاول من سنه ثمانين وثلثمايه بحمد واهب القوه

After the copyist's colophon on f. 228a there is a note by the translator of the present Arabic text into Persian, which equally reads as a colophon. Apparently when this translator had completed his translation, he recorded this fact not only in the colophon of his translation, but also in the Arabic version, the present manuscript, from which he worked. That translator's colophon reads as follows:

فرغ السعـ... ..لين الاديب محمد بن على الرمى من نقل الحشائش من العربيه الى الفارسيه اذ العربيه كانت مهجوره فصارت
الفارسيه مرغوبه من هذه النسخه التى هى للناتلى ومن نسخه اصطفن وحنين وكان الفراغ منه يوم السبت الثامن عشر من صفر
سنه عشر وخمسمايه والحمد لله رب العالمين والصلوة على رسوله محمد واله الطيبين الطاهرين

'Has completed the [...] the littérateur Muhammad b. `Ali al-Rami the translation of al-Hasha'ish from the Arabic into the Persian, since the Arabic has come into disuse, whereas Persian has become more preferred, from this copy, which is the copy of al-

Natili, and from the copy of Stephanos and Hunayn. This was completed on Saturday 18 Safar of the year 510. Praise be to God [...].'
See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), p. 68, for the cover of which book ff. 37b, 62b of the MS have been used. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 109. For for an in-depth study on the illustrations, and for comparative tables between the illustrations of the Leiden MS and the two Greek manuscripts (Vienna, Österreichische Nationalbibliothek) and New York (Pierpont Morgan Library) see M.M. Sadek, The Arabic Materia Medica of Dioscorides, St-Jean-Chrysostome (Québec) 1983 [O.L.G. 10:9045].

The leaves of manuscript do not seem to be in correct order, and at the end there is apparently a lacuna. On the lower half of of f. 51b are notes and corrections which apparently refer to a disorderly exemplar.

The main division of the text is in Maqālāt:
Maqala 1: f. 2a. al-Maqāla al-Ūlā min Kitāb al-Hashāʾish li-Diyāsqūrīdūs alladhī min Ahl ʿAyn Zarba wa-huwa fī Hayūlī al-ʿIlāǧ.
Maqala 5: f. 188a. Al-Maqāla al-Khāmisa min Kitāb al- Hashāʾish li-Diyāsqūrīdūs, possibly not complete in the present volume.
Maqala 6: apparently only partly available in the present volume. The end is on f. 220b: Tammat al-Maqāla al-Sādisa min Kitāb Diyāsqūrīdūs wa-hiya fil-Sumūm wa-ʿIlāǧātihā.
Maqala 7: apparently the beginning only (f. 220b): Al-Maqāla al-Sabiʿa min Kitāb Diyāsqūrīdūs fil-Ḥašāʾiš wa-hiya fil-Ḥayawān ḏawāt al-Sumūm.

ff. 138b-188a. al-Maqala al-Rabi`a min Kitab al-Hasha'ish li-Diyasquridus.

Notes in Persian on f. 46a, in a relatively recent hand.
The following description of the illustrations was made with the help of Sadek's work, which is somewhat sloppy in its spelling of the names, and whose identifications, made on the basis of John Goodyer (transl.), The Greek herbal of Dioscorides. Ed. by Robert T. Gunther. Oxford 1933, are not always convincing.
Note that the folio numbers of the present description refer to the page on which the illustration actually can be found, and not to the page on which the description of a plant or animal begins. The names of the plants are usually derived from the headings of each lemma.

f. 228a also contains the colophon and the note by the Persian translator (see above).
On f. 228b are readers' and owners' notes.
- On top of the page seems to be the rest of a waqf-note in red ink, in large script, dated 1 Muharram 740.
- Note by al-Husayn b. Khidr b. Muhammad in Thughr Bayrut, dated Shawwal 735. Later in the note the date Ragab 831 AH seems to be mentioned.
- One is dated Rabīʿ I 740 in Thughr Bayrūt, name of reader/owner illegible.
- An 'recent' owner (or probably bookseller) Muhammad b. Ahmad has written in Persian: īn kitāb panǧ maqāla ast kitāb-i Diyasqūrīdūs tāmm dārad. Elsewhere on the page Muhammad b. Ahmad refers to himself as: al-ḥakīm fī bilād Istanbūl al-maʿmūra, with the date 1020 AH. He is the same who has written the title of the work on the title-page (f. 1a). The heavily damaged title-page only contains fragments of owners' notes.

Or. 298

Arabic, paper, 241 ff., upright script (with application of ihmal), dated Dhu al-Qa`da 252 (f. 241b; 866 AD), and thereby probably the oldest dated Arabic manuscript on paper, bound in a full-leather standard Library binding.
The present volume contains an incomplete copy of Gharib al-Hadith, by Abu `Ubayd al-Qasim b. Sallam al-Baghdadi (d. 223/837), GAL G I, 107. CCO 1725 (IV, p. 48). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 95.
The present MS has been used as MS No. 3 by Muhammad `Azim al-Din in his edition of the text: Gharib al-Hadith li-Abi `Ubayd al-Qasim b. Sallam al-Harawi. Hydarabad 1384-1387/1964-1967 (4 vols.). On p. xvi of vol. I, he gives a short note about the importance of the MS.

See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), No. 57, pp. 75-76, with reproduction of a page. The leaves are in disorder. See for a reconstruction of the correct order by M.J. de Goeje, see CCO 1725 (IV, p. 49):
- guz' 9: ff. 1-20.
- guz' 10: ff. 21, 160, 161, 22-27, 116, 117, 28-33, 162, 163, 214.
- guz' 11: ff. 155-157, 217, 218, 110-115, 210-213, 215, 216, 158, 159, 206.
- guz' 12: ff. 207-209, 187-203.
- guz' 13: ff. 204, 205, 89-104, 219, 220.
- guz' 14: ff. 221-240.
- guz' 15: ff. 105, 73-88, 106, 107.
- guz' 16: ff. 108, 109, 134, 118-133, 164, 165, 186.
- guz' 17: ff. 166-185.
- guz' 18: ff. 135-154.
- guz' 19: ff. 34-53.
- guz' 20: ff. 54-72, 241.

Additional impressions of the MS:
- Numerous marginal and interlinear notes. Substantial marginal note on f. 131a. Some of these may have been written by the Musahhih who mentions his name on f. 241b.
- On f. 107b is a Khutbat al-Nikah, in an old hand, albeit much younger than the copyist's, possibly the same hand as of the owner's note on f. 241b, which is dated 750 AH.
- On f. 241b a collation and reading (Tashih, Qira'a) note, done with the imam Ibrahim b. [...] Muhammad b. Ahmad b. Muhammad b. Ishaq al-...i, dated Monday with 6 days left of Gumada II 378 (988 AD).
- On f. 241b an owner's note by Manuchihr b. Khusraw b. [...], Madinat al-Salam Baghdad in the year 750 AH.

The manuscript is divided in agza' of 20 ff. each, with a title page and with an empty last page for each quire. These were apparently made for the purpose of recording protocols of reading sessions (Sama`at). But there no notes or protocols concerning these reading sessions on the title-pages and the blank final pages, except for a few sets of owners' notes. Each quire begins with a basmala of its own.

¶ The question of the manufacture of the paper is somewhat confusing. Joseph von Karabacek, Arab paper, 1887. Translated by Don Baker and Suzy Dittmar. Additional notes by Don Baker. London [ca. 1991], p. 53, says 'To produce papers with both surfaces smooth and suitable for writing, two sheets were stuck together', for which he refers to ample evidence in the Vienna collection. Van Koningsveld (see below) copies this opinion. Documentary evidence for the doubling of paper is given by von Karabacek on the basis of a passage in al-Muqaddasi, Ahsan al-Taqasim fi Ma`rifat al-Taqalim. However, when one reads this passage in the edition by M.J. de Goeje (first edition, Leiden 1877), p. 100, lines 5-6, it becomes clear that von Karabacek has misinterpreted al-Muqaddasi's passage refers which to the pasting of papers (said in a general way, meaning either pasting together or into scrolls, but not specifically meant as pasting two sheets on top of one another) and to the double pasting of boards. The entire quotation is nothing more than as follows hereafter, and is taken out of a context concerning the use of starch, not the manufacture of paper: wa-bil-Yaman yalzaquna al-Durug wa-yabattinuna al-Dafatir bil-Nasha').

Jonathan M. Bloom, Paper before print. The history and impact of paper in the Islamic world. New Haven & London 2001, pp. 58-60, equally disagrees with the theory that old paper consists of two leaves pasted together. He says (pp. 58, 60): 'The tendency for the pages to split is actually a result of delamination, a condition seen in many early papers, such as the Vatican manuscript. When the pulp was not sufficiently beaten, the outer layers of the cellulose | fibers did not detach and form physical and chemical bonds with adjacent microfibrils, and the resulting paper has weak internal cohesion. This condition was exacerbated when the paper was given a hard surface with the application of size. The weaker interior splits easily in two, revealing a rough, woolly, and feltlike inner surface.'
After having studied several of the wormholes in the paper I can personally confirm that the cross-section of the paper shows that the substance does not consist of two layers, pasted onto one another.
Bloom (op. cit., p. 58) mentions an Arabic manuscript on paper which is dated 848 AD, and which is kept in Municipal Library of Alexandria. Earlier reports on an older MS in Alexandria have been circulating for a number of years. However, François Déroche, 'Les manuscrits arabes datés du IIIe/IXe siècle', in Revue des Études Islamiques 55-57 (1987-1989), pp. 343-379, mentions the present MS as the oldest Arabic manuscript on paper (list on p. 346), and nowhere does he refer to a MS in Alexandria.
¶ See for other details on the MS, and for an edition and annotated translation of the Hadith Umm Zar` (ff. 12b-13b) on the basis of the present MS: M.J. de Goeje, 'Beschreibung einer alten Handschrift von Abû `Ubaid's Ġarîb al-hadîṯ' in: ZDMG 18 (1864), pp. 781-807, with illustration of the upper half of f. 23b. De Goeje has also made a list of paleographical peculiarities on the script as employed in the present MS. See also Goed gezien, p. 36, with illustration of ff. 135b-136a.
¶ P.S. van Koningsveld has given a description of the present MS in Levinus Warner and his legacy. Three centuries Legatum Warnerianum in the Leiden University Library. Catalogue of the commemorative exhibition held in the Bibliotheca Thysiana from April 27th till May 15th 1970. Leiden 1970, pp. 75-76, parts of which are quoted here: 'The oldest dated Arabic manuscript on paper in Europe. The manuscript, which is dated 252 H (= A.D. 866) contains a big part of the famous work Gharibu 'l-Hadith by Abu `Ubayd al-Qasim ibn-Sallam (837 A.D.).
The Codex is written on very dark brown, opaque and rather stiff paper on which the handwriting seems to show through the substance where it has occasionally run or blotted. The 'two-sidedness' of the paper - due to the pasting of two sheets together in such a way that only the smooth sides are visible - is clearly to be seen on f. 25' where bookworms have perforated the paper.
The Arabs adopted the art of paper-making from the Chinese in the eighth century (about 751 A.D.). This paper was probably made in one of the paper-mills of Samarkand or Bagdad. An older manuscript on paper is perhaps the Greek Codex Vatican. Graec. 2200.

Apart from the text, which gives clear explanations on the unusual words in the traditions of Muhammad and a number of his Companions, the codex is of extreme importance for the knowledge of the development of Arabic script. [...] (follows a quotation from de Goeje's article).

Or. 314
Arabic, paper, 199 pp., naskh script, dated (on p. 199) Monday 23 Safar 926 in Istanbul.
Kitab Surat al-Ard by Abu al-Qasim Ibn Hawqal (367/977), GAL G I, 229, S I, 408. CCO 722 (II, p. 131); CCA 789 (II, p. 1). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 347. See also Gerald R. Tibbetts,

‘The Balkhi School of Geographers’, in: J.B. Harley & David Woodward (edd.), The History of Cartography, vol. 2, book I (Chicago, London 1992), pp. 134-135, No. 40.
Title-page (on the leaf before p. 1): Hadha Kitab al-Masalik wal-Mamalik wal-Mafawiz wal-Mahalik wa-Dhikr al-Aqalim wal-Buldan `ala Marr al-Duhur wal-Azman wa-Taba'i` Ahliha wa-Khawass al-Balad fi Nafsihi wa-Dhikr Gabayatiha wa-Kharagatiha wa-Mustaghallatiha wa-Dhikr al-Anhar al-Kibar wa-Ittisaliha bi-Shutut al-Bihar wa-ma `ala Sawahil al-Bihar min al-Mudun wal-Amsar wa-Masafat ma bayn al-Buldan lil-Saffara wal-Tuggar wa-ma yudaf ila dhalik min al-Hikayat wal-Akhbar wal-Nawadir wal-Athar. Then the author’s name follows, and an indicartion of his sources, the books by Abu al-Qasim Muhammad Ibn Khordadbih and Qudama b. Ga`far al-Katib.
On the same page an undated purchase note (price 40 Ottoman dirham for this plus another work), in Bursa. On p. 1a is the seal print of Sa`di Efendi, with identification in Turkish. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000), p. 67. On p. 199 is a muqabala note, which seems to contain a date: 3 Ramadan 816 AH.
In the margins notes in pencil of a European scholar.
The MS was meant to contain maps, but in the end these were never made. The empty spaces and the captions are there, but no maps. The maps that should have been drawn on full single or double pages.

(Ar. 318)

Or. 319
Collective volume with Arabic texts, paper, 220 ?? ff., dated 706 AH.
(1) ff. 1-33 and 35-220. Miftah al-`Ulum, by Yusuf b. Abi Bakr al-Sakkaki (d. 626/1229), GAL G I, 294. With many glosses. CCO 239 (I, p. 124-126); CCA 294 (I, pp. 153-155). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 210.
(2) f. 34. Fragment on metrics by Abu Yusuf Ya`qub b. Ahmad b. Muhammad (a contemporary of al-Tha`alibi). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 418.
(Ar. 319)

Or. 320
Collective volume with Arabic texts, paper, 442 pp., naskh script by one copyist, dated respectively 11 Muharram 875 and 15 Safar 875, both copied by `Abd al-Qadirb. `Abd al-Wahhab b. `Abd al-Mumin al-Qurashi, who completed the copying in front of the Ka`ba in Mecca (colophons on pp. 210-211, 441). Full-leather standard Library binding.

(1) pp. 2-211. Tadhkira bil-Akhbar `an Ittifaqat al-Asfar, or better known as al-Rihla, the travelogue by Muhammad b. Ahmad Ibn Gubayr (d. 614/1217), GAL G I, 478. CCO 736 (II, pp. 135-136); CCA 793 (II, pp. 2-3). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 288-289. This is the basis of the edition by William Wright, The travels of Ibn Jubair. Leiden 1852 [842 E 20 - 813 C 19, with annotations by M.J. de Goeje]. See for more notes by M.J. de Goeje about Ibn Gubayr's travelogue in Or. 5585 d (6), below. De Goeje has republished Wright's edition as: The travels of Ibn Jubayr. Edited from a MS. In the University Library of Leyden by William Wright. Second edition revised by M.J. de Goeje. Leiden/London 1907 (E.J.W. Gibb Memorial Series, vol. 5).
At the end of the text (p. 210) is a (possibly fictitious) title: Risalat I`tibar al-Nasik fi Dhikr al-Athar al-Karima wal-Manasik, the author of which is there given as al-Imam al-Ra'is al-Faqih al-Agall Abu al-Husayn Muhammad b. Ahmad b. Gubayr b. Muhammad b. Gubayr al-Kinani al-Balansi. This title is repeated by a 'recent' hand on p. 1, together with the title of the following text. From this it is clear that there is some confusion about the actual title of Ibn Gubayr's Travelogue.
(2) pp. 214-443. Appendix to al-Ta'rikh al-Kabir or, with the two titles in full: Dhayl Tarikh al-Islam and Tabaqat al-Mashahir wal-A`lam (titles on p. 441) both works being by Shams al-Din Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. Ahmad b. `Uthman b. Qaymaz b. `Abdallah al-Fariqi al-Tamimi al-Dimashqi, better known as al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46, a compilation treating biographies of famous men and women for the years 701-740 AH, and continued with those who died in as late 750 AH, by an anonymous editor. CCO 765 (II, pp. 148-149); CCA 846 (II, pp. 22-23). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 371-372. Added to the volume is Or. 320 a, below.

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 494 pp., naskh script, dated at several dates in 710 (colophons on pp. 326, 357) and 713 (colophons on pp. 177, 238, 490), copied by one copyist, Muhammad b. Abi al-Qasim al-Fariqi (colophons on pp. 177, 238, 326, 357, 490), full-leather standard Library binding. The volume gives the impression of consisting of several independently produced texts, having been bound together because of their common subject matter.
(1) pp. 1-177. Kitab al-Mushtarik Wad`an al-Mukhtalif Suq`an, by Abu `Abdallah Yaqut b. `Abdallah al-Rumi al-Hamawi al-Baghdadi (d. 626/1229), GAL G I, 480. CCO 725 (II, p. 132); CCA 796 (II, p. 4). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 243. Table of contents, and numerous owners' notes on the title-page (p. 1). Dated Ragab 713, copied by Muhammad b. Abi al-Qasim al-Fariqi, in al-Qahira (colophon on p. 177). This MS was one of those used by Ferdinand Wüstenfeld for his edition (Göttingen 1846).
¶ Added: at the end is an uncut leaf, folded twice, giving 8 pages, from what could have become a lithograph edition by F. Wüstenfeld of this text, in fact published as: Jacut's Moschtarik, das ist Lexicon geographischer Homonyme. Aus den Handschriften zu Wien und Leyden, Göttingen 1846 [OosHss D 1545]). It should be noted, however, that Wüstenfeld's edition is a typographical print. The lithograph sheet may have been a trial print, or it may have represented a copy of the Vienna manuscript for the purpose of collation with the Leiden manuscript. Note that the title in the lithograph version is Kitab al-Mushtarik Wad`anwal- al-Muftariq Suq`an, which also became the title of the edition.
(2) pp. 179-238. Kitab al-Gibal wal-Amkina wal-Miyah by Abu al-Qasim Mahmud b. `Umar al-Zamakhshari (d. 538/1144), GAL G I, 292. CCO 739 (II, p. 137); CCA 792 (II, p. 2). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 101. Dated the middle of Shawwal 713, copied by Muhammad b. Abi al-Qasim b. Isma`il al-Fariqi, in al-Qahira al-Mu`iziyya (colophon on p. 238). In the colophon the title is given as Kitab al-Gibal wal-Awdiya wal-Miyah. See H.A. Hamaker, Specimen catalogi codicum mss. Orientalium Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae [...]. Leiden 1820, pp. 113-138, where the class-mark of the MS is given as MS 1706 (referring to the 1716 catalogue of the Library, p. 478).
(3) pp. 241-326. al-Ansab al-Muttafiqa fil-Khatt al-Mutamathila fil-Nuqat wal-Dabt, by Abu al-Fadl Muhammad b. Tahir b. `Ali al-Muqaddasi Ibn al-Qaysarani (d. 507/1113), GAL G I, 355. CCO 859 (II, p. 193); CCA 132 (I, p. 78). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 15. Dated Gumada I 710, copied by Muhammad b. Abi al-Qasim al-Fariqi, in al-Qahira (colophon on p. 326). Also on p. 326 a collation note, describing the exemplar as Asl Sahih Mu`tamad Madbut Masmu`. See H.A. Hamaker, Specimen catalogi codicum mss. Orientalium Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae [...]. Leiden 1820, pp. 139-145)

(4) pp. 327-357. al-Guz' fihi Ziyadat al-Hafiz Abi Musa Muhammad b. Muhammad b. Abi Bakr `Umar b. Ahmad b. `Umar b. Muhammad b. Abi `Isa al-Isbahani `ala Kitab al-Ansab Ansab al-Muttafiqa fil-Khatt al-Mutamathila fil-Nuqat wal-Dabt lil-Hafiz Abi al-Fadl Muhammad b. Tahir b. `Ali al-Muqaddasi [...]. Addition by Muhammad b. Abi Bakr al-Isfahani (d. 581/1185) to al-Ansab al-Muttafiqa fil-Khatt al-Mutamathila fil-Nuqat wal-Dabt by Muhammad b. Tahir Ibn al-Qaysarani (d. 507/1113), GAL G I, 355. CCO 860 (II, pp. 193-194); CCA 133 (I, p. 78). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 15. Dated the first decade of Gumada II 710, copied by Muhammad b. Abi al-Qasim al-Fariqi, in al-Qahira (colophon on p. 357). Also on p. 357 a collation note, describing the exemplar as Asl Sahih Masmu` Mu`tabar Madbut. See H.A. Hamaker, Specimen catalogi codicum mss. Orientalium Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae [...]. Leiden 1820, pp. 145-149).
(5) pp. 361-490. Kitab Mukhtasar Talkhis al-Mutashabih fil-Rasm wa-Himayat ma ashkala minhu `an Bawadir al-Tashif wal-Wahm. Compendium by `Ala' al-Din Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. `Uthman b. Ibrahim al-Maridini al-Hanafi Ibn al-Turkumani (d. 750/1349) on Talkhis al-Mushtabih fil-Rasm by Abu Bakr Ahmad b. `Ali b. Thabit al-Khatib al-Baghdadi (d. 463/1071), GAL G I, 329. Dated 713 AH. CCO 861 (II, pp. 194-195); CCA 134 (I, p. 79). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 362. Dated Ramadan 713, copied by Muhammad b. Abi al-Qasim al-Fariqi, in al-Qahira al-Mu`iziyya (colophon on p. 490). See H.A. Hamaker, Specimen catalogi codicum mss. Orientalium Bibliothecae Academiae Lugduno-Batavae [...]. Leiden 1820, pp. 149-158).
Interpretation of some of the owners'notes:
- One of the owner's notes on op. 1: Min kutub Khalil b. Aybak `afa Allah `anhu. He is, of course: Salah al-Din Khalil b. Aybak al-Safadi (d. 764/1363), GAL G II, 32. Another owner has written next to this note: Khatt al-Shaykh al-`Allama Salah al-Din al-Safadi rahimahu Allah.
- Another owner has written (pp. 1, 179): min Kutub Ibrahim b. Ahmad Ibn al-Khatib. He may be Muhyi al-Din Muhammad b. Ibrahim Khatibzada al-Rumi (d. 901/1495), GAL G II, 229. It is evident that he has tried to emulate both lay-out and writing style of the owner's note by al-Safadi.
- On p. 494 a 'modern' reader's note, al-Sayyid Zayn al-Din b. Ahmad al-Baghdadi, in Islambul, near the mosque of Mahmud Basha, in 1046 AH.

¶ In October 1996 (as I remember), I wrote a letter to Rudolf Sellheim answering his questions concerning earlier restaurions in this manuscript. That text was incorporated by Rudolf Sellheim in his article 'Eine späte zusammenfassende Sprichwörtersammlung aus der zweiten Hälfte des 7./13. Jahrhunderts', in I.R. Netton (ed.) Studies in Honour of Clifford Edmund Bosworth, vol. 1 (Leiden 2000), pp. 95-112. The text treated by Sellheim is in fact MS Leiden Or. 359. My remarks on the restauration history of the manuscript (o.c., pp. 98-99) follow here in extenso:
'About the physical condition of Cod. Or. 359 I can inform you as follows. The MS was part of the Warner legacy which arrived in Leiden from Istanbul in or shortly after 1665. It must have been repaired at least twice. Once in the Orient, as you remark, and once in Holland. The present binding is European, full leather with flap in the Middle Eastern way, with European blind-tooled ornaments in the leather. The MS measures 25.5 x 18 cm (text area 19.5 x 12 cm). Personally I would rather date the MS to the 14th century, but this idea has no value and is purely impressionist.'
'About the restoration in the Orient. Traces can be seen both at the beginning and the end of the codex. The beginning must have been severely damaged, hence the conspicuous repairs. These have been executed by rebacking the loose leaves, and by adding new margins or reinforcing edges wherever necessary. In the beginning ff. 1-14 were repaired in this way. They now seem to constitute two quires (with hearts between ff. 3-4 and 12-13 respectively). Later catchwords (custodes) have been provided on ff. 3b, 8b, 13b. As the restoration seems to have been done with European paper, it cannot be older than approximately the beginning of the 16th century, and it is probably much younger than that, but not younger than 1665.'
'Before f. 1 one can observe in the codex as follows: innerside of board of the binding, pasted with fly-leaf—double fly-leaf— leaf with title: Kitāb....—leaf with text: al-Mahabba....+ label Warner, on the verso: 18th cent. European note—and then follows f. 1a with the beginning of the first chapter.'
The last quire has been restored similarly, but in a less dramatic way, by rebacking the leaves (ff. 219-222, with the heart between ff. 220-221). The fly-leaf immediately after f. 222 has a small watermark: anchor in a circle, diameter: 3.5 cm. As anchors are very common I have made no effort in identifying this one. There are quire marks which seem to be made for the first, Oriental, restoration. The ink is different, and they consist of mere figures, which seems to be a technique which is considerably later than the era of the manufacture of the manuscript, You can observe these as follows: No. 2 (f. 8a), No. 3 (f. 18a), No. 4 (f. 28a), No. 5 (f. 38a), No. 6 (f. 48a), No. 7 (f. 58a), No. 8 (f. 68a), No. 9 (f. 78a), No. 10 (f. 88a), No. 11 (f. 98a), No. 12 (f. 108a), No. 13 (f. 118a), No. 14 (f. 128a), No. 15 (f. 138a), No. 16 (f. 148a), No. 17 (f. 158a), No. 18 (f. 168a), No. 19 (f. 176a), No. 20 (f. 186a), No. 21 (f. 196a), No. 22 (f. 206a), No. 23 (f. 216a). Hearts of the quires may be observed, with the threads, between ff. 3-4, 12-13, 22-23, 32-33, 42-43, 52-53, 62-63, 72-73, 82-83, 92-93, 102-103, 112-113, 122-123, 132-133, 142-143, 152-153, 162-163, 171-172, 180-181, 190-191, 200-201, 210-211, 220-221. Especially in the first part, the use of coloured paper is very regular (the sheet before the central sheet).

All this points to the codex being a book made out of quires of ten leaves (five sheets, twenty pages) and the irregularities in the physical composition and catchwords in the beginning and the end must arouse suspicion. You will have extra clues on the completeness of the work by way of the contents of the text. The additional piece of paper on f. 1 was apparently taken out of the original paper and pasted on the spot where it now can be seen. There is mention of a missing page on it as you will have seen. On the assumed rebinding in Europe I cannot give you any further information. This library's records on rebinding are insufficient. The binding, however, makes a purely European impression, even with the flap.'

The present manuscript is the basis of the edition by P. de Lagarde, Materialien zur Kritik und Geschichte des Pentateuchs. Leipzig 1867. See on this also J. Caleb Hughes, in Leipziger Semitische Studien VII, 3 (1920). And also H.S. Davidson, 'De Lagarde's Ausgabe der arabischen Übersetzung des Genesis ... nachgeprüft', in Leipziger Semitische Studien III, 5 (1919).
¶ The recto sides of the leaves have been numbered by an ancient owner with written numerals. In this sequence the following order of leaves can be observed: ff. 1-32, 34-86, 88-130, 131-140 (bound upside down), 142-149, 141, 151-217. Now the leaves have been consecutively numbered in pencil.

=> Dr. Robert M. Kerr wrote to me on September 13, 2004:
'Onder de ex-libris van Or. 377 is een in Arabisch en Koptisch gestelde tekst die luidt als volgt in de vertaling:
(Arabisch) Tegen bedwantsen (baqq), schrijf (het volgende) op vier stroken papier en plak (deze) op de vier hoeken van het huis :
(Koptisch) God van Apa Saranti (verder onbekend, mogelijk een geheel fictieve heilige die speciaal tegen hinderlijke insecten werd aangeroepen) der Wespen (?), verdrijf de bedwantsen (kouris <Grieks "kóris", i.e. "bedbug", Cimex lectularius, cf. Aristophanes) uit dit huis! Amen.
(Arabisch, 2e hand) En (gebruik) lupinesap tegen de vlooien.
Interessant is misschien op te merken dat slechts de spreuk in het Koptisch gesteld is, de spreuk moest in deze taal gezegd worden om de heilige te activeren.'

Or. 381
Latin, Italian, German, paper, ff.
Collection of drafts of letters written by Levinus Warner (d. 1665) from Constantinople in the years 1650, 1657-1663, 1665. Most letters are of political nature (addressees usually unknown), but also (e.g. the letters to Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) and J.H. Hottinger (1620-1677)) of a literary nature. There are a few letters in the collection that were received by Warner, e.g. from Andreas Richter (-) in 1645. CCO 2410 (V, p. 110).

(Ar. 381)

Or. 382
Arabic, Turkish, Latin, Greek, paper,
(1) Notes by Levinus Warner (d. 1665) on a work Lubb al-Tawarikh. See CCO 2411 V, pp. 110-111). It is tempting to connect that text with Or. 224, above, since the date of copying of Or. 224 (1055 AH) makes it impossible that the MS ever belonged to J.J. Scaliger, whereas a Warner provenance is not impossible. Or. 224, above, is a Persian text, entitled Lubb al-Tawarikh, by Yahya b. `Abd al-Latif al-Qazwini (d. 960 AH). CCO III, p. 6 (No. 914), where Or. 224 is described, gives no remark about the blatant anachronism nor any other information concerning the provenance.
(2) Notes by Levinus Warner (d. 1665) consisting of several loose papers of varied nature and content. I here translate the description from the Latin of CCO 2411 (V, p. 111): '2º. Many different papers of varied origin. Among other things there are several proverbs, some political and religious matters, and also a poem on Poland, composed by the counseller of King Henricus and left by the King in Warsaw on his table when he fled, to which is added 'the answer of Joannes Rochanvicus to the croaking rooster'.'
On the paper sheaf in which these notes are preserved is stated that the other parts in this number have been transferred to the sheaf numbered Hebr. 79, which is Or. 382 A-D, here following.
Concerning the poem of the King of Poland it is stated on the sheaf that that has been transferred (in the course of 1908) to the Latin manuscripts in the Leiden library: 'carmen regis Poloniae collocatum est inter Codd. Latinis.' That is now registered as BPL 1908. See also Catalogue 1716, p. 474, No. 1610 (information kindly supplied on February 1, 2000, by Dr. André Bouwman).
According to Jan Schmidt, there are also notes in the hand of Nicolaus Petri in this collection. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000), pp. 76-77.

Or. 382 A-D
Hebrew and Latin, paper, loose quires and leaves in cardboard cover.
Notes by Levinus Warner (d. 1665) on Hebrew matters.
A. 24 + 3 ff.
(1) Warner's notes (24 ff.) on Ezra, Esther and Daniel. Excerpts by Warner from the rabbinical authors on Daniel (not Ezra, as Steinschneider has it), with some excerpts (3 ff.) in an expert Sefardi mashait hand (Jachini?).
(2) Warner's notes in Latin on Ezra and Daniel.
B. 16 + 6 ff. Excerpts from Jehuda Hedessi, Eshkol ha-Kofer. Hebrew text in expert Sefardi mashait hand.
C. 36 ff. Excerpts from the Talmud and various Hebrew authors, without order, with short remarks or translations in Latin by Warner on the opposite pages.
D. 35 pp. + 16 ff.
(1) Excerpts from a Karaitic polemical work in Hebrew. Expert Sefardi mashait hand.

(2) Latin translation by Warner of the greater part of the preceding Hebrew text, D (1), above.
See Steinschneider, Catalogus (1858), p. 297. Van der Heide, Hebrew Manuscripts (1977), pp. 44-45.

Or. 436
Arabic, paper, 189 ff., naskh script, dated 1 Safar 601, copied by Ahmad b. Muhammad (colophon on f. 188a), European-style half-leather binding with flap, possibly the original leather back. Title on lower edge: Mukhtar Sahhah, an erroneous bibliographical reference, which may have been caused by the indication of the Sahhah as the source of many of the marginal notes in the MS.
Dustur al-Lugha min al-Asma' wal-Af`al wal-Adawat, by al-Husayn b. Ibrahim al-Natanzi Dhu al-Bayanayn (d. 499/1106, or 497/1103), GAL G I, 288. CCO 129 (III, p. 75); CCA 104 (I, pp. 65-66). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 72.
Owners'dates on f. 188a: Murad (in 1018 AH) and Hafiz Ibrahim (1051 AH).
On f. 1a an owner's note: Hafiz Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. `Ali al-..., dated end Rabi` I 1053.
f. 188b: Prayer, in red ink.
f. 189b. Two lines of text in Diwani script.

Or. 437
Arabic, paper, 388 pp, naskh script of calligraphic quality, fully vocalized, illuminations (pp. 1, 2-3 [double opening page], 8, 21, 26, 28), copied by Abu Bakr Muhammad b. Abi Rafi` al-Warraq in Ghazna (colophon on p. 387), dated by circumstantial evidence between 441-444/1049-1052 in Ghazna (according to S.M. Stern), full-leather Islamic binding, flap now lost, with blind tooled ornamentation. Title on lower edge: Kitab Khalq al-Nabi salla Allah `alayhi wa-sallam.
Kitab Khalq al-Nabi wa-Khulqih, by Abu Bakr Muhammad b. `Abdallah b. `Abd al-`Aziz (lived in the 5th cent. AH), not in GAL, nor in GAS. CCO 1735 (IV, pp. 60-61). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 162.
Designed as a luxury book, with gold discs used as separators between the sentences.
See on the dating of this MS S.M. Stern, 'A manuscript from the library of the Ghaznawid Amir `Abd al-Rashid', in R. Pinder-Wilson (ed.), Paintings from Islamic lands. Oxford 1969, pp. 7-31. Stern deciphered the ex-libris (p. 1) by which he came to this conclusion.
See J.J. Witkam, Seven Specimens (1978), pp. 4-5, with reproduction of p. 71 of the MS.
An extensive restauration of the MS was performed in 1973-1975 by Sister Lucie H. Gimbrère, restaurator in the Monastery of Oosterhout. The restauration report (in Dutch, with extensive codicological description) is kept in Or. 18.088, below. One of the conclusions of the restaurator is that the binding is not the first and original binding of the MS.
Binding (in its former state) described in Max Weisweiler, Der islamische Bucheinband des Mittelalters (Wiesbaden 1962), pp. 183-184, No. 369, plate 48.
On p. 1 are a few owners' notes, but non dated and none would seem to be very ancient.
On p. 388 some 'older' notes, not related to the text.
¶ The fragments which were found in the binding during the restauration of 1973-1975 are preserved as Or. 18.088, below.

Or. 439

Collective volume with texts in Persian and Arabic, paper, 299 ff., naskh script (two copyists), half-leather Islamic binding, flap now lost, pasted boards (marbled paper), paste-in medallion. Red wax seal on f. 2a.
(1) ff. 2a-294b. Persian. Sirag al-Talibin wa-Minhag al-Raghibin (al-`Abidin) fi Sharh al-Ahadith al-Araba`in al-Mushtamila `ala Qawa`id al-Din, commentary by Nur al-Din Muhammad b. `Abdallah al-Igi (who composed it in 858 AH) on the Arabic al-Arba`un Hadithan by Yahya b. Sharaf al-Nawawi (d. 676/1278), GAL G I, 396. CCO 1747 (IV, p. 79). Bibliographical information in a note on f. 2a. Title on lower edge: Sharh Ahadith Arba`in.
(2) ff. 295b-298a. Arabic. Bab al-Isharat ila Dabt al-Alfaz al-Mushkilat. Explication of difficult words occurring in al-Arba`un Hadithan by Yahya b. Sharaf al-Nawawi (d. 676/1278), GAL G I, 396. CCO 1747 (IV, p. 79).
Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
On ff. 1a (poetry in Persian, Hadith), 1b (several shorter notes, one anecdote on a sick child of al-Qushayri), 1c (Hadith), 298b (Hadith), 299a (prayer) are notes (mostly) in Arabic of varied origin.
[* Ar. 439]

Or. 440

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, mostly on alchemical subjects, paper, 103 ff. An old copy. Illustrations (No. 3). On f. 1r is a collective title for the volume. Full leather Islamic binding with flap with blind tooling work (borders with medallion), authentic, but evidently not contemporary to the MS.
(1) ff. 1v-37r. Kitab al-Gami`, said to be derived from a work by Ostanes, translated into Arabic by Abu Bakr Yahya b. Khalid al-Ghassani al-Khurasani. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 91, where references to MS Paris, BNF, Arabe 2605 (1) and London, BL, 1000 (2) (Or or Add.?) are given. CCO 1259 (III, pp. 191-194). The fasl's begin with a basmala of their own, thereby cretating the impression of being separate bibliographical entities.

(1a) ff. 37v-38v. Fasl min Kalam al-Shaykh al-Sharif Abi al-`Abbas Ahmad b. al-Munabbi (?) al-Idrisi al-Mursi. Author not found in GAL, GAS, Ullmann. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. It is not clear whether or not this short text belongs to the preceding text.
(2) ff. 39r-48v. Kitab al-Mawazin al-Saghir, ascribed to Gabir b. Hayyan, GAL G I, 241, P. Kraus, No. 980. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 206. CCO 1263 (III, pp. 197-198).
(2a) f. 49a. Gadwal wada`ahu Iflatun fil-Arkan. Not in CCO and not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(2b) ff. 49v-50r, and in the margin of f. 50v. Notes by Abu al-Fadl Yusuf b. Ya`qub al-Dimashqi on Bawasir (hemorrhoids). Author not in GAL. Written by a different copyist, but also quite old. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(3) ff. 50v-61r. Kanz al-Kunuz, ascribed to Qaratis al-Hakim (Crates). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 152. CCO 1260 (III, pp. 194-195). With illustrations of alchemical utensils.
(4) ff. 61r-64r. Khabar Yuhin al-Hindi. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 158. A short treatise in the shape of questions and answers, concerning the stone of the philiosophers. Yuhin al-Hindi was sent by the King of al-Hind to al-Iskandar, and associated with Aristotle. The present treatise records their dialogues. CCO 1261 (III, p. 195).
(5) ff. 64v-79r. Kitab al-Habib alladhi awsa bihi Ibnahu wa-akarra Wasiyyatahu fi Kulli Darb min al-Adab. Anonymous compendium on alchemy. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 105. CCO 1262 (III, pp. 196-197).
(5a) ff. 79r-v. Wasiyyat Qayumma Ibnahu. Alchemical instruction by Qayyuma to his son. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. CCO 1262 (III, p. 197).
(5b) f. 80r. A page with text copied from an alchemical work, unidentified. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. CCO 1262 (III, p. 197).
(6) ff. 80v-86v. Kitab al-Tagmi`, ascribed to Gabir b. Hayyan [here: li-Abi Musa Gabir b. Hayyan al-Sufi]. P. Kraus No. 398. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 354. CCO 1265 (III, p. 200). In the colophon the work is described as al-Kalam al-Mukhtasar min Kitab al-Tagmi`.
(6a) f. 87r. Notes on Gabir b. Hayyan in Turkish. F. 87 is a leaf of relatively modern paper. Not in Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000).
(7) ff. 87v-95r. Kitab al-Rahma, ascribed to Gabir b. Hayyan. P. Kraus No. 5. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 282. F. 87v is a modern replacement. CCO 1264 (III, pp. 198-200).
(8) CCO 1266 (III, pp. 200-201) treats the four following texts under one number. The last leaves are damaged, with considerable loss of text.
(8a) ff. 95v-97r. Kitab al-Zibaq al-Sharqi by Gabir b. Hayyan (c. 160/776), GAL G I, 241, P. Kraus No. 470. 'Old'. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 405.
(8b) ff. 97r-100r. Kitab al-Zibaq al-Gharbi by Gabir b. Hayyan (c. 160/776), GAL G I, 241, P. Kraus No. 471. 'Old'. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 405.
(8c) ff. 100r-102v. Kitab Nar al-Hagar by Gabir b. Hayyan (c. 160/776), GAL G I, 241, P. Kraus No. 472. 'Old'. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 247.
(8d) ff. 102v-103v. Incomplete copy (abrupt end) of Kitab Ard al-Hagar by Gabir b. Hayyan (c. 160/776), GAL G I, 241, P. Kraus No. 473. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 23.
Added: two leaves with bibliographical notes on the works of Gabir b. Hayyan, apparently written by a 19th-century scholar.

¶ Murad Kamil has published the Ethiopic text entitled, Des Josef ben Gorion (Josippon) Geschichte der Juden, nach den Handschriften in Berlin, London, Oxford, Paris und Strassburg herausgegeben. New York 1954 [804 D 32]. On pp. xvi-xvii of his introduction he quotes a passage from the Leiden MS (f. 39b) from which it is evident that Ibn Hazm has read the Arabic version of this text. Ibn Hazm's passage is an important witness to the early existence of an Arabic version of the Josippon text.

Or. 494
Persian, paper, 547 ff., nasta`liq script, illuminated and illustrated, dated Saturday 15 Ramadan 840/1437, copied by `Imad al-Din `Abd al-Rahman al-Katib (colophon on f. 547a), The colophon uses the term katabahu, which implies that the illustrations and illuminations in this manuscript are made by someone different from the copyist. All miniatures but one have been extensively reworked at a later date, full-leather Islamic binding with flap, with coloured ornamentation (borders and medallion).
Shahnama, by Mansur Abu al-Qasim Firdawsi Tusi (c. 934-c. 1020). CCO 631 (II, p. 108). See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), pp. 58-59, with colour illustration of f.

24r. The miniatures in this volume have been surveyed in Jill Norgren & Edward Davis, Preliminary Index of Shah-Nameh Illustrations. Ann Arbor 1969.
A survey of the illustrations and illumination:
f. la. Illumination (vignettes).
f. 1 b. Illumination (frame) over the beginning of the introduction.
ff. 7b-8a. Double-page dedicatory frontispice. Open air audience of a king. He is sitting on a carpet near a rivulet, holding a small bowl in his right hand. Trees are nearby. Several persons (visitors or courtiers), both standing and sitting, look at him.
Some are holding bowls (with food?), others sit in attendance. In the foreground is a gold table with three blue porcelain jugs. At the left, two horses are kept by an attendant. At the far left, two cheetahs are kept by two attendants. Evidently, this is not an illustration of the text of the Shahnama, but of the patron who commissioned the manuscript. He remains unidentified, however.
ff. 8b-9a. Double-page illuminated beginning of the text of the Shahnama.
f. 11 b. Gayumarth ascends the throne. He is sitting on a carpet on a rocky elevation. Five man stand in front of him. All are clothed in simple spotted textiles.
f. 24b. Irag is slain by Tur. Irag is lying down, dressed in white clothing on a carpet. Tur is dressed like a warrior and plunges a dagger in his breast. Tents and landscape on the background. Reproduced in Levinus Warner and his legacy (Leiden 1970), between pp. 58-59. This miniature is the only one which has escaped the later retouching.
f. 49a. Rustam hits the white elephant. The fight happens on an open space, with a tree in the background. Rustam hits the animal with a club on the head and blood is streaming down. People are looking from afar. Reproduced in Ivan Stchoukine, Les peintures des manuscrits timurides (Paris 1954), plate XXXI.
f. 67a. Rustam slays the white Div. Rustam and the white demon are in a grotto. Rustam plunges his sword in the creature’s belly. The creature’s left leg has been cut off. Outside the cave, Shah Ka’us is standing, bound to a tree, with his horse standing next to him. Part of the miniature is outside the frame.
f. 89b. Rustam and Suhrab, af ter their battIe, in a mountanous landscape. Suhrab lies dying on the ground and only now his true identity is discovered by Rustam, who holds his neck with his right hand. Two horses stand by.
f. 114a. Siyawush plays at polo with Garsiwaz. The two players with their sticks on horseback confronting one another, in the open air. The ball is between them on the ground.
f. 133b. Kay Khusraw crosses the river Oxus with Giw and Farangis. The three men sit on horseback. The horses emerge only with their necks and heads from the water. The silver paint for the water has now oxidized and has changed into greyish black.
f. 151b. Kay Khusraw has Tus recalled. The king sits on his throne, in the open air. Tus stands in front of him, bearing his sword and bow with arrows. On the foreground stands a courtier, and Tus has a companion standing behind him. Several armed men look from a distance.
f. 180a. Rustam seizes the Khaqan of Chin by pulling him with a lasso from his elephant. Rustam is on horseback, the Khaqan sits in a hawdag on a white elephant, the lasso strung around his neck. Horsemen aim their bows and arrows at Rustam. Several warriors look on from a distance.

f. 204a. Rustam rescues Bizhan from the pit. Rustam (with cheetah-head headgear and holding a lion-headed club in his left hand) looks down into the pit through a hole in the rock. Bizhan is sitting there and looks up. Three warriors are looking from aside.
f. 240b. Kay Khusraw battles Shide. Both are on horseback, the king pursuing Shide and hitting him on the back of his head. A slain warrior's head is lying on the ground, near a broken sword. Other warriors are looking from a distance. Two banners exceed the frame of the miniature.
f. 259a. Kay Khusraw beheads Afrasiyab while Garsivaz is watching. The king has just killed Afrasiyab who is sitting in front of him, with naked torso and his hands bound on his back. His head lies on the ground. The image of the king has been severely damaged. Garsiwaz sits on horseback. Someone is watching from a distance.
f. 268b. Luhrasp enthroned. Luhrasp is sitting in the open air on the throne and speaks out. In front of him are two notables sitting on a small bench. Courtiers stand behind the king and others look from at a distance.
f. 269a. End of the first volume (Magallad).
f. 269b. Illumination in a frame, indicating the beginning of the second volume.
f. 296a. Asfandiyar fights the lions. Asfandiyar is on horseback and hits a lion with his sword on the head and the back, blood is flowing from the wound. Another lion is nearby.
f. 318a. Rustam kills Asfandiyar. Both are on horseback, out in the open. Rustam, at the left, has just shot his double-pointed arrow into Asfandiyar's face, who now looks down and grabs the arrow with his hand.
f. 354a. Iskandar approaching Babil meets Gushbestar. Iskandar on a black horse, followed by an attendant who is also on horseback and who holds a parasol over his master, rides through the water and talks to Gushbestar who his sitting on a mat. Several people are looking from a distance from behind a rock. The silver paint for the water has now oxidized and has changed into greyish black.
f. 385a. Bahram Gur hunting. The king sits on a camel and has just shot a gazelle with his arrow. From a distance Arzu plays the harp, sitting on horseback. This miniature is not mentioned by Norgren & Davis, nor is their a subject like this in their survey.
f. 419b. Khushnawaz in hot pursuit of Sufaray in battle. Both are on horseback. He hits him on the back of his head with his battIe club. A broken sword and shield lie on the ground. People are looking from a distance.
f. 547a. Illumination with floral motives on both sides of the colophon.
All miniatures are published with description in:

Or. 499
Arabic, paper (alternatingly coloured), 137 ff., naskh script, illuminated title-page, illustrations, copied by Ahmad (?) b. Yusuf al-A`yadi (?), known as al-Sunbuli (colophon on f. 135a), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, blind tooled ornamentation (borders, small ornamental elements), red wax seal inside back cover.
Kitab al-Hiyal wal-Hurub wa-Fath al-Mada'in wa-Hifz al-Durub, ascribed to Iskandar Dhu al-Qarnayn. CCO 1414 (III, pp. 288-291). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 116-117.
Title-page with illumination: Kitab al-Hiyal wal-Hurub wa-Fath al-Mada'in wa-Hifz al-Durub / min Hikam al-Iskandar Dhi al-Qarnayn b. Qibilis al-Yunani nafa`a Allah bihi / bi-Rasm Khizanat al-Maqarr al-Ashraf al-`Ali al-Mawlawi al-Sayyidi al-`Alimi al-`Amili al-Sayfi bi-Martamr (?) `ammaraha Allah bi-Baqa'ihi.
The text is preceded (ff. 2a-3a) by a table of contents, mentioning 39 numbered chapters (Bab). This is apparently a later addition and possibly unrelated to the present text, as the chapters as they appear in the text are unnumbered, and in fact occur in much greater quantity than as mentioned in the table.
Lacuna on ff. 32b, corresponding to text in Or. 92, ff. 66-68.
Illustrations on ff. 74b, 75b, 76a, 76b, 77b, 78a, 79a, 80b, 81b, 82b, 83b, 84b, 85a, 86a, 87a, all showing contraptions for transporting water, as part of the chapter Bab al-Dawalib wa-Istinbat al-Miyah wal-Hila fi dhalika (beginning on f. 74a, not mentioned in the table of contents).
Added: a typewritten carbon copy of quotations from the beginning of MS Aya Sofia 2875 (Defter, p. 173), possibly made by H. Ritter.
Cursive notes, in several hands, unrelated to the text: ff. 79b (prose, dated Saturday 25 Ramadan 64. (?)), 136b-137a (lines of poetry).
¶ See H. Ritter, 'La parure des cavaliers und die Literatur über die ritterlichen Künste', in Der Islam 18 (1929), pp. 116-154. On pp. 151-152 Ritter mentions MS Istanbul, Topkapi Saray 3469 (2), which contains the same text (with title Kitab al-Hiyal fil-Hurub wa-Fath al-Mada'in wa-Hifz al-Durub). The authorship in the Istanbul MS is given as follows: ... min

Hikam Dhi al-Qarnayn al-Iskandar b. Filibus al-Yunani, and the origin is said to be as found in 'a vault (or dungeon or cave, Daymas) in Alexandria, between two stones ... and written in Greek, and then translated into Arabic'. These details are missing in Leiden, Or. 92, above, but are present here. Or. 92, above, is another but less complete copy of the text.

(1) ff. 1b-172b. Incomplete copy (because of the incidental lack of equivalents) of Musarrihat al-Asma', Arabic-Persian dictionary by Lutf Allah b. Abi Yusuf Molla Chelebi (c. 886/1481), GAL G II, 223. CCO 159 (I, p. 90); CCA 116 (I, p. 71). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 242. The author uses the takhallus Halimi. Title on f. 2b, whereas the word Musarriha is a chronogram for the year 872 AH. On the fly-leaf in front is a longer title: Musarrihat al-Asma' fi Bayan al-Lughat al-`Arabiyya. The text is dedicated to prince Bayezid (f. 2a, line 6). Some words have Turkish equivalents, instead of Persian ones. First page consists of two leaves pasted together, with old text still visible between the two leaves.
(2) ff. 173a-175a. Kitab al-Muthallath by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Mustanir Qutrub (d. 206/821), GAL G I, 103. Arabic grammatical patterns, with Turkish meanings added. CCO 110 (I, p. 59; V, pp. 146-147); CCA 43 (I, pp. 31-32. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 243.

Kitab Minhag al-Rashad, an encyclopedic compilation by Shukr Allah b. Ahmad who completed this text in the year 864 AH and who dedicated it to the Ottoman Sultan

Muhammad II. Divided in 12 chapters (bab), which are in turn divided into sections (fasl), with table of contents on ff. 1b-3a, preceding the text. CCO 2110 (IV, p. 299). See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), pp. 60-61. HRP
- On f. 1a: J: van Hell. Lit: k:k-k. Also on f. 1a the latter part of a list of book titles, numbered Nos. 37-58, apparently unrelated to the present text.
¶ The text seems to be complete on f. 86a. Then follows a section, called Tafsil-i Namha-yi `Ulum dar Awwal-i in Mukhtasar Mugmalan Madhkurast. There follow the names of 145 sciences, numbered 1-145, but this list does not appear to have a connection with the Kitab Minhag al-Rashad. It rather seems to be the copy of a table of contents belonging to a following treatise, copied from the exemplar and erroneously thought to be part of the previous work.

(1) ff. 1a-72b. al-Sayf al-Maslul `ala man sabba al-Rasul, by Taqi al-Din `Ali b. `Abd al-Kafi al-Subki (d. 756/1355), GAL G II, 87, who completed the compilation on Thursday 1 Sha`ban 734 in Darb al-Tifl in Cairo (author's colophon copied on f. 72b, where the full name of the author is given as `Ali b. `Abd al-Kafi b. `Ali b. Tammam b. Yusuf b. Musa b. Tammam b. Hamid b. Yahya al-Subki. Collation note in the hand of the author's son `Abd al-Wahhab Ibn al-Subki (d. 771/1370), GAL G II, 89, the author of the Tabaqat al-Shafi`iyya al-Kubra. His hand can be seen at several occasions in the margins of the text (ff. 1b, 5b, 6b, 8b, 9b, 24a, 25b, 27b, 28b, 34a, 40a, 43a, 43b, 46a, 47b, 48a, 50b, 55b, 56a, 63b and finally the note on f. 72b which he has signed by his name).
Note that the catchwords have been added at a later date, as is evident from the blottings on the opposite page. This should alert the reader to see whether the text is indeed a complete one.
(2) ff. 73a-75b. Collection of some poetry by Taqi al-Din `Ali b. `Abd al-Kafi al-Subki (d. 756/1355), GAL G II, 87. The first poem (ff. 73a-74a, a qasida rhyming in –ra) was composed in 716, when the author was on his way to perform the pilgrimage. Then follow shorter pieces. One was composed on Friday 8 Gumada I 737, at the beginning of the 7th hour (f. 74b), another one, a fragment only, is dated a Friday in Gumada I 729 (f. 74b), another fragment, composed at the occasion of his receiving of the book by Ibn Taymiyya against the book on dancing (al-Raqs) by Ibn al-Mutahhar al-Halabi, is dated Dhu al-Qa`da 737 (f. 75a). Sunan al-Salihin by Abu al-Walid Sulayman b. Khalaf al-Bagi (d. 474/1081), GAL G I, 419. CCO 1738 (IV, pp. 63-65). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 347. See the discussion in CCO about title and authorship. On f. 218a one reads: al-Thani min al-Sunan bil-Sunan lil-Imam al-Ghazzali. This would point to authorship of Abu Hamid Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), GAL G I, 423. The authors of CCO think otherwise, however, and propose the authorship as given above. In an owner's note on the first page, which is pasted away, there is a title given to the first part of the volume as al-Awwal min al-Sunan bil-Sunan lil-Imam al-Ghazzali, followed by a note by another owner who doubts the correctness of this ascription. The second inscription on f. 1a gives as author Abu al-Walid al-Bagi. The title Sunan al-Salihin is assumed and given by the authors of CCO, on the basis of a reference in al-Maqqari's Nafh al-Tib. The collation marks can be seen in several of the margins, and some of these are indeed, as said in CCO, written in maghribi script (e.g. f. 322b).
- On f. 218a is a recipe. On f. 397b are lines of poetry. Both additions are in the same hand, which is different from the copyist's.

Persian, Arabic, paper, 257 ff., nasta`liq script, simple ornamented title-page, with rulings and lines on all pages, in order to create a special lay-out, autograph dated the middle of Ragab 863, copied by Yusuf b. Muhammad, known as Yusuf Ahli (f. 255b), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, with blind and gilded tooled ornamentation.
Hada'iq al-Islam fi Na`t al-Nabi `alayhi al-Salam, a commentary in Persian by Yusuf b. Muhammad b. Shihab al-Gami, known as Yusuf Ahli (title and author on f. 1a, author on f. 1b, title on f. 6a), on the Arabic Qasidat al-Burda by Muhammad b. Sa`id al-Busiri (d. 694/1294), GAL G I, 266, No. 67. CCO 606 (II, p. 85); CCA 721 (I, pp. 448-449). Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. The text was apparently written in Herat (f. 2a).
The fact that this MS is an autograph copy is supported by a (later) note on the title-page (f. 1a, edited in CCO) and by the colophon (f. 255b), where the copyist of the volume proves to be the same person as the author of the text. The first line of the Burda is on f. 8a.sa Binding described in Max Weisweiler, Der islamische Bucheinband des Mittelalters (Wiesbaden 1962), p. 185, No. 374, plate 57.
Earlier provenance: No. 101 (inside fly-leaf, at the beginning).

‘I have collated this copy in its entirity with three copies, on all of which there was handwriting by the author. One of the copies with which I collated was the copy of al-Hafiz `Alam al-Din al-Barzali (Birzali), except for the additions (Ziyadat), that were not in its exemplar. I have collated it with the copy in the handwriting of the author, may God be satisfied with him, and the text is correct, as far as possible. Thus written by the owner of the manuscript, Muhammad b. Musa b. Yusuf al-Habrasi al-Hanbali.’
This owner’s collation notes can be seen in the margins of numerous pages.

Copyist (or rather owner's) verses on f. A. Illuminated ex-libris page (f. 1a). Gilded chapter titles. CCO 1487 (III, pp. 342-343). MS B in the list by Franz Rosenthal, 'Al-Mubashshir ibn Fatik. Prolegomena to an abortive edition' in: Oriens 13-14 (1960-1961), pp. 132-158, especially pp. 132, 139. Rosenthal establishes that the Leiden MS is a copy from his MS H, namely Istanbul, Topkapusaray Ahmet III, 3249, and mentions the existence of a copy of the Leiden manuscript, made by August Müller (1848-1892), and now kept in the Library of the Deutsche Morgenländische Geselschaft in Halle, Germany.
The ex-libris on f. 1a seems to read: | bi-Rasm Mutala`a wa-Dar al-Kutub | Hadrat `Ali Malik Akabir al-Ashraf wal-Wuzara' | Dustur Afaq wal-Salam (?) bil-Istihqaq | Habib al-`Asr Kafil al-Mamlaka Mu`in al-Dawla wal-Din | Mughith al-Islam wal-Muslimin Sanam (?) al-Muluk | wal-Salatin adama Allah Sa`adatahu wa-harrasa | min `Ayn al-Makarih Siyadatahu bi-Haqq Muhammad wa-Alihi Agma`in |. If the titles and epithets in the ex-libris refer to a ruling prince (which is not necessarily so) he might be Mu`in al-Din Sulayman, the first ruler of the Perwané dynasty, which ruled in Sinople, Samsun and Ganik between 649 and 700 AH (see De Zambaur, p. 147).

Arabic, paper, 258 ff., naskh script, dated Safar 563 (f. 258a), half-leather Islamic binding with flap, pasted boards (marbled), several owners' marks on f. 1a.
Incomplete text (see collation below) of al-Filaha al-Rumiyya (or al-Filaha al-Yunaniyya, as in the edition) by Sergius b. Elias al-Rumi (Sirgis b. Hiliyya al-Rumi, c. 212/827), GAL S I, 364, being a translation from the Persian work Warznama. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 84. identificatie zo nog goed nazien! Voorhoeve niet erg duidelijk!!!!!!. (?) CCO 1278 (III, p. 213).
In the text the author is mentioned as Qastus al-`Alim, who has written text for his son Nasus (?), as can be read in several headings for a new guz'.
The text is divided into 12 parts (guz'):
Guz' 1 (15 chapters, bab), ff. 1b-29b.
Guz' 2 (8 chapters, bab), ff. 29b-44b. See for a quotation from text on ff. 33a-34b: Or. 11.896 (4), below).
Guz' 3 (29 chapters, bab), ff. 45a-69b.
Guz' 4 (118 chapters, bab), ff. 69b-145a.
Guz' 5 (85 chapters, bab), ff. 145a-195a.
Guz' 6 (22 chapters, bab), ff. 195a-202a. ch. 14 (ff. 200a-b) seems to be missing.
Guz' 7 (43 chapters, bab), ff. 202a-232a.
Guz' <8> (23 chapters, bab), ff. 232a-242b.
Guz' 9 (22 chapters, bab), f. 242b. With abrupt end in the text of the first chapter (?). Then apparently follows a lacuna between ff. 242b-243a, even with a faked catchword (otherwise the MS is without catchwords!) on f. 242b. The text appears to continue in the middle of the 15th chapter of part 10.
Guz' 10 (20 chapters, bab), available from the middle of ch. 15 only, ff. 243a-246a.
Guz' 11 (4 chapters, bab), ff. 246a-252b.
Guz' 12 (10 chapters, bab), ff. 252b-258a.

Binding described in Max Weisweiler, Der islamische Bucheinband des Mittelalters (Wiesbaden 1962), p. 185, No. 376.
¶ The Leiden library owns two versions of the edition of this text by Muhammad Muhyi al-Din Abd al Hamid (2 vols., Bayrut (?)1982, [O.L.G. 52:5752-5753] and Cairo 1953 [8064 D 27]). This editor does not inform the reader on the basis of which source the edition was made, but collation of parts of the text between the 1982 edition and the manuscript does not show any textual difference and the Leiden MS may well be the basis of the editions. The editor refers (p. 821) to some manuscripts of the text that contain three additional questions, and then proceeds to edit these. The Leiden MS does not contain these additional questions.

See on the author now also the work by Muhyi al-Din Tawfiq Ibrahim, Ibn al-Anbari fi kitabihi al-Insaf fi masail al-kilaf bayn al-nahwiyyin al-Basriyyin wa-al-Kufiyyin (Mosul 1399/1979 [8239 D 6]).

Muhammad Chaqarzada harasa Allah Muhgatahu bil-Iman wa-nawwara Qalbahu bi-Shumus al-`Irfan Amin* (f. 6a). Illuminated double opening page (ff. 6b-7a). Dated end of Ramadan 1004 (f. 338a). Title on lower edge: Tabaqat al-Khawass.
(4) ff. 339b-340b. A poem in praise of al-Shaykh `Umar b. Sa`id al-`Aqibi, apparently from the same source as No. 1, above. Not found in Or. 2696, below, however, which may be explained from the fact that that MS is incomplete. Not in Voorhoeve, Handlist.
(5) ff. 340b-341b. Another poem in praise of al-Shaykh `Umar b. Sa`id al-`Aqibi, from the same source as No. 1, above. See in Or. 2696, ff. 42a-n, for the same poem. Not in Voorhoeve, Handlist.

Or. 580
Arabic, paper, 204 ff, cursive handwriting, dated Dhu al-Qa`da 595 (1198-1199), copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. al-Anmati al-Ansari al-Misri, in Damascus (colophon on f. 199b), with many qira'at and sama`at, some shorter ones on the title-page and the longer ones at the end of each quire, red wax seal on f. 1a, full-leather standard Library binding.
Copied from the author's copy (stated on the title-page of each Guz').
Fawa'id al-Hadith by Abu al-Qasim Tammam b. Muhammad b. `Abdallah Ibn al-Gunayd al-Razi (d. 414/1023), GAL G I, 166; GAS I, 226-227. CCO 1733 (IV, p. 59). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 81.
The readers' notes in the first quire of the MS have been edited, translated, reproduced and analyzed by J.J. Witkam, 'Sporen van lees- en leercultuur in een twaalfde-eeuws handschrift uit Damascus', in Van Leiden naar Damascus, en weer terug. Leiden 2003, pp. 33-142.
The entirely unorganized presentation of Tradition materials in the collection by Tammam has recently been rearranged by Abu Sulayman Gasim b. Sulayman al-Fahid al-Dawsari, al-Rawd al-Bassam bi-Tartib wa-Takhrig Fawa'id Tammam. Bayrut (Dar al-Basha'ir al-Islamiyya) 1408/1987-1414/1994, 5 vols. This was done on the basis of the present manuscript, which is referred to by al-Dawsari as al-Asl. The other manuscript used by al-Dawsari is the one preserved in the Zahiriyya Library in Damascus (now Maktabat al-Asad), which is divided into 30 Agza'.
Divided in 15 parts (Guz'):
f. 2a. Guz' 1. Dated Gumada I 594, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. `Abd al-Muhsin al-Ansari, known as Ibn al-Anmati, in Dar al-Hadith in Damascus (colophon on f. 11b).
f. 16a. Guz' 2. Dated beginning Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il Ibn al-Anmati (colophon on f. 26b).

f. 30a. Guz' 3. Dated Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. `Abd al-Muhsin b. Abi Bakr b. Hibat Allah al-Ansari, in Damascus (colophon on f. 40a).
f. 44a. Guz' 4. Dated Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il Ibn al-Anmati, in Dar al-Hadith in Damascus (colophon on f. 54b).
f. 58a. Guz' 5. Dated Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah Ibn al-Anmati al-Ansari, in Damascus (colophon on f. 70a).
f. 73a. Guz' 6. Dated Friday 16 Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il Ibn al-Anmati, in the Mosque of Damascus (colophon on f. 83b).
f. 87a. Guz' 7. Dated 30 Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Ibn al-Anmati (colophon on f. 97b).
f. 100a. Guz' 8. Dated 594, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. `Abd al-Muhsin al-Ansari, known as Ibn al-Anmati, in Damascus (colophon on f. 112a).
f. 116a. Guz' 9. Dated Gumada I 594, copied by Isma`il Ibn al-Anmati, in Damascus (colophon on f. 124b).
f. 128a. Guz' 10. Dated Sha`ban 594, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. `Abd al-Muhsin al-Ansari, known as Ibn al-Anmati, in Damascus (colophon on f. 138b).
f. 142a. Guz' 11. Dated Gumada I 594, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. `Abd al-Muhsin al-Ansari, known as Ibn al-Anmati, in Damascus (colophon on f. 151a).
f. 154a. Guz' 12. Dated Gumada II 594, copied by Ibn al-Anmati, in Damascus (colophon on f. 163a).
f. 166a. Guz' 13. Dated 26 Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. `Abd al-Muhsin al-Ansari, known as Ibn al-Anmati, in Damascus (colophon on f. 175a).
f. 178a. Guz' 14. Dated Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah Ibn al-Anmati al-Ansari al-Misri, in Dar al-Hadith in Damascus (colophon on f. 186b).
f. 191a. Guz' 15. Dated Dhu al-Qa`da 595, copied by Isma`il b. `Abdallah b. al-Anmati al-Ansari al-Misri, in Damascus (colophon on f. 199b).

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 149 ff., naskh script, several copyists, one dated 680 AH (f. 149b), half-leather European-style binding, pasted boards. On the fly-leaf in front an owner's note dated 1071 AH by Muhammad Salah, al-Mudarris al-??kshahri. He cannot have owned the manuscript very long, as Levinus Warner died already in 1665. Red wax seal on f. 1a.
(1) ff. ff. 1a-79a. Tanbih al-Basa'ir fi Asma' Umm al-Kaba'ir, an alpabetically arranged dictionary of names of wine, by `Umar b. al-Hasan Ibn Dihya Dhu al-Nasabayn (d. 633/1235), GAL G I, 311. CCO 144 (I, pp. 83-85); CCA 79 (I, pp. 53-55). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 364. The 'mother of all sins' in the title makes it clear that the author is very much against wine. With copies of sama`at on ff. 1a-b, for sessions, the last one of which took place on Monday, 1 Safar 630 (f. 1b).   Possibly a lacuna between ff. 1-2: different paper and a suspect sequence of catchwords.
(2) ff. 80a-149b. Incomplete copy (abrupt beginning) al-Wafiya, metrical version by the author, with commentary, of Kafiyat Dhawi al-Adab fi `Ilm Kalam al-`Arab, by Gamal al-Din `Uthman b. `Umar Ibn al-Hagib (d. 646/1249), GAL G I, 303. CCO 69 (I, pp. 40-41); CCA 190 (I, pp. 108-109). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 146-148. Completed in twenty nights, dated Saturday 27 Ramadan 680 (colophon on f. 149b).

Arabic, paper, 233 ff., naskh script, several hands (or a development in the handwriting?),dated between Safar and Dhu al-Qa`da 524, copied by Abu al-Hakam al-Maghribi (d. 549/1154), GAL G I, 272, while travelling between Dizful, Gundisabur, `Askar Mukram (all in Khuzistan) and Baghdad (as becomes clear from the colophons at the end of each Maqala, on ff. 15b, 32a, 58a, 113b, 150a, 185a, 204b, 233b, see below), black wax seal on f. 1a, half-leather European binding, pasted boards.
Sharh al-Sama` al-Tabi`i. The commentary by Muhammad b. `Ali al-Basri (d. 436/1044), GAL G I, 459, on Aristotle's Perì Fusikês Akroaseôs in the Arabic translation by Ishaq b. Hunayn (d. 298/910), GAL G I, 206. CCO 1433 (III, pp. 310-312). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 327. See J.J. Witkam, Seven Specimens (1978), pp. 14-15, with reproduction of f. 113b. See also F.E. Peters, Aristoteles Arabus. Leiden 1968, pp. 30 ff. See on the MS also S.M. Stern, `Ibn al-Samh', in JRAS 1956, pp. 31-44. See also S. Pines, '??', in Archives d'histoire doctrinale et littéraire du Moyen Age 27 (1952), p. 17.
According to the colophon on f. 15b the exemplar was dated Gumada II 470 and was copied in al-Karkh (in Baghdad), which was in turn copied from the copy by Muhammad b. `Ali, containing a colophon by Shaykh Abu al-Hasan, mentioning as the date of copying Safar 395. On f. 15b is also given a resumé of some of the Qira'at on the exemplar, and details on the collation moments, among which also a collation with the Syriac text was included. These notes have been edited in CCO III, pp. 311-312.
¶ The several colophons at the end of each Maqala give the following details:
f. 15b. Copied in Khuzistan, in the fortress (bil-Qasr) on 1 Safar 524.
f. 32a. Copied in Gundisabur in Khuzistan on 22 Safar 524.
f. 58a. Dated Rabi` I, copied in `Askar Mukram.
f. 113b. Dated end Ragab 524, copied in Baghdad. See the reproduction in J.J. Witkam, Seven Specimens, p. 14.
f. 150a. Dated 20 Sha`ban 524, copied in Baghdad, copied by Abu al-Hakam al-Maghribi, for himself.
f. 185a. No details of copying given. There is, however, a collation note, dated Shawwal 524.
f, 204b. No details of copying given.
f. 233b. Dated 1 Dhu al-Qa`da 524, copied in Madinat al-Salam (Baghdad).

Or. 593
Collective volume with texts in Persian, paper, 128 ff., naskh scripts according to CCO possibly dated 895 AH, but the dates in the owners'notes on f. 1a and the reading notes on f. 108a make this impossible, however. The date of copying of No. 1 appears to be two centuries earlier. Half-leather Islamic binding with flap, with pasted boards. Wax seal (f. 1a).
(1) ff. 1a-108a. Kitab Bakhtiyar-nama, or Lam`at al-Sirag li-Hadrat al-Tag (this title not in the MS), with damaged author's indication (but without name, anyway), dated Friday 6 Dhu al-Qa`da 895 (?), copied by Yusuf b. As`ad b. Yusuf al-Katib al-Laliki (colophon on ff. 107b-108a). On f. 107b the author is referred to (among other things) as [...] Tag al-Dawla wal-Din Gamal al-A'imma Shams al-Islam Ikhtiyar al-Muluk wal-Salatin Karim al-Dahr Iftikhar

Ma Wara al-Nahr. On f. 108a are also several reading notes (Mutala`a) with dates: Sunday 24 Rabi` I 898, 22 Rabi` II 727, Sunday 4 Ramadan 7??, etc. On f. 1a an owner's note is dated 696. On f. 10b is yet another dated reading note: 733 AH. CCO 494 (I, pp. 359-360).
(2) ff. 108a-128b, and in the margins of the previous pages (on f. 1a and from f. 103b onwards). Various poems by several poets, in one or more hands, all much more current and sloping naskh than in No. 1. Sometimes the names of the poets and/or the occasions to which the poems refer are mentioned.
f. 110b. `Umar Khayyam, with several quatrains (possibly identical to the mathematician `Umar b. Ibrahim al-Khayyami [d. 526/1132], GAL G I, 471). F. 111a has been reproduced in J.C.M. Biegstraten (et. al.), Omar Khayyam. Geleerde en dichter uit Perzië in de overlevering en de verbeelding. Leiden 2001, p. 23.
f. 112a. Shams al-Din ... Guhani (?).
f. 114a. Shams al-Din al-Isfahani.
f. 118a. Anwari.
f. 119b contains a piece in prose and poetry, entitled `Ahdnama.
f. 120b. Nagm al-Din ...
f. 121b. Sa`di, with whom most probably Sa`di Shirazi (d. 691) is meant.
f. 126a. Sultan Mahmud.
f. 126b. Shaykh Awhadi Kirmani.
f. 126b. Shaykh Ra'is ... Abu `Ali Sina.
f. 126b. Shaykh Bu Sa`id.
The end of this poetical collection seems to be abrupt

Or. 600
Collective volume with texts in Persian, paper, 46 ff.
(1) The beginning only of a book of mystical contents of which title nor author are given. CCO 2312 (V, pp. 46-47) gives a survey of the contents.
(2) Lacunous and incomplete copy of Zad-i Akhirat, by Abu Hamid Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), made as a shortened version of his Kimiya-yi Sa`adat and as a Persian version of his Arabic Bidayat al-Hidaya. Dated 811 AH. CCO 2184 (IV, pp. 334-335).

(3) 3 ff. Fragments and the final part only (ff. 35, 29, 30) of Risala-yi Dhikriyya, a treatise by al-Sayyid `Ali al-Hamadani (d. 786 AH). Dated 811 AH. CCO 2310 (V, pp. 45-46).
(4) A fragment only of Dhakhirat al-Muluk by al-sayyid `Ali b. Shihab al-Din al-Hamadani (d. 786 AH). CCO 1960 (IV, p. 220).
(Ar. 600)

Or. 601
Collective volume with texts in Persian, paper, 170 ff., nasta`liq script, one copyist, dated Sha`ban 949, copied by Hasan al-Shamiri (?, colophons on ff. 47a, 96a) and dated Ramadan 949 (f. 133b), Shawwal 949 (f. 148b), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, with blind tooled ornamentation.
(1) ff. 1b-47a. Lawami` Anwar al-Kashf wal-Shuhud `ala Qulub Arbab al-Dhawq wal-Wugud (reference to the word Lawami` of the title on f. 47a), commentary in Persian by `Abd al-Rahman b. Ahmad al-Gami (d. 898 AH) of the Arabic al-Mimiyya al-Khamriyya by `Umar Ibn al-Farid (d. 632/1235), GAL G I, 262. At the end is a chronogram conceiled in a quatrain. This Persian commentary is not mentioned in Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 213. CCO 588 (II, p. 72); CCA 690 (I, pp. 427-428). Or. 12.443 (11), below, is another copy of the text.
(2) ff. 48a-96a. Several quatrains dar Bayan-i Haqa'iq-i Wagdani wa-Ma`arif-i Rabbani (f. 49a), provided with an anonymous commentary, which was dedicated (f. 50a) to the Ottoman Sultan Bayezid Yilderim (reigned 792-805 AH). Ibn al-`Arabi and Sadr al-Din al-Qunawi are often mentioned. CCO 2311 (V, p. 46).
(3) ff. 98b-133b. Anonymous commentary on a poem consisting of quatrains, on the nature of God. The author seems to have lived after 700 AH, he frequently mentions the Shaykh Mu'ayyad al-Din al-Gindi. CCO 2103 (IV, p. 296).
(4) ff. 135b-142a. Mystical treatise, referred to by the author as a Mukhtasar, without mention of title or author, on the highest degree of mystical union. CCO 2324 (V, pp. 53-54) gives an extensive quotation (ff. 135b-136a) from the introduction, which the author also explains why he does not mention his name.
(5) ff. 145bis b-148b. Al-Risala al-Hawraniyya, commentary by Khwaga `Ubaydallah b. Mahmud al-Shashi (title and author on f. 148b), who wrote the work at the request of the Amir al-Umara' Amir Galal al-Din Bayezid, on quatrains by Abu Sa`id b. Abi al-Khayr (f. 145b). CCO 2316 (V, p. 50).
(6) ff. 151b-154b. An untitled, Risala, admonition by Nizam al-Din to his spiritual brother. Dated 949 AH. CCO 2325 (V, pp. 54-55).
(7) ff. 155b-158b. Al-Mahbubiyya, a collection of anfas by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Hafiz al-Bukhari (Khwaga Muhammad Parsa, d. 822 AH in Medina), GAL S II, 282-283. CCO 2313 (V, p. 47). In the end (f. 158b), the text is referred to as al-Anfas al-Nafsiyya wal-Qudsiyya al-Mawsuma bil-Mahbubiyya. The text is not identical with the Risala Qudsiyya as contained in Or. 123.443 (12), below.
(8) ff. 160b-166a. Untitled treatise by Nagm al-Din Ahmad b. `Umar al-Kubra al-Khiwaqi (d. 618/1221), GAL G I, 440, on the subject of Adab al-Muridin. The work is divided into 4 chapters (rukn), the titles of which are quoted in CCO 2295 (V, p. 38).

(9) ff. 167b-170a. 6 pp. Untitled and anonymous treatise in which certain mystical verses are explained. CCO 2326 (V, p. 55) quotes the lines in question. This is the same text as is contained in Or. 12.443 (7), below, where there is an extra piece of poetry.

Arabic, 157 ff., naskh script, dated before 751 AH. (owner's note on f. 1a), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, blind ornamentation, title on lower edge: Sharh Hikmat al-Ishraq, red wax seal inside front cover.
Sharh Hikmat al-Ishraq, commentary by Qutb al-Din al-Shirazi (d. 710/1311) on Hikmat al-Ishraq by Yahya b. Habash al-Suhrawardi (d. 587/1191), GAL G I, 437. CCO 1500 (III, p. 353). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 114-115. Matn in red ink, Sharh in black ink.
According to a note on f. 157a, the present MS was copied from the autograph MS (Nuskhat al-Mu'allif), and then two more times collated with it. The third collation took place by al-Hasan b. `Ali al-Mutatabbib al-Mawlawi al-Siwasi (see also the owner's note on f. 1a) from a copy of the text which head been read with the author (Nuskha Maqru'a `ala al-Musannif), as is seen on f. 157a. From the fact that the words are given without the article one may assume that the exemplar is not the autograph, but one (out of several) manuscripts which would contain qira'at or sama`at notes from the author or referring to the author.

The beginnings of the Maqalat are indicated by threads in the outer margin of the paper.
On f. 1a are notes on a variety of subjects, including medicine, and several owners' notes:
- Acquired by purchase by Galal al-Din al-Hasan b. `Ali al-Siwasi (Malik al-Hukama', Ra'is al-Atibba'), from `Ali b. `Ubaud Allah al-Misri, known as Zayn al-`Arab, on 12 Gumada II 751, which is the terminus ante quem for the MS.
- Muhammad al-Taqawi al-Husayni, with oval seal print.
- `Abd al-Rahman b. `Ali b. Mu'ayyad, Friday 7 Ramadan 901, in Qustantiniyya.

On f. 157b is a quotation from Muhyi al-Din Ibn al-`Arabi (d. 638/1240), GAL S I, 800.
Earlier provenance: 'No. 19' on f. 1a.

Arabic, with some Persian, paper, 222 ff., naskh script, illuminated title-page, dated 23 Rabi` I 904 (colophon on f. 222a), full-leather standard Library binding (traces of an earlier Islamic binding with flap visible). Some owners' notes on f. 2a, some of which are dated: 932 AH al-Kitab al-Yamini (added in the MS: fi Sharh Akhbar al-Sultan Yamin al-Dawla wa-Amin al-Milla Abi al-Qasim Mahmud b. al-Amir Nasir al-Din Abu Mansur Sabuktakin), by Abu al-Nasr Muhammad b. `Abd al-Gabbar al-`Utbi (d. 413/1022), GAL S I, 547. CCO 841 (II, pp. 185-186); CCA 1006 (II, p. 105). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 402.
On f. 222b is a medical recipe in Persian. On f. 1b some poetry in Arabic.
[* Ar. 618 a]

Arabic, paper, 255 ff., naskh script, copied by Ahmad al-Shahini al-Muqaddasi (colophon on f. 160a), full-leather standard Library binding (traces of an earlier Islamic binding with flap visible).
Incomplete and lacunous copy (abrupt end, blank leaves ff. 160b-164b) of al-Kitab al-Yamini by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Gabbar al-`Utbi (d. 413/1022), GAL S I, 547. CCO 842 (II, p. 186); CCA 1007 (II, p. 106). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 402. Title in the manuscript: Kitab yashtamil Tarikh Amin al-Dawla wa-Amin al-Milla wa-Abu al-qasim Mahmud b. Sabuktakin ...
Numerous notes by (?) Levinus Warner in pencil, and a few in ink, in the margins (e.g. ff. 31b-32a).
[* Ar. 618 b]

Or. 619
Arabic, paper (some replacements at the end), 152 ff., naskh script, full-leather standard Library binding.
The four Gospels. CCO 2370 (V, p. 79). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 50.
(1) ff. 3b-44a. Gospel according to Matthew.
(2) ff. 44b-70b. Gospel according to Mark. On ff. 44b-45a Sharh Fusul Bishara Murqus.
(3) ff. 71a-114b. Gospel according to Luke.
(4) ff. 115b-150b. Gospel according to John.
Each Gospel has a sort of original colophon of its own.

On f. 151a is a Muslim owner's note, saying that he has seen in the year 1295 era of the martyrs, corresponding with 986 AH, another MS, which was written by the same copyist. That other manuscript, however, did have a colophon, which contained as the date of copying the end of Ba'una 966 era of the Martyrs, with the place of copying Cairo, and the name of the copyist as Ghabriyal. Ba'una 966 = 1250 AD, which is a probable date for the present MS.
[* Ar. 619]

Or. 620
Arabic, paper, 1011 pp., naskh script, entire text set in gold frame, illumination (`unwan on p. 2), copied by Abu Bakr b. `Abd al-Rahman (colophon on p. 1011), full-leather binding with flap, in the Islamic style, but apparently of European manufacture.
Asas al-Balagha by Mahmud b. `Umar al-Zamakhshari (d. 538/1144), GAL G I, 292. CCO 136 (I, p. 79); CCA 71 (I, pp. 49-50). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 24.
Title on lower edge: Kitab Asas al-Balagha.
[* Ar. 620]

Or. 621
Arabic, paper, 258 ff., naskh script, copied in or before 562 AH (according to the Sama`at on ff. 258a-b), title on lower edge: Asbab al-Nuzul al-Wahidi, full-leather standard Library binding.
Incomplete copy (lacuna between ff. 1b-2a, ten leaves missing from the first twenty; text on f. 2a begins with Qur'an 2:92) of Asbab Nuzul al-Qur'an by Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. Ahmad al-Wahidi al-Nisaburi (d. 468/1075), GAL G I, 411. CCO 1660 (IV, pp. 21-22). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 24.
Many collation marks and variant readings resulting from collation, in the margins.
Four substantial Sama`at on ff. 258a-b., the first one of which (f. 258a) is dated Wednesday 23 Ramadan 562 in Aleppo (?), in the Great Mosque there. Two other Sama` notes (f. 258b) are also dated, one dated 13 Rabi` I 565 in Masgid al-Maghfaliyya (-Ma`qaliyya?) and another one, dated 20 Ragab 587 AH.
On f. 1a inscription (written upside down): 'J. van Hell. Lit. B.B.B.' [* Ar. 621]

Or. 622
Persian, paper, 90 ff., naskh script, entire text set in gold and blue frame, red wax seal on f. 1a, full-leather standard Library binding.
Gami` al-Da`awat by `Ala' al-Din Muhammad al-Khawafi, who completed the compilation of the work on Tuesday 3 Gumada II 904 (author's colophon on f. 90a). A work on several sorts of prayers, divided into ten chapters. CCO 2221 (IV, pp. 349-350) gives the chapter titles. Dedication on f. 3a.
Earlier provenance: 'No. 321', on f. 1a.
[* Ar. 622]

Or. 623

Arabic, with some Turkish, paper, 81 ff., nasta`liq script, red wax seal (f. 2a), full-leather standard Library binding.
Commentary by Ahmad b. Mahmud al-Harawi (GAL does not mention his life date) on the Hidayat al-Hikma by Athir al-Din al-Mufaddal b. `Umar al-Abhari (d. 663/1265), GAL G I, 464. CCO 1518 (III, p. 364). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 113.
¶ Added is a document in Turkish, possibly taken from a court scroll (f. 81b). It contains a text on fiscal abuse in the province of Kayseri, signed by several people. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. I. Leiden 2000, p. 165, where a full analysis of the Turkish document is given.
Earlier provenance: 'No. 72', on f. 2a.

Turkish, paper, [2] + 11 ff., nasta`liq script of calligraphic quality, illuminated head piece (f. 1b), entire text set in gold frame, paper boards (screen print ornamentation).
Incomplete copy (part of the beginning only, abrupt end at f. 10b) of Nasihat al-Muluk Targhiban li-Husn al-Suluk by `Abdallah b. al-Sayyid Muhammad al-Bayrami, who composed this work during the reign of Sultan Mehmet IV (reigned from 1058 AH onwards). The author is also known as a poet, using the takhallus `Abdi (d. 1071/1661). CCO 1973 (IV, p. 225). The available text treats the prophets Adam, Musa, Yusuf and part of Dawud. The remainder of the section on Dawud, and the part on Sulayman are lacking. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. I. Leiden 2000, pp. 165-167, with reproduction of f. 1b on p. 166.

Arabic, paper, [1] + 182 ff., nasta`liq script, text set in red frame till f. 99b, frequent use of gold pounce for blotting, dated in the early morning, beginning of Gumada II 964, copied by `Awn (?) b. Dede b. Turkhan b. Khidr in Madrasat Turnali (on Rhodes Island?, colophon on f. 182b), full-leather standard Library binding.
al-Daw', commentary by Tag al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Isfara'ini (d. 684/1285) on al-Misbah fil-Nahw by Nasir b. `Abd al-Sayyid al-Mutarrizi (d. 610/1213), GAL G I, 293. CCO 62 (I, p. 35); CCA 175 (I, pp. 98-99). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 217. Extensive interlinear and marginal glossing, especially in the first half of the volume.
Copyist verse on f. [1a]. On ff. [1b] – 1a notes of great variety and quotations, mostly in a minute hand.
Earlier provenance: 'No. 44', and red wax seal (globe and cross) on f. [1a].
[* Ar. 626]

Or. 627
Persian, paper, [1] + 347 ff., elongated naskh script, collation note dated Saturday 7 Muharram 981 by Muhammad Ibn al-Suyufi, but the MS makes an older impession, title on lower edge: Gawahir al-Asrar wa-Zawahir al-Anwar, full-leather standard Library binding.
Gawahir al-Asrar wa-Zawahir al-Anwar, a commentary by Husayn b. Hasan, on excerpts of the Mathnawi-yi Ma`nawi of Galal al-Din Rumi (d. 672 AH). The commentary is preceded by ten maqalat, the titles of which are given in CCO 2582 (V, p. 183).
Owner's note on f. [1a] by Ibrahim al-Sulaymani, dated 993 AH. On f. 1a an owner's note by Fath Allah b. Shaykham b. Nur Muhammad al-Marghinani al-Hanafi, dated 985 AH.
[* Ar. 627]

Or. 628
Arabic, paper (occasionally damaged by corrosion of the ink, and with early repair), [2] + 168 ff., naskh script, half-leather European binding, pasted boards.
Commentary by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Nahhas (author's name in the MS, ff. 1a, 167b: Abu Ga`far Ahmad b. Isma`il b. Mahmud al-Nahwi, known as al-Nahhas) (d. 338/950) on al-Mu`allaqat al-Sab`, as collected by Hammad al-Rawiya (d. 155/771 or 158/774), GAL G I, 18, S I, 34, 98. CCO 509 (II, p. 1); CCA 557 (I, p. 344). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 218.
On f. 168a an owner's note by `Abd al-Haqq b. `Abd al-Galil al-Munawi, al-Khatib bil-Mahmudiyya. On f. 1a a note Turkish and Arabic by two owners, first Mudarris Mahmud Chelebi, and then the person who purchased the MS from him in Rabi` I 1017 for 135 and a quarter `Uthmani. An owner's note (by the copyist?) on f. 1a, `Abd al-Gawwad b. Ahmad <b.> `Umar.
A copy of this MS is Or. 1500, below. Acad. 105 (1) is a critical edition by J. Willmet (1750-1835), for which use was also made of the present MS.
¶ This manuscript was purchased by Muhammad al-`Urdi on behalf of Levinus Warner, as becomes clear from one of the former's letters, now preserved in Or. 1122. A note in Latin (by Warner?) in the margin of f. 10a, and occasionally also verse numbering by Warner. Between ff. 44-45 a small leaf is added to the volume (pasted), which contains four distichs by Muhammad al-`Urdi in his own hand. They read as follows:

لكاتبه محمد العرضى

سلّم امورك تسلم عسى همومك تفرج
فالدهر لاعب نرد وليس لاعب شطرنج

ما قيل فى حق الحريرى

شيخ لنا من ربيعة الفرس ينتف عشونه (؟) من الهوس
انطقه الله بالمشان وقد رماه وسط الديوان بالخرس

Contents:
ff. 1b-26a. Mu`allaqa of Imra' al-Qays.
ff. 26b-48b. Mu`allaqa by Tarafa.
ff. 48b-62b. Mu`allaqa by (?) Zuhayr (name omitted in the MS).
ff. 62b–94a. Mu`allaqa by Labid
ff. 94b-120b. Mu`allaqa by `Antara
ff. 121a–145b. Mu`allaqa by al-Harith b. Hilliza
ff. 145b-. Mu`allaqa by `Amr b. Kulthum Not in Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000).
[* Ar. 628]

Or. 629
Persian, with some Turkish, paper, 183 ff., naskh script, dated the last decade of Ragab 859, copied by Shaykh Muhammad b. Mahmud b. Muhammad, known as Farrash (against Schmidt: Ragab 851/1447, colophon on f. 28b), red wax seal (f. 1a), full-leather standard Library binding (leaves bound in wrong order).
al-Mu`tamad fil-Mu`taqad (title on f. 1a. Or: Tuhfa-yi Muzaffari?), apparently by Shihab al-Din Fadl Allah Turipishti (d. 658 or 661 AH), who is not mentioned in the manuscript, however. The work has been dedicated to the son of Sultan Atabeg Abu Bakr Sa`d Zangi (reigned 623-658 AH). A work on the fundamentals of Islamic dogmatics and divided in three chapters (Bab), which are subdivided into sections (Fasl). CCO 2101 (IV, p. 295) gives the chapter titles. Abrupt end (f. 181b) in the middle of Fasl 9 of Bab 3, which is followed by the text on ff. 8a-28b.
- In the margins of ff. 2a-7b is a treatise in Persian on Halal and Haram of food, according to the different schools of Islamic law. From f. 3b onwards is an alphabetical list of animals, and there is mentioned whether or not it is permitted to eat these. No title or author is mentioned.
- On ff. 29a-b are notes taken from Hadith, notes of medical nature.
- On f. 182a are poetical quotations in Persian.
- On f. 182b is the beginning only of a treatise in Persian on elementary philosophy.
- Annotations in Turkish on the endpapers (f. 83a). See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. I. Leiden 2000, pp. 167-168.
- On f. 83b quotations in Arabic and Persian, in prose and poetry. Also medical recipes.

Or. 632

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 151 ff., maghribi script (one copyist), dated 1 Ragab 598, copied by `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad b. al-Warraq al-Qaysi (who made the copy for himself, colophon on f. 147a, edited in CCA), title on lower edge: Maqamat al-Hariri, black wax seal on f. 1a, full-leather standard Library binding.
(1) ff. 1a-147a. al-Maqamat by al-Qasim b. `Ali al-Hariri (d. 516/1122), GAL G I, 276. Dated 598 AH. CCO 386 (I, p. 262); CCA 408 (I, pp. 228-229). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 189.
¶ A collation note on f. 147a states that the present copy was collated with a manuscript, which itself was collated with the exemplar of al-Faqih al-Ustadh al-Muqri Abu Bakr Muhammad b. Khayr b. `Umar al-Ishbili, who had performed a collation with the exemplar by al-Faqih al-Ustadh al-Fadil Abu al-Haggag Yusuf b. `Ali b. Muhammad b. `Abdallah al-Quda`i, thumma al-Anda'i (?), who had collated his copy with the copy of the author himself. The collation of the present MS took place in Ragab 598 (edited in CCA).
(2) ff. 147b-148a. al-Risala al-Siniyya by al-Qasim b. `Ali al-Hariri (d. 516/1122), GAL G I, 276. CCO 402 (I, p. 267); CCA 424 (I, p. 234). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 312.
(3) ff. 148a-149a. al-Risala al-Shiniyya by al-Qasim b. `Ali al-Hariri (d. 516/1122), GAL G I, 276. CCO 402 (I, p. 267); CCA 424 (I, p. 234). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 312.
All three texts contain profuse variant readings (with sigla) in the margins.
Copyist verse on f. 151b. On f. 1a an owner's note in nasta`liq script by Muhammad b. Darwish Muhammad, known as Ibn Faqir, who obtained the book as a lawful gift from his father, in Gumada I 1018.
[* Ar. 632]

Or. 633
Arabic, paper, 237 ff., lacunae between ff. 6b-7a, 15b-16a, 2 parts in one binding, naskh script, dated 591 AH (f. 119a), copied by Muhammad al-Nawagi (collation notes on ff. 11b, 36a), illuminated title-pages (ff. 1a, 120a), full-leather Islamic binding with gilded and blind ornamentation.
Diwan of Garir (d. 110/728), with the commentary by (?) Muhammad Ibn Habib, GAL G I, 56. CCO 537 (II, pp. 41-44); CCA 589 (I, pp. 366-369). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 62.
¶ Acad. 113 is a copy by J.P. Berg of a copy by J.J. Reiske (1716-1774) of ff. 79r-82r of this MS.
In two parts, each with its own title-page (ff. 1a, 120a). In the colophon on f. 237a it is said that with the end of the second part (Guz') the entire Diwan is completed, but CCA has demonstrated that this is a fraudulent addition by the bookseller. The Petersburg manuscript No. 262 has in fact three parts (see also the microfilm in Leiden: A 814).
On f. 1b is a qira'a note, taken from the exemplar of al-Nagirami, dated 385 AH (995 AD, edited in CCA). The colophon on f. 119a gives information on exemplaria: the present copy was copied from an exemplar by `Abd al-Wahid b. `Isa b. Musa b. Ishaq al-Nagirami, whose copy was copied from an exemplar by al-Shaykh Abu al-Husayn `Ali b. Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Muhallabi, with whom he had read the text in 385 AH (edited in CCA). The note on f. 1b mentions the same details. F. 119b blank.

The commentator, Muhammad b. Habib, is mentioned in the note on f. 1b. He is also mentioned in a marginal note on f. 123b.
Owner's notes by Ahmad b. `Ali (ff. 11a, 120a).
Earlier provenance: 'No. 47', and red wax seal showing a globe and a cross (f. 1a). Also: '982' on f. 1a.

Arabic, paper, 393 pp., dated Sunday 9 Gumada II 862 (and therefore a contemporary copy), copied by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Manhali (colophon on p. 390), title on lower edge: al-Kawakib al-Bahira min al-Nugum al-Zahira, full-leather standard Library binding.
al-Kawakib al-Bahira min al-Nugum al-Zahira, an abridgment by Abu al-Mahasin Yusuf Ibn Taghribirdi (d. 874/1469), GAL G II, 42, of his own al-Nugum al-Zahira fi Muluk Misr wal-Qahira. CCO 830 (II, p. 183); CCA 976 (II, p. 96). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 255.

Arabic, paper, 157 ff., nasta`liq-like backward slanting script (almost entirely devoid of punctuation), numerous illustrations (astronomical drawings, expertly drawn), dated Ramadan 827, name copyist difficult to decypher (colophon on f. 157a), full-leather Islamic binding with blind tooled ornamentation, red wax seal inside back cover.
Commentary by `Ali b. Muhammad al-Gurgani (d. 816/1413) on al-Tadhkira al-Nasiriyya fi `Ilm al-Hay'a by Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (672/1274), GAL G I, 511. CCO 1094 (III, p. 106). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 351. Matn in red ink, Sharh in black ink. The first leaf, which contains the opening passages of the commentary, seems to be a later replacement. Binding described in Max Weisweiler, Der islamische Bucheinband des Mittelalters (Wiesbaden 1962), p. 186, No. 378.
[* Ar. 637]

Arabic, European paper, 192 ff. and blanks, occasional paste-ins (unnumbered), bold naskh script, red wax seal on f. 1a, full-leather standard Library binding.
Kitab al-Mawaqif, work on the stations of the mystic, by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Gabbar al-Niffari (d. after 361/972), GAL G I, 200, GAS I 528, 622. With extensive glosses (especially in the first half of the volume) mainly taken from the commentary by `Afif b. Sulayman b. `Ali al-Tilimsani (d. 690/1291), but also taken from a commentary by `Abd al-Karim al-Suzi (e.g. ff. 5a, 7a). CCO 2223 (V, pp. 1-2). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 205.
¶ See for the use of the Leiden MS in the edition by A.J. Arberry, The Mawáqif and Mukhátabát of Muhammad ibn 'Abdi 'l-Jabbár al-Niffarí with other fragments. London 1935 (E. J. W. Gibb memorial Series, NS 9), where the Leiden manuscript is indicated by the siglum L, and where C. van Arendonk has provided Arberry with a short description of the MS (p. 25). Van Arendonk's dating of the Leiden MS to the middle of the 17th century seems to be unfair, as the 16th century is perfectly possible (see e.g. Or. 641, below, for a similar MS).
[* Ar. 638]

Or. 639
Arabic, and some Turkish, paper, [2] + 580 + [4] pp., naskh script, illuminated title-page (p. 1), dated the last decade of Gumada I 602, copied by Nasr b. Muhammad b. Muhammad b. `Umar b. Hibat Allah al-Mawsili, from a copy which was dictated by the author (in the colophon on pp. 579-580 referred to as: Mawlana al-Sultan al-Malik al-Mansur al-`Alim al-`Adil Nasir al-Dunya wal-Din `Imad al-Islam Malik al-Muslimin Abu al-Ma`ali Muhammad b. `Umar b. Shahanshah Abu Ayyub Zahir Amir al-Mu'minin), in the town of Hama. The author's copy was dated Wednesday 22 Rabi` II 602 and was itself made in Dar al-Masarra min Qal`at Hama.
Akhbar al-Muluk wa-Nuzhat al-Malik wal-Mamluk by Muhammad b. `Uthman al-Malik al-Mansur (d. 617/1221). CCO 884 (II, p. 288); CCA 1058 (II, p. 130). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 9.
On the titlepage (p. 1) are several owners' notes:
- `Abd al-Wahhab b. Sharaf (in a Maghribi hand).
- Muhammad al-Wafa'i, dated Monday 3 Ragab 860 (?).

- al-Hasan b. Ibrahim al-Khalidi al-Makhzumi, dated 866 in Cairo (al-Qahira al-Mu`izziyya).
- Ahmad b. Mubarak Shah al-Hanafi.

¶ The edition by Nazim Rashid, Akhbar al-Muluk wa-Nuzhat al-Malik wal-Mamluk fi Tabaqat al-Shu`ara' (Baghdad 2001 [8374 C 57]), is entirely based on the Leiden MS.
On the recto of the fly-leaf at the beginning a few, similar, notes on Qustantiniyya, and on the verso characteristics of the Prophet Muhammad.
On the fly-leaves at the end are extensive lists with book titles with prices, in riyal.
See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. I. Leiden 2000, p. 168, for analysis of the contents of notes in Turkish on the fly-leaves.

Or. 640

Arabic, paper, 228 ff., naskh script, dated Gumada II 729 Hilaliyya (1329), copied by al-Hasan b. `Ali al-Tabib al-Singari (colophon on f. 228b), illuminated title-page (f. 1a), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, gilded and blind tooled ornamentation with title on the outside of the flap: Kitab Gawidan, title on lower edge: Gawidan-i Khirad, red wax seal on f. 1a. Beginning of sections of the text indicated by threads in the margins.
One previous owner on the title-page (f. 1a): min Kutub al-`Abd Waysi fi sanat 1015 AH (1606-1607).
On f. 228b is also an extensive note of muqabala, signed by the copyist al-Hasan b. `Ali al-Tabib, dated 22 Ramadan 72? (possibly 729/1329), done in service of 'Sayyidi wa-Maliki al-Mawla al-Malik al-Makhdum al-Mu`azzam al-`Alim al-`Amil al-Kamil al-Fadil Dastur al-`Alam Shams al-Milla wal-Haqq wal-Din', bi-Maqam al-Gabal. Shorter collation (Muqabala) notes in the margins, e.g. f. 85a (with mention of 'Sayyidi'). This king, who commissioned the present manuscript, may have been the Urtuqid ruler of Mardin, Shams al-Din Salih b. Ghazi (Zambaur, p. 229). The conclusion of CCA that the collation was done from the autograph is not warranted by the text, which has Nuskhat al-Asl, which only means 'exemplar'.
Kitab Adab al-`Arab wal-Furs, or Gawidan-i Khirad, by Ahmad b. Muhammad Ibn Miskawayh (d. 421/1030), GAL G I, 342. CCO 1933 (IV, pp. 191-192); CCA 381 (I, pp. 214-215). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 1.
Edition on the basis of this manuscript by A. Badawi under the title*: al-Hikma al-Khalida* (Gawidan-i Khirad) Cairo 1952 [8013 A 18]. Badawi has made extensive use of the Leiden manuscript, which he has given the siglum L (his introduction, pp. 59-60). See also W.B. Henning, 'Eine arabische Version mittelpersischer Weisheitsschriften', in ZDMG 106, pp. 73-77.
The Arabic version of the Tabula Cebetis (first edition by J. Elichmann, Tabula Cebetis Graece, Arabice, Latine. Item Aurea Carmina cum paraphrasi Arabica, auctore Iohanne Elichmanno [...]. Cum praefatione Cl. Salmasii. Leiden 1640 [570 C 21; 874 D 28]) was published by Johannes Elichmann on the basis of a manuscript in the private possession of Jacobus Golius, which is now MS Oxford, Marsh 662 (See the 1696 auction catalogue of Golius' MSS, Misc. fol. 25 (p. 10, No. 25). The present MS, which is from the Levinus Warner collection, was not yet in Leiden in 1640. The Tabula Cebetis is part of Gawidan-i Khirad. The description in CCA may be understood as if Elichmann's edition was based on Or. 640, which is not the case. Salmasius, in his preface to the Elichmann edition (one but last page) mentions the Golius manuscript, but he is not clear about which Golius collection he is writing, the private or public collection. It turns out to be a manuscript from Golius' private collection.

Binding described in Max Weisweiler, Der islamische Bucheinband des Mittelalters (Wiesbaden 1962), p. 186, No. 379, plate 63.
These two parts belong together and contain the title and author of the work:
| Kitab Gawidan-i Khirad | wa-ma damma ilayhi Ahmad b. Miskawayh |
In the central part of the panel there are six lines of text. These contain the ex-libris of a nobleman, as yet unidentified:

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 143 ff., dated Muharram 797 (f. 137r), full leather Leiden Library binding.
(1) ff. 5v-137r, and 40 inserted slips. al-Manzuma al-Nasafiyya fil-Khilafiyyat by `Umar b. Muhammad al-Nasafi (d. 537/1142), GAL G I, 428. Dated 797 AH. CCO 1785 (IV, p. 112, where the reference to Or. 301a). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 186-187. Heavy glossing (till f. 129r), also on inserts or paste-ins. Dated end Muharram 797, copied by Mustafa b. `Ali (f. 137r).
(2) ff. 137v-140v. Kitab al-`Awamil al-Mi'a, by `Abd al-Qahir b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Gurgani (d. 471/1078), GAL G I, 287. CCO 50 (I, p. 29, where there is the erroneous reference to Or. 301 A, see the discussion there); CCA 150 (I, p. 89), also with the erroneous reference to Or. 301a, above. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 30. Different hand.
- Numerous notes on prelims and endpapers.
¶ According to CCO I, pp. xx-xxi, this MS was lacking when R.P.A. Dozy was taking stock of the collection. Later it transpired that the MS had been registered as Or. 301 A. On the last page, the old number, Or. 301 A, is still visible, but the volume has been put back in its proper place.

Or. 644
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, Persian, and Turkish, paper (occasionally coloured), 283 ff., nasta`liq script (different hands), half-leather Islamic binding (flap now lost), pasted boards, red wax seal on f. 2a.
On f. 1a (fly-leaf) table of contents, with reference to folio numbers.
(1) ff. 2a-5b. Arabic. Incomplete copy (abrupt end) of a text entitled Fil-Nasa'ih wal-Hikam wal-Wasaya. Anonymous (beginning 7/13th cent.?) CCO 2160 (IV, p. 322). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 248. Text begins with Wasiyyat Khattab b. al-Mu`alla al-Makhzumi li-Ibnihi (ff. 2b-3b), followed by other Nasiha-like paragraphs. A continuation seems to be No. 3, below.
(1a) f. 6a. Poetical quotations, in Arabic, with occasionally an explantion in Persian. For one section of two distichs an author is mentioned: Shihab al-Din <Yahya b. Habash> al-Suhrawardi (d. 587/1191), GAL G I, 437.

(2) ff. 6b-15b. Persian. The beginning only of Zafarnama-yi Timuri by Sharaf al-Din `Ali Yazdi (d. 850 AH). CCO 918 (III, pp. 8-9). Abrupt end on f. 15b.
(3) ff. 16a-39b. Arabic. Fil-Nasa'ih wal-Hikam wal-Wasaya. Anonymous (beginning 7/13th cent.). Apparently a continuation of No. 1, above, but the text is not continuous, and copied by the same copyist. CCO 2160 (IV, p. 322). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 248.
(4) ff. 40a-43b. Fragment of an Arabic dictionary, taken from the section of the alif. CCO 158 (I, pp. 89-90); CCA 93 (I, pp. 59-60). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 416.
(4a) f. 43b, in the margin. Five notes in shikasta and siyakat, in Turkish.
(5a) ff. 46b-47b, 44a-45b (f. 46a is blank; f. 46 has part of the paper cut out). Arabic. The beginning only of Tasdid al-Qawa`id, by Mahmud al-Isfahani (d. 749/1348), a commentary on Tagrid al-`Aqa'id, or Tagrid al-Kalam, by Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1274), GAL G I, 509. CCO 2010 (IV, pp. 247-248, where the identification of the fragment is established on the basis of comparison with Or. 131, f. 3a, above). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 355.
(5b) ff. 44a-45b. Arabic. A small fragment only of al-Saha'if al-Ilahiyya by Muhammad b. Ashraf al-Samarqandi (c. 690/1291), GAL G I, 468. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 324. NB. It is not clear whether this is really a fragment of that text, or just part of the previously described text.
(5c) ff. 46a-b. Arabic. A small fragment of a theological lexicon. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 416. NB. It is not clear whether this is really a fragment of that text, or just part of the previously described text. The descriptions of Nos. 5b and 5c are based on indications by Voorhoeve in his Handlist, and it is possible that he has failed to fully understand the implication of the description in CCA 2010 (IV, pp. 247-248).
(6) ff. 48a-58b. Arabic. Anonymous treatise on theological terminology. CCO 2094 (IV, p. 292). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 449.

Or. 654
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper of different kinds, 402 pp., different hands, standard 17th cent. leather Library binding.
(1) pp. 1-19. al-Qustas fil-`Arud by Mahmud b. `Umar al-Zamakhshari (d. 538/1144), GAL G I, 291. Dated Friday 19 Gumada I 673, copied by `Abd al-Wahhab b. Hamad b. Muhammad (p. 19). CCO 218 (p. 111); CCA 267 (I, p. 137). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 280. In a hand different from all other hands in this volume.
(2) pp. 22-247. Tashih al-Miqyas fi Tafsir al-Qustas, commentary by Shams al-Din Abu al-`Abbas Ahmad b. al-Hasan b. Ahmad al-Nahwi al-Mawsili on al-Qustas fil-`Arud by Mahmud b. `Umar al-Zamakhshari (d. 538/1144), GAL G I, 291. Not dated. CCO 219 (I, p. 112); CCA 268 (I, pp. 137-138). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 280. In a hand different from all other hands in this volume.
(3) pp. 251-327. Abstract by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348) of Akhbar al-Nahwiyyin by Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. Yusuf b. Ibrahim b. `Abd al-Wahid al-Shaybani al-Qifti (Ibn al-Qifti, d. 646/1248), GAL G I, 325. CCA 1048 (II, pp. 126-127). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 9. CCO 876 (II, pp. 205-206), repeated by CCA, says this is an autograph, but gives no further proof. Nor is there a signature by the autographer. Yet, to judge from the superscript on p. 251, hadha Shay'un `allaqtuhu li-Nafsi ..., R.P.A. Dozy, in CCO 876, concludes that the present work is al-Dhahabi's autograph. This is repeated in CCA 1048

(II, pp. 126-127) and in GAL G I, 325. Another autograph of al-Dhahabi would be Or. 2363, above. That looks quite different from the script in this manuscript, but not differently enough to exclude the possibility of being an autograph as well. Or. 654 is apparently a collection of draft notes, whereas Or. 2363 is evidently a neat copy. See also Or. 2494, below, which is also said to be an autograph by al-Dhahabi. An autograph signature or colophon by al-Dhahabi has been reproduced in al-Zirikli, al-A`lam, 4th edition, Bayrut 1979, vol. 5, p. 326. This does not very much contradict Dozy's assumption about the present texts On f. 10a of Or. 2558, below, is al-Dhahabi's signature, so that is with certainty an autograph. The biographies in the present text are alphabetically arranged and go from alif to ghayn.
(4) pp. 328-330. Another abstract (with a basmala of its own), in the same hand as preceding, hence also (?) by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46, and added by him to these biographical notes. All biographees have names beginning with alif. The source of these notes is not clear, possibly also from the work by Ibn al-Qifti. Not separately mentioned in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(5) pp. 335-398. What seems to be the sequel to No. 3, above, being an abstract by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348) of Akhbar al-Nahwiyyin by Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. Yusuf b. Ibrahim b. `Abd al-Wahid al-Shaybani al-Qifti (Ibn al-Qifti, d. 646/1248), GAL G I, 325. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 9. The biographies are alphabetically arranged and go from fa' to ya', and then followed by the kunya's and the names of women. Not separately mentioned in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(6) pp. 399-400. Notes of bio-bibliographical nature, in the same hand as Nos. 3-5, above, and hence also (?) by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46. Not separately mentioned in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(7) p. 401. Six lines of writing (biographical and literary), in the same hand as Nos. 3-6, above, and hence also (?) by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Dhahabi (d. 748/1348), GAL G II, 46. Not separately mentioned in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

Or. 704
Arabic, (dark brown) paper, 186 ff. (f. 1 is an ancient replacement), dated Tuesday (min Ayyam al-Bid) in Dhu al-Qa`da 404, copied by `Uthman b. Ahmad b. Abi al-Tayyib al-Sunni (colophons on ff. 183b, 186a), full-leather standard Library binding. Title on lower edge: Kitab Mushkil al-Qur'an.
On f. 1a poetical quotation, as part of an anecdote dated Wednesday 27 Gumada I 763. It is not clear whether or not this is also the date of writing.
On f. 186b are two owners' notes, one by Ibrahim b. Qaitbay attesting the sale of the MS to al-Shaykh ... Abu al-Hasan Shams al-Din `Ali al-Shammakhi (?) al-Hanafi, the other by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Hasawi (?)attesting the sale of the MS to Ibrahim b. Qaiybay on 4 Gumada I 763 (?).

Mushkil al-Qur'an by Abu Muhammad `Abdallah b. Muslim Ibn Qutayba (d. 276/889), GAL G I, 122. CCO 1650 (IV, pp. 14-16, with quotation from the introduction, and the chapter titles). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 242.
The main text ends on f. 183b, and then follows an appendix (ff. 183b-186a), equally by Ibn Qutayba (cf. the edition pp. 433-441).
¶ The edition by al-Sayyid Ahmad Saqr (Ibn Qutayba, Ta'wil Mushkil al-Qur'an, Cairo 1954 [826 C 20]) is based on three other MSS, namely:
1. Cairo, Dar al-Kutub al-Misriyya, Tafsir 518, dated 558, with a Qira'a of Abu Mansur al-Gawaliqi.
2. Istanbul, Murad Mulla, dated 532 AH.
3. Cairo, Dar al-Kutub al-Misriyya, Tafsir 663, dated 379 AH, which omits the poetry, however.
[* Ar. 704]

Or. 705
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, with some Persian, paper (repaired, pp. 47-48), 315 pp., naskh script, one copyist, dated 973 AH, red wax seal (globe and cross), European-made Islamic-style binding with flap, half-leather, pasted boards.
(1) pp. 1-160. Kitab Sharh al-`Uyun bi-Sharh Risalat al-Walid b. Zaydun, a commentary by Gamal al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad Ibn Nubata (d. 768/1366) on al-Risala al-Hazaliyya by Ahmad b. `Abdallah Ibn Zaydun (d. 463/1070), GAL G I, 275. CCO 379 (I, p. 237); CCA 401 (I, p. 224). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 307.
With pencil notes by Levinus Warner (d. 1665) on p. 1 and in the margins (e.g. p. 25, and on numerous places, with translations of several passages into Latin, e.g. pp. 158-160).
(2) pp. 161-313. An abridged version of Futuh Misr wal-Maghrib by `Abd al-Rahman b. `Abdallah Ibn `Abd al-Hakam (d. 257/871), GAL G I, 148. CCO 818 (II, pp. 179-180); CCA 962 (II, pp. 90-91). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 88. Dated Monday 20 Dhu al-Higga 973 (colophon on p. 315). The title-page (p. 161) offers this information: Bughyat al-Talib wa-Manhag al-Salik fi Akhbar Misr wal-Qura wal-Mamalik, by Galal al-Din al-Suyuti, but this is wholly erroneous.
¶ This MS is MS D as used by C.C. Torrey for his edition The history of the conquest of Egypt, North Africa, and Spain, known as Futuh Misr of Ibn 'Abd al-Hakam. New Haven 922 [OLG 64:0948]. In the introduction of the text (p. 162) is a summary of reading sessions. In the first (and youngest) of these it is said that the MS from which the abridgment was made, was read before the scholar Abu Tahir Ahmad b. Muhammad b. Ahmad b. Ibrahim al-Silafi al-Isfahani in Ramadan 570 in his house in Alexandria. Torrey also analyzes the nature of the abridgment and the relationship of the Leiden MS to the other three MSS, especially to the London MS.
Earlier provenance: 'No. 51' (p. 1).

Arabic, with some Persian, paper, 251 ff, naskh script, one copyist, dated and collated in the course of 607 AH, collation completed on 25 Dhu al-Higga 607, copied in Herat, in Madrasat al-Sultan Ghiyath al-Din (al-Madrasa al-Ghiyathiyya, colophons and collation notes on ff. 83b, 204a, 251b), full-leather standard Library binding.
`Uyun al-Hikma by al-Husayn b. `Abdallah Ibn Sina (d. 428/1037), GAL G I, 455. Anawati No. 15. With the commentary by Fakhr al-Din al-Razi (d. 606/1209). The collation was done with the help of a MS with a reader's certificate by the author (al-Razi). CCO 1448 (III, p. 320, where the date of copying is erroneously given as 657). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 394. The error in datin in CCO (657 AH) can be explained by a misreading of the figure zero and reading it as a five. The date is, however, also written in words, and from these instances the dating to 607 AH is without doubt. It makes the MS almost contemporary to the author of the commentary, and older than the other Leiden MS, Or. 521, above.
There are several colophons in the MS, apparently following the division of the text:
ff. 1b-83b. al-Mantiqiyyat.
f. 83b. Copying completed on Sunday night 25 Rabi` II in Herat, in al-Madrasa al-Ghiyathiyya, in 607. Collation completed with a MS which had been read with the author (al-Razi), in Herat, on Sunday 10 Shawwal 607.
ff. 84b-204a. al-Tabi`iyyat.
f. 204a. Copying completed on Saturday 20 Ragab in Kurat Herat, in al-Madrasa lil-Sultan al-Shahid Ghiyath al-Din, in 607 (written in words). Collation completed on Tuesday 16 Dhu al-Higga 607 (ila Sabil al-Diraya).

ff. 204b-251b. al-Ilahiyyat.
f. 251b. Copying completed on Tuesday 8 Sha`ban 607, in Herat, in Madrasat al-Sultan Ghiyath al-Din. Collation completed 25 Dhu al-Higga 607 (written in words). The order of words in this colophon is somewhat confused, but collation can only take place after the copying, hence the present interpretation.
The Madrasa mentioned in these three colophons was apparenly founded by the Ghuri Sultan Ghiyath al-Din Mahmud b. Mu`izz, who was assassinated in 602 AH (See E. de Zambaur, Manuel de généalogie et de chronologie pour l'histoire de l'Islam. Hannover 1927, p. 284). The colophon on f. 83b mentions the Bani, the builder of the Madrasa. The colophon on f. 204a adds to his name al-Shahid.
On ff. 83b-84 are additional notes. In the margin of f. 83b are the titles of the Organon.
On f. 84a an owner's note by Sulayman b. Muhammad al-Husayni.
On f. 204a a prayer in Arabic, entitled Afsun Ma`ida.
On f. 156b a recipe in Persian.
In ff. 29, 84 an old repair, with replaced paper. On ff. 44b-45a text lay-out in columns.

Or. 728
Turkish, paper, 16 ff., naskh script, full-leather standard Library binding.
A letter on the state of the Empire addressed to an Ottoman Sultan. It dates from 1049/1639-1640) and is possibly addressed to Sultan Ibrahim who had succeeded to the throne in that year. The genre of the text belongs to the genre of Mirror of Princes, and the Sultan is given the advice to behave as a traditional just ruler. The text is apparently incomplete at the end.
CCO 303 has this, rather different, description: 'Khatt-i Sharif, issued in the name of the Ottoman Sultan to his Kapudan Husayn Pasha, in which the latter's misdeeds are reprehended and by which he is ordered to improve his conduct. CCO 303 (I, p. 180). The text is apparently incomplete at the end.'

On f. 233a is the copy of the colophon in the exemplaar (dated end of Rabi` I 858). On ff. 233a-235a, the copyist had copied additional text which he had found in his exemplar (asl).
On f. 235a are also two distichs by al-Shafi`i (Muhammad b. Idris al-Shafi`i (d. 204/820)), and two distichs by al-Shaykh Shihab al-Din b. `Abd al-Haqq. Both pairs of distichs have the resemblence of copyist verse. On f. 235b five distichs on length measures, in poetry (referred to as Fa'ida Galila wa-Qa`ida Gamila) ascribed to al-Zarkashi, followed by a note in prose on the same subject, taken from Kitab Sukkardan al-Muluk, with which possibly is meant the work Sukkardan al-Sultan al-Malik al-Nasir, by Ahmad b. Yahya Ibn Abi Hagala al-Tilimsani (d. 776/1375), GAL G II, 13.
On the verso side of the first unnumbered leaf preceding the text are three distichs in Arabic by Ragab Dede, written in his own hand.
On the recto side of the final leaf is a note from Khizanat al-Fatawa, to the effect that the graves of unbelievers (Kuffar) may be robbed.

Kitab-i Gami` al-Qiranat, a work on the conjunctions between heavenly bodies, by Muhyi al-Din b. Badr al-Din al-Anari, who allegedly compiled the work in 1117/1705. This would, however, constitute an anachronism with the fact that the Warnerian manuscripts entered the library shortly after Warner's demise in 1665. CCO 1188 (III, pp. 152-153) gives more arguments against the supposed lifetime of the author.
Our own remarks on this are as follows: The work (f. 2b) is dedicated to Shah Isma`il al-Safawi (reigned 907-930 AH), which makes the original life dates of the author the more improbable.
On ff. 10b, 11a, 15a, 15b, 17b, 20b, 22a, 24b, 27a, 29b, 32a, 33a, 34b, 35a, 37b, 39a, 42a, 44b. Almost all these tables, here referred to as Za'iga (Arabic Za'irga?) contain dates. The table on f. 11a is for the year 929 AH, the one on f. 15a for 940 AH, the one on f. 17b for 950 AH, the one on f. 20b for 969 AH, the one on f. 22a for 971 AH, the one on f. 24b for 991 AH, the one on f. 27a for 1008 AH, the one on f. 29b for 1011 AH, the one on f. 32a for 1031 AH, the one on f. 33a for 1032 AH, the one on f. 34b for 1051 AH, the one on f. 35a for 1053 AH, the one on f. 37b for 1060 AH, the one on f. 39a for 1073 AH, the one on f. 42a for 1094 AH, the one on f. 44b for 1113 AH. The dates in the tables may contain the explanation of the anachronism in the lifetime of the author. The last date, 1113 AH (on f. 44b), must have been in the distant future when the author compiled the present, whereas bibliographers may have interpreted this final table as the result of actual observations in the past.

The questions and answers cover a wide range of subjects, and the composition is certainly not to be understood as a Fatwa collection. Questions are put to the father of the compilator, now deceased (su'ila rahimahu Allah), and his answers are quoted. Or. 755 Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 144 ff., naskh script, one copyist, dated in the daytime of Tuesday 18 Rabi` I 1021, copied by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Khalidi al-Safadi (colophon on f. 143a). half-leather Islamic binding, pasted boards. Red wax seal (fly-leaf in front). The manuscript was commissioned in 1021 for its owner Ramadan, a judge in the town of Safed (owner's inscription on f. 1a, with a print of his seal).
On the fly-leaf in front is an 18th-century (?) inscription in Latin by a European reader: Ibn Abdun Carmen cum Comment. Historico Ibn Bedrun, referring to No. 4, below.
(1) ff. 1a-24b. al-Fara'id wal-Qala'id by Abu al-Hasan (Husayn?) Muhammad b. al-Husayn al-Ahwazi (c. 330/941), GAL G I, 96. CCO 340 (I, pp. 194-195); CCA 451 (I, pp. 258-259, where the chapter titles are quoted). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 77. See also Or. 342 (2), above, for a somewhat different version of the text.

(2) ff. 25a-46a. al-`Iqd al-Farid lil-Malik al-Sa`id. The first part (ff. 25b-30b) of this text is a short abstract from the beginning of a work of the same title by Kamal al-Din Abu Salim Muhammad b. Talha al-Qurashi al-Nasibi (d. 652/1254), GAL G I, 463. The last part (ff. 30b-46a) is a collection of stories about Greek sages and their sayings, entitled Kalam al-Hukama' (f. 46a). CCO 1950 (IV, p. 204, where it is stated that this must be an excerpt of some larger work). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 132.
(3) ff. 46b-49a. Anonymous description of Rum. CCO 741 (II, pp. 138-139); CCA 809 (II, pp. 8-9, where the introductory part is quoted). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 427. The authors of CCA point out the similarity between the present text and the geographical work by Ibn al-Wardi (apparently is meant here the work Kharidat al-`Aga'ib wa-Faridat al-Ghara'ib, by Abu Hafs `Umar Ibn al-Wardi Sirag al-Din (c. 850/1446), GAL G II, 131, see e.g. Or. 158, above).
(4) ff. 51a-143a (also separately paginated 1-191). Tawq al-Hamama, an abridgment by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Safadi (d. 764/1362) of Sharh Qasidat Ibn `Abdun, or Kimamat al-Zahr, the commentary by `Abd al-Malik b. `Abdallah Ibn Badrun (c. 560/1164) on al-Qasida al-Bassama by Ibn `Abdun (d. 529/1134), GAL G I, 271. Dated in the daytime of Tuesday 18 Rabi` I 1021, copied by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Khalidi al-Safadi (colophon on f. 143a). CCO 575 (II, p. 66); CCA 665 (I, p. 412). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 267-268.
Also on f. 1a an owner's mark by Abu al-Fadl Mahmud, known as Qara Chelebizada.

Or. 758
Arabic, paper, 390 ff., naskh script, dated end Shawwal 1014, copied by Taha b. Salih b. Yahya al-Diri al-Hanafi al-Maqdisi (colophon on f. 389b), after he had begun copying the volume on Wednesday 24 Rabi` I 1014 (note on f. 1a), copied by Muhammad b. Ahmad al-Galihuni al-Qudsi by whom also three lines of his poetry are added (ff. 389b, 360b), title on lowe edge: Khizanat al-Adab, full-leather standard Library binding.
Badi`iyyat Ibn Higga, with the author's commentary entitled Khizanat al-Adab, by Ibn Higga al-Hamawi (d. 837/1434), GAL G II, 16. CCO 254 (I, pp. 140-141); CCA 325 (I, pp. 174-175). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 35. The matn is written in red ink, the sharh in black ink. The poem by Ibn Hagga was intended in the same vein as the Qasidat al-Burda by al-Busiri.
On f. 390a a Hikaya in prose and poetry on Harun al-Rashid.
Several notes of personal nature: on f. 389b a note by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Asili al-Qabbani in al-Gamaliyya, the administrator (Katib Waqf) of the Waqf of 'our' grandfather Yer Ahmad, known as Laythizada, former Qadi of Misr al-Qahira, in the time of Sultan Sulayman b. Salim [= the Magnificent]; on f. 1a the owner's note by `Ali b. Muhammad, known as-Laythizada, dated Thursday 18 Gumada I 1015, in al-Quds (al-Quds al-Sharif, al-Ma`bad al-`Ali al-Munif).
On f. 390b mention of the coming by the father of the writer of that note to al-Quds on Friday 11 Rabi` <lacuna> 992.
Also 3 lines of poetry by Nagm al-Din Abu Hafs `Umar b. Muhammad b. Isma`il al-Nasafi (f. 360b), and 4 lines by al-Shaykh `Abdallah al-Danawshari (f. 360a, see als his two lines on the author on f. 1a and two lines on f. 1b [quoted in CCA]). The author's biographical information taken from al-Suyuti's Husn al-Muhadara is on f. 1a.

Shaykh `Abd al-Wahhab al-`Urdi al-Halabi (ex-libris on f. 243b). His owner's note is on the title-page (f. 156a: min Kutub `Umar al-`Urdi [...]).On the title-page (f. 156a) is said of Ibn al-Akfani's Irshad al-Qasid ila Asna al-Maqasid that a copy is available in the volume, but this is not the case, and the remark must refer to the volume in which this text was once found.

¶ See on `Umar al-`Urdi's son Muhammad now also Jan Just Witkam, 'Precious books and moments of friendship in 17th-century Istanbul', in Festschrift Ekmeleddin Ihsanoğlu (Istanbul 200?), in the press. Levinus Warner knew Muhammad, and it is possible that the present text was acquired by Warner from the al-`Urdi library.
(3) ff. 244a-288b. Qawanin Hikam al-Ishraq ila Kull al-Sufiyya bi-Gami` al-Afaq by Abu al-Mawahib Muhammad b. Ahmad b. Muhammad (Ibn Zaghdun) al-Tunisi al-Shadhili al-Wafa'i al-Maliki (d. 882/1477), GAL G II, 123. CCO 2285 (V, pp. 33-34), where the chapter titles (Qanun) are quoted. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 273.
(3a) On f. 244a is a prayer, Du`a' `Azim by `Abd al-Qadir al-Gilani (d. 561/1161), GAL G I, 435.
(4) ff. 289a-292b. Fawa'id Galila Nafi`a. Notes on a great variety of subjects.
(5) ff. 292b-293b. Asbab al-Tariq. And other notes.

Or. 765

Turkish, paper, 88 ff., naskh script of quality, simple headpiece illumination in white ink, entire text set in a frame, usually of red ink, but occasionally in white ink, half-leather Islamic binding, pasted boards.
Fawa'id-i Ghaza, treatise on horsemanship and cavallery exercises, by Mustafa Agha al-Mutafarriqa (Müteferrika), known as Kapu Aghasi Quli, who (according to a chronogram) composed the work in 1029 (1619-1620), during the reign of Sultan `Uthman II. CCO 1420 (III, pp. 298-299) gives a survey of the contents of the 8 chapters (bab) of the work (of Or. 835, below). CCO 1421 (III, p. 299). See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), p. 54. Or. 766 Arabic, paper, 2 + 228 ff., naskh script, '8/14th cent. (see the discussion about al-Itqani, below)', possibly copied by al-Itqani (d. 758/1357), GAL G II, 79 (reader's note on f. 1a), half-leather Islamic binding with flap, pasted boards, title on lower edge: al-Thalith min Rasa'il al-Sabi.
On the two unnumbered leaves preceding the text is a copy in very cursive script, and possibly quite old, of al-Sabi's biography taken from the Wafayat al-A`yan, by Ahmad b. Muhammad Ibn Khallikan (d. 681/1282), GAL G I, 327.
The third volume only of the Rasa'il by Abu Ishaq Ibrahim Ibn Hilal al-Sabi (d. 384/994), GAL S I, 153. CCO 262 (I, pp. 144-148); CCA 345 (I, pp. 184-188) enumerates the correspondents of the present volume. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 284.
On f. 1a a reader has written, in nasta`liq script, that he is of the opinion that the volume was copied by al-`Allama al-Itqani, the author of Ghayat al-Bayan fi Sharh al-Hidaya. The Leiden MS Or. 706, above, has several autograph texts by Abu Hanifa Qawam al-Din Amir Katib b. Amir `Umar al-`Amid al-Farabi al-Itqani (d. 758/1357), GAL G II, 79, and these seem to corroborate the identification. That would mean that the MS was copied before al-Itqani's death in 758/1357.
¶ Unpublished edition and (Dutch) translation by Mark van Damme, Tekstuitgave van een reeks diplomatieke brieven van Abu Ishaq al-Sabi uit het Leidse handschrift CCO 766. Bijdrage tot de geschiedenis der Buyiden op grond van de Rasa'il al-Sabi. Gent (?), n.d. (3 parts in 4 bindings [Leiden copy: 8014 A 3-6].
On f. 1a are some dated owners'marks: `Ali b. `Imad al-Din al-Shafi`i: 949 AH; Isma`il, known as Fida'i: Safar 1009; al-`Abd Waysi, when he was a Qadi in Madinat Uskub (the town of Üsküb, Skopje): 1013 AH.

Or. 767

Arabic, paper, 1 + 569 pp., naskh script, before 795 AH, full-leather Islamic binding with flap, with blind ornamentation.
Between pp. 102-104 and 276-278 is an unnumbered page. There is no p. 378.
Tawarikh Sini Muluk al-Ard wal-Anbiya' (title on p. 1) by Hamza b. al-Hasan al-Isfahani (350/961), GAL S I, 221. CCO 753 (II, p. 146); CCA 831 (II, p. 17). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 377.
Title on the unnumbered title-page: Kitab fihi Tarikh al-Umam Ta'lif Hamza b. al-Hasan al-Isfahani. Also on the title-page two prayers, one of which bears the title Du`a' Mubarak.
The MS is referred to by J. Gottwaldt, Hamsae Ispahanensis Annalium caput quartum. Bratislava 1831 [841 D 26], pp. 9-11. Gottwaldt has edited the entire text, with use of the present MS, as Hamsae Ispahanensis Annalium Libri X. St. Petersburg 1844 [OLG 64:2001].
On p. 569 is a reader's mark dated 795 by Abu al-Fadl Ahmad b. `Ali b. Hagar (?) al-`Asqalani, with whom Ibn Hagar al-`Asqalani (d. 852/1449, GAL G II, 69) may be meant. The handwriting may be identical to the other specimens of Ibn Hagar's hand in the Leiden collection.
Also on p. 569 is a dated (831 AH) owner's mark by Muhammad b. Mahmud al-Khwarizmi.

Or. 768
Arabic, paper, 1 + 208 ff., naskh script, dated Rabi` I 1013, copied by `Abd al-Mun`im b. Gamal al-Din (colophon on f. 207b), full-leather standard Library binding.
Nur al-`Ayn, commentary by `Ali b. `Atiyya b. Hasan, known as `Alawan al-Hamawi (d. 936/1530), on Silk al-`Ayn li-Idhhab al-Ghayn by `Abd al-Qadir b. Muhammad b. Habib al-Safadi (d. 915/1509), GAL G II, 123. CCO 2275 (V, p. 28). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 337.
The Silk al-`Ayn is a mystical Qasida in the basit metre, containing 283 distichs. The matn is in red ink, the sharh in black ink.
Title on title-page (f. 1a): Sharh `ala Kitab Silk al-`Ayn li-Idhhab al-Ghayn [...]. Owner's mark on f. 1a by `Abd al-Qadir b. al-Shaykh Mahmud, with date 1029 AH, and clear seal print. Also a note telling that the latter's son Muhammad acquired the MS from his father's estate.
On the recto side of the unnumbered fly-leaf in front is a Mas'ala Mustakhraga min Sharh al-Ramli `ala al-Minhag treating an aspect of ritual purity The Mas'ala has also been versified by Mawlana Hasan al-Burini, and the 11 lines of Ragaz follow on the same page.
On the verso side of the unnumbered fly-leaf in front is a Gawab by Mawlana al-Shaykh Muhammad al-Dawudi (12 lines in Ragaz). And a note on performing Dhikr with a loud voice, on the authority of al-Zahidi in a work entitled al-Ihqaq. Also a note on the authority of al-Ghazzali.
On f. 207a note on Imra' al-Qays.
On f. 208a is a Takhmis of two lines of `Umar Ibn al-Farid (d. 632/1235), cf. GAL G I, 262.
On f. 208b a quotation from Nuzhat al-Athar (unidentified) on the pilgrimage of the Prophet Muhammad.

Arabic, paper, 215 ff., naskh script (red and green ink used for headings), dated Wednesday 18 Shawwal 1034, copied by Muhammad b. Gamal al-Din al-Ansari al-Mabtuli (colophon on f. 215a), full-leather standard Library binding. The copyist seems to be identical to the copyist of Or. 756, above. Title on lower edge: Mustaqsa al-Amthal lil-Zamakhshari.
al-Mustaqsa fil-Amthal by Mahmud b. `Umar al-Zamakhshari (d. 538/1144), GAL G I, 292. CCO 356 (I, p. 199); CCA 394 (I, p. 219). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 243.
Numerous marginal notes in pencil by Levinus Warner.
Notes and quotations on f. 1a. Also on that page is an owner's mark, now almost entirely erased, of an owner in Cairo.
Added to the MS is a letter from the Pakistani scholar Rana M.N.E. Elahie, then in Cambridge, dated 28 November 1956, directed to the director of the Leiden library, Dr. A.H.M.C. Kessen (1904-1960), announcing that he is editing the Mustaqsa and requesting that his letter be laid in the manuscript as was apparently done. The letter also contains a few notes in the hands of the then curator of Oriental collections Dr. P. Voorhoeve (1899-1996) and the then deputy librarian J.R. de Groot (1918-1987). No edition of al-Zamakhshari's al-Mustaqsa by Dr. Elahie seems to have appeared and he may have abandoned the project after the Hyderabad edition of the text had appeared in 1962 (for which the Leiden MS has not been used. [823 A 20-21]).

Earlier provenance: 'No. 48', and red wax seal (globe and cross).

(1) ff. 1b-122a. Untitled work by `Aziz b. Muhammad al-Nasafi (fl. middle of 7th cent.), divided into 5 sections (written in Abarquh, f. 8b), followed by 20 risala's, of which the first ten were written in Isfahan. CCO 2309 (V, pp. 44-45) gives part of the introduction of this text. At the end of Risala 20 it is also said that Gild-i Duwwum, the second volume, is completed. Each Risala begins with a basmala of itself. Many Risala's habe a serial number at the end.
(2) ff. 122a-128a. Untitled Risala, possibly also by `Aziz b. Muhammad al-Nasafi (fl. middle of 7th cent. AH), but in fact without specific indication.
(3) ff. 128a-134a. Untitled Risala by `Aziz b. Muhammad al-Nasafi (fl. middle of 7th cent. AH), treating paradise and hell, and composed at the request of the derwishes.

Red-black wax seal on ff. 5b.
f. 1a. Survey of contents of the volume, several notes, a request for a binder (?), f. 1b blank, f. 2a notes, ff. 2b-5a blank.
(1) ff. 5b-24b. al-Manahil al-`Adhba fi Islah ma waha min al-Ka`ba (title on f. 6b), by Ibn Hagar al-Haythami (d. 973/1565), GAL S.N. II, 529, who completed the work in the morning of Thursday 5 Rabi` II 959 (note on f. 24b). The work is a consultation about the repair of the Ka`ba due in 959 AH, and is divided in an introduction, four chapters (Maqsad) and an epilogue. Dated Monday, shortly before noon, 1 Rabi` I 998, copied by Muslim al-Azhari (colophon on f. 24b). CCO 1873 (IV, p. 161). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 182. HRP.
(3) ff. 29a-39b. al-I`lam bi-Hukm `Isa `alayhi al-Salam, by Galal al-Din al-Suyuti (d.

911/1505), GAL G II, 150. CCO 2055 (IV, pp. 275-276). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 127. See also the title on the lower edge of the volume: al-I`lam bi-Nuzul `Isa `alayhi al-Salam wa-Ghayrihi. Same copyist as No. 2, above. Ff. 40a-42b blank.
(3a) f. 43a. The last page only of an unidentified text of Sufi content. Not in CCO, not in Voorhoeve, Handlist. Same hand as No. 4, below.
(4) ff. 43b-62b. Incomplete copy (abrupt end) of Abwab al-Ginan lima fiha min al-Khayrat al-Hisan, by Yusuf al-Talawi, GAL S II, 1013). CCO 2087 (IV, p. 289). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 1. The text ends abruptly in chapter 3 (out of 8 chapters).
(5) ff. 63a-73b. A fragment only of al-Anwar al-Quddusiyya fil-Asrar al-Musawiyya. Author not mentioned. Includes a khatima about al-Ghalib wal-Maghlub. CCO 15 (I, pp. 11-12); CCA 18 (I, pp. 23-24, where the preface is quoted). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 16. Copyist verse on f. 73a. The first few chapters appear to lack. After the introduction there is a chapter 7 on foodstuffs and medicine, a chapter 8 on stones (a lapidarium?), and finally a khatima. A complicating matter is the fact that several chapter titles have been erased and then substituted by other titles. On f. 74a is a follow-up of the khatima with a Gadwal al-A`dad al-Fadila al-Mukhtalifa in connection with al-Ghalib wal-Maghlub. F. 74b is blank. Ff. 75a-b, with a da'ira, seems to be part of this text as well. Abrupt end on f. 75b. Ff. 76a-b are blank.
(6) ff. 77a-80a. Khutbat `Id al-Hagg. Anonymous. CCO 2178 (IV, p. 332). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 162. On f. 80b what may be a sequel to the preceding. Ff. 81a-b blank.
(7) ff. 78r-103b. Kitab al-Mi`rag lil-Nabi, another version of the anonymous work Khabar al-Mi`rag. CCO 2088 (IV, p. 289); CCA 882 (II, p. 44). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 157-158. The text is transmitted on the authority of Ibn `Abbas. Naskh script of expert quality, copied by `Abd al-Basit Khadim al-Imam al-Shafi`i (f. 122b), text set in double red frame. Ff. 104a-106b blank, except for the frames.
(8) ff. 107a-122b. Qissat Tamim b. Habib al-Dari. Anonymous. CCO 2089 (IV, p. 290); CCA 1082 (II, pp. 159-160). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 276. Naskh script of expert quality, copied by `Abd al-Basit Khadim al-Imam al-Shafi`i (f. 122b). Ff. 123a-124b blank.
(9) ff. 125a-153b. Various anonymous theological fragments, from or more works. CCO 2091 (IV, pp. 290-291, with several quotations). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 449. Lacuna between ff. 125b-126a. Beginning section on f. 125b, after the abrupt beginning: fa-in qila ma al-Hikma... Ff. 154a-155b blank.
(10) ff. 156b-159a. Persian. Pandnama wa-Munajat of Mawlana Qutb al-`Arifin `Abdallah al-Ansari. Dated 27 Sha`ban 995 (colophon on f. 159a). CCO 2220 (IV, p. 349). Some poetical quotations on f. 156a.

Or. 801
Collective volume with texts in Turkish, with some Arabic, paper, 94 ff., nasta`liq script, one copyist, map of the Caucasus, genealogical table, metrical circles, corrections by covering with red ink (passim), half-leather Islamic binding, pasted boards (marbled paper).
(1a) ff. 1a-2a. Notes and quotations in Arabic
(1) ff. 2b-89a. Nathr al-Nazirin wa-Maqbul al-Khatirin, with commentary entitled Shifa' al-Qulub wa-Liqa' al-Mahbub, the history of the conquest of Shirwan in 988-993/1581-1585 by `Uthman Pasha by order of the Ottoman Sultan Murad III. Divided into 7 parts (qit`a). The author is Sayyid Sa`d al-Din b. Mawlana Mahmud b. Mawlana Ahmad al-Din b. Mawlana Muhammad al-Shahid al-Shirwani al-Shakiwani al-Dahnawi, who completed the text on the last day of Dhu al-Qa`da or the first day of Dhu al-Higga 993 (October 25, 1585). Apparently an autograph of this autobiographical account in a unique copy (colophon on f. 89a, in the margin). CCO 2644 (V, p. 233). See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), p. 56, with illustration of a map of the Caucasus (f. 14b). The numerous corrections (by covering with red ink) would point to editorial work, so that this copy is probably to be considered as the author's draft. F. 89b blank.
(1a) f. 90a. Genealogical table showing the offspring of Khalil Pasha b. Ibrahim Pasha. Eighteen names, mostly of Pasha's and Chelebi's, are connected by dotted lines.
(2) ff. 90b-94a. Short treatise on metrics. No title, no author, but written in the same hand as the preceding text, and therefore possibly also conceived by him. CCO 236 (I, p. 120) gives the incipit. Dawa'ir as in this type of text are on ff. 92a-93b.
See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. I. Leiden 2000, pp. 257-266, with reproductions of f. 14b on p. 258, of f. 89a on p. 260, of f. 90a on p. 260, and of f. 93b on p. 265.

Ahmad al-..sani (colophon on f. 240b), title on lower edge: al-Magmu`a min al-Tafasir, dark-red wax seal on from fly-leaf, full-leather standard Library binding.

A fragment only of al-Taysir fi `Ilm al-Tafsir by `Abd al-Karim b. Hawazin al-Qushayri (d. 465/1072), GAL G I, 432; S I, 772, containing the exegesis for Qur'an, sura 57:21 - sura 66. The text is divided into sessions (Magalis) and the present volume begins in the middle session 461. These can be seen as follows:
(f. 1b: Abrupt beginning in Maglis 461)
f. 9a. Maglis 462, Tuesday 2 Dhu al-Higga of the year 13.
f. 30a. Maglis 463, Tuesday ?? of the year 413.
f. 45b. Maglis 464, Tuesday 16 Dhu al-Higga.
f. 57a. Maglis 465, Tuesday 23 Dhu al-Higga.
f. 73a. Maglis 466, Tuesday 1 Muharram of the year 414.
f. 96a. Maglis 467, Tuesday 8 Muharram of the year 414.
f. 119a. Maglis 468, Tuesday 15 Muharram of the year 414.
f. 133a. Maglis 469, Tuesday 22 Muharram of the year 414.
f. 166a. Maglis 470, Tuesday 29 Muharram.
f. 187b. Maglis 471, Tuesday 6 Safar of the year 414.
f. 203b. Maglis 472, Tuesday 13 Safar.
f. 222a. Maglis 473.
f. 232b. Maglis 474, Tuesday 27 Safar of the year 414.
f. 232b. Maglis 475, Tuesday 5 Rabi` I.
f. 267b. Maglis 476, Tuesday 12 Rabi` I.
f. 288a. Maglis 477, Tuesday 19 Rabi` I. On f. 295a is the end of the text, f. 295b is blank.
From all this it follows that the text was read in weekly sessions on Tuesdays, from Tuesday 2 Dhual-Higga 413 till Tuesday 19 Rabi` I 414 (26 February 1023 – 11 June 1023). This may, or may not, have been in the presence of the author. The manuscript does not provide any further detail about this.
The text is also divided into volumes (Mugallada), reflecting another outward appearance of the text. The transition from one volume to another is indicated by a colophon, here on f. 240b. The next Mugallada begins on f. 241b. F. 241a is blank.

Or. 822
Collective volume with texts in Persian, with some Turkish and Arabic, paper, 113 ff., nasta`liq script, one copyist, half-leather Islamic binding with flap, pasted boards. The beginning of the treatises are indicated by threads, sewn through the paper ('klavier'). Table of contents on f. 1a. On each verso page is written a motto in Arabic, over the text.

(1) ff. 3b-23a. Kashif al-Asrar, an explication of the first 34 verses of the Mathnawi-yi Ma`nawi by Galal al-Din Rumi (d. 672 AH), by Hasan b. Awhad, known as Zarifi, who was alive in 1566 and who dedicated the work to the Ottoman Sultan Sulayman (reigned 926-974 AH). CCO 642 (II, pp. 111-112). Or. 12.442, below, is the same text.
(2) ff. 23b-62a. Matla` al-Anwar, an explanation of the Story of the King and the Girl in the beginning of the Mathnawi-yi Ma`nawi by Galal al-Din Rumi (d. 672 AH), by Hasan b. Awhad, known as Zarifi, who was alive in 1566. CCO 642 (II, pp. 111-112). Or. 12.442, below, is the same text.
(3) ff. 63b-67a. 8 pp. Sharh-i Dubayt al-Mathnawi, a treatise by `Abd al-Rahman b. Ahmad al-Gami (Molla Gami, d. 898/1492) on the opening verses of the Mathnawi-yi Ma`nawi by Galal al-Din Rumi (d. 672 AH). CCO 642 (II, pp. 111-112), where Dozy's statement that this work too is dedicated to Sultan Sulayman is an anachronism with the authorship of Gami. Molla Gami's authorship is based on the note on f. 1a. Or. 12.443 (8), below, is the same text.
(4) ff. 67b-68b. Risala fi Bayan al-Mahabba (title on f. 1a), a mystical treatise without indication of author. A few names are mentioned: Shaykh Fakhr al-Din Nuri (f. 68a), Shaykh al-Mashayikh `Umar al-Suhrawardi, with reference to his `Awarif al-Ma`arif (ff. 68a-b). In CCO 1713 (IV, p. 46), this text is described as an anonymous explanation of Qur'an 53:17.
(5) ff. 71b-112b. Commentary by Ni`mat Allah al-Tibrizi on Lama`at-i `Iraqi by Fakhr al-Din `Iraqi (d. 688 AH, title and authors on f. 1a), which is divided into 28 chapters (lam`a), treating the grades of mystical love. Letter nun stands for the author of the commentary, letter `ayn for the author of the matn. CCO 2299 (V, p. 39).
On f. 113b is a recipe in Turkish. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. I (Leiden 2000), p. 270.

`Aga'ib al-Maqdur fi Nawa'ib Timur, by Ibn `Arabshah (d. 854/1450), GAL G II, 29. CCO 844 (II, p. 186); CCA 1009 (II, p. 106). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 3. Title on lower edge: Tarikh `Arabshah. Numerous notes in pencil by a 17th- or 18th-century user.

¶ It is tempting to connect these notes with Jacobus Golius (1596-1667), who edited this text in 1636: Ahmedis Arabsiadae Vitae & rerum gestarum Timuri, qui vulgo Tamerlanes dicitur, historia / [Ed. et praef. instr. Jacobus Golius]. - Lugduni Batavorum : ex Typographia Elseviriana, 1636. This is, however, impossible because the MS was in 1636 still in Istanbul, where Warner would buy it. The notes are by Levinus Warner.

The Leiden copy of the edition [842 C 37] contains manuscript notes by Albert Schultens (1686-1750).

Or. 856
Persian, paper (album, differently coloured, including abru (e.g. ff. 10b, 59a)), 205 ff. (in disorder, some damaged), nasta`liq script of calligraphic quality, illustrated and illuminated, entire text set in gold and coloured frames, dated 5 Gumada I 894, copied by Shaykh Muhammad b. Ibrahim b. Mas`ud, known as Mun`im al-Awhadi al-Balyani (colophon on f. 205a), an elegant book, full-leather standard Library binding.
Diwan of Hafiz (d. 792/1390).
ff. 1b-2a. Illuminated double opening page.
The manuscript contains four miniatures:
f. 10b. The poet visited by his beloved while asleep in the garden. A prince lies on a carpet, under a blanket, his head on a pillow, in the open air. A rivulet in the foreground. A tree in the centre. The landscape is filled with blossoming flowers. A courtier holds a jar, and reads from a book. At left and right two more courtiers are looking. The miniature illustrates the first two lines on the page.
f. 59b. A man is climbing a rock. He looks over his shoulder to a man on horseback, who gesticulates to him.
f. 63a. Two nobles sit on a carpet in the open air. The turbaned one is apparently the most important, although the other one is crowned. The latter has a cup (of wine?) in his hand. A jar with wine is standing on a tray on the ground. Two courtiers come from the left, one with a tray or plate in his hand. In the centre background is a tree. In the foreground a rivulet.
f. 155b. A prince sits on a carpet in the open air. The landscape is filled with blossoming flowers. The prince is offered a (of wine?) by a servant who is kneeling for him. A jar with wine is standing on a tray on the ground. A courtier comes from the left, with a tray or plate in his hand. In the centre background is a tree. Clouds are in the air. In the foreground a rivulet. In the foreground two musicians are playing, one on the lute, the other with a tabla.

Or. 876

Arabic, paper, 2 + 29 + 3 ff., naskh script, dated by fractions, deciphered as 7 Muharram 993 (colophon on f. 29b), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, with blind tooled ornamentation (borders, medallion), red wax seal on f. 1b.
Risala fi Tafdil al-Bashar `ala al-Malak. No author mentioned. The text is dedicated to al-Wazir al-Khatir Hadrat Masih Pasha (f. 5b). The latter must be Mesih Suleyman Pasha, in function between 993/1585 and 994/1586 (see Mehmed Süreyya, Sicill-i Osmani, 2nd ed., Istanbul 1996, p. 1087).
CCO 2077 (IV, pp. 284-285, where the dating by fractions is erroneously interpreted as the date of completion of the composition of the author, and where, equally erroneously, the date in fractions is deciphered as 1 Muharram 992) mentions a work by this title, by Muhammad Amin, known as Amir Padishah (2nd half of the 10th century), with reference to Haggi Khalifa, but comes to the conclusion that that must be a different work as the description of the content and the first words as given by Haggi Khalifa cannot be found in the Leiden MS.
See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 302, where is said: 'Finished by `Abdallah Efendi al-Busnawi' (writing under the name Gha'ibi or `Abdi, d. 1054/1644), GAL G I 447', with a reference to M. al-Khangi, al-Gawhar al-Asna fi Taragim `Ulama' wa-Shu`ara' Busna, Cairo 1349, p. 96,

No. 12 [8183 E 42]. The title of the present work is actually mentioned twice by al-Khangi, but this presents a chronological problem, as it is chronologically hardly possible because of the date of copying of the present manuscript (993/1585). One might doubt the correctness of the deciphered date, but the manuscript was purchased by Levinus Warner (d. 1665), so it must have existed before 1665, the year of Warner's demise, and it actually makes a late-16th century impression. The dedication to Masih Pasha makes an 11th/17th century author impossible.
The point of departure in the author's argument is Qur'an 4:170 (quoted on f. 8b). Ibn Gamal Pasha's Risala, entitled al-Fara'id is quoted (f. 10b).

(1) ff. 1a-14a. Notes and shorter texts in Persian and Arabic. This is possibly the introduction mentioned in CCO, but it is rather a collection of disparate notes:
ff. 1a-4b. Mostly blank, except a few notes in Arabic.
ff. 5a-6a. Persian poetry. On f. 5b an Arabic amulet against fever.
ff. 6b-9a. Arabic. A treatise on the statistics of the Qur’an, the number of verse, of words, and of letters, and of the sura’s, specified per sura.
ff. 9a-11a. Persian. On incantations (Ta`widh) in the Qur’an.
ff. 11a-14a. Arabic. Notes and quotations, mostly on Qur’anic subjects. Some sources are quoted, e.g. Kashshaf (f. 11b), Bidaya (ff. 12b, 13a), Gawahir al-Qur’an (ff. 12a, 14a).
(2) ff. 14a-155b. Arabic. Lam`at al-Tafsir. Succinct tafsir on the entire Qur’an, without indication of author. After an introduction sura 1 is first treated and then the other sura’s, but in their reverse order: 114-2. In the margins are numerous glosses taken from al-Zamakhshari’s al-Kashshaf and numerous other works. CCO 1709 (IV, p. 44), where it is incorrectly stated that the Tafsir is in Persian. Not in Voorhoeve’s Handlist.
(3) ff. 155b-157a. Arabic, Persian. Notes, poetry etc., similar to the preliminary texts in the volume. On f. 156b a quotation from al-Ghazzali. Also from Sharh al-Tawali`.

Or. 927
Arabic, paper (differently coloured, but not used in a fixed pattern), 138 ff., 17.7 x 11.8 cm (text area: 13.5 x 8 cm), composition of the quires: 2 (1), IV (9), 3V (39), IV (47), 9V (137), 2 (139), on either end of the codex are two outer leaves serving as fly-leaves, apparently each one having been added to a separate leaf, not beloging to the following or preceding leaf, naskh script, 15 lines per page, dated 738 AH (1337-1338), copied by Muhammad b. (?) b. \`Uthman al-Nahawandi al-Sufi (owner's note on f. 1a in a hand which appears to be identical with the copyist's), black-red wax seal on fly-leaf, full-leather standard Library binding, originally with Islamic binding with flap.
Tawq al-Hamama fil-Ulfa wal-Ullaf, the famous treatise on love and lovers by Abu Muhammad \`Ali Ibn Hazm al-Andalusi (d. 456/1064), GAL G I, 400. CCO 377 (I, pp. 224-237); CCA 461 (I, pp. 267-274). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 377. See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), p. 71.
Since the editio princeps by Pétrof in 1914 a number of scholars have proposed emendations. See for a survey of these now also Q. al-Samarrai, 'New remarks on the text of Ibn Hazm's Tawq al-Hamama', in: Arabica 30 (1983), pp. 57-72. The first edition of the text is by D.K. Pétrof, Tauk-al-Hamama. Publié d'après l'unique manuscrit de la bibliothèque de l'université de Leide. Leiden 1914. All other editions are based on Pétrof's edition, and not on the unique manuscript, as has been demonstrated by J.J. Witkam, 'Establishing the stemma: fact or fiction?', in MME 3 (1988), pp. 88-101, esp. pp. 90-92. The key variant reading in this respect are the two (otherwise insignificant) words \`ala dhalik on f. 2a, line 3. These were overlooked by Pétrof, and all later editions lack these words as well.

On the title-page (f. 1a): Kitab fihi al-Risala al-Ma\`rufa bi-Tawq al-Hamama fil-Ulfa wal-Ullaf. Also on the title-page are several owners' notes, including a (recent) note in Turkish, telling that this is the autograph. Not in Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000). The owner's note in the left upper corner, by Muhammad b. [...] b. \`Uthman al-Nahawandi al-Sufi is dated 738 AH, and this owner is probably the same as the copyist. Otherwise the manuscript bears no date.

Or. 932
Arabic, with some Persian, European paper, 1 + 223 + 4 ff., nasta`liq script, dated the last day of 788 AH (colophon on f. 223b), full-leather standard Library binding. Title on lower edge: Muhakamat al-Qutb `ala al-Imam al-Tusi.
¶ It should be noted that ff. 221-223 are on paper of more recent date. However, the entire MS is evidently (paper, script) of much more recent date dan the year mentioned in the colophon on f. 223b.
The second volume only of al-Muhakamat bayn Sharhay al-Isharat, a harmonization compiled in 755/1355 by Qutb al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209 of two commentaries on al-Isharat wal-Tanbihat fil-Mantiq wal-Hikma by Abu `Ali al-Husayn b. `Abdallah Ibn Sina (d. 428/1037), GAL G I, 454. Anawati No. 3. cf. G. Vajda, 'Deux manuscrits des Muhakamat de Qutb ad-Din at-Tahtani', in Mémorial Avicenne IV (1954), pp. 31-32. CCO 1454 (III, p. 322). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 139. These two commentaries are by Fakhr al-Din Muhammad b. `Umar al-Razi (d. 606/1209), GAL G I, 506, and Hall Mushkilat al-Isharat by Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1273). Vajda's article concerns two manuscripts in Paris.
- The unnumbered leaf before f. 1 contains medical recipes in Persian, which are continued on f. 1a, and apparently also on the very last (unnumbered) page of the book. They are dated Qustantiniyya 7 Dhu al-Higga 947.
- On f. 1a a buyer's note, dated Qustantiniyya 947.
The text is followed by 3½ blank leaves Earlier provenance: 'No. 55'.

Or. 940

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 245 ff., several hands, all old, one dated 678 AH (f. 23r), another 3 Safar 684 (f. 244v).
(1) ff. 1v-21v. Tables, mainly from al-Fara'id al-Siragiyya by Sirag al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Sagawandi (last part of 6th cent. AH), GAL G I, 378. CCO 1811 (IV, pp. 124-125). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 77. Also explanatory notes, on f. 21r and following.
(1a) ff. 22r-23r. Kitab al-Hisab. Short anonymous treatise on elementary arithmetical operations. Dated 678 AH, copied Muhammad b. Musa b. Sha`ban al-Masuni (?) (colophon on f. 23r). Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(1b) f. 23v. Three lines of a litanic poem, ending in tagidni. And a note in prose. F. 24r blank. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(1c) f. 24v. Notes on matters of the Islamic law of succession. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(1d) f. 25r. Du`a' of Muqatil b. Sulayman (d. 150/767), GAS I, pp. 36-37. This text not separately mentioned by Sezgin. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(2) ff. 25v-134r. al-Fara'id al-Siragiyya by Sirag al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Sagawandi (last part of 6th cent. AH), GAL G I, 378. CCO 1809 (IV, pp. 123-124). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 77.
¶ This is at best a commentary on the Siragiyya, as it is much too long to be just the matn of that popular text. (JJW, 9.11.2000).
(2a) ff. 134v-135r. Notes, hadith, etc. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

- f. 1v. Persian, part of a Tafsir.
- f. 2r. Notes in Turkish, on matters related to Qur'an and Hadith.
- f. 2r. Notes in Arabic, on the six exceptions of the saying that haste is from the devil.
- f. 2r. Persian. A note from Sadr al-Din Ibrahim al-Hamawi on how to divide the Qur'anic text when one reads the entire text in seven days.
- ff. 2v-3r. Arabic. A note on Salat al-Tatawwu`, taken from Fatawi al-Sufiyya.
- f. 3v. Arabic. Sayings of the imam `Ali b. Abi Talib (d. 40/660), GAL G I, 44. And some shorter notes.
- ff. 3v-4r, 6r, 6v, 7r. Arabic. Sayings, also on `Ilm. Also some ascribed to the imam `Ali b. Abi Talib (d. 40/660), GAL G I, 44.
- f. 4r. Arabic. On measures: farsakh and others.
- ff. 4v-5v. Arabic. Several Hadith.
- ff. 5v, 6r. Persian. Hadith.
- f. 6v. Persian. Anecdote on the imam `Ali b. Abi Talib (d. 40/660).
- f. 6v. Arabic. A saying of `Umar b. al-Khattab.
- f. 7r. Arabic. Quotations from a work entitled al-Mabsut.
- f. 7r. Arabic. A note on the difference between Nabi and Nabi'.
- f. 7r. Short note in Persian.
- f. 7v. Persian. Several Hadith and anecdotes.
- f. 8r. Persian. Quotations, from Tuhfat al-Muluk and other sources.
(1) ff. 8v-21r. Arabic. al-Risala al-Tanzihiyya fi Sha'n al-Mawlawiyya by Isma`il b. Ahmad al-Anqirawi (d. 1042/1632), GAL G II, 445 (title on f. 8v). Dated middle of Muharram 1038 (colophon on f. 21r). The text is divided into an introduction, three essays (Maqalat) and five objections (I`tiradat). CCO 1892 (IV, p. 169). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 312.
¶ See also Amnon Shiloah, The theory of music in Arabic writings (c. 900-1900). München 1979, No. 9, p. 57, where music in connection with its use by the Mawlawiyya is discussed.
(1b) ff. 21v-28r. Quotations and notes of varied nature, all in the handwriting in which also the main texts in this volume are written.
- f. 21v. Arabic. Hadith, notes on ritual purity, a quotation from Rabi` al-Abrar by al-Zamakhshari on man, angels, Ginn and Shaytan, and a quotation from Akkam al-Margan fi Ahkam al-Gann.
- f. 22r. Arabic. Lexicographical notes, on methods of Ta`widh, words from the mouth of the Prophet Ibrahim, and some sayings and proverbs.
- ff. 22v-23v. Turkish. Fada'il Shahr Ramadan.
- f. 23v. Turkish. Continuation of the preceding, lines of Turkish poetry.
- ff. 24r-v. Persian. General ethical remarks, on munificence (Minnat), on the outward signs of the believer (`Alamat-i Mu'min) in connection with Sadaqa, on the poverty of the Prophet Musa in respect to worldy goods, all apparently quoted after the work entitled Tuhfat al-Muluk.

- f. 24v. Persian. Hadith on Birr al-Walidayn, also quoted after the work entitled Tuhfat al-Muluk.
- f. 25r. Persian. Hadith on several subjects, Mugalasat al-Mawta. A note on microcosmos and makrocosmos, and several other short notes on a variety of subjects.
- ff. 25v-26r. Persian. Hadith on several subjects, also quotation from the work entitled Tuhfat al-Muluk.
- f. 26v. Arabic. Hadith on several subjects. On martyrs, on gifts, and other subjects.
- f. 26v. Persian. Anecdote on the engraving of the ring of Luqman.
- f. 27r. Persian. On the Minbar in the `Idgah in early Islam.
- f. 27r. Persian. An anecdote about Abu al-Hasan Nuri on a ship.
- f. 27v. Persian. On worldly and spiritual power. Anecdote about Harun al-Rashid.
- f. 27v. Arabic. Several Hadith.
- f. 28r. Persian. A Wasiyya issued to the Prophet Dawud.
- f. 28r. Turkish. Short note on a Risala of Imam Ghazzali.
- f. 28r. Arabic. Several Hadith.

(2) ff. 28v-34v. Arabic. Abridgment of the Risala by Ahmad b. Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Tusi. In Voorhoeve's Handlist and CCO the text is described as Takmila by Isma`il b. Ahmad al-Mawlawi al-Anqirawi (d. 1042/1632), GAL G II, 445 to Huggat al-Sama`. The authors are mentioned on ff. 28v, 29r. The latter author relates an incident concerning Mawlawi Sama` which took place in 1027 AH (f. 28v). Dated 5 Ramadan 1027 (f. 34v). CCO 1891 (IV, pp. 168-169). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 118. Matn distinguished by red overlining.

¶ See also Amnon Shiloah, The theory of music in Arabic writings (c. 900-1900). München 1979, No. 8, p. 56, where music in connection with its use by the Mawlawiyya is discussed and where Shiloah proposes that the present work is an abridgment of the Risala by al-Tusi. It is, according to Shiloah, not just an abridgment to the Hugga (No. 3, below).

(3) ff. 35r-45v. Arabic. Huggat al- Sama` by Isma`il b. Ahmad al-Mawlawi al-Anqirawi (d. 1042/1632), GAL G II, 445. CCO 1890 (IV, p. 168). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 118. The text is divided into three chapters (Bab). Extensive marginal notes in Turkish on ff. 39v-45r, containing a Turkish translation of the Arabic text.

On f. 45v a copyist's note by Darwish Muhammad Shayda from Aghribuz (Ağriboz, modern Chalkis), who may have written the marginal Turkish translation.

- On ff. 45v-46r short notes in Arabic, Hadith, Tafsir, etc. Ff. 46v-48r blank.

(4) ff. 48v-111v. Turkish. Futuhat-i `Ayniyya (title on f. 49v) or al-Fatiha al-`Ayniyya, a commentary in Turkish by Isma`il al-Anqirawi al-Mawlawi (d. 1042/1635), GAL G II, 445, on an Arabic text on surat al-Fatiha, the first sura of the Qur'an. Matn distinguished by overlining. CCO 1703 (IV, pp. 42-43) gives a survey of the contents. Ff. 112r-113r blank.

(4a) f. 113v. The outlines only for the composition of a work of the genre Arba`un Hadithan. Forty headings, with indication of the subject matter of each of the forty Hadith. The list refers in fact to the contents of No. 5, below. F. 114r blank.

(5) ff. 114v-146v. Turkish, Arabic. Sharh al-Ahadith al-Arba`in (title on f. 146v) commentary in Turkish by Isma`il b. Ahmad al-Anqirawi al-Mawlawi (d. 1042/1635), GAL G II, 445, on an Arabic (and occasionally Persian) Arba`un Hadithan. The Matn distinguished by red overlining. Dated Friday morning in Dhu al-Higga 1037 (colophon on f. 146v). CCO 1762 (IV, p. 98).
(5a) f. 147r. Persian. Several Hadith.
(5b) ff. 147v-150v. Persian. Extensive quotations, from Tuhfat al-Muluk, and possibly other works as well. All sort of legendary material. Ff. 151r-153r blank.
(5c) ff. 153v-154r. Persian. Notes and quotations on a number of subjects. F. 154v blank.
(6) ff. 155r-158v. Arabic. al-Kashf `an Mugawazat Hadith al-Umma al-Alf, by Galal al-Din al-Suyuti (d. 911/1505), GAL G II, 151. Title on ff. 155r, 158v, author on f. 158v. Dated Ragab 1036, copied by Darwish Muhammad al-Mawlawi, in Aleppo, from a copy in the possession of Shaykh `Umar al-`Adawi (colophon on f. 158v). CCO 2054 (IV, p. 275). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 153.
(6a) f. 159r-161r. Several shorter notes:
- f. 159r. Arabic. A note on prayer formulas.
- f. 159v. Arabic. A note on ritual prayer, quoted from Muqaddimat al-Ghaznawi.
- f. 160r. Arabic. Explanation of prayer formulas, quoted from Sharh Shaykh Ibrahim.
- ff. 160v-161r. Turkish. Instructions for Istighfara and other prayers. Referred to as al-Du`a (f. 161r).
- f. 161r. Arabic. Poetry: 7 distichs by al-Faqir Mahmud.
- f. 161r. Arabic. Provrbs and other notes. Some with source indicated al-Haqa'iq, Munyat al-Mufti, al-Multaqat. Ff. 161v-162r blank.

(7) ff. 162v-179v. Turkish. Partly on coloured paper. Risala-yi Mabda' wa-Ma`ad by Isma`il b. Ahmad al-Anqirawi al-Mawlawi (d. 1042/1635), GAL G II, 445. Poem of Sufi contents. CCO 2338 (V, p. 61) gives the opening lines. The author is referred to as Marhum, deceased (f. 162v). Ff. 180r-181r blank. On f. 181v short notes in Turkish.

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 150 ff., many different copyists, traces of wax seal on f. 1b (now absent), full-leather standard Library binding.
A collection of various abstracts, of various origin, mostly on fiqh, especially Kitab al-Ashriba, Kitab al-Nikah and Kitab al-Buyu`. Several texts related to the Miftah al-`Ulum of al-Sakkaki. Of many texts only a few pages are available, and the volume makes the impression of a collection of samples, which may have served its purpose in an educational situation. CCO 1913 (IV, p. 177). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 445.
The volume contains:

(1) ff. 1b-3b. Du`a'. A prayer (ff. 3a-b), transmitted on the authority of the Prophet Muhammad, preceded (ff. 1b-3a) by an introduction on the value of this prayer. On f. 3b two more short prayers, in a different hand. Ff. 4a-5a blank.
(2) f. 5b. Quotation of al-Gahiz (`Amr b. Bahr al-Gahiz (d. 255/868), GAL G I, 146), on truth and lie, apparently taken from al-Mutawwal, the long commentary by Mas`ud b. `Umar al-Taftazani (d. 792/1390) on Talkhis al-Miftah, an abridgment by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Qazwini Khatib Dimashq (d. 739/1338) of Book 3 of Miftah al-`Ulum, by Yusuf b. Arabic, with some Turkish, European laid paper (watermark: crown), 142 ff., nasta`liq script, title on lower edge: al-Fawa'ih al-Miskiyya fil-Fawatih al-Makkiyya, owner's note by Mustafa b. al-Hagg Yusuf (?) al-Fasili, with seal print with date 1034 AH (f. 1a), full-leather Islamic binding with flap, blind tooled ornamentation (borders, medallion). On several pages space has been left open for illustrations, but these were never added (ff. 67a, 67b, 84a, 84b).
al-Fawa'ih al-Miskiyya fil-Fawatih al-Makkiyya by `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad al-Bistami (d. 858/1454), GAL G II, 231. CCO 10 (I, pp. 9-10); CCA 10 (I, p. 19). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 82. The version in this MS consists of a prologue, and introduction, twenty-nine numbered chapters (bab) and an epilogue. The text makes the impression to be complete, but the figures, squares and more such graphics have been unmade, and the spaces left open for them remain empty.
- Copyist verse in Arabic on f. 141b.
- On f. 1a are two distichs (Qit`a) in Turkish on the present book, followed by a note in Turkish. Not in Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000).

Content:
f. 2b. (Prologue).
ff. 7a-8a. Table of contents, with the names of the thirty chapters. The information on these pages is rather different from the actual content of the volume. Chapter titles are differently worded, and the list on ff. 7a-8a in fact contains thirty chapters whereas the volume only contains twenty-nine chapters.

[* Ar. 957]

Or. 958
Collective volume containing a great number of, mostly philosophical, texts in Arabic, with some Turkish, 2 + 334 ff., several copyists: 1. dated 925 (colophons on ff. 21v, 35v, 55v), and 926 (colophon on f. 74v); 3. dated 950 (colophon on f. 302v); 2. dated 953 (colophon on f. 139r) and 954 (colophons on ff. 153v, 163r, 169v, 176v, 186v, 196v, 243v, 250r).
On f. 1r an owner's note by Muhammad b. Ibrahim al-Tabib. Also on f. 1r a quotation from Aflatun, and two distichs on `Ilm.
Full-leather standard Library binding, red wax seal on f. 11a.
Before the beginning are two unnumbered leaves, some notes in Arabic on the first page.
ff. 1r-2r. Table of contents. Ff. 3r, 4r, 10v are some notes, prayers, etc. The remaining pages are blank.
(1-3) ff. 3r-10v. According to the table of contents there should have been texts (1-3), but these were never added and the paper reserved for these has remained blank, albeit that the white space on these leaves has later been used for notes of varied nature.
Text No. 1 should have been: Tafsir Surat wal-`Asr, the exegesis of Surat al-`Asr (Qur'an 103) by Munla Galal al-Dawwani, with whom is meant Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 217.
Text No. 2 should have been: Risalat al-Hawra, with which is meant al-Hawra' fi Sharh al-Zawra', the commentary by Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 218, on his own al-Zawra', or Risalat al-Zawra'.
Text No. 3 should have been Risalat al-Zawra', by Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 218.
(4) ff. 11r-17r. Incomplete copy (abrupt beginning) of Risala fi Tad`if al-Madhbah by Molla Lutfi (d. 900/1494), GAL G II, 236, S N II, 330. A treatise on how to avert the plague, with reference to measures taken by Plato. CCO 1229 (III, p. 179) gives the chapter titles, and indicates several Hellenistic sources. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 302. Title according to the table of contents on f. 1r.

(5) ff. 17r-19v. Risala Wugudiyya by Molla Lutfi (d. 900/1494), GAL G II, 235. CCO 1563 (III, p. 379). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 314. Title on f. 17r, in the margin. On f. 17v: Risala Awradtu fiha Tahqiq Wugud al-Mabda' al-Awwal.
(6) ff. 19v-21v. Risala fi Zarf al-Mutawwal, by Molla Lutfi (d. 900/1494), GAL G II, 235. Dated 925 AH. CCO 83 (I, pp. 48-49); CCA 235 (I, p. 126). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 306. On f. 19v: Risala fima yata`allaqu bi-Huruf al-Tahaggi. Dated Ramadan 925, copied by Hamid b. `Abdallah b. Shaykh Duruz, in Madina-yi Edirne, in Madrasa-yi Beglerbegi (colophon on f. 21v).
(7) ff. 22r-25r. The first part only of `Uyun al-Hikma by al-Husayn b. `Abdallah Ibn Sina (d. 428/1037), GAL G I, 455. Anawati No. 15. CCO 1446 (III, p. 320). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 394.
(8) ff. 25r-27v. Risala fi Maratib al-Mawgudat, by Bahmanyar Ibn al-Marzuban (c. 430/1038), GAL G I, 458. CCO 1483 (III, p. 340). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 299. On f. 25r is the title: Risala fi Ithbat al-Mufaraqat wa-Ahwaliha. [Note: possibly a confusion with No. 14, below?)
(9) ff. 27v-35v. Risala fil-Tasawwur wal-Tasdiq by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209. Dated 925 AH. CCO 1554 (III, p. 377). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 305. On f. 27v the title is: Risala Mushtamila `ala Tahqiq Ma`na al-Tasawwur wal-Tasdiq. Dated 13 Ramadan 925, copied by Shaykh Hamid b. `Abdallah, known as Shaykh Duruz (colophon on f. 35v).
(10) ff. 35v-39r. Risala fil-Sab` al-Shidad by Molla Lutfi (d. 900/1494), GAL G II, 235. CCO 1564 (III, p. 379). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 301.
(11) ff. 39r-45v. As'ila min al-Tibb, medical questions by Muhammad b. Zakariyya' al-Razi (d. 311/923 or 320/932), GAL G I, 234. CCO 1314 (III, p. 236). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 25. Beginning: lima sara.
(12) ff. 45v-46r. fi Hisab al-Ghalib wal-Maghlub, here ascribed to Aristotle (Aristatalis), who allegedly wrote it (istakhrafahu) for Iskandar. CCO 1226 (III, pp. 177-178). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 116, with a reference to MS Berlin, Ahlwardt No. 4248.
(13) ff. 46r-46v. Risala fi Mahiyyat al-Tabi`a, by Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 218. CCO 1569 (III, p. 380). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 299.
(14) ff. 46v-47v. Maratib al-Mawgudat by Molla Lutfi (d. 900/1494), GAL G II, 235. CCO 1565 (III, p. 379). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 193.
(14a) f. 47v. Quotation from Sharh al-Misbah Isbah (unidentified) (14b) f. 48r. Fihrist Rasa'il Mawlana Galal, with whom is meant Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501). It is a bibliography of his work, rather than a table of contents. Bibliographical items are numbered 1-36, plus a few unnumbered ones.
(15) ff. 48v-55v. Risala fil-Hudud, by Ibn Sina (d. 428/1037), GAL G I, 456. Anawati No. 9. Dated 1 Shawwal (Yawm al-`Id) 925 (colophon on f. 55v). CCO 1462 (III, p. 324). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 296.

(16) ff. 55v-59r. Gloss by Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 218, on his own al-Zawra', or Risalat al-Zawra'. CCO 1586 (III, p. 384). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 404. See also the remarks unders Nos. 2-3, above.
(16a) f. 59r. Notes and quotations from several sources.
(17) ff. 59v-61v. Risalat al-Yara`a by Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL S II, 308. CCO 452 (I, p. 346); CCA 434 (I, p. 237). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 319. Title on f. 61v: al-Risala al-Qalamiyya with reference to the author: al-`Allama al-Fahhama al-A`zamiyya al-A`lamiyya al-Galaliyya al-Muhammadiyya al-Siddiqiyya al-Dawwaniyya.
(17a) f. 61v. Several prayers, Istikhara, for after the Salat, etc. Also notes in Turkish. Not in Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000).
(18) ff. 62r-v. Risala fil-Farq bayn al-Hamd wal-Shukr, by Molla Lutfi (d. 900/1494), GAL G II, 235. CCO 177 (I, p. 96); CCA 94 (I, p. 60). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 295.
(18a) f. 63r. A quotation of eschatological content, taken from a work entitled al-Fawa'ih al-Miskiyya (al-Fawa'ih al-Miskiyya fil-Fawatih al-Makkiyya by `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad al-Bistami (d. 858/1454), GAL G II, 231).
(19) ff. 63v-64r. al-Risala al-Wad`iyya by `Adud al-Din `Abd al-Rahman b. Ahmad al-Igi (d. 756/1355), GAL G II, 208. Copy with extensive marginal glosses taken from the commentary by al-Gurgani. CCO 1552 (III, p. 376). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 313. Followed, on ff. 64r-v, by notes and quotations, some of which are apparently unrelated. Two quotations are from Tafsir al-Fatiha by Ibn al-Fanari (=Tafsir al-Fatiha by Muhammad b. Hamza al-Fanari (d. 834/1431), GAL G II, 233).
(19a) f. 65r. The beginning only of a Risala fi Adab al-Bahth. The same text as MS Berlin Mo. 35 (26) = Ahlwardt 5337, where the text is attributed to Ibn Kamal Pasha = Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 449, but the text is not identical with Or. 981 (18), below. F. 65v blank.
(20) ff. 66r-v. A fragment only (fi Mahiyyat al-Shayatin wal-Ginn) taken from Tafsir al-Fatiha by Muhammad b. Hamza al-Fanari (d. 834/1431), GAL G II, 233. CCO 1690 (IV, p. 38). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 353.
(20a) f. 67r. Prayer ascribed to Ibn Sina (d. 428/1037), GAL G I, 455. Munagat Murshid al-Salikin Qutb al-Muhaqqiqin al-Shaykh al-Ra'is Abi `Ali b. Sina.
(21) ff. 67v-71v. Risala fil-Kulliyyat wa-Tahqiqiha by Qutb al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209. CCO 1555 (III, p. 377). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 298. (46a) ff. 267r-268r. Notes, on illnesses mentioned by al-Zahrawi which are not mentioned by his predecessors (f. 267r). Apparently a reference to al-Tasrif liman `agiza `an al-Ta'lif by Abu al-Qasim Khalaf b. `Abbas al-Zahrawi al-Andalusi (d. 404/1013), GAL G I, 239. On two legendary persons with the name Luqman (f. 267v). A quotation on the difference between reality and dream, taken from al-Fawa'ih al-Miskiyya fil-Fawatih al-Makkiyya by `Abd al-Rahman b. Muhammad al-Bistami (d. 858/1454), GAL G II, 231 (f. 268r). A note on the subject of Ta'wil Waqa'i` al-Sa'irin (f. 268r). Ff. 268v-271r blank.
(47) ff. 271v-302v. Risala fil-Mahabba by Khalil b. al-Yazdi. Autograph?. Dated 25 Sha`ban 950 (colophon on f. 302v). CCO 1598 (III, p. 388), where the arguments are given for this text being an autograph, but these are not entirely convincing. It is evident that the copy is a contemporary copy, but the year 950 AH being mentioned both in the text (f. 287v, line 2) and in the colophon does not automatically imply that this is an autograph copy of the text. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 299.
(49) ff. 331v-332r. Notes in Turkish, on a variety of (legal) subjects, copied by Sa`d al-Din. Not in Schmidt, Catalogue, vol. 1 (2000). Ff. 332v-334v blank, except for a small note on f. 333v.

ff. 44b-56a: Sad kalima-yi Amir al-Mu'minin Asad Allah al-Ghalib `Ali b. Abi Talib. Each Arabic sentence is followed by a Persian dubayt, which in turn is followed by commentary. As original compiler of the Arabic text `Amr b. Bahr al-Gahiz (d. 255/868), GAL G I, 146, is mentioned, and as author of the selection of the sayings and of the Persian translation and commentary Muhammad b. Muhammad b. `Abd al-Galil al-Watwat (f. 44b). This part with sayings of `Ali b. Abi Talib is the same text which also exists independently under the title Mi'at Kalima, the hundred apophthegms of the imam `Ali b. Abi Talib (d. 40/660), GAL G I, 44 (Arabic text and Persian dubayt's compared with those in Or. 25.668, below).
Each section is executed as a separate text.
(2) ff. 56b-69a. Nathr al-La'ali min Kalimat Amir al-Mu'minin `Ali, a collection of proverbs ascribed to `Ali b. Abi Talib, GAL S I, 75. Arabic text (distinguished by overlining) with Persian explanation. Dated Friday night 1 Muharram 972 (colophon on f. 69a, August 9, 1564). On f. 56b title: Kitab Nathr al-La'ali min Kalam Amir al-Mu'minin wa-Imam al-Muttaqin Asad Allah al-Ghalib wa-Matlub Kull Talib `Ali b. Abi Talib. CCO 234 (I, p. 192); CCA 377 (I, p. 212). Or. 970
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 192 ff., naskh script with nasta`liq features, dated Wednesday 25 Shawwal 970 copied by Ishaq b. Muhammad b. `Abd al-Karim al-Mahuti (?) al-Shafi`i al-Qadiri in Mekka (colophon on f. 193a), red wax seal on f. 1a, full-leather standard Library binding, whereas it can be seen that the former binding had a flap.
(1) ff. 1a-193a. Bughyat al-`Ulama' wal-Ruwat, an appendix (Dhayl) by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Sakhawi (d. 902/1497), to Raf` al-Isr `an Qudat Misr by the former's Shaykh Ahmad b. `Ali Ibn Hagar al-`Asqalani (d. 852/1449), GAL G II, 70. CCO 905 (II, pp. 317-321) gives the list of biographees. CCA 1118 (II, pp. 190-192). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 281. On f. 1a the title is given as Hadha Kitab Dhayl al-Sakhawi `ala Raf` al-Isr `an Qudat Misr li-Shaykhihi Shaykh al-Islam Ibn Hagar [...]. Also on f. 1a is a list of biographees.
(2) ff. 193b-194a. Qasida of 27 distichs by al-Qadi Abu Ya`la Hamza b. `Abd al-Razzaq b. Abi Hasin (not in GAL), in which he bewails Mukhlis al-Dawla Abu al-Futuh Muqallad b. Nasr b. [* Ar. 970]

Or. 971
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 190 + 1 ff., naskh (ff. 1-63b) and a much smaller nasta`liq-like scripts (from f. 63b onwards), dated 866 AH (f. 38b) and 879 AH (f. 190b), the second part copied by Nur al-Din al-Mahalli (ff. 64b, 190b), full-leather standard Library binding, black wax seal on f. 1a.
The common subject of the two texts in this volume is the opposition against Sufism.
(1) ff. 1a-38b. Tanbih al-Ghabi `ala Takfir Ibn al-`Arabi, or al-Nusus min Kufr al-Fusus, by Burhan al-Din Abu al-Hasan Ibrahim b. `Umar b. Hasan b. `Ali b. Abi Bakr al-Biqa`i al-Shafi`i, who had settled in Cairo, Nazil al-Qahira al-Mu`izziyya (d. 885/1480), GAL G II, 142. The draft (Miswadda) was completed in Shawwal 864, this copy was copied at the end of 866 AH (colophon on f. 38b). CCO 2039 (IV, pp. 265-266). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 364. The formula in the colophon (Qala Musannifuhu ... farightu min Miswaddat hadha al-Kitab ...) would at first sight point at the possibility that this is an autograph copy. It is more probable, however, that the copyist directly heard this from the author. That latter possibility is corroborated by the reader's note on the title-page (f. 1a), dated Cairo 866, written by the reader/copyist, in which he also mentions the author of the work.
(2) ff. 39a-190b. Sawab al-Gawab, by Burhan al-Din Abu al-Hasan Ibrahim b. `Umar b. Hasan b. `Ali b. Abi Bakr al-Biqa`i al-Shafi`i (d. 885/1480), GAL G II, 142. In the copy of the Bodleian Library the title is: al-Natiq bil-Sawab al-Farid li-Takfir Ibn al-Farid. The text is followed, from f. 63b onwards, by further notes entitled al-Radd al-Kashif li-Murad Ahl al-Ittihad. After the author had incorporated in his text the notes of the copyist Nur al-Din `Ali b. Muhammad al-Mahalli, he called the entire work al-Gawab al-Hadd ila Tahqiq al-Murad min Talbis Ahl al-Ittihad. CCO 2040 (IV, pp. 266-268). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p.

334. On f. 190b the copyist, `Ali b. Muhammad b. Muhammad b. Muhammad b. `Ali al-Mahalli al-Shafi`i, is said to have finished copying and reading (Kitabatan wa-Mutala`atan) the text during a period which ended on 16 Ramadan 879 (f. 190b). Information from CCO: The preface, mentioned by Haggi Khalifa (II, pp. 88 ff.), is not available in the present copy. Here, first thirty lines from al-Qasida al-Ta'iyya or al-Ta'iyya al-Kubra by Ibn al-Farid (d. 632/1235), GAL G I, 262, are given, which are the commented upon, although in an order different from the order in the Diwan of Ibn al-Farid. This treatment of the lines by Ibn al-Farid is followed, from f. 48a onwards, by matters raised by other theologians.
On f. 64a begins in fact a new, though related text, here refered to as gloss, Hashiya, which al-Biqa`i gave the title al-Radd al-Kashif li-Murad Ahl al-Ittihad (f. 64b). That text was further complemented by Nur al-Din al-Mahalli, and the whole text, Hashiya and additions, then received the title al-Gawab al-Hadd ila Tahqiq al-Murad min Talbis Ahl al-Ittihad (f. 64b).
About the marginal notes the following can be observed:
Notes, mostly of textual nature, possibly in the hand of al-Biqa`i himself could be in the margins of ff. 64b, 69a, 93a, 104a, 170a.
Some marginal notes (ff. 108a, 108b) are provided with Shaykhuna, meaning that the information comes from al Biqa`i, but at the same time that he cannot be the person who wrote these notes.
Other marginal notes are written by the copyist under his own responsibility and signed with Katibuhu (ff. 133a).
In addition to the above there are numerous smaller notes, the origin of which cannot precisely be determined.
On f. 39a is a Fa'ida, telling that an earlier work on the same subject is al-Ghayth al-`Arid fi Mu`aradat Diwan Ibn al-Farid by Shihab al-Din Ibn Abi Hagala al-Tilimsani (d. 776/1375), GAL G II, 13.

On f. 1a. Quotations from al-Gami` al-Saghir by al-Suyuti, and other notes.
[* Ar. 980]

Or. 981
Collective volume with a great number of mostly Arabic, but also Persian and Turkish texts, paper, 296 ff., several different hands, red wax seal on f. 1r. full-leather standard Library binding.
On f. 1r are some notes on the contents of the volume. Collective title on lower edge: Magnu`a Mushtamila `ala [...] min al-Rasa'il wa-Ghayrihi.
(1) ff. 2r-13r. Tafsir Surat al-Mulk (67), from Tafsir al-Qur'an by Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 449. CCO 1698 (IV, p. 41). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 353. Qur'anic text indicated by overlining.
(1a) f. 14r. Notes on a variety of subjects: the spelling of fa-Hasb; the question why does a newly born cry?, with the answer.
(1b) f. 14v. Question whether the Salat al-Ginaza is sunna.
(2) ff. 15r-18r. Glosses by Ahmad b. Mustafa Tashköprüzada (d. 968/1560), GAL G II, 426, on a commentary on Qur'an 15:4. CCO 1701 (IV, pp. 41-42). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 440. Qur'anic text indicated by overlining.
(3) ff. 19v-24v. Sharh Surat al-Rahman (Qur'an 55). Anonymous. CCO 1716 (IV, p. 46). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 333. Qur'anic text indicated by overlining.
(4) f. 25r. I`rab al-Isti`adha wa-I`rab al-Fatiha (Qur'an 1 with the introductory prayer). Anonymous. CCO 1717 (IV, p. 46). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 134. Qur'anic text written in red ink. Ff. 25v-31r blank.
(5) ff. 31v-32r. Risala fi anna Ithbat al-Sani` bi-Huduth al-`Alam bi-Imkanihi, by Galal al-Din Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 218. CCO 1573 (III, p. 381). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 292.
(6) ff. 32r-32v. Risalat <al>-Lata'if al-Khams by `Ali Chelebi Qinalizada (d. 979/1572), GAL G II, 433. CCO 1603 (III, p. 390). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 316.
(7) ff. 32v-33v. Risalat fi Tawgih al-Tashbih alladhi tadammanahu Lafz kama tasallaytu `ala Ibrahim by Galal al-Din Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501; the MS has li-Wahid min al-Fudala'), GAL G II, 217. CCO 2048 (IV, p. 273). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 318. The question is whether or not the Tasliya over the Prophet Ibrahim may be made in the same way as the Tasliya over the Prophet Muhammad. The question was raised by a certain `Abd al-Rahman al-Husayni.
(8) ff. 33v-37r. Risala fi Iman Fir`awn by Galal al-Din Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 217, No. 7, with reference to Qur'an, sura 10:90. CCO 2049 (IV, p. 273; V, p. 144). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 298. Another copy is Or. 11.919 (23), below.
(9) ff. 37r-39r. Risala Muta`allaqa bi-Idafat Lafz al-Kitab, Explanation of the words Kitab al-Tahara. Anonymous (MS: li-Wahid min Uli al-Albab). CCO 2520 (V, p. 145); CCA 257 (I, pp. 132-133). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 415.
(10) ff. 39r-40r. Risala fil-Farq bayn Madhhab al-Asha`ira wal-Maturidiyya, by Yahya b. `Ali b.

Nasuh Naw`i Efendi (d. 1007/1598), GAL G II, 443. CCO 1882 (IV, pp. 165-166). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 295.
(11) ff. 41v-42r. Risala Muta`allaqa bil-Fiqh. A short anonymous (MS: li-Wahid min al-Adhkiya' al-Muta'akhkhirin) treatise on fiqh. CCO 1883 (IV, p. 166). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 444. The work reads as a gloss (Qala – Aqulu) on a work by Sadr al-Shari`a, apparently al-Wiqaya. The probable identification is that we have here a text derived from the work entitled Wiqayat al-Riwaya fi Masa'il al-Hidaya by Mahmud b. Sadr al-Shari`a al-Awwal al-Mahbubi (7/13th cent.), which is a commentary on al-Hidaya, by `Ali b. Abi Bakr al-Marghinani (d. 593/1197), GAL S I, 645) on his own work entitled Bidayat al-Mubtadi'.
(12) ff. 42v-45v. Risala fi Tahqiq al-Hal, by Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 451, No. 68. CCO 1592 (III, p. 386). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 303.
(13) ff. 46r-48r. Risala fi Tahqiq al-Ruh by Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 451, No. 67 = 80. Dated 1005 AH. CCO 2058 (IV, p. 277). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 317.
(14) ff. 48v-49r. Risala fi Tafsir Aya min Ayat surat al-Fagr. Anonymous (MS: li-Ba`d min al-Fudala') commentary on Qur'an 89:24 ff. CCO 1718 (IV, p. 46). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 440.
(14a) f. 49v. Maqala fil-Mughibat al-Khams. Anonymous (MS: lil-Mawla Mufti al-Thaqalayn), by whom is meant Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 451, who is mentioned in the last line. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 222.
(15) ff. 49v-51. fil-Zakat, by Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1553), GAL G II, 451. CCO 1866 (IV, p. 159). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 404. The identification of the author is based on a note over the basmala. It is improbable that that note would indicate the authorship of the following text, rather than that of the previous text. Rubrics are missing.
(16) ff. 51r-54r. Risala Ma`mula fi `Ilm al-Kalam by Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 453. CCO 1593 (III, p. 386). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 297.
(17) ff. 54r-56r. Risala fi Bayan Hayat al-Shuhada' by Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 450, No. 36. Dated 1005 AH. CCO 2060 (IV, p. 278). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 293.
(18) ff. 56v-57v. Risala Ma`mula fi Adab al-Bahth, by Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL S II, 670. CCO 2651 (V, p. 251). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 291.
(20) ff. 58v-59r. Du`a' al-Fatiha al-Kabira, with commentary. CCO 2211 (IV, p. 346). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 67.
(21) ff. 60r-89r. Turkish. Kitab-i Gulzar dar Nazira-yi Gulistan-i Shugufa-zar, by `Abd al-Magid b. Shaykh Nasuh of Tosya (probably died 973/1565-1566), using the takhallus Magidi, Mecidi, who completed the work in 969/1561-1562. On the title-page (f. 60r) it is said that the work was written in imitation of the Gulistan by Sa`di Shirazi. Divided into 8 chapters (bab), which together contain 40 stories (hikayet). Dated end Rabi` II 1005

(December 1596, see the unconventional colophon on f. 89r), copied in one of the ‘Eight Colleges’ of Istanbul. CCO 2569 (V, p. 174). Copyist verses in Turkish on f. 89r. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. I. Leiden 2000, pp. 365-368, with a reproductions of f. 65v on p. 366 and of f. 89r on p. 368. No other manuscripts of this text seem to have survived.
(22) ff. 90v-109v. Turkish. Treatise by Mawla Ahmad b. Sulayman, known as Kamal Pasha Zada (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 451, on the suffix –i in the Persian language. The beginning is edited in CCO I, pp. 53-55 (No. 99). CCO 101 (I, p. 55). See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. I. Leiden 2000, pp. 367, 369.
(22a) f. 110r. Quotation from a work by Abu al-Su`ud on fa'in khiftum, and other places at the end of surat al-Baqara (Qur'an 2). Not in Voorhoeve’s Handlist.
(23) ff. 111v-112r. Fragment of a commentary or gloss (Qawluhu) on a work on the subject of Usul al-Fiqh. CCO 1911 (IV, p. 176). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 444.
(24) ff. 113v-122r. al-Rawda al-Aniqa fi Bayan al-Shari`a wal-Haqiqa, by `Abd al-`Aziz b. Ahmad al-Dirini (d. 697/1297), GAL S I, 811. Dated 15 Ragab 1024, copied in Madinat Abyar (colophon on f. 121v, where there is also a collation note by Muhammad b. Khalil al-Shafi`i al-Abyari, who seems to be the copyist of the present text as well). CCO 2176 (IV, p. 331). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 287.
(24a) f. 122r. Persian. Su'al and Gawab taken from a work by Galal al-Din Muhammad b. As`ad al-Dawwani (d. 907/1501), GAL G II, 218. The name of Muhammad b. Muhammad, known as Aqsara'i is mentioned as well. This may mean that it is a quotation from the Persian work al-As'ila wal-Agwiba al-Muta`alliqa bil-Qur'an wal-Hadith by Gamal al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Aqsara'i (d. before 800 AH).
(25) ff. 122v-123r. Anonymous commentary on Qur'an 48:1-2. CCO 1722 (IV, p. 47). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 440.
(25a) ff. 123v-124r. Several notes: Quotations from the Tafsir by al-Baydawi (f. 123v), quotations from the Kashshaf of al-Zamakhshari (f. 124r), and a quotation from the Mutawwal. With this reference is meant al-Sharh al-Mutawwal, the longer commentary by Mas`ud b. `Umar al-Taftazani (d. 792/1390) on Talkhis al-Miftah, an abridgment by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Qazwini Khatib Dimashq (d. 739/1338) of Book 3 of Miftah al-`Ulum, by Yusuf b. Abi Bakr al-Sakkaki (d. 626/1229), GAL G I, 294.
(26) ff. 124r-125v, 128v-129v. Some glosses by al-Gurgani (d. 816/1413) concerning the longer commentary (al-Sharh al-Mutawwal) by Mas`ud b. `Umar al-Taftazani (d. 792/1390) on Talkhis al-Miftah, an abridgment by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Qazwini Khatib Dimashq (d. 739/1338) of Book 3 of Miftah al-`Ulum, by Yusuf b. Abi Bakr al-Sakkaki (d. 626/1229), GAL G I, 294. CCO 2540 (V, pp. 154-155); CCA 311 (I, p. 161). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 210-211. Ff. 126a-127a blank. Ghanizada may be the copyist of these fragments.
(26a) ff. 127v-128r. Some fragments by Ghanizada (d. 1026/1617) concerning the longer commentary (al-Sharh al-Mutawwal) by Mas`ud b. `Umar al-Taftazani (d. 792/1390) on Talkhis al-Miftah, an abridgment by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Qazwini Khatib Dimashq (d. 739/1338) of Book 3 of Miftah al-`Ulum, by Yusuf b. Abi Bakr al-Sakkaki (d.

626/1229), GAL G I, 294. CCA 311 (I, p. 161). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 210-211. Ghanizada may be the copyist of these fragments. On f. 128r is also a quotation from a work by Sa`di Efendi.
(27) ff. 130r-136r. Risalat al-Ghayb by Ahmad b. Sulayman Ibn Kamal Pasha (d. 940/1533), GAL G II, 451, No. 74. CCO 2062 (IV, p. 278). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 314. F. 136v blank.
(28) ff. 137r-155r. Various abstracts from commentaries on the Qur'an, and other works. CCO 1723 (IV, pp. 47-48). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 440. These are:
(28a) f. 137r. A note by `Abdallah b. Tursun on a passage in a work by `Abd al-Rahman b. Ahmad al-Gami (d. 898 AH). Ff. 137v-144r blank.
(28b) f. 144v. One page only from a work or paragraph on Manasik al-Hagg, pilgrimage ritual, written with a wide linespace, meant and used for interlinear commentary. Ff. 145r-v blank.
(28c) ff. 146r-147r. Notes on Manasik al-Hagg, pilgrimage ritual, by Ghanizada (d. 1026/1617): Min Ba`d Ta`liqat al-Ustadh al-Shahir bi-Ghanizada (f. 146r, with a eulogy implying that he is still alive when the notes are written). Possibly autograph notes. Ff. 147v-148r blank.
(28d) ff. 148v-149r. Note on Qur'an 36:96.
(28e) ff. 149r-v. Note on Qur'an 2:91. And a sequel on the same subject.
(28f) f. 150r-151r. Nasta`liq script. Notes on the subject of Kafir and Muslim, possibly a sequel to the previously mentioned notes, taken from several sources which are indicated in the margin: Abu al-Su`ud, Kamal Pashazada, Mulla Khusraw, Shaykhzada, Kazaruni. Ff. 151v-154r blank.
(28g) ff. 154v-155r. Bab Radd al-Iman, a chapter quoted from Sharh Adab al-Qada, which is a commentary on Adab al-Qadi by Ahmad b. `Umar al-Shaybani al-Khassaf (d. 261/874), GAL G I, 173. F. 155v blank.
(29) ff. 156v-161r. Notes by Muhammad al-Bursawi (10/16th cent.), a mulazim (follower, student?) of Husam Efendi, known as Qara Chelebizada, on the Supergloss by Khatibzada al-Rumi (d. 901/1495), on al-Gurgani's gloss on the commentary by Mirak Shams al-Din Muhammad b. Mubarakshah al-Bukhari (d. c. 740/1340), on Hikmat al-`Ayn by `Ali b. `Umar al-Qazwini al-Katibi (d. 675/1276, or. 693/1294), GAL G I, 467. CCO 1528 (III, p. 369). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 114 (where the author of the notes is erroneously mentioned as al-Rasawi). Also on f. 161r: Muddat al-Mulazama 57 sana.
(29a) ff. 161v-162v. Quotations from a work entitled Ta`rifat, which is probably al-Ta`rifat, the 'Definitions' by `Ali b. Muhammad al-Gurgani al-Sayyid al-Sharif (d. 816/1413), GAL G II, 216. F. 163r blank.
(30) ff. 163v-166r. Commentary by (or just copied by?) Ibrahim al-Shami (working in al-Madrasa al-Sarrafiyya in Bursa) on a passage in Talkhis al-Miftah, which is an abridgment by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Qazwini Khatib Dimashq (d. 739/1338) of Book 3 of Miftah al-`Ulum, by Yusuf b. Abi Bakr al-Sakkaki (d. 626/1229), GAL G I, 294. CCO 2541 (V, p. 155); CCA 312 (I, p. 161). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 210-212. Ff. 166v-168r blank.
¶ Text 31 is in reverse order.
(31) ff. 171r-168v. Anonymous abstracts from a Hashiya of Book 3 of Miftah al-`Ulum by al-Sakkaki (d. 626/1229), GAL G I, 294. CCO 81 (I, p. 47); CCA 313 (I, p. 162). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 210. F. 171v blank.

(31a) f. 172r. Asami Shurrah al-Miftah, list of names of the commentators of the Miftah al-`Ulum, by Yusuf b. Abi Bakr al-Sakkaki (d. 626/1229), GAL G I, 294.
(31b) f. 172v. A note on the meaning of the word Fahm. F. 173r blank.
(31c) ff. 176v-173v. Notes on the same subject as No. 31b, above, and other subjects. F. 177r blank.
(32) ff. 177r-180v. Treatise by Muhammad al-Rasawi on the grammatical fugure of al-akhassiyya, on the authority of his teachers Khatib-zada (d. 940 AH), GAL G II, 429, and Husam Efendi Qara Chelebi (d. 965 AH). CCO 2518 (V, p. 144); CCA 242 (I, p. 129). Al-Akhassiyya is explained as Ziyadat al-Zuhur fil-Ikhtisas. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 414. The ascription to Muhammad al-Rasawi is given by CCO, followed by Voorhoeve, but does not seem to be borne out by the MS itself. If this Rasawi is the author, which remains to be seen, the name should at least be read as Bursawi (as on f. 161r, above). F. 181r blank.
(32a) f. 181v. An note by Mulla Khusraw, taken from a work entitled Sharh al-Zahidi. Ff. 182r-183r blank.

(1) ff. 2b-58b. Commentary and supplement by al-Mamluk Muhammad b. al-Zurayf (f. 58b) on the Urguza by Yahya b. `Abd al-`Azim al-Gazzar (d. 669/1270 or 679/1281), GAL G I, 335 entitled al-`Uqud al-Durriyya fil-Umara' al-Misriyya. CCO 835 (II, p. 184); CCA 969 (II, pp. 93-94). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 390. The author relates (f. 2b) that he read the Urguza by Abu al-Husayn al-Gazzar, entitled al-`Uqud al-Durriyya fil-Umara' al-Misriyya, in which the author arrived at treating the rule of al-Malik al-Sa`id, but then he died. A number of authors has written a sequel (Dhayl) on the said Urguza, among them al-Qadi Shihab al-Din Ibn Fadl Allah al-`Umari, al-Shaykh Salah al-Din al-Safadi, al-Shaykh Shams al-Din Muhammad b. Abi Bakr b. `Ali al-Hasani al-Suyuti, which went as far as the rule of al-Malik al-Ashraf Barsbay. Then the present author wrote a supplement (Tatimma), in which the rule of al-Malik al-`Aziz and al-Malik al-Zahir Abu Sa`id Chaqmaq was treated. And now he has set out to make a short commentary (Sharhan Mukhtasaran) on the Urguza. The work was dedicated to Khuskildi al-Maliki al-Zahiri (ff. 2b, 58b). About the dedicatee it is said that he is a pilgrim to the House of God and a visitor to the grave of the Prophet Muhammad.
(2) ff. 59a-60a. Anonymous supplement (in different hand) in prose to the preceding text, treating several more rulers of Egypt, the last one being al-Malik al-Ashraf, the last Mamluk ruler of Egypt. This is supplemented (f. 60a) by an account on the Ottoman Sultan Selim, who conquered Egypt in 1517. Not in Voorhoeve, Handlist.
(3) ff. 61a-b. A note, transmitted on the authority of al-Shaykh Shams al-Din, concerning a detail in the Mawa`iz al-I`tibar by Taqi al-Din al-Maqrizi (d. 845/1442), GAL S II, 37.
(4) ff. 62a-63a. Miscellaneous notes, in several hands, on a historical detail (f. 62a), on al-Sukhuna by reading surat Yasin (Qur'an 36) and other means (f. 62a), poetry by al-Shaykh Tag al-Din b. Sharaf (f. 62b), a note on headache (f. 62b), Du`a' al-Istikhara (f. 62b), a prayer for a situation of emergency (f. 63a), a medicine useful against al-Hubba al-Ifrangi (f. 63b, followed by another one at the bottom of the page), another medicine against headache (f. 63a), recipes for different purposes, with a diagram (f. 63a).

Or. 989
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, with some Persian and Turkish, paper (different sorts), 1+ 120 ff., several different copyists, and script. Red wax seal (f. 1a, with offset on opposite page). European, half-leather library binding. Table of contents for the first four texts in the volume in f. [1]a. Illustrations.
The volume makes the general impression that it is a pile-up of disparate fragments, all more or less in the same size, all from varied origine, which were bound together, possibly even as late as after their arrival in Leiden.
See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 336. Title on f. 1a, text begins on f. 1b. Naskh script, dated 9 Dhu al-Qa`da 849, copied for his own use by `Abd al-Ghani b. Abi Hamad al-Hanafi, tilmidh mu'allifihi ('a pupil of the author'), in Aleppo (colophon on f. 25b).
(1a) f. 26r-27v. Fi Tahqiq al-Kulliyyat by al-Qutb (title on f. 26a; author in table of contents). Extracts or quotations from a work by 'al-Qutb'. With the latter must be meant Qutb al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209, and not: Qutb al-Din Mahmud b. Mas`ud b. Muslih al-Shirazi (d. 710/1311), GAL G II, 211, because the former is also the alleged author of the next-following text. On f. 27v is a geometrical drawing. F. 28r blank. The work must have a relationship with the here following text, the title of which is almost the same.
(2) ff. 28v-33r. Risala fil-Kulliyyat wa-Tahqiqiha by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Razi al-Tahtani (d. 766/1364), GAL G II, 209. CCO 1556 (III, p. 377). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 298. CCO 1556 (III, p. 377).
(2a) ff. 33v-35v. Fawa'id Manthura (thus in table of contents), sundry notes on geometrical subjects in prose.
(3) ff. 36r-37r. Fragment (abrupt beginning) of a historical text on the descendant of the imam `Ali b. Abi Talib. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 428. CCO 793 (II, pp. 167-168); CCA 910 (II, p. 61).
(3a) ff. 37v-41v. Fragment (end missing) of an anonymous and untitled text of the history of the imam `Ali b. Abi Talib. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 428. CCO 793 (II, pp. 167-168); CCA 910 (II, p. 62).
(4) ff. 42r-v. Unfinished treatise on `Ilm al-Firasa. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 435. CCO 1239 (III, p. 184).
(4a) ff. 43r-52v. Notes on a variety of subjects, poetry, prose, also quotations, often with indication of the source.
(4b) ff. 53r-54r. Divinatory notes (raml, numerical value of letters). On f. 53v is the Surat al-Fatiha (Qur'an 1), provided with numbers, with numbers written underneath the words. F. 54v blank.

(4c) ff. 55r-59v. A table (gadwal) with the names of the planets, followed by notes with raml indications, and two circles (dawa'ir), followed by explanations, in Turkish.
(5) ff. 60a-75b. Notes on grammatical and cabbalistic subjects, in Arabic, Persian and Turkish, possibly a sequel to the preceding. The first quire is mostly filled with a Persian-Turkish glossary. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 435. CCO 1239 (III, p. 184).
(6a) f. 76r. Two anonymous fragments, written by the same copyist as the following text. The first fragment is ascribed to Nagm al-Din Kubra (d. 618/1221), GAL S I, 810.
(6) ff. 76v-81r. Waqa'i` al-Khalwa by Sa`id b. al-Mutahhar al-Bakharzi, whose teacher is Nagm al-Din Kubra (d. 618/1221), GAL S I, 810. Dated 22 Ragab 694, copied by `Abdallah b. Muhammad al-Urtuhi (or al-Artugi (?), colophon on f. 81r). CCO 2252 (V, p. 18). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 397. The nisba of the copyist is derived from Urtuh (or Artug [?]) Tagikan (f. 81r).
(6a) ff. 81v-83v. An incomplete (end missing) sequel (with a basmala of its own) to the preceding text, Waqa'i` al-Khalwa by Sa`id b. al-Mutahhar al-Bakharzi (his teacher Nagm al-Din Kubra (d. 618/1221), GAL S I, 810, by the same copyist as preceding, hence also from 694 AH. CCO 2252 (V, p. 18). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 397.
(7) ff. 84r-93b. Incomplete copy (beginning missing) of a text fil-Munasabat bayn al-Masharib (title on f. 93b). Anonymous of eschatological content. CCO 1232 (III, pp. 180-181), quotes the end. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 233. Beginning seems to be missing. At the very end (f. 93v) the Ottoman Sultan Sultan Murad III (reigned 982-1003 AH) is mentioned.
(7a) ff. 94r-v. Fasl fi Ru'yat Allah ta`ala, a quotation from a work entitled Manaqib-i Imam-i A`zam.
(7b) ff. 95r-98v. Notes and quotations, of varied nature, Islamic law, Sufism. Some with indication of the source.
(7c) ff. 99r-102v. Collection of Turkish poetry, two dated (f. 99r: 1025 AH; f. 100r: 1022 AH). Qasida's.
(7d) f. 103r. Notes taken from a legal work, called al-Bazzaziyya, and notes taken from other works.
(7e) f. 103v. Surat Waqfiyya Turkiyya Latifa. Turkish.
(8) f. 104r-v. Risala fi Sabb al-Nabi by (according to Haggi Khalifa) Husayn b. `Abd al-Rahman Husam Chelebi (d. 926/1520), GAL G II, 231. CCO 1865 (IV, p. 159). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 301. The present manuscript gives as its author (f. 104b): Akhi Celebi Efendi.
(8a) ff. 105r-v. Notes on issues of Islamic law.
(9a) f. 106r. Five unidentified distichs, from three different compositions. On f. 117v similar poetry, in the same handwriting.
(9) ff. 106v-117v. Guz' fi Adab al-Takallum compiled by Muhammad b. `Ali al-Zuhra al-Husayni al-Halabi (cf. GAL G I, 514, S I, 710) collected from works by Abu al-Hasan `Ali b. Muhammad b. Habib al-Mawardi (d. 450/1058), GAL G I, 386. Other title: Guz' fi Adab al-Mutakallim (CCA). Dated 818 AH f. 117v). CCO 2539 (V, p. 154); CCA 322 (I, p. 172). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 104.
(9a) ff. 118r-119v. I`tirad `ala al-Hariri (so written several times in the margins). Incomplete text (just two leaves, without beginning or end), possibly a commentary or gloss on a text by al-Hariri (d. 516/1122), GAL G I, 276. Matn is written in red ink. The text quotes al-Qamus al-Muhit by Muhammad b. Ya`qub al-Firuzabadi (d. 817/1415), GAL S II, 234, so that the present compilation must be contemporary or younger than that work. CCO 2539 (V, p. 154); CCA 322 (I, p. 172).

Mahmud in Kankariyya (f. 153a), standard Library binding, traces of red wax seals on f. 1a. Indication of contents on f. 2a.
(1a) ff. 2b-3a. Persian. Bab dar Riyadat wa-Asbab-i Khalwat, taken from a work (az guftar) by Shihab al-Din al-Suhrawardi (d. 632 AH). CCO 2109 (IV, p. 299).
(1) ff. 4a-16a. Persian and Arabic. Incomplete (beginning is missing) copy of an anonymous and untitled compendium, mainly treating the Youngest Day and life in the hereafter. It is a commentary in Persian on a work in Arabic, beginning on f. 4a with Fasl 3 (Fasl-i siwwum dar Isharat-i har du Gihan). The last section is numbered No. 30. CCO 2109 (IV, p. 299). Not in Voorhoeve, Handlist. Dated 847 AH (f. 16a).
(2) ff. 16b-31b. Persian. Kalimat dar Taqrir-i Maqamat-i Mashayikh dar `Ishq by Ahmad Ghazzali (d. 520 AH). CCO 2292 (V, pp. 36-37) gives a survey of the contents. The text is divided into eight chapters (Bab).
(2a) margin of ff. 22b-23a. Arabic. Hikayat. Qala Dhu al-Nun ...
(3) ff. 32b-61a. Maqsad-i Aqsa by `Aziz b. Muhammad al-Nasafi (fl. middle 7th cent. AH). The work is divided in eight sections (fasl) and then eight chapters (bab). CCO 2305 (V, pp. 42-43) gives part of the preface. Not dated, but middle of the 9th cent. AH. CCO 2307 (V, p. 43).
(3a) f. 61a. Persian. Quotation from Mizan al-A`mal by Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Ghazzali (d. 505/1111), GAL G I, 423. Not in Voorhoeve, Handlist. Also two distichs in Persian.
(4) ff. 61b-80a. Arabic. Abstracts from `Awarif al-Ma`arif by `Umar b. Muhammad b. `Abdallah b. Muhammad al-Suhrawardi (d. 632/1234), GAL G I, 440. Dated Rabi` I 850 (f. 80a). CCO 2231 (V, pp. 6-7). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 31.
(5) ff. 80b-153a. Persian. Untitled treatise (no author mentioned) on the sayings and acts of old pious men, in order to serve as an example for the younger ones. Divided into 20 chapters (bab). The chapters are divided into anecdotes (Hikayat). The author must be quite antique. CCO 2317 (V, pp. 50-51) gives arguments for this, and quotes some of the chapter titles. Bayad Sahih on f. 151a. Dated in the middle of Muharram 851, copied by Anbiya (?) b. Mahmud in Kankariyya (colophon on f. 153a).

PREFACE

The arrangement of the present volume of the Inventories of Oriental manuscripts in Leiden University Library does not differ in any specific way from the volumes which have been published earlier. For the sake of brevity I refer to my prefaces in those volumes. A few essentials my be repeated here.

Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy, but many were. The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the present project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively or sufficiently, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. These have, of course, always been indicated. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark.

I am aware of the fact that references of some recently published catalogues, in particular volumes 1 and 2 of the Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts by Jan Schmidt (Leiden 2000, Leiden 2002), have not yet been added to the descriptions in the present volume. This will be done in an updated version, in the near future. Then there will be ample occasion to give answers to the question marks which are now still in the text. However, the fact that the present list has been for nearly complete for quite a while made me decide to put it at the disposal of the public without further delay.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said elsewhere about the method of compilation.

Sequel to the Levinus Warner Collection

Or. 1001

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, with some Turkish, mainly on astronomical instruments and related subjects, paper, 190 ff., glossing throughout. Several copyists. The copyist who dates his work with the year 927 AH (f. 19b) has written ff. 1-43r. Drawings, illustrations.
(1a) ff. 1r-2r. Notes, fawa'id, prose, mnemotechnical poetry, etc., by the copyist and others. Two distichs, Ma qila fil-Baraghith.
(1) ff. 2v-19v. al-Nugum al-Zahirat fil-`Amal bi-Rub` al-Muqantarat, by `Abd al-`Aziz b. Muhammad al-Wafa'i (d. 874/1469), GAL G II, 129. Dated Gumada II 927 (colophon on f. 19b). CCO 1123 (III, p. 124). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 255. Divided into 25 chapters (bab).
(2a) f. 20r. Fa'ida, with a mnemotechnical poem by Shams al-Din b. al-Munir al-Ba`labakki, on Darag al-Manazil. Also notes, other fawa'id, etc. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(2) ff. 20v-26r. Waraqat fil-`Amal bi-Rub` al-Da'ira alladhi `alayhi al-Muqantarat, by `Abdallah b. Khalil al-Maridini (d. 809/1406), GAL G II, 169. CCO 1121 (III, p. 123). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 397. Divided into twenty chapters (bab).
(2b) f. 26r. Mnemotechnical poem of 8 distichs, illustrating the connection between the planets and the days of the week. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(3) ff. 26v-30r. Risala fil-`Amal bil-Rub` al-Mugayyab, sometimes found under the title al-Risala al-Fathiyya fil-A`mal al-Gaybiyya, in some MSS ascribed to `Abdallah b. Khalil al-Maridini (d. 809/1406), GAL G II, 169, in other MSS ascribed to Badr al-Din Muhammad b. Muhammad Sibt al-Maridini (d. after 891/1486), GAL G II, 167. Dated 927 AH. CCO 1119 (III, p. 122). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 292. Divided into 20 chapters (bab).
(4) ff. 30v-34v. al-Shamsiyya fi A`mal al-Gaybiyya, by Muhammad Ibn Abi al-Fath al-Sufi (10/16th cent.), GAL G II, 128. CCO 1136 (III, pp. 130-131). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 329. On f. 30v called: Risala fil-Rub` al-Mugayyab. Divided into an introduction, 16 chapters (bab) and an epilogue (Khatima). It is possible, however, that the reference to the author (f. 34v) concerns the following text, and not the present text.
(5) ff. 35r-37v. Anonymous treatise on al-Rub` al-Mugayyab. CCO 1138 (III, p. 132). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 433. It is possible, however, that the reference to the author (f. 34v, Muhammad Ibn Abi al-Fath al-Sufi (10/16th cent.), GAL G II, 128) concerns this text, and not the previous text.

(5a) f. 37b. A list of the names of months of the Christian year, from January till December, a mnemotechnical double distich. Followed by three mnemotechnical distichs on Matali` al-Shuruq. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(6) ff. 38r-42r. Risala fi Da'irat al-Mu`addil by `Izz al-Din `Abd al-`Aziz b. Muhammad al-Wafa'i al-Muwaqqit bil-Gami` al-Mu'ayyadi (d. 874/1469), GAL G II, 129. CCO 1124 (III, p. 124). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 295. Or. 12.108 (7), below, is the same text. Leiden Or. 14.154, below, is basically the same text, but with numerous differences (see the discussion there).
(6a) f. 42r. A Fa'ida on the months of the `Arabic year, by by `Izz al-Din `Abd al-`Aziz b. Muhammad al-Wafa'i al-Muwaqqit bil-Gami` al-Mu'ayyadi (d. 874/1469), GAL G II, 129. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(6a) ff. 42v-43r. Gadwal Atwal al-Bilad wa-`Urudiha wa-Inhiraf Qiblatiha, extract from the Zig of Ibn al-Shatir (Zig Ibn al-Shatir, or Nuzhat al-Nazir, by `Ali b. Ibrahim Ibn al-Shatir (d. 777/1375), GAL G II, 127). Two pages of tables. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(7) ff. 43v-45r. `Amal al-Basita al-Musammat bil-Rukhama. Anonymous. CCO 1162 (III, pp. 140-141). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 12.
(7a) ff. 45v-48v. Fawa'id. On f. 46r the beginning of a drawing of the Earth. On f. 47v Fa'ida fi Istikhrag al-Qibla. On f. 48r an empty Gadwal. On f. 48v a note on finding the first days of the Coptic years, and other texts.
(8) ff. 49r-65v. Bughyat al-Tullab fil-`Amal bi-Rub` al-Asturlab, by Abu al-`Abbas Ahmad b. Burhan al-Din Ibrahim b. ... (?) al-Din Khalil b. Shihab al-Din Ahmad al-Halabi (d. 859/1455), GAL G II, 129. CCO 1133 (III, p. 129). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 53. Title in gold ink with black outline. Dated 17 Ragab 801 (?, colophon on f. 65v). Ff. 66r-67r blank.
(9) ff. 67v-75v. al-Rawdat al-Muzhirat fil-`Amal bi-Rub`al-Muqantarat, by Shams al-Din Abu `Abdallah Muhammad b. `Abd al-Rahman al-Mizzi (d. 750/1349), GAL G II, 126. CCO 1109 (III, p. 118). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 288. Divided into an introduction and 24 chapters (bab). Dated 926 AH, copied by Abu `Abdallah `Abd al-Rahman al-Hagg `Ali al-Nafthani (?, colophon on f. 75v). Ff. 76r-v blank.
(10) ff. 77r-82r. Gadwal fi Madkhal al-Sinin wal-Shuhur wal-Ayyam, ascribed to Ga`far al-Sadiq (d. 148/763). This work not mentioned in GAL S I, 104. CCO 1048 (III, p. 82). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 89. Tables on ff. 78v-80v.
(10a) ff. 82v-85r. Extracts from a Gadwal, the original of which was in the handwriting of Ibn `Umara b. Hamza b. Shu`ayb al-Harrani. Same hand as previous text. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. Ff. 85v-86r blank.
(11) ff. 86v-95v. Fa'ida fi Dhikr Manazil al-Qamar. Anonymous treatise on Manazil al-Qamar. CCO 1149 (III, p. 135). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 433. With schematic images of constellations. Same copyist as No. 12 (which is dated 1010 AH).
(12) ff. 96r-107v. al-Risala al-Idariyya fi Ma`rifat al-Awqat by Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. Muhammad al-Maghribi al-Andalusi (988/1580), GAL G II, 463. CCO 1147 (III, p. 135). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 293. Note: CCO 1165 (III, p. 141) erroneously gives the class-mark Or. 1020 (12), where it should be Or. 1020 (13).
(13) ff. 91v-98r. Risala fil-Radd `ala al-Munaggimin by Ibn Sina (d. 428/1037), GAL G I, 456. Anawati No. 52. CCO III, pp. 331-332 gives quotations. CCO 1165 (III, pp. 141-142), where the class-mark is erroneously given as Or. 1020 (12). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 301.
(Ar. 1020 a)

Or. 1020 b
Arabic, paper,
(??) ff. 99v-102v. A short anonymous treatise on `ilm al-husuli and `ilm al-huduri. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 440.
(Ar. 1020 b)

Or. 1020 c
Arabic, paper
() ff. 103v-105v. Risala Sharifa tashtamilu `ala Bayan hadhihi al-Maratib al-Latifa li-Bayan al-

Shari`a wal-Tariqa wal-Haqiqa. Anonymous. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 312.
(Ar. 1020 c)

Or. 1020 d
Arabic, paper,
() ff. 105v-107v. An anonymous treatise in which the tradition man `arafa nafsahu `arafa rabbahu is cited. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 459.
(Ar. 1020 d)

Or. 1021
Collective volume, containing eight Arabic texts and one Persian text,
The two parts (Or. 1021 (1-8) and Or. 1021 (9) were divided by M.Th. Houtsma (see his note on the fly-leaf of Ar. 1021). Earlier number: No. 64 (f. 1r). Dated 885 AH (f. 8v). Also within Or. 1021 (1-8) different sorts of paper of different origin and date are used.
(1) ff. 1v-5v. Risala fi `Ilm al-Falak. Anonymous. CCO 1134 (III, pp. 129-130). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 297.
(2) ff. 6r-10r. Urguza fil-Kawakib, by Ibn al-Shatir (d. 777/1375), GAL G II, 126. CCO 1112 (III, pp. 119-120). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 391.
(3) ff. 10v-11v. The identification of these fragments as abstracts from al-Zig al-Gami`, by Kushyar b. Labban al-Gili (c. 350/966), CCO 1055 (III, pp. 86-87), with further references to GAL G I, 222 and P. Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 405, proves to be erroneous. They are in fact three chapters from the astrological work Madkhal fî Sina`at al-Nugum, also by Kushyar b. Labban al-Gili (c. 350/966), GAL G I, 222. Maqala I, bab 7, 8 (only the information on the thirty fixed stars, without the introductory text), and 11. See also Michio Yano Kûsyâr Ibn Labbân's Introduction to Astrology. Edition and translation, Studia Culturae Islamicae 62, Tokyo (Institute for the Study of Languages and Cultures of Asia and Africa) 1997).[1]
(4) ff. 12r-22r. A satyrical poem by Ibn Durayd (d. 321/933), GAL G I, 111. CCO 548 (II, p. 52); CCA 624 (I, p. 392). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 423.
(5) ff. 22v-33v. Qasidat al-`Arus by Khalid b. Safwan al-Qannas (d. 90/709), GAL G I, 60, with commentary. CCO 536 (II, pp. 40-41); CCA 585 (I, pp. 364-365). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 270.
(6) ff. 33v-35v. Fragment only of the Diwan of Dhu al-Rumma (d. 101/719), GAL G I, 55. CCO 538 (II, p. 44); CCA 588 (I, p. 366). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 62.
(7) ff. 35v-36. A poem by Bashshar b. Burd (d. 167/783), GAL G I, 74. CCO 539 (II, p. 44); CCA 591 (I, pp. 369-370). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 423.
(8) ff. 39r-49v. Kitab al-Rawabi` by Aflatun, with commentary by Ahmad b. al-Husayn b. Gihan Bukhtar, and written down by Thabit b. Qurra (d. 288/901), GAL G I, 218. CCO 1431 (III, pp. 307-310). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 286. Incomplete at the end, in the fourth Rabi` (?).

[* Ar. 1338]

Or. 1022
Collective volume with texts in Arabic and Persian, paper, 123 ff., autograph, dated 687 AH.
(1) ff. 1-123v. Commentary, probably by Muhammad b. Abi al-Husayn (or Hasan) al-Baha' al-Chughduwani, on Kafiyat Dhawi al-Adab fi `Ilm Kalam al-`Arab, by Gamal al-Din `Uthman b. `Umar Ibn al-Hagib (d. 646/1249), GAL G I, 303. Autograph copy, dated 687 AH. CCO 67 (I, pp. 37-38); CCA 184 (I, pp. 103-104). Both CCO and CCA quote the colophon. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 146.
(2) ff. ??-??. Excerpts from a Tafsir in Persian by al-Bakharzi (d. 467 AH). CCA I, p. 104 (No. 184).
(Ar. 1022)

Or. 1023
Arabic, with some Turkish, paper, 250 ff., dated 978/1571.
al-Shaqa'iq al-Nu`maniyya fi `Ulama' al-Dawla al-`Uthmaniyya by Abu al-Khayr Ahmad b. Muslih al-Din Tashköprüzada (d. 968/1560), GAL G II, 425. CCO 874 (II, p. 205); CCA 1038 (II, p. 121). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 329. See also Or. 8301 k, below, which is a copy by C. van Arendonk (d. 1946) of part of Or. 644 (29), which text corresponds to Or. 1023 ff. 20v ff. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 329.
A number of Turkish additions may be seen on ff. 1a, 77a (margin), 200b (margin, 231b (margin), 238-239b (margins), 249a, 249b, 250a, 250b.
(Ar. 1023)

Or. 1024
Collective volume with texts in Arabic (Nos. 1-7) and Persian (No. 8), with some Turkish, of mathematical contents, paper, 1 + 155 pp., fragments of different origin, here bound together, half-leather library binding.
(1a) p. [1]. A letter in praise of isolation (`Azla). Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. Inexpert naskh script.
(1) pp. 1-8. Mudda`ayat Kitab al-Mu`tayat, anonymous abstract from the version of Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1274, GAL G I, 511, of the Kitab al-Mu`tayat by Uqlidis (Euclid). CCO 978 (III, p. 44). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 244. Nasta`liq script.
(2) pp. 9-16. A short abstract of Mudda`ayat Ukar Tha'udusiyus ma`a Musadaratihi, being the redaction by Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1274), GAL G I, 508, of Kitab al-Ukar, being the Sphaerica by Theodosius in the Arabic translation by Hunayn b. Ishaq (d. 260/873), GAL S I, 368. CCO 986 (III, p. 49). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 385. Nasta`liq script, same hand as previous text.
(3) pp. 16-17. Musadarat Kitab al-Kura al-Mutaharrika ma`a Mudda`ayatih. A short abstract from Kitab al-Kura al-Mutaharrika by Autolykos. CCO 987 (III, p. 49). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 165. Nasta`liq script, same hand as previous text.

(4) pp. 18-31. Musadarat Kitab Manala'us ma`a Mudda`ayatih (p. 18), or al-Mudda`ayat li-Ukar Manala'us (p. 31). Abstract from the edition by Nasir al-Din al-Tusi (d. 672/1274) of Kitab al-Kuriyyat, being Menelaos' Sphaerica, translated by Hunayn b. Ishaq (d. 260/873), GAL S I, 368. See Max Krause, Die Sphärik von Menelaos aus Alexandrien in der Verbesserung von Abu Nasr Mansur B. Ali B. Iraq. Mit Untersuchungen zur Geschichte des Textes bei den islamischen Mathematikern. Berlin 1936 (Abhandlungen der Gesellschaft der Wissenschaften zu Göttingen. 3. Folge, No. 17), pp. 4, 49-74. CCO 990 (III, p. 50). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 165. Nasta`liq script, same hand as previous text. With figures. Pp. 32-44 blank.
(5) pp. 45-60. Ashkal yuhtagu ilayhi fi Tashil Kitab Abuluniyus fil-Makhrutat. Fragment of book 1 of the edition by Nasir al-Din al-Tusi of Kitab fil-Makhrutat, by Abuluniyus, being the Arabic translation by Thabit b. Qurra of the Conica by Apollonius van Perga. CCO 980 (III, pp. 45-46). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 179-180. With figures. Pp. 61, 63-64 blank. On p. 62 a Persian distich, entitled Tarikh-i Shaykh Sa`di.
(6) pp. 65-82. Tafsir Sadr al-Maqala al-`Ashira `an Kitab Uqlidis. Commentary by Abu Ga`far al-Khazin (d. between 350/961 and 360/971), (4/10th cent. according to GAS V, 298-298), on the first part of the 10th book of the Elementa by Euclid. CCO 968 (III, pp. 40-41). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 392. Apparently, a copy of the MS is Leiden Or. 14 (18), above. With some (but not all) figures. Nasta`liq script, as in other previously mentioned parts of the volume.
(7) pp. 85-95. Commentary by Ahmad b. al-Husayn al-Ahwazi, GAL S I, 387, possibly identical with Abu al-Husayn Muhammad b. al-Husayn al-Ahwazi (c. 330/941), GAL G I, 96, on the 10th book of the Elementa by Euclid. CCO 970 (III, p. 41). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 392-393. With some (but not all) figures. Nasta`liq script, as in other previously mentioned parts of the volume. This appears to be the exemplar of Or. 14 (19), below. See J.J. Witkam, Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) en zijn handschriften. Leiden 1980, p. 63. Apparently Levinus Warner, the former owner of Or. 1024, could acquire the present MS which had not been available to Golius for purchase.
(8) pp. 97-148. Persian. Untitled work by `Ala' al-Kirmani on how to find the qibla. Dated 20 Dhu al-Higga 999, copied in Mekka (colophon on p. 148). CCO 1189 (III, pp. 153-154) gives the introduction. This part written in naskh script, and apparently originating from a different volume. Pp. 149-153 blank.
- The endpapers (pp. 154-155) contain shorter pieces in Turkish. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts in the Library of Leiden University and other collections in the Netherlands. Vol. 1, Leiden 2000, p. 382.

(1a) pp. 1-3. Notes and poetical fragments. On p. 1 is a genealogy of Sayyid Muhammad going up to the Prophet Muhammad. On pp. 2-3 poetical fragments, with mention of some of the poets on p. 3: Sidi As`ad Efendi al-Bataruni and al-Buhturi. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

(1) pp. 4-7. Fragment only of an anonymous gloss (Qawluhu) on al-Risala al-Shamsiyya fi al-Qawa`id al-Mantiqiyya, by Nagm al-Din `Ali b. `Umar al-Qazwini al-Katibi (d. 675/1276, or. 693/1294), GAL G I, 466. CCO 1539 (III, p. 372). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 311-312.
(1b) pp. 8-9. Mukataba, a letter by al-Shaykh Shams al-Din al-Minqari to a scholar in ... (?).
(1c) p. 9. Poetical fragments. One in Arabic by al-Imam al-Shatibi. Then follow two distichs by Munla Sururi in Turkish, which are followed by their Arabic poetical translation made by Muhammad al-`Urdi, and written out by him. The latter is Levinus Warner's acquaintance, whose writings can also be found in Or. 999, above, and Or. 1112 and Or. 1122, below. The signature is identical to the one reproduced in Levinus Warner and his Legacy. Three centuries Legatum Warnerianum in the Leiden University Library. Leiden 1970, plate to exhibit No. 12. Other writing by Muhammad al-`Urdi in the present volume is on pp. 1, 2, 3, 22, 24-25 (?).
(2) pp. 10-15. al-Da'ira al-Hindiyya, by al-Kanguwwi (or al-Kangawi?, p. 15). Dated Dhu al-Higga 911, copied by Gunayd b. Mahmud al-Qurtubi in Amasia (colophon on p. 15). With figures. CCO 1135 (III, p. 130). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 433.

Or. 1068
Collective volume with texts in Turkish and Persian, paper, ff.
(1) ff. 1b-108b. Turkish. Kitab-i Ghida-yi Ruh-afza. Anonymous. CCO 2188 (IV, pp. 337-338), quotes the incipit. Jan Schmidt gives as author: `Abd al-Baqi La'lizade (d. 1165/1751-1752). If this is correct, the MS cannot be part of the collection of Levinus Warner, who died in 1665.
(2) ff. 111b-320b. Persian. Daqa'iq al-Haqa'iq by Ahmad Rumi, a follower of the famous Galal al-Din b. Baha' al-Din Muhammad Balkhi (d. 672), who composed this work in 720 AH. The work is divided into eighty sections. CCO 2303 (V, pp. 41-42) gives part of the preface.
- Fatwa by Abu al-Su`ud in Turkish (f. 321a). List of constellations and related weekdays, possibly ikhtiyarat (?) (f. 322a). Table and phrases with scansion marks, illustrating the ramal metre (f. 322b).
¶ The MS lacks the usual 'ex-Legato ...' plate, which would be another argument that the MS was never part of Levinus Warner's Legacy.

Or. 1094
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, and Persian, with some Turkish, paper, 254 ff., safina shaped. Apparently the whole or part of a private notebook of a scholar fluent in Persian and Arabic, living in Anatolia, in the second half of the 8/14th century.
(1) pp. 1-7. Arabic. al-Durra al-Yatima. The title is followed by an anonymous poem, but it is possible that it is meant to be the title of the whole collection of (mostly) Persian poems of which this is the first. CCO 526 (II, p. 27). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 72. On pp. 1, 254 also a bookseller's note in Turkish.
(2) p. 8. Persian poems by Diya' al-Din al-Munaggim al-Bukhari, composed in praise of the amir Diya' al-Din al-Tughri. CCO 526 (II, pp. 27-28).
(3) p. 10. Persian poems composed by Muhyi al-Din. CCO 526 (II, p. 28) mentions the subjects.
(4) p. 17. Persian poem by Husam al-Din Yusuf. CCO 526 (II, p. 28).
(5) p. 18. Persian. Treatise on Qur'an 59:9. CCO 526 (II, p. 28) quotes the aya and the incipit.
(6) p. 21. Persian. Treatise by Galal al-Din `Abd al-Malik al-Warqani on certain words of the Prophet Muhammad. CCO 526 (II, p. 28).
(7) p. 24. Persian. Treatise on Qur'an 30:49. CCO 526 (II, p. 28).
(8) p. 28. Persian poems by Muhyi al-Din. CCO 526 (II, p. 28).

Or. 1099
Collective volume with texts in Hebrew, with Latin, paper.
Excerpts from Karaite authors, partly from manuscripts in Warner's own library, with notes in Latin by Levinus Warner (1619-1665). Many blank pages and spaces.
A. (78 ff.) Notes on Peer, supercommentary composed in 1579 by the Karaite author Elia Rabbino b. Jehuda Tishbi, on the beginning of the pericopes as in the commentary by the Karaite author Ahron b. Josef on the Pentateuch. Taken by Warner from Or. 4792, below. Hebrew and Latin text.
B. (87 ff.) Excerpts from Aaron b. Yosef on Pentateuch, with parallels from the work of Salomon Isak (Rashi). Only Hebrew text.
C. (120 ff.) Text taken from an anonymous commentary on the Pentateuch. With parellel texts, from Rashi. Hebrew and Latin text.
D. (one fascicule 136 ff.), partly to be read in the Latin fashion, from left to right. Excerpts from Preudo-Jefet on the minor Prophets (taken? from Or. 4750 (1), below), with notes by Levinus Warner.
E. (72 ff.) Excerpts from Aaron b. Yosef on Jesaia. Only Hebrew text.
F. (54 ff.) Excerpts from Aaron b. Yosef on the Psalms. Only Hebrew text.
G. (9 ff.) Excerpts from the book ha-Ushar (??) of Jakob b. Reuben. Only Hebrew text.
H. (140 ff) Excerpts from the book Eshkol ha-Kofar of Jehuda Hedessus (=from Edessa?). Only Hebrew text.
I. (58 ff.) Excerpts from the book Sefer ha-Mazziot (??) of Aaron b. Elia. Only Hebrew text.
K. (32 ff.) Excerpts from the book Adrat Elia of Elia Bashiatsh. Only Hebrew text.
L. (372 pp., to be read in the Latin fashion, from left to right) Excerpts from the Hebrew bible, with Latin translation by Levinus Warner, and other pieces in expert mashait hand.
M. (486 pp.), similarly executed as the preceding. Excerpts from pseudo-Jefet on Exodus. Hebrew text with Latin translation by Levinus Warner.
N. (71 ff) Excerpts copied from the book of the Karaite Sahl Kohen b. Mazliach Kohen. Steinschneider (pp. 293-295) gives a more detailed account of the contents of this polemical (directed against the Rabbanites) and edifying (directed to the Karaites) work to which he adds further bibliographical information on the author. On f. 18 begins a letter of the scribe of this section, most probably Simcha Ashkenazi, to Levinus Warner. Steinschneider, p. 295 quotes from the letter. Steinschneider's description of this part is very incomplete, however. A. van der Heide, p. 42, counts 72 numbered leaves, the detailed contents of which are given by him. Partly edited (f. 10) by Steinschneider in his Appendix 16 (p. 403). On f. 1a a list of food expenses.
See M. Steinschneider, Catalogus (1858), pp. 292-295 for a detailed survey of the contents of the volume. A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (1977), p. 41-42. (Hebr. 73)

Or. 1100
Collective volume with texts in Persian, Turkish and Chaghatay, paper, ff., dated end

Dhu al-Qa`da 983 (February 1576).
(1) ff. 1b-77a. al-Sahah al-`Agamiyya, a short Persian-Turkish vocabulary by Hindushah al-Nakhgawani. Dated 919 AH. CCO 188 (I, p. 100).
(2) ff. 80-101. The final part only of an unidentified Persian-Turkish glossary. Dated 984 AH. CCO 189 (I, p. 101). This piece, however, has been removed from the volume, some time after 1861 at the instigation of M.Th. Houtsma. It is now registered as Or. 823, ff. 41-60. See also the remarks under Or. 823, above, and in Or. 14.377a, f. 40a, below. Apparently Houtsma had identified it as part of the Lughat-i Halimi, and originating from that MS.
(3) ff. 103b-126b. Abridged version of Lughat-i Mawlana Nawa'i. Chaghatay-Ottoman dictionary for the works of Mir `Ali Shir Nawa'i (d. 906 AH), but not composed by him. CCO 206 (I, p. 106). Here the title is given as Kitab Lughat-i Abushqa, after the first entry of the dictionary.

(Ar. 1115)

Or. 1116
Armenian, Latin, paper, ff.
Theological treatises in Armenian, in manuscript. Also one printed piece in Armenian and Latin, a fragment of De professione Orthodoxae fidei ab Orientalibus facienda. CCO 2402 (V, p. 97). Frédéric Macler, Rapport sur une mission scientifique (1924), pp. 28-31 [304-307], gives a more detailed survey of the contents:
A. 63 ff. Incomplete fragment, beginning and end are missing. From the 17th century, notragir script. Macler quotes from the available beginning and end.
B. 11 ff. 'Councils of the wise Khikar'. Incomplete at the end. From the 17th century, notragir script. Macler quotes from the available beginning and end.
C. 8 ff. Incomplete fragment, beginning and end are missing. From the 16th or 17th century, notragir script. Macler quotes from the available beginning and end.
D. 6 ff. Incomplete fragment, beginning is missing. From the 17th or 18th century, notragir script. Macler quotes from the available beginning and end. Macler's estimated dating of the 18th century is in conflict with the Warner provenance of the fragment.

E. 1 f. Petition from the Armenian nation to the Dutch ambassador in Istanbul (=Levinus Warner), asking for protection. Dated 23 April 1107 (Armenian era, = 1658 AD). Macler, op.cit., pp. 30-31, gives the full text with French translation. With seal. Notragir script.
F. 1 f. Transcript of the texts on two tombstones of Armenians, dated 1645 and 1657 respectively. From the 17th or 18th century, notragir script. Macler quotes and translates the two texts in their entirity. Macler's estimated dating of the 18th century is in conflict with the Warner provenance of the fragment.

'Collectanea geographica' of Levinus Warner (d. 1665), extracted from several sources by al-Nuwayri and al-Tha`alibi (see for this CCO 2432 (V, pp. 115-116), where also a survey of the contents is given. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 427.
(Ar. 1121)

Or. 1122
Arabic, Turkish, Malay, paper, 81 ff.
Collection of letters, *firman*s, etc., of 'recent' date. Not all documents are from Warner's time.
Among the letters are six letters from Muhammad b. `Umar al-`Urdi al-Halabi to Levinus Warner (d. 1665). There are also documents in the hand of Nicolaus Petri. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, opposite p. 419 in the interleaved author's copy kept in the Legatum Warnerianum. See Levinus Warner and his Legacy (Leiden 1970), p. 51, with illustration of f. ? The acquisition by Warner with which he is congratulated by al-`Urdi is possibly Or. 695, see above. CCO 317 (I, p. 183). Quotations from al-`Urdi about coffee drinking are in Or. 1112, above.
Houtsma has edited several letters from Muhammad al-`Urdi to Levinus Warner. See M.Th. Houtsma as Uit de Oostersche correspondentie van Th. Erpenius, Jac. Golius en Lev. Warner. Eene bijdrage tot de geschiedenis van de beoefening der Oostersche letteren in Nederland. Amsterdam 1887 (Verhandelingen der Koninklijke Akademie van Wetenschappen. Afdeeling Letterkunde. Vol. 17, pt. 3). CCO 277 (I, pp. 161-162); CCA 367 (I, p. 203). Houtsma's XXIII = Or. 1122 (9); Houtsma's XXIVa = Or. 1122 (8); Houtsma's XXIVb = Or. 1122 (11); Houtsma's XXIVc = Or. 1122 (10); Houtsma's XXV = ?.
Some non-Warner materials:
- ff. 1-2. Part of an inventory in an Indonesian language, apparently not in Malay. Probably 19th or early 20th century. Nos. 24-87 of what seems to be a list of texts are enumerated.
(9) Letter by Muhammad al-`Urdi to Levinus Warner. Reproduced in Levinus Warner and his Legacy. Three centuries Legatum Warnerianum in the Leiden University Library. Leiden 1970, plate to exhibit No. 12. Edited by Houtsma (No. XXIII).
- f. 22 is a Firman with the tughra of Sultan Ahmed III. It was added to this collection in 1907. It originates from a collection of papers of C.H. Persoon, which is kept in the Department of Western manuscripts of the Leiden library, BPL 246.

Or. 1198 - Or. 1199
These two Syriac manuscripts had entered the Library already before the Golius and the Warner collections came to Leiden. However, in the 'Journaal', p. 29, they are reckoned to be part of the Warner collection. The early European history of these two manuscripts makes this highly improbable. From notes in either manuscript (analysed by M.J. de Goeje in CCO V, p. 66 and by Land, Anecdota Syriaca I, pp. 6-7) it becomes clear that they had been acquired by Daniel Bomberg in Venice from Guillaume Postel (1510-1581) who had acquired them in 1550 in Constantinople. Then they must somehow have entered into the possession of Chr. Plantin (c. 1520-1589), and then into the possession of his son-in-law Franciscus Raphelengius (1539-1597), who collated from them for Plantin's Polyglot Bible (1572-1574). A. Hamilton, 'Franciscus Raphelengius. The Hebraist and his manuscripts' in De Gulden Passer 68 (1990), pp. 105-117, esp. p. 108, gives the following chain of European owners and users: Acquired by Postel in Constantinople, brought to Venice at the expense of the younger Daniel Bomberg in 1550. Bomberg sent it from Cologne to Antwerp at Christopher Plantin's request. In Antwerp it was used by Guy Lefèvre de la Boderie, who edited the liturgical section from the 'codex Coloniensis' for publication by Plantin in 1572 of D. Severi Alexandrini qvondam patriarchae de ritibvs baptismi, et sacrae synaxis apvd Syros Christianos receptis, liber. Nunc primum in lucem editus Gvidone Fabricio Boderiano exscriptore et interprete. – Antverpiae, ex officina Christophori Plantini, 1572 [three copies in Leiden: 874 D 17:1 / 874 D 18:1, with notes by J.J. Scaliger / 874 / 16:3, with notes by J.J. Scaliger]. See also C.R. Gregory, Textkritik des Neuen Testaments. Leipzig 1909, pp. 497, 513, No. 67.

Syriac, and some Italian, paper, 202 ff., Serto script, copied in the 12th or 13th century AD by Simeon, a Jacobite Christian, full-leather Library binding.
Peshitta version of the Four Gospels. The end is lacking, but must still have been available to Guido Fabritius Boderianus when he used the manuscript for the Antwerp Polyglot (8 vols., 1568-1573 [1366 A 1-8]). Illuminated pages at the beginning of two of the Gospels (ff. 59b, 91b). Smaller ornaments marking the end of the old ansd the beginning of the new quire are on ff. 16b-17a, 26b-27a, 36b-37a, 46b-47a, 46b-57a, etc. On f. 1a an inscription in Italian: 'Havuto de Constan: Del Postello | Li quatro Evangely In lingua Suriana'. 'Received from Constantinople, from Postellus [Guillaume Postel, 1510-1581]. The four Gospels in Syriac'.
- Ff. 1-9 are preliminaries, apparently of a later date. These contain the Liturgy of Baptism by the Patriarch Severus, which is very much in use among the Jacobites. From f. 6r onwards part of the Mass. In Antwerp it was used by Guy Lefèvre de la Boderie, who edited the liturgical section from the 'codex Coloniensis', which is this manuscript, for publication by Plantin in 1572 of D. Severi Alexandrini qvondam patriarchae de ritibvs baptismi, et sacrae synaxis apvd Syros Christianos receptis, liber. Nunc primum in lucem editus Gvidone Fabricio Boderiano exscriptore et interprete. Syriac. Peshitta version of the Acts of the Apostles, and the Epistles of St. James, St. Peter, St. John and St. Paul.
See CCO 2344 b (V, pp. 64-66), and J.P.N. Land, Anecdota Syriaca I, pp. 6-7. Both by CCO V and Land, the MS is is incorrectly referred to. According to p. 29 of the 'Journaal' Or. 1199 is the correct class-mark, whereas CCO V and Land refer to this codex as Or. 1198 b. See also in Or. 1198 how its class-mark has been written in a confusing way.

Or. 1201 - Or. 1202
Manuscripts presented to the library by Mr. Theodoor Sas, candidate of law, member of the 'Raad van Indië'. See the inscription by David van Royen at the end of Or. 1201, below, from which it becomes clear that both volumes were received in the Oriental collection in the course of 1741.
¶ Note that a similar inscription is found in the book which was formerly 860 G 25 (Dictionarium Latino Lusitanicum ac Japonicum ex Ambrosii Calepini volumine depromptum, in quo omissis nominibus propriis tam locorum, quam hominum, de quibusdam aliis minus usitatis, omnes vocabulorum significationes, elegantioresque dicendi modi apponuntur. In usum et gratiam Japonicae juventutis, quae Latino idiomati operam navat nec non Europeorum, qui Japonicum sermonem addiscunt. In Amacusa in Collegio Japonico Societatis Jesu cum facultate Superiorum. Anno MDXCV). On its title-page is written: Dono Theodori Sas: | I:U:D: et in Jndia ori | en tali apud batavos | Senatoris Bibl^ae^ Lugd^o^ | batavae accessit: | Q:T: | Royen | 41 |. Read in full this is: Dono Theodori Sas juris utriusque doctor et in India orientali apud batavos Senatoris Biblothecae Lugduno Batavae accessit. Quod testavit [D. van] Royen [17]41. (By gift of Theodore Sas, doctor in the two laws and a senator in the East Indies with the Dutch, this has come into the Leiden Library.
Which is attested by [D. van] Royen, [17]41.)
Another, similar, inscription is found in the book which is now registered as 1365 C 12, and formerly as 889 D 26, and before that as XII Q. 167 A (Relatio sepulturae magno Orientis apostolo S. Francisco Xaverio erectae in Insula Sanciano anno saeculari MDCC, by Gaspar Castner S.J. (n.p., n.d., c. 1700), printed in woodblock, on Chinese paper, and bound in the Chinese way. The book must have been printed in China, or Macau; the text is in Latin, however). The inscription in this volume reads:
Dono Theodori Sas I:Ut:D^r^ et in | India Orientali apud batavos sena-|toris Bibl^ae^ lugd^o^ Bat^ae^ accessit | Q:T: | Royen [17]11.
The gift by Theodore Sas was accepted by the Curators of Leiden University by their resolution of February 14, 1711 (See P.C. Molhuysen, Bronnen, IV, p. 253; a list of the books given by Sas is reproduced by Molhuysen, Bronnen, IV, p. 129*).

(4a) f. 89 and fly-leaf. Notes, similar to the ones mentioned above under (1a).
Provenance: On f. 88v is an owner's note in Latin, dated 26 February 1662, but otherwise the note is not quite clear of content. The manuscript arrived around 1740 in the library as a gift of Henricus Dibbets (1660-1740), a minister of the divine word in Leiden (cf. H.E. Weijers, Orientalia I, p. 315, note a) to the Leiden Library. On the front fly-leaf is written, not by David van Royen, the secretary of Leiden University between 1725-1753: 'Donum Dn. Dibbezij', but on f. 88v is a note signed by Van Royen: 'Librum hunc Bibliothecae Lugduno Bat<av>ae dono dedit Ds. Henricus dibbetzius Ecclesiae Leydensis verbi divinis praeco meritissimus. 2.J. In the 'Journaal', p. 30, the following remarks are made concerning these numbers, to which is added other information as well. These three numbers were already lost before the time of H.E. Weijers (1805-1844), see Orientalia I, p. 326. According to the librarian Abraham Gronovius (1695-1775), Or. 1219 originally was a codex, Or. 1220 a pannus sericeus ('a piece of silk') and Or. 1221 a saccus coriaceus cum syngraphis ('a leather sack with writings', ibid., p. 325). These three items had been given to Library by Mr. Cornelius de Witt, together with the manuscript which is now registered as Or. 1218, above. The original numbers Or. 1219 and Or. 1220 never reappeared, but Weijers reports that he did indeed recover the object formerly registered as Or. 1221. It proved to contain leaves of paper with Turkish magical figures. Weijers discarded these as unimportant ('plane indignas quae amplius servarentur'). Then Weijers replaced these three numbers with the present numbers Or. 1219 and Or. 1220 (purchased from a private owner) and with Or. 1221, which manuscript actually belongs to the collection of Jacobus Golius (1596-1667), but which afterwards seems to have been lost of sight for a long time (Weijers, ibid. pp. 326-327; R.P.A. Dozy in his preface to CCO I, p. xxi).

The MS contains old and less old marginal notes in a number of hands. There is also a large number of notes and strikes in pencil, which may be in the hand of Jacobus Golius, the first western owner of the MS. Added to the volume is a leaf with quotations in Arabic, made by a European scholar and apparently copied from another Leiden MS than the present one.

MS L in the edition by Gustav Flügel, Kitab al-Fihrist [von Muhammad b. Ishaq Ibn al-Nadim]. Mit Anmerkungen herausgegeben von Gustav Flügel. Nach dessen Tode besorgt von Johannes Roediger und August Müller. Leipzig 1871-1872, 2 vols.

Paste-in of one leaf at the beginning of the volume, being a copy by F. Woepcke (1826-1864) of the beginning passage in the Paris manuscript of the work, where there is damage with loss of text in the Leiden MS, with a short note signed RD. (= R.P.A. Dozy, 1820-1883).

There must be a connection between this copy and Leiden Or. 14 (16), which is a copy of the beginning passage of the 7th Maqala, made at the request of Jacobus Golius. The copied fragment of Or. 14 (16) exactly ends at the place where there is a lacuna in the text as preserved in Or. 1221, f. 8b. The beginning of Or. 1221 is damaged, but may have been less damaged in Golius' time than it is nowadays. The present fragment is, at the beginning of the text, slightly more complete than the text in Or. 1221, f. 1b. See Flügel's edition, I, p. 241, line 27, for the beginning of the lacuna in Or. 1221.

Provenance: Collection of Jacobus Golius (1596-1667), and apparently part of the University collection of Middle Eastern manuscripts purchased by Golius for Leiden University in Morocco, Aleppo and Istanbul. It must have entered the library in 1629, but was only registered by H.E. Weijers (1805-1844).

[* Ar. 1221]

Or. 1222 - Or. 1302

Collection of Middle Eastern manuscripts of J.J. Schultens (1716-1778). Received and registered in 1781. Apparently the collection was purchased by auction in 1780. Jan Jacob Schultens was the second of the three Schultens professors in Leiden University. In 1749 he became professor of Oriental languages in Leiden, succeeding his father Albert Schultens (1686-1750). After his death in 1778 he was succeeded by his son Hendrik Albert Schultens (1749-1793).

Not all of his manuscripts were purchased by the Leiden Library, however. The MSS that are now known as Acad. 26, Acad. 31, Acad. 48, Acad. 52, Acad. 55, Acad. 56, Acad. 57, Acad. 58, Acad. 60, Acad. 64, Acad. 74, Acad. 80, Acad. 86, Acad. 88, Acad. 96, Acad. 138, Acad. 140, Acad. 142, Acad. 150, Acad. 151, Acad. 178, Acad. 183, Acad. 207, Acad. 208 were purchased by J. Willmet (1750-1835). The manuscript which is now Leiden Or. 1575, below, was at some stage acquired by J.H. van der Palm (1763-1840) and purchased from his library in 1841.

Arabic and Samaritan, paper, 390 pp., c. 1350 AD.
Targamat al-Tawrat al-Muqaddasa, translation by Abu Sa`id b. Abi al-Husayn b. Abi Sa`id al-Samiri of the Samaritan Pentateuch. CCO 2363 (V, p. 76). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 49. Edited by Abraham Kuenen as Specimen e literis orientalibus, exhibens Librum Geneseos secundum Arabicam Pentateuchi Samaritani versionem ab Abu-Sa`ido conscriptam. Leiden 1851 (843 E 7). Kuenen used three manuscripts for his edition, two from Paris and one from Leiden (with siglum A). Earlier, Kuenen had published part of the text as his thesis: Specimen theologicum continens geneseos libri capita triginta quatuor priora ex Arabica Pentateuchi samaritani versione nunc primum edita cum prolegomenis. Leiden 1851. An early description, with details of the earlier provenance of the manuscript, was published by Gulielmus van Vloten (W. van Vloten) as his thesis, entitled Specimen philologicum, continens descriptionem codicis Ms. Bibliothecae Lugduno-Batavae, partemque inde excerptam versionis Samaritano-Arabicae Pentateuchi Mosaici... Leiden 1803 (240 B 8:72), especially pp. 20-37.
Earlier provenance: Possibly acquired by Albert Schultens (1686-1750) from the library of the Leiden theologian Salomon van Til (1643-1713), which was auctioned off in 1714. The manuscript would have been mentioned on p. 149 of the auction catalogue (not seen). On f. 2 of the manuscript a note in Arabic tells that the MS was brought in 1684 by Capucine monks from Damascus to Marseille and from there to Paris. Then, also in 1684, it was purchased by Yuhanna b. Qata al-Shami. How the manuscript came into Van Til's possession is not known.

خديم المقام العلى

احمد بن قاسم

لطف الله به

Lof aan God. Zegening en vrede over Zijn gezanten.
Na de dankzegging aan God, de Ene, de Unieke, de Eeuwige, Die niet geboren is, aan Wie geen nageslacht geboren is, en aan Wie geen gelijke is (Koran 112).
Ik heb Uw brief ontvangen en het deed mij genoegen om te zien hoe goed U kunt schrijven, en ik heb de inhoud en de bedoeling begrepen. Wat U schreef of het Boek van de Velden van Goud, dat nog niet bij U was aangekomen en dat de bedoeïenen dit afgenomen hebben van de brenger, welnu dat gebeurt nu eenmaal in dit land en in deze moeilijke tijd. Het deed mij genoegen te horen dat wel het plan hebt om het Boek al-Musta'ini over de Geneeskunst te verwerven. Ik schrijf U daar opnieuw over omdat ik vooral hieraan moet denken aan het exemplaar dat bij zijn eigenaar berust, de arts. Het lijkt mij dat het ongeveer vierhonderd jaar geleden is geschreven. Het is een prachtig boek dat zeer wordt gewaardeerd door de moslims. U vermeldde nog dat U nog een tekst bij U had over astronomie. Als het mogelijk zou zijn dat U deze in het Arabisch of het Español zou overzetten, dan zou mij dat veel plezier doen.

Gegroet. Aldus geschreven te Marrakech, moge God het bewaren op 10 Jomada I van het jaar 1033 (1624).
(w.g.) de dienaar van de hoge autoriteit,
Ahmad b. Qasim, moge God hem goed behandelen.

Praise be to God. Blessing and peace be to His messengers.
After thanking God, the One, the Unique, the Eternal, Who is not born, and to Whom no one is born, and to Whom there is no equal (Qur'an 112). I have received your letter and I was glad to see how well you can write, and I have understood its content en meaning. What you wrote about the ' Book of the Golden Meadows' , namely that it had not arrived with you and that the bedouins had taken it from its bearer, well this is their habit in this land and in this difficult time. It gives me pleasure to receive the news that it is your purpose to acquire al-Kitāb al-Mustaʿīnī on the Art of Medicine. I am writing you once more about this because I have to think very much about the copy which is with its owner, the doctor. It seems to me that it was written about four hundred years ago. It is a marvellous book and it is very much appreciated by the Muslims. You mentioned that you had with you a text on astronomy. If it would be possible to translate this into Arabic or Spanish, and then send it to me, that would give us pleasure. Greetings.
Thus done in Marrākuš, may God preserve it, on 10 Ǧumādā I of the year 1033 (2 March 1624).
(signed by) The Servant of the High Authority,
Aḥmad b. Qāsim, may God be kind to him.

(149) Turkish, paper, 1 f., ta`liq script. Letter, probably by a Janissary officer (the print of his seal on the reverse reads Abu Bakr, and has possibly more names), about his safe arrival in Tripoli (Libya). See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts (vol. I, 2000), pp. 529, 531.
(150) Persian, paper, 1 f., nasta`liq script. Letter from Abu al-Faras (?) to Khwaga Muharram Mullazada. Not dated. The sender has printed his seal, showing a standing eagle (holding a snake in his beak, which is not visible here). Prints of this same seal can be seen in manuscripts of Golius (and Warner?), meaning that the sender of the letter may have been the owner of several of the MSS which are now in the Leiden library.
(151) Arabic, paper, 1 f., thuluth script. Qur'an 112 (Surat al-Ikhlas), apparently copied from a calligraphic board. On the reverse is written: 'NB. dit is den ... (?) vant' moors geschrift | dat op de plank staet'.
(152) Turkish and Arabic, paper, 1 f., nasta`liq and ta`liq script. Calligraphic trials. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts (vol. I, 2000), p. 531.
(153 A) Persian, paper, 1 f., nasta`liq script. Examples of Persian calligraphy (Sa`di?), five panels of one line each, pasted on the page.
(153 B) Persian, marbled paper (Abru), 1 f., shekaste script. Letter or document, dated Wednesday 22 Ramadan 1037.
(154) Persian, paper, 1 f., nasta`liq script. Calligraphic panels, cut out and pasted here into a composition of its own.
(155) Arabic, paper, 1 f., naskh and thuluth scripts. Caligraphic examples, cut out and pasted on paper.
(156) Arabic, with some Persian, paper, 1 f., naskh script. Copy of an outgoing document (az Sadirat) dated Thursday 22 Tishrin II 1657.
(157) Turkish. The same text as No. 1, above, copied from it. Small piece of paper, apparently an amulet, to be used for avoiding the fire of hell. With glosses (transcribed Turkish) by Johannes Heyman (1667-1737). See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts (vol. I, 2000), p. 531.
(158) Persian, paper, 1 f., nasta`liq script. Calligraphic panels, cut out and pasted.
(159) Persian, paper, 1 f., nasta`liq script. Calligraphic panel,
(160) Turkish, Arabic, paper, 1 f., naskh script. Calligraphic trial in Turkish. On the verso poetical quotations in Arabic, possibly related. Some sources are mentioned in the Arabic part: Ibn `Atiyya al-Raqqaq, Mulla `Isa (?).
(161) Persian, paper, 1 f., naskh script. Poetical quotations, possibly copied by Shahin Kandi.
(162) Arabic, paper, 1 f., naskh script. Copy of a letter of a widow, with poetical quotations in what seems to be 17th-century Dutch, in Arabic script, possibly copied by Shahin Kandi.
(163) Persian, paper, 1 f., naskh script. Poetical quotations, possibly copied by Shahin Kandi. From the satyre of Firdawsi against Sultan Mahmud Sabuktagin.

(164) 37 ff. Arabic. Kitab Dalil ila al-I`tiqad al-Masihi. Protestant catechism by Johannes Heyman. Draft text, with numerous corrections, divided into 6 sections (Fasl), in form of questions and answers (Su'al – Gawab). Not in Voorhoeve, Handlist.
(165) and (166) Turkish, paper, 2 ff., naskh scrip. Surat Talkhis, a copy by Shahin Kandi of a letter confirming the `Ahdname, the Capitulation of 1612, issued by the Sultan to the Dutch envoy Cornelis Haga (1578-1654, in office 1612-1639) in which the safety of Dutch shipping from corsairs operating from Algiers was guaranteed. Signed by the governr of Algiers, Süleyman Pasha, and eight of his agha's and ser-i bölük's, and dated middle of Gumada I 1026. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts (vol. I, 2000), p. 531.
(167) and (168) Turkish, paper, 2 ff., naskh script. Surat Berat `Alishan. Issued in name of Sultan Ahmad I, dated Qustantiniyya, Rabi` I 1026 (March 1617). Copy by Shahin Kandi of a firman issued by Sultan Ahmad I confirming the exemption from paying the poll tax, granted to the British, French, Venetian and Dutch subjects residing in the Ottoman Empire. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts (vol. I, 2000), p. 531.
(169) Turkish, paper, 1 f., naskh script. Surat Berat `Alishan. Issued in name of Sultan Murad IV, dated Qustantiniyya, middle Safar 1039 (October 1629). Copy by Shahin Kandi of a letter of appointment for the Dutch consul at Aleppo who is to succeed Cornelis Witsen. Appointee's name to be filled in. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts (vol. I, 2000), p. 531.
(170) and (171) Turkish, paper, 2 ff., naskh script. Copy by Shahin Kandi of a letter, or perhaps passage from more than one letter, in which the Porte responds to at least one petition received from the 'King of the Netherlands' concerning the fate of Dutch prisoners. See Jan Schmidt, Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts (vol. I, 2000), pp. 531, 533.
(172) Persian, paper, 8 ff., naskh script. Copies in the hand of Shahin Kandi. First one page containing a quotation, possibly from a work on Sufi Saints. Then follow 13 pages with poetical quotations, quatrains and fragments, without indication of the source. Recently the companion volume to the present MS was discovered by Jan Schmidt. It is now MS Birmingham, John Rylands Library, Persian No. 913. A film of that MS is in Leiden (A 2092).

Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
Earlier provenance: The MS once belonged to David Rosnyai (Rozsnyai Dávid, 1641-1748), the dragoman in the service of the Transylvanian Prince Michael I Apafi (1632-1690, ruled 1661-1682), who read the book from 1679-1706 while he was in prison and who intended to translate the text into Hungarian. Later the manuscript was bought from his inheritors by Franciscus Tsepregi and Georgius Veresfói, who give the book to Albert Schultens (1686-1750). The note stating most of the above information was drawn up in Claudiopolis (Kolozsvar, Cluj) on April 13, 1732. A note about the previous ownership of Franciscus Tsepregi and Georgius Veresfói, who give the book to Albert Schultens (1686-1750) is also in Or. 1249, Or. 1285, Or. 1286 and Or. 1295 below.

Arabic, Latin, paper, 60 ff.
The title-page describes the contents as follows: 'Johannis Andreae Confusio Sectae Mahometicae ex Hispanica in Latinam linguam versa ab Jacobo Golio, viro cl.' Text in Golius' handwriting, text on the title-page probably in a later hand. CCO V, pp. 89-90 (No. 2392). Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

¶ This is the beginning of a Latin translation made by Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) of the work entitled Confusio sectae Mahometanae by Johannes Andreas (fl. 1587), who wrote the work in Spanish. Golius' direct version, which was never completed nor published, has the Arabic words in Arabic script. Golius' translation is not complete, it stops in the middle of the ninth chapter. J. Lauterbach's version (published in Utrecht 1646 [409 F 2], 1656) was translated from the Italian translation by Domonicus de Gazelu. A Latin version has been ascribed to Gibertus Voetius (1589-1676) as well, possibly because he wrote the preface to Lauterbach's version (Utrecht 1656).

Works by Zarifi of Corlu. He was apoet of the late 10/16th century to the early 11/17th centuries. He was still alive in 1013 (1604-1605), according to a chronogram on f. 144b, lines 8-9.
(1) ff. 1b-145a. Rahat al-Arwah. Collection of stories, alternated by poetic intermezzi. The text originates from 1013 AH from the fort Churli, during the reign of Sultan Ahmad b. Muhammad b. Murad. The text is divided into 8 chapters which are enumerated in CCO 2187 (IV, p. 337).
(2) ff. 146b-179a. Mihr u Mah, romantic mathnawi. This is not the work of the same title by `Ali (d. 1008 AH), as CCO 710 (II, p. 128) has it. E. Birnbaum in 'The date of `Ali's Turkish Mesnevi Mihr ü Mah', in: BSOAS 23 (1960) pp. 138-139, confirms this identification (originally made by Agah Sirri Levend) of the Leiden manuscript and gives a list of the erroneous references to `Ali for this manuscript. First line is given in CCO.
(3) ff. 180b-256a. Diwan. CCO 705 (II, p. 127).

Or. 1339 - Or. 1342
Collection of manuscripts brought from Tunis to The Netherlands by the Dutch traveller and merchant Jean Émile Humbert (1771-1839), then purchased by King William I, and donated by him to the Leiden library. In Or. 1645, below, documents and study materials on Arabic, the Zenati language and on Phoenician antiquities are preserved, all originating from Humbert. The important purchase of Ibn Khaldun's Kitab al-`Ibar by Leiden University (Or. 1350, below) was conducted through the intermediary of Humbert. Humbert was a son of the well-known Leiden painter Humber de Superville and a younger brother of the scholar David Pierre Giottino Humbert de Superville (1770-1849). See his biography by W.M.C. Regt in NNBW 10, col. 394-395. To all this can be added that Humbert is the author of a romantic poem in French, entitled Le voyageur. Romance. It was printed without mention of place and date, and was probably distributed by Humbert among his relatives and friends before his departure abroad. In it is an engraving by T.C. Bruining (1801-1877) which may well represent an idealized picture of Humbert at work on African soil. On the Leiden copy of this poem a former owner has written ‘oom Turk’ (uncle Turk), as Humbert may have been known in his family. Humbert’s acquisitions for the Leiden library were sollicited by the then professor of Arabic, H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835). In Or. 1645, below, a letter by Dr. J.H.A. Ringeling, dated Amsterdam, March 2, 1983, is added, which contains an enumeration of the Royal decrees issued in connection with Humbert and illustrating details of his biography and official career. These decrees can be summed up as follows:

a. Royal decree of January 16,1818 (No. 74), SS 548. J.E. Humbert in Tunis is appointed as major-engineer for service on Java.
b. Royal decree of August 21, 1818 (No. 58), SS 673. Major Humbert in Tunis obtains leave for 6 months from duty in Java, because of his ongoing commitment with the ruler of Tunis.
c. Royal decree of February 17, 1820 (No. 91), SS 948. Captain-Engineer Humbert in Livorno receives extension of leave from East-Indian duties, because of family matters.
d. Royal decree of May 2, 1821 (No. 48), SS 1187. Major-engineer Humbert is relieved from his East-Indian duties, and receives a pension from January 1, 1821, onwards.
e. Royal decree of July 2, 1821 (No. 57), SS 1223. The minister of public education is authorized, on the basis of a report No. 96 of June 30, 1821, by Professor C.J.C. Reuvens (1793-1835), to offer an amount of 17,000 Dutch guilders for Humbert’s collection of antiquities and numismatic materials.
f. Royal decree of July 9, 1825 (No. 73), SS 2268. The retired major Humbert is promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.
g. Royal decree of January 26, 1831 (No. 3), SS 3516. Humbert receives permission to return to Italy.
h. Royal decree of April 29, 1835 (No. 77), SS 4022. Humbert receives funds for a journey to Leiden and back to Italy.

Collection of Arabic, Spanish and other manuscripts from Faustino de Borbon, purchased in Paris in March 1831 from the library of Louis-Jérôme Gohier (a French politician who lived 1746-1830). According to the auction catalogue, Catalogue de livres composant la bibliothèque de L.J. Gohier, dont la vente aura lieu le 14 mars 1831 (Paris 1831), p. 250, and CCO I, pp. 52-53, note 3, this collection, or parts of it, originally came from the private library of the king of Spain. The manuscripts had been captured by the French during the Napoleonic wars in Spain. The auction catalogue adds while annotating No. 2466: 'Don Faustino de Borbon, surnommé Muscat, était un Arabe très versé dans sa langue: il fut le coopérateur de Casiri dans la composition de sa Bibliotheca arabico-hispana-escurialis, rival de Conde, et employé à la bibliothèque particulière du roi d'Espagne; les six ouvrages ci-dessus [Nos. 2460-2465 of the auction catalogue], de sa main, ainsi que les nos. 2467 et 2468 ci-après, ont été tirés de cette bibliothèque lors de línvasion de Bonaparte.' In some of the manuscripts the royal owner's mark can be read: 'Es del Rey No. Sr' (Or. 1359 and Or. 1360). Some of the manuscripts which were auctioned went to the Royal Library in Berlin. CCO I, p. 53 (note), enumerates these. Dozy considers the works described here as entirely devoid of utility (ibid.). See on Don Faustino de Borbon also P. de Gayangos, History of the Mohammedan dynasties in Spain (London 1840), vol. I, pp. ix ff.

Or. 1397 - Or. 1433
Collection of manuscripts purchased in October 1836 at the auction of the library of H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835). For all items reference is made to the auction catalogue, Bibliothecae Hamakerianae pars. Sive catalogus librorum de rebus ac literis orientalibus ..., Leiden 1836. Most manuscripts are in fact Hamaker's notes, transcipts, extracts, observations and translations, on a great variety of subjects, reflecting his wide interests. Topics which are conspicuously present in the collection include Arabic historiography, comparative linguistics, and classical and Indo-European studies. J. Nat, De studie van de Oostersche talen in Nederland in de 18e en de 19e eeuw (Purmerend 1929), pp. 129-134, gives a summary survey of Hamaker's achievements.

Papers that once belonged to Hamaker are registered as Or. 5751 – Or. 5752, below.

An essay by H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835) on the geographical work by Sipahi-zada (d. 997 AH), entitled Awdah al-Masalik ila Ma`rifat al-Buldan wal-Mamalik. Hamaker proceeds by translating the part on `Iraq-i `Agam in Sipahi-zada's work. It is probable that Hamaker used the Leiden MS of Sipahi-zada's work, Or. 602, above, for his work. Hamaker's interest in `Iraq-i `Agam is also reflected by the thesis of P.J. Uylenbroek (1797-1844), *Specimen geographico-historicum exhibens dissertationem de Ibn Haukalo geographo, nec non descriptionem Iracae Persicae cum ex eo scriptore, tum ex aliis mss. arabicis bibl. Or. 1413 Latin, Arabic, paper, 50 pp.
Latin excerpts by H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835) of MS Paris 785 (= BNF, Arabe ???), being the Futuh Misr by `Abd al-Rahman b. `Abdallah Ibn `Abd al-Hakam (d. 257/871), GAL G I, 148. In Leiden, Hamaker had, of course, Or. 705 (2), above, at his disposal. Hamaker's interest in the Futuh Misr is reflected by his doctoral thesis, which is the partial edition of Or. 200, above, being the work by pseudo-Waqidi, GAL G I, 136: Incerti auctoris liber De expugnatione Memphidis et Alexandriae, vulgo adscriptus Abou Abdallae Mohammedi Omari filio, Wakidaeo, medinensi. Textum arabicum ex codice bibliothecae L.B. descripsit, plurimisque vitiis purgatum edidit et annotationem adjecit Henricus Arentius Hamaker. Leiden 1825. CCO 2459 (V, p. 121).

Or. 1416
Latin, Arabic, paper, ff.
The beginning of a Latin translation by H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835) of the Kashf al-Zunun by Haggi Khalifa (d. 1067/1657), GAL G II, 428. The translation covers the text coinciding with the edition Flügel I, pp. 1-32. CCO 2510 (V, p. 140); CCA 28 (I, p. 27). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 155. Hamaker probably used the manuscript(s) of the text, which he had ordered from Istanbul, Or. 1370 and possibly Or. 1371, above.
¶ In CCO 767 (II, pp. 149-153) is an erroneous reference to Or. 1416. That should be to Or. 1414, above.

Or. 1455 - Or. 1502
Collection of manuscripts from the library of Jan Rudolf van Eerde (1774-1835), a professor of history in the university of Groningen and the co-author of the catalogue of the Groningen library. The collection consists in fact mostly of the unpublished scholarly heritage of the Schultens family, only Or. 1499 being of an older origin as it seems. The collection was purchased in 1836 by auction in Groningen , by or on behalf of King William I, and then donated by the monarch to the Library of Leiden University, where the collection was registered in the course of 1837. There is an auction catalogue of the entire Van Eerde collection: *Bibliotheca Eerdiana, sive Catalogus librorum, qui studiis inservierunt viri clarissimi Jani Rudolphi van Eerde, in facultate philos. theor. en litt. hum., quae Groningae est, Professoris ordinarii. Notes by Albert Schultens (1686-1750) on the Book of Job. Among other materials this item contains an interleaved copy of Albert Schultens' Animadversiones Philologicae in Jobum (1708), with notes mainly in Arabic. CCO 2478 (V, p. 124). A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (1977), p. 70. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist. Schultens' interest in the book of Job is clear from several of his publications. His Latin translation was the basis for other translation of the work (Liber Jobi cum nova versione ad hebraeum fontem et commentario perpetuo). Leiden 1737.

Or. 1469
Hebrew, Latin, paper with Dutch watermarks, of different sizes, 94 ff., no date given. Collection of notes and draft texts on Hebrew grammar and criticism of the Old Testament, by J.J. Schultens (1716-1778). Added is also a printed work, entitled Elenchus Philol. quo praecipua, quae circa textum et versiones S.S. disputari inter philologos solent, breviter indicantur. In usum studiosae juventutis, which at the time was published anonymously by its author Hadrianus Reland (1676-1718), published in Leiden in 1755 (?!), with manuscript notes by J.J. Schultens. All this according to CCO 2484 (V, p. 125). A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (1977), p. 72 (without detailed contents, and without mention of the Elenchus).
¶ The contents of the portfolio was in September 1999 as follows:
(1) 1 f. Tabula Formationis Specierum Derivativarum ex specie primigenia simplici.
(2) 7 ff. Tabula Tertia Formationem specierum verbi exhibens.
(3) 4 ff. Several notes on Hebrew grammar, also drafts for a Caput II. De Quaesitionibus, quae in controversiam de integritate Cod.Hebr. ...unt., Cap. III. De Statu Controv., and Cap. IV.
(4) 4 ff. Text on the same subject. Pars I. De Integritate Codicis Hebraei in genere, with the draft of the beginning of a chapter: Cap. I. De ortu et natalibus controversiae super integritate Codicis Hebr.
(5) 8 ff. Praelectiones ad Elenchum Cl. Relandi. See CCO V, p. 125 for the full title of this Elenchus, a work which does not seem to be available in any Dutch library. Upon inspection, the printed version of the Elenchus was not found in the portfolio.
(6) 2 ff. Several draft notes. Cap. I. De Integritate Cod. Hebr. in gr..
(7) 4 ff. Draft notes, beginning: Idoneam circumspicienti mihi materiam, quam, promovendo generoso vestro in Litterat. Hebr. ardori ...
(8) 2 ff. Several shorter draft notes: Introductionuncula ..., and others.
(9) 8 ff. Draft text, beginning: § VIII. 1. Haud incommode omnis sententiarum varietas ad geminam classem revocatur. See also (13), below.
(10) 6 ff. Several notes.
(11) 4 ff. Draft copy of De Lingua Primaeva. Two sets of theses, 16 + 31 in all. Partly repeated in the next set of theses.
(12) 11 ff. Neat copy of These De Lingua Primaeva. Partly identical with the preceding set. Followed by the beginning only of similar these on the Babylonian confusion of tongues (2 theses).
(13) 3 ff. Several notes and drafts: § VIII. De Punctis. Argumenta Waltoni. § VIII. Sententiae omnes revocari possunt ad geminam classem.
(14) 1 f. Primae lineae dissertationis de Origine Punctorum.

(15) 8 ff. Draft text: Caput I. De Lingua Hebraea. § II. De Linguae Hebraeae adpellationibus.
(16) 10 ff. Draft text: De Confusione Babylonica.
(17) 4 ff. Draft text: Cap. I. De Lingua Hebraea, in several versions.
(18) 5 ff. Draft text: Cap. III. § 11-14.

Or. 1499
Collective volume with texts in Arabic, some of Hebrew interest, paper, ff.
(1) ff. 1-54. Bible texts belonging to the Heidelberg Catechism, and partly to the Creed in 37 articles by Guido de Brès (1522-1567). Probably written by Mozes Michaelis in c. 1646. CCO 2391 (IV, pp. 89-90). See for this Voorhoeve's Handlist, opposite p. 214 in the interleaved author's copy which is kept in the Legatum Warnerianum. CCO V, p. 89 (No. 2391), however, describes the manuscript as having been copied by Jacobus Golius (1596-1667) from the manuscript of the Arabic New Testament which was used by Th. Erpenius for his edition (Novum D.N. Jesu Christi Testamentum arabice ex Bibliotheca Leidensi. Leiden 1616). See on Michaelis' activities for Golius also W.M.C. Juynboll, Zeventiende-eeuwsche Beoefenaars van het Arabisch in Nederland (Utrecht 1931), pp. 171-172. See also Or. 2088, below.
(2) ff. 55-97. Translation of abstracts from Sefer Yuhasin hasalem (Liber Juchassin sive lexicon biographicum et historicum) by Abraham Zacuto (c. 1500 AD) taken from Samuel Schullam's edition (zaman 8-10 and the epilogue by the editor). Several leaves are missing. and other Hebrew works, in extremely bad Arabic, written in a European hand. Apparently copied in the 17th century (because of the previously described text?). The abstracts contain the chronology from the period of Heraclius and the Prophet Muhammad till the Ottoman Sultan Selim. The other works which were used for excerpting in Arabic are mentioned in CCO and CCA. They are 'Orhot `Olam by Abraham Farrizol and excerpts by Moses Isserles (c. 1525-1572) from Yesod `Olam, with abrupt end. See for this Voorhoeve's Handlist, opposite p. 428 in the interleaved author's copy which is kept in the Legatum Warnerianum. See also CCO 2606 (V, pp. 194-195); CCA 905 (II, p. 55). Not mentioned in A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (1977).

Earlier provenance: From the Library of Everardus Scheidius (1742-1794, his auction catalogue p. 92, No. 34. Scheidius owned five MSS of the text, which are now Acad. 167, Acad. 168 and Leiden Or. 1505, plus the two MSS which were purchased by A.I. Silvestre de Sacy (1758-1838) at the Scheidius auction, who used them for his own edition Les séances de Hariri, publiées en Arabe, avec un commentaire choisi par M. le baron Silvestre de Sacy. Paris 1822 [855 A 9]. See also Catalogue P. De Jong, pp. 106-107 (No. 55). The five copies of the text are on pp. 92-93, Nos. 33-37, of the Scheidius auction catalogue.
A copy by N.W. Schroeder (1721-1798) taken from this MS is MS Utrecht Or. 13.

Or. 1507
Arabic and Coptic, paper, 152 pp., before 1758 AD, copied by Dr. J. Smith, who had been a minister of the divine word in Lille. On p. 152 is a copy of the Arabic colophon of the exemplar, which was completed on 19 Amshir of the year ... (= 1399?) of the Martyrs, corresponding with the third decade of Safar 1094 (1683). A note in Latin on p. 152 also mentions 1671 AD as a date in the exemplar.
Liber Leviticus Mosis Coptice et Arabice Ex Biblioth. Hoingtington: descriptus ab Doct. domino Smith quondam V.D.M. in Lillo. (titlepage).
Leviticus, in Coptic and Arabic, copied from MS 33 in the Huntington collection in the Bodleian Library which is dated 1671 AD. CCO 2366 (V, p. 77). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 49.
Earlier provenance: Gerardus Kuypers (Dutch theologian, 1722-1798), received the book in 1758 as a present from Dr. J. Smith from Bremen, who had made the copy in England (prelim, opposite title-page). In the Leiden OPAC there is title in which references to both Kuypers and Smith occur (Derde briev van Gerardus Kuypers, predikant te Nieuwkerk op de Veluwe. Ter verdediging van zyne twee historische verhandelingen, aan ... Joan van den Honert, T.H.S., professor en predikant te Leiden. Met een aanhangzel, waar in een brief van ... J. Smith, predikant te Putten. Over het werk Gods aldaar [...]. Utrecht 1751. See Knuttel 18356. [980 F 3:22]) One wonders whether these are the same two persons whose friendship is documented by this MS.
Provenance: Purchased in 1838 from a private collector through the intermediary of Dr. C.J. van der Vlis.
See Kruit & Witkam, List (Leiden 2000), p. 11.

Or. 1508 - Or. 1569
Second part of the Testa collection, which arrived in the library in April 1839. It is not clear from where exactly these manuscripts came and who was the donator of the collection. Jan Schmidt, in volume 2 of the Turkish manuscript catalogue, gives no less than four Testa's who may have given the manuscripts to the Leiden library. Or. 1435 - Or. 1454 came from Aleppo. Apart from this collection more manuscripts were donated by this Testa, and registered in the library as Or. 1435 - Or. 1454, Or. 1503. In all, the Testa collections, which were registered in 1837 and in April 1839, contain 83 manuscripts.

Incomplete copy (abrupt ending) of Kitab al-Manazil, an ethical work, without indication of author. Apparently translation from another language into Turkish. CCO 1974 (IV, pp. 225-226) gives the chapter headings.
¶ CCO says, in Latin: 'The title is mentioned in the preface, and it is said that it was given to our text for this reason, because in it are mostly treated questions in connection with private and social life.' And: 'A book on an ethical subject, about whose author I cannot tell anything. That much is evident, that the book was translated into Turkish from another language.' And: 'The book is quite a late date. There is a quotation from the Sharh al-Fara'id by al-Sharif al-Gurgani (d. 814 or 816) ...'

Collection of Middle-Eastern manuscripts from the library of J.H. van der Palm (1763-1840), purchased at the Van der Palm auction in April 1841. See for a survey of the entire collection: Catalogus librorum ac manuscriptorum bibliothecae Schultensianae qua, dum in vivis erat usus est Joh. Henr. van der Palm. Accedit [...] appendix librorum ac manuscriptorum [...] quorum omnium publicae fiet Auctio [...] Die 20, sqq. m. Aprilis A. MDCCCXLI per S. et J. Luchtmans [...] et D. du Mortier et filium. Leiden 1841 [751 D 43 and 751 D 44]. Van der Palm had acquired the manuscripts in 1794 from the collection of H.A. Schultens (1749-1793), and several of these manuscripts may have belonged to the latter's father, J.J. Schultens (1716-1778) or grandfather, A. Schultens (1686-1750). The Schultens manuscripts are on pp. 185-192 of the auction catalogue, Van der Palm's own manuscripts on pp. 308-311.

Or. 1571

Collective volume with texts in Arabic, paper, 210 ff., illustrated with seven miniatures (fixed to the pages), dated 12 Kanun II 1331 of the era of al-Tagassud al-Ilahi, copied by Ilyas b. Butrus, known as al-`Arif, and commissioned by al-walad al-`aziz Guzab b. al-marhum Manuwil al-Zaffat (colophon on f. 198b). European full-parchment wrapper binding, with the use of a fragment of a medieval Latin manuscript (one ornamented capital still visible, as are a few coloured capitals).

The volume contains an Arabic translation of the Gospels, followed by two shorter and incomplete texts devoted to the Holy Virgin. Often there are indications about using the text for readings incorporated in the text, which give the text an impression of a lectionary.

At some stage the manuscript must have arrived in Europe, long before it arrived in Leiden in the collection of H.A. Schultens. This is borne out, firstly by the 16th- or 17th-century parchment binding, then by the title written in Latin in a 17th-century (?) hand, in the second fly-leaf in front: Paraphrasis Arabica quattuor evangeliarum, and by the marginal indications of the chapters (Caput 2 on f. 2a, etc.). In the first part of the codex these are sometimes accompanied by similar notes in French (e.g. le x. chapy, on f. 14b). The notes in Latin and Arabic opposite f. 1a seem to date from the 18th century. An inscription in Hebrew script over the Arabic text of f. 1a.
(1) The Four Gospels, with illustrations. CCO 2377 (V, p. 82). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 50. Contents:
- ff. 1a-54b. The Gospel according to Saint Matthew.
- ff. 56a-89a. The Gospel according to Saint Mark.
- ff. 90a-150a. The Gospel according to Saint Luke.
- ff. 152a-198b. The Gospel according to Saint John.

(2) Fragments of a text in praise of the virgin Mary, with prayers added in a different hand. CCO 2377 (V, p. 82).
- ff. 200a-205b. Incomplete text (abrupt beginning) of a prayer addressed to Saint Mary.
- ff. 206b-210b. In a different hand. Prayers addressed to Saint Mary. The prayers are numbered 1-48. Of prayer No. 49 the number has been written, but the text is lacking.

¶ The miniatures in this manuscript were pasted on or sewed to the pages, or fixed in both ways at the same time. It is not self-evident that they would be cut out from another manuscript, since the reverse side of the paper on which they are painted does not contain text. As the copyist has reserved space for the miniatures, one may assume that they are older than the manuscript. All of the miniatures are worn, with loss of colouring matter. Occasionally the paper has been pressed upon, so as to give a slightly 3-dimensional look at the images. The images on the miniatures are framed. There are four full-page miniatures, one of two-third-page size, and two of smaller size than half-page. The following miniatures can be found:
f. 2b. Nativity scene. In Mathew 2, small size, at the bottom of the page.
f. 55b. Mark the evangelist, full-page. Before the beginning of the Gospel.
f. 89b. Luke the evangelist, full-page. Before the beginning of the Gospel.
f. 91b. The Annunciation, small size, at the bottom of the page.
f. 146a. The Crucifixion, two-third-page.
f. 151b. John the evangelist, full-page. Before the beginning of the Gospel.
f. 195b. Ascension, full-page.
There is an article by Lucy-Anne Hunt on the illustrations in this manuscript.
Provenance: Catalogue of the J.H. van der Palm auction (1841), MS 1 (pp. 185-186), where the colophon is quoted, but where nothing is said about the earlier European history of the MS..

Collection of letters. CCO 333 (I, p. 191):
(1) One paper sheaf (33 x 20.5 cm) with title in Latin: 'Epistola Imperatoris Japonensium ad Principem Mauritium' (Letter of the Emperor of the Japanese to Prince Maurice [of Orange-Nassau]). Title in Japanese: `Nipponkoku Minamoto no Ieyasu fukush Oranda kokushu Denka' (Reply by [the shogun] Minamoto no Ieyasu of the country Japan to his Highness the Lord of Holland.)
The letter itself measures 34.5 x 46 cm. It is written on one sheet of non-European paper. It is kept folded three times. The text of the letter (in 15 columns of Chinese characters) is on one side of the paper. The verso side is blank, except for a description of the letter in Dutch: 'Copie vande missive gheschreven / by sijne Keijserlerlycke Mat van Japa / aen syne Princell. Exctie Mauritium / d de scheepen den Rooden Leeuw met Pijlen ende den Grijffoen medeghenom.' (Copy of the missive written by His Imperial Majesty of Japan to His Princely Excellency Maurice, taken on board the ships The Red Lion with Arrows and the Griffon).
Published by O. Nachod, Beziehungen der niederländischen Ost-Indischen Compagnie zu Japan im XVII. Jahrhundert. ?? 1897 (Beilage V).??
¶ This is the first reply by the Japanese government to the Dutch who wished to open up trade, showing an attitude quite different from the second reply several years later. The original was lost, Japanese and Dutch scholars have searched in vain. This makes this copy all the more valuable.
(2) Block print. 48.2 x 102.2 cm. Printed in red ink. Text within illuminated frame. CCO 333 (I, p. 191) gives as contents: `Epistola, textum Sininicum, Syriacum et Latinum offerens. Scripta est rubro colore anno Kam-Hi 55, 9ae Lunae d. 170 (Octob. 31 anni 1716)' (Letter with text in Chinese, Syriac and Latin. Written in red ink in the year Kam-Hi 55, in the 9th moon on day 170 [31 October 1716])
Imperial edict printed in red ink.
¶ Imperial edict in three languages, from left to right: Manchu, Chinese and Latin. The Emperor inquires after the fate of four Jesuits he sent to Europe in the years 1706-1708. They have not returned since and a letter sent to Rome by the Russians has not been answered. The Emperor orders to make inquiries with Western merchants residing in Canton, and therefore instructed the Jesuits at his Court to translate the edict into Latin. The Latin text is signed by a large number of priests, mostly Jesuits, with replica's of their actual signatures. From Western sources we know the fate of the four emissaries: two of them drowned on the way to Europe (1708), and one on the return-journey (1720). The fourth died in 1711 in Alicante, when he was about to board ship. (Formerly the document was framed and kept at the Sinological Institute. On November 29, 2004, the document was returned by Dr. Hanno Lecher, librarian of the Sinological Institute, to the Central Library of Leiden University).

The Latin text reads as follows:

Nos Ytoury, Voamcaohoa, Tchaotcham, Auloe Ouintien, et ejusmodi, ubi libri conficiuntur, locorum Mandarini, obedientes reverenter Imperatoris mandato, ad omnes qui ex Europa appulerunt, scribimus.
Anno Kam-Hi 45° PP. Ant[s] Barros et Ant[s] Beauvolier: anno Kam-Hi 47° PP. Jos[s] Provana et Raymundus de Arxo de mandato Imperatoris in Europa missi sunt. Multis ab hinc annis non modò nullum responsum venit, unde verum a falso discerni non potest, sed etiam confusi rumores afferuntur. Idcirco Moscovitis rursus tradita est Epistiola deferenda, quam verisimile est pervenisse. Certè quidem cum homines a nobis missi redierint, et negotia omnino clara fuerint, tunc adhiberi fides poterit. At nisi homines a nobis missi revertantur, deerit verum fundamentum: et etiamsi quaecumque epistolae vel nuntia venerint, omnino credi non potest. Et veriti ne litterae penetrare non possint, has scribimus: his versio europea adjiciatur: omnia typis mandentur: Proregis Cantoniensis sigillo muniatur: non autem claudantur: plurimaque Exemplaria recenter advectis Europaeis distribuantur, quae ipsi secum asportent. Datum An: Kam-Hi 55° (1716) 9[ae] Lunae die 17[a] (Octob: 31.)

Earlier description: CCO I, 191 (No. 333). Not mentioned in Schlegel 1883 nor in Schlegel 1886. The above notes are by P.N. Kuiper and J.J. Witkam. The Latin text was copied by J.J. Witkam after the original had returned in the Central Library.
(3) The two following documents are possibly from the same collection. No signs of former ownership or clues to provenance are available. They may also belong to Or. 5011. CCO I, p. 191 does not mention the two Indian or Ceylonese letters. The dating of the letters could decide the provenance here, either Van Papenbroek, or Millies.

Collective volume with texts in Turkish on divination, paper, ff., written by one and the same copyist.
(1) ff. 1-39. Work on the interpretation of dreams, of which the title (erased) and author cannot (anymore) be ascertained. Divided into 57 chapters. CCO 1254 (III, pp. 188-189).
(2) ff. 40-43r. Kitab-i Ikhtilag, divided into two sections. Anonymous. CCO 1257 (III, p. 189).
(3) ff. 43r-92r. Untitled and anonymous work on the interpretation of dreams. Divided into 52 chapters. CCO 1255 (III, p. 189).
Provenance: The manuscript has a remarkably long European history. It was purchased for the Leiden library in Amsterdam, in June 1849, at the auction of the library of P.J.L. Huet (Catalogue, p. 39, No. 543). Previous provenances are the collections of the Hebrew scholar J.P. Berg (-), who somehow obtained it from the collection of Hadrianus Reland (1676-1718), who may have purchased it at the auction (Catalogue 1696, p. 25, No. 26) of the private library of Jacobus Golius (1596-1667), who apparently obtained it from the collection of Justus Raphelengius (1573-1628), which was auctioned off in 1626.

Nafh al-Tib min Ghusn al-Andalus al-Ratib wa-Dhikr Waziriha Lisan al-Din Ibn al-Khatib, by Ahmad b. Muhammad al-Maqqari (d. 1041/1631), GAL G II, 296. CCO 2627 (V, p. 209); CCA 1004 (II, pp. 104-105). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 246. Voorhoeve's reference to the edition by Muhammad Muhyi al-Din Abd al-Hamid (10 vols., Cairo 1367-1369/1947-1949, [801 E 21-30]) does not mean that the present MS was used for that edition. The Egyptian editor used the Leiden edition by R.P.A. Dozy and others as one of his textual sources. The present manuscript is MS L of the (partial) edition by Dozy and others, Analectes sur l'histoire et la littérature des Arabes d'Espagne par Al-Makkari. Leiden 1860-1861. See the description by Gustave Dugat of the earlier provenance on p. ix of the introduction to volume 1, where Dugat also gives a translation of the colophon.

¶ There is contradictory information concerning the earlier provenance of the manuscript. Gustave Dugat gives detailed information on the manuscript's earlier origin. According to him it was purchased at the sale (auction?) of the manuscripts of the Marquis de la Ferté-Senectère in Paris. Before that the manuscript would have belonged to the French orientalist Antoine-Jean Saint-Martin (1791-1832, see on him NBG 43 (1864), cols. 70-72). It should be noted that a library belonging to the marquis de la Ferté-Senectère was auctioned off much later, in April 1873. The auction catalogue (752 E 50) does indeed contain a number of Arabic manuscripts, but not this Maqqari-manuscript. Whether there would have been an earlier sale of manuscripts from this source could not be ascertained. In view of the use of the present manuscript for the Leiden edition of the work in 1860-1861 (which in fact had started to be published in installments from 1855 onwards), an acquisition as late as 1873 would definitely be an anachronism.
However, according to the 'Journaal' of the Legatum Warnerianum the manuscript was purchased by the Leiden library in 1853 from the library of Pascual de Gayangos (1809-1897). If the date 1853 is correct, and that seems to fit in with the dates of acquisition of the manuscripts with lower and higher numbers, the provenance of the De Gayangos library may be the mistake here.

French, Italian, Arabic, Berber, paper in different sizes.
Materials from Tunis and Algeria received through the intermediary of the Dutchman J.E. Humbert (1771-1839), who had collected these from 1822 onwards. Other materials received through Humbert are registered as Or. 1339 - Or. 1342, above, where a survey of Humbert's career is given. CCO 2507 (V, pp. 128-131). The division of the materials as made by M.J. de Goeje for the description in CCO is followed here:
Notes and documents, mainly on the geography, topography and languages of Tunis and Algeria, collected by J.E. Humbert and his Jewish assistant Mardochée Naggiar (Murdakhay al-Naggar), in the course of 1822-1824 in Tunis and Algeria from several native informants, especially from one Berber, whose portrait is preserved among the notes (see IIa, below). Humbert apparently had travelled to Tunis, where he already had lived from 1796 till c. 1813, at the request of H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835. Previously he had also collected Phoenician inscriptions from Carthago (now preserved in the Museum of Archeology in Leiden). Added is a letter from J.H.A. Ringeling (Amsterdam, March 2, 1983), with biographical details on Humbert. See also Or. 1339 - Or. 1342, above.
Or. 1645 - I a. 12 pp. (34 x 20.5 cm). 'Tribus Arabes du Royaume de Tunis. (Note recueillie d'un Arabe)'.
French text. Names of tribes in transliteration. In all, 121 names of tribes are mentioned with an indication of their territories. On pp. 11-12 is a note by Humbert on the difficulties he encountered while collecting these data. Added is one leaf (28 x 23 cm) with the 121 names in Arabic script. Everything apparently written by Humbert. Added is a list of 44 ff. (32 x 11 cm) with names, written by an Arab of Tunis in an Oriental hand. That list was apparently Humbert's source for his own list.
Or. 1645 - I b. 4 pp. (26 x 22 cm). Notes on the Berber tribes in Constantine, Touggourt, Ouargla, Mzab, Ghadhamis, Fazzan, Algiers and Tunis, in Arabic, written by a European, with some short notes in French.
Added is a list (12 ff., 30 x 11 cm) of Berber tribes, written in Oriental Arabic script by Humbert's Berber informant.
Added is also a short note in French by Mardochée Naggiar on the competence of Humbert's Berber informant.
Or. 1645 - I c. 4 ff. (one sheet, 46 x 36 cm). 'Carte d'une partie du Royaume D'Alger, et sur laquelle est indiqué l'emplacement respectif des Tribus Berberes.' The location of the territories of Berber tribes are given in Arabic script. From the mouth of his informant, Humbert translated: '... c'est ainsi, ... que vous autres Chrétiens faites toujours pour connaitre la maison des autres afin dý entrer avec moins de danger.'
Or. 1645 - II a. Arabic, Berber, French, paper, 48 + ?? pp., drawing
'Vocabulaire Arabe et Zenati. Avec la Prononciation figurée de ces deux Langues, en lettres ordinaires.' French-Arabic-Zenati vocabulary, written by Mardochée Naggiar, consisting of 48 pp. (355 x 240 mm). Each page has five columns which contain the French word, the Arabic equivalent in Arabic characters, the pronunciation of the Arabic in Latin characters, the Zenati equivalent, the pronunciation of the Zenati in Latin characters. In all, some 1200 French words are given with their equivalents. There is no alphabetical order, the French words being arranged in several associative clusters. The contents of the vocabulary is of a purely practical nature. It contains mostly words needed in every-day conversations.

Towards the end there are some conversational phrases. Interspersed through the vocabulary are short explanatory remarks by Mardochée Naggiar, who signs with his name on the last page.
Added is the portrait of the Berber informant of Humbert. One sheet (355 x 240 mm), containing a pen drawing (en profil) in brown ink. The legend, reads 'Berber ou Zwawi de Gibel-Felissat-Melille dans le Royaume d'Alger.'
Added, is also a sheet, folded, into 4 pp. (355 x 245 mm) entitled 'Expressions Mauresques qui ont rapport au Commerce, à la Navigation, à la, Construction navale, à l'Etat Militaire, ainsi qu'à divers objets de Marchandises.' The list is written by Mardochée Naggiar, who signs with his name on the last page. It is a French-Arabic vocabulary, arranged according to the several subjects mentioned in the title. For each French word the Arabic equivalent is given in Arabic characters, and also the pronunciation. In all, some 220 words are given. See for an account by Naggiar on the methods used in composing these vocabularies under Or. 1645 V 2, below.
Or. 1645 - II b. Berber, French, paper, 8 pp.
Short notes on the grammar of the Zenati language, written by Humbert and consisting of 8 pp. (285 x 235 mm). Above his notes he has written: 'Voici tous les renseignemens, qu'avec beaucoup de peine et de patience on a pu recueillir sur la Grammaire Zenati.' The grammatical notes, which are of a morphological nature only, are followed by a short Zenati vocabulary. French and Arabic characters.
Or. 1645 - II c. Berber, French, paper of different sizes.
Collection of letters and. pieces of poetry in a Berber (Zenati) language, collected by Humbert from several copyists. Of one letter a French translation is given. The Berber texts are all written in Arabic characters.
The collection contains:
- 4 pp. (315 x 195 mm). Berber letter with French translation.
- 4 pp. (310 x 105 mm). Four short poems in Berber, with title 'Chanson d'amour'.
- 1 leaf (215 x 155 mm). 'Fragment d'une chanson mal écrite en Berber de Gibel Felissat.'
- l tiny leaf (80 x 80 mm) containing geographical names.
- 1 leaf (310 x 210 mm). Letter (?) in Berber.
- 1 leaf (215 x 155 min). 'Fragment d'une lettre d'un Zwawi ou Berber de Gibel Felissa. ne contenant que des mots de villes de plaines et de Tribus.'
- 4 pp. (310 x 105 mm), containing nine poetical pieces in Berber with title 'Chanson d'amour' and three poetical pieces in Berber with title 'Chanson die Guerre d'un Kabyle ou Berber die Gibel-Felissat-Temellil.'
- A packet of papers, containing, according to Humbert's description, 'Neuf feuilles détachées contenant des lettres et signes cabalistiques Arabes [...] acheté à Tunis d'un

Zwawi.' The packet contains eight sheets of paper of varying sizes, but not exceeding 170 x 120 mm. The sheets contain magical squares, amulet texts, etc., very much like the large collection of this kind of material in Or. 14.048 D, below. See also below, Or. 1645 - VI b.

Or. 1645 - III. Arabic, French, Italian, paper of varying sizes.

Notes on the Arabic alphabet and. numerals.

- Notes (4 pp.; 355 x 225 mm) on Arabic numerals in Italian and French. The Italian text was copied for Humbert from Targioni Tozzetti, Relazioni d'alcuni viaggi fatti in diverse parte della Toscana.... 2nd. edition, (Firenze 1768) vol. II, pp. 66-67. The French text is by Humbert and in it he relates how he registered five types of Arabic numerals, according to information which he had obtained in l8l8 from an inhabitant of the isle of Jerba.
- 'Alphabet Arabe écrit par un Kabyle de Gibel Felissat-Mellil', containing the Arabic alphabet, written in the maghribi order and fashion. One leaf (l95 x 310 mm).
- Table containing the Arabic alphabet, copied by Humbert after Pedro de Alcalá's Arte para ligeramente saber la lengua Arauiga (Granada 1505). One leaf (250 x 130 mm).
- Table containing three Arabic alphabets as used. in Tunis, the third of which is, according to a note by Humbert, used by the Jews when they write Arabic. Humbert has repeated here the Arabic alphabet from Pedro de Alcalá's Arte (see the preceding description). One leaf (200 x 310 mm).
- Table of the Arabic alphabet, according to the maghribi order, with 25 cryptographical alphabets with their names and, on a separate sheet, Humbert's French translation of these names. In all, 8 pp. (305 x 210 mm).

Or. 1645 - IV. Arabic, paper, ff.

Collection of eight Arabic letters and documents, apparently collected by Humbert as specimens of their kind. From the content it is evident that Humbert acquired, most of these documents from his father-in-law, the Dutch consul Charles Nyssen.

1. Deed, signed, by two `udul, dated 1 Muharram 1213/1798, in which it is stated that the damage caused to the free woman Saliha bint `Ali al-Mudligi al-Hanafi by the dog owned by M. b. `Ali al-Tarabulusi, the servant of the Dutch consul (qunsul Falamanq), amounting to 25 riyal, was duly paid. for by the owner of the dog to the dog's victim.

The original document, consisting of one leaf (415 x 150 mm) and written in magribi script, is accompanied by a transcript in Oriental handwriting (one leaf; 395 x l50 mm).

2. Deed, signed by two `udul, dated 28 Gumada II 1192/1778, in which it is stated. that Mustafa b. `Abdallah Qursu, whose offices are mentioned, owes to the 'Christian Nisa', the Dutch consul in Tunis (qunsur Falamanq) an amount of 48 riyal, for which the debtor is to pay certain specified amounts of fruit in return. The Dutch consul involved is probably Charles Nyssen, who later became Humbert's father-in-law.

The original document, consisting of 1 leaf (200 x 145 mm) and written in magribi script, is accompanied, by a transcript in Oriental handwriting (one leaf; 210 x 195 mm).

3. Deed, signed, by two `udul, in Tunis, dated 2 Ragab 1218/1803, in which it is stated, that the damages and. injuries incurred, by al-rayis Qasim b. Sa`id. al-Gharbi and `Umar b. Muhammad al-Gharbi, both of the corsair fleet (bahriyyat al-qursan), at the hands of two Christians, André Milits and Pietro Kuyidur (= Goejedeur ?), both belonging to the fleet of Mikil Magi, have been paid for. The two Christians had clubbed the two corsairs on the back and the head. The rayis Qasim received 175 riyal, including 25 riyal for medical treatment, and `Umar received 40 riyal.

The original document, consisting of 1 leaf (260 x 175 mm) and written in magribi script, is accompanied by a transcript in Oriental handwriting (one leaf; 290 x 195 mm).
4. Receipt of partial pre-payment for a saddle, dated 2 Safar 1239/1823, given by the Tunisian saddler M. b. Mansur to the Christian 'Anbir Falamank', by whom Humbert is probably meant. On behalf of Humbert acted his interpreter Mustafa b. Husayn al-Turki. In the text a description of the saddle Humbert apparently had ordered, is given. The price of the saddle is 300 riyal of which Humbert paid 100 riyal in advance. The document is signed by the saddler.
The original document, consisting of 1 leaf (215 x 130 mm) and written in magribi script, is accompanied, by a transcript in Oriental handwriting (one leaf; 215 x 150 mm).
5. Letter from Husayn Bey, dated 21 Muharram 1238/1822, to the Qa'id of Bizerta, concerning the movements of a fleet of Tuscan coral or pearl fishers (sayyadat margan). The language of the letter is on the verge of colloquial Arabic. On the back is the seal of the sender. This Husayn Bey is probably the one who succeeded his father as Bey of Tunis in 1239/1824. On the transcript Humbert has written: 'Ordre du Bey de Tunis, portant le cachet de son fils ainé, le Prince Hassin Bey Pacha, au Kait de Bizerte, rélativement aux bateaux Corailleurs Toscans.'
The original document, consisting of 1 leaf (290 x 200 mm) and written in magribi script, is accompanied, by a transcript in Oriental handwriting by 'un. des Ecrivains ou Sécretaires de la Cour' (one leaf; 305 x 205 mm).
6. A list of commercial goods (wool and silk), ordered by the Dutch consul Nyssen from the isle of Garba, and written by his secretary Mustafa b. Ibrahim. No date is mentioned. The following document is the receipt of payment for these goods.
The original document consists of 1 leaf (205 x 105 mm) and is written in magribi script. On the lower half a transcript of the text is given in Oriental handwriting.
7. Receipt given by Sa`id b. `Ali on 16 Rabic II 1239/1823 to consul Nyssen concerning the goods mentioned in the preceding documents. The goods were sent from Garba by Mustafa al-Gaziri at the request of the consul.
The original document, consisting of 2 leaves (210 x 150 mm; text on 1 page only) and written in magribi script, is accompanied by a transcript in Oriental handwriting (one leaf; 215 x 155 mm).
8. Copy of a letter by Sidi Mahmud Pahsa, Bey of Tunis (1230-1239/1814-1824), dated 15 Muharram 1235/1819, to the king of France (sultan Faransa) in which the conduct of the French consul Devoize, who is about to return to France, is highly praised. Humbert has written above the text: 'Cette Pièce peut donner une idée du Style employée à la Cours de Tunis.' In an inscription on the back of the document Humbert informs the reader that letters of recommendation of this kind are virtually for sale on the Barbary coast. One leaf; 335 x 215 mm.

Or. 1645 - V. Arabic, French, paper, ff.
Collection of treatises by Mardochée Naggiar on Arabic grammar which are apparently the answers to a number of questions put by Professor H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835) of Leiden. See for answers by Humbert to these questions Or. 1645 VIa, below.
1. One sheaf containing the paradigms of both the strong and the weak Arabic verb, with the forms both in colloquial and literary Arabic, with the pronunciation of the colloquial forms. All explanatory notes are in French. Most pages bear the signature of Naggiar, both in Latin and Arabic script. 14 ff. of 355 x 250 mm and. 2 ff. of 320 x 210 mm.
2. Treatise by Mardochée Naggiar in French on the Arabic language, both colloquial and. literary, with an account of the importance of the colloquial language for political purposes, and the explanation of several elementary features of Arabic grammar, e.g. the idafa construction (with an example taken from the Hebrew), the system of the three radicals, the pronunciation of Arabic and the method of transcribing Arabic characters in the Latin alphabet, and an introduction to the method, used. in composing an Arabic vocabulary, with which apparently the vocabulary described, above under Or. 1645 IIa, is meant. Several pages bear Naggiar's signature.
Three sheaves of loose sheets containing 14 ff.; 305 x 210 mm.
3. Note by Mardochée Naggiar in French on the Turkish language spoken on the Barbary coast. Signed, on f. 2a by Naggiar.
2 ff. ; 305 x 210 mm.
4. 'Remarques sur la langue Arabe qu'on parle dans les Iles die Malthe et de Gozo.' Notes in French on the Arabic spoken on Malta and Gozo, by Mardochée Naggiar. Written by Naggiar in a swifter hand than his other notes, so that one is inclined to believe that this treatise is his draft copy. Naggiar's signature is written on f. 2a.
2 ff. ; 320 x 210 mm.
Or. 1645 - VI a. French.
Notes in French on the ethnography, geography, numismatics and excavated antiquities of Barbary, by J.E. Humbert, dated Tunis 2 June 1824 (p. 11). Reference is made by Humbert to a list of questions probably put to him by Professor H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835) of Leiden. Answers by Naggiar to questions of the same list are described above, under Or. 1645 V. The original list, or its neat copy, does not seem to have been preserved.
12 pp.; 315 x 195 mm.
Or. 1645 - VI b. French.
Copy of lists in French made by J.E. Humbert of the objects (mostly classical and Christian antiquities) which he acquired on behalf of the Dutch government from Tunis, Malta, Sus, Ras Gibel, Sfax, Tripoli and. other places. Objects originating from Muslims and Jews in Tunis are mentioned on f. 11b. On f. 13b the nine fragments described above under Or. 1645 II c are listed. On f. 32a mention is made of an excavation in the neighbourhood of Carthago with sixteen diggers and. a supervisor. Similar excavations are mentioned in what follows. Copy of signatures by J.E.

Humbert (ff. 9b, 24a, 31b, 37b) and dates Tunis 15 May 1823 (f. 9b), 30 June 1823 (f. 11a), 28 September 1823 (f. 24a), 10 March 1824 (f. 31b) and 26 May 1824 (f. 37b), with a signature of the secretary who copied, the lists. F. 38 is blank.
38 ff.; 320 x 200 mm.
Or. 1645 - VII a. French, Arabic, paper.
French translation of an Arabic geographical and topographical survey of the province of Tunis, dictated in Arabic by the same Berber informant who Humbert and Naggiar employed for a similar survey of Algiers (see above, Or. 1645 I c) and other information. The text ends abruptly on f. 8b.
10 ff. (ff. 9-10 blank); 270 x 210 mm.
Added is one sheet (220 x 180 mm) with notes in Dutch, written in a different hand (possibly Hamaker's), on H.F.J. Estrup's Lineae topographicae Carthaginis Tyriae (Copenhagen l82l).
Or. 1645 - VII b. Arabic, paper.
List of the rulers of Tunis since the Hafsids and some of the historical events of their reigns, probably being the chapter titles of a MS of al-Kitab al-Bashi by Al-Hagg Hammuda b. Muhammad Ibn `Abd al-`Aziz al-Wazir al-Tunisi (d. 1202/1788), GAL S II, 688, and see also Muhammad Madur in the introduction to his edition of al-Kitab al-Bashi (vol 1, Tunis 1970, 7-35). Copied. by Mardochée Naggiar who signs with his name on f. 1b.
2 ff.; 320 x 210 mm.
Or. 1645 - VII c. Dutch, paper.
A letter and two notes concerning Humbert's activities.
1. Letter in Dutch by D.J. van Ewyck (who is apparently Daniel Jacob van Ewijck, a civil servant in the Dutch Ministry of Education), to Professor H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835) of Leiden, dated 26 March 1825, in which mention is made of Humbert's list of acquired antiquities (see above, Or. 1645 VI b).
2 ff. (text on f. la); 240 x 205 mm.
2. Note in Dutch by H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835) of Leiden, dated September 1825, in which he states his requests to Humbert in case the latter should make a second scientific journey through Italy and. Sicily to Tunis.
8 ff. (text ends on f. 6b); 220 x 190 mm.
3. Note in Dutch by Professor T.W.J. Juynboll (l802-l86l), dated 29 March 1859, in which the rather poor results of Hamaker's questionnaire are enumerated. This note was apparently added to the file, when it had already been registered in the Leiden library.
l f.; 210 x 135 mm.
Or. 1645 - VII d. Arabic, paper.
A list of titles and prices of six manuscripts were for sale in Tunis at the time Humbert was there. The manuscripts were apparently not bought for the Leiden Library.
l f. ; 315 x 215 mm.
Provenance: Before this collection of papers entered the Library in 1858 or 1859 it was in the private library of Jacob Geel (1789-1862), who was librarian of the University of Leiden during the period, of 1833-1858. Geel was a close friend of Hamaker's and became, after the latter's demise in 1835, guardian to his son. It is probably from this connection that Geel acquired the papers, although it is known that he himself maintained a correspondence with Humbert as well. (One letter in Leiden, BPL 2426 and a letter in BPL 1886). The papers do not seem to appear in the auction catalogue of Geel's private library Catalogus der Bibliotheek van J. Geel, sold by E. J. Brill's of Leiden on 25-28 October 1859 (751 E 44).

(Ar. 1645)

Or. 1646 - Or. 1678
Collection of manuscripts purchased in 1860 in Amsterdam, from the library of Dirk Cornelis van Voorst (1752-1833) (of 1757?, nog nazoeken NNBW IX:1231-1232) and his son Jan Jacob van Voorst (1791-1869). The manuscripts are described in part 6 of the catalogue, Catalogue de la bibliothèque de D.C. van Voorst et J.J. van Voorst. Amsterdam 1859, in 6 parts in 1 volume. (i. Théologie; ii. Arabic, Persian, with some Dutch, paper, 218 ff., dated Damascus, 1 Dhu al-Qa`da 985 AH.
Kanz al-Lugha. Arabic-Persian dictionary by Muhammad b. `Abd al-Khaliq Ibn Ma`ruf (9/15th cent.). The correct title is in the MS, f. 2b. Earlier provenance: Hadrianus Reland (1676-1718). CCO 2525 (V, pp. 148-149). CCA 115 (I, p. 71). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 152. On the fly-leaf is the (wrongly spelt) title of the work, written by Reland, together with his owner's note, and a quotation from d'Herbelot's Dictionnaire. The MS is not mentioned in Reland's catalogue of his own collection, which he gives at the end of his book De religione Mohammedica Libri Duo. Editio altera auctior. Utrecht 1717. That catalogue, however, only mentions the manuscripts which Reland had used for his book and is apparently not meant to be a description of his entire collection. On the fly-leaf at the end are some notes in Persian and Dutch, apparently written by an earlier owner, possibly a merchant, with words of commercial interest (e.g. laygan, 'Soort van persiaansche zijde').

Or. 1687 - Or. 1688
The two Leiden charters on copper plates. Donated to the library in 1862 by the successors to the estate of Prof. H.A. Hamaker (1789-1835), who was the first professor of Sanskrit in Leiden University. The two charters were brought from India to the Netherlands by Mr. Florentius Camper, who was a minister of the faith in Batavia from 1702-1713. By inheritance they came into the possession of a descendant of Camper who was married to Hamaker. The latter's successors donated the plates to the Leiden library. Or. 1688a contains later and related materials. The two charters were reproduced, transcribed and translated into English by K.V. Subrahmanya Aiyer, in: Epigraphia Indica 22 (1934), pp. 213-281. See on the larger Leiden plates also R.C. Majumdar, 'Note on the Sailendra kings mentioned in the Leiden plates', ibid., pp. 281-284.

Or. 1687
The larger Leiden plates. 21 copper plates, of which 16 plates contain text in Tamil and 5 plates contain text in Sanskrit. The plates are kept together with a string and a seal of copper. The text states that the South Indian ruler of the Chola family, Râjarâja I (985-1012 AD) in the 21st year of his reign ceded the revenue of an entire village to a Buddhist temple which was founded by a ruler of the Malay kingdom of Sriwijaya en Kedah in Nagapatam, in South India. The seal bears the name of Râjarâja's successor, Râjendrachola I (1012-1042).

The collection of Royal Academy of Delft. Registered in 1864. The Royal Academy of Delft (Koninklijke Academie) closed on July 1, 1864. The Academy had been founded in 1842 with the purpose to offer higher education to aspirant civil servants for the East Indies. After the closure of the Academy, the manuscript collection was transferred to the Library of the University of Leiden. Apart from Malay manuscripts (described now by E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts (Leiden 1998), vol. 1, pp. 29-148), the collection comprised Javanese manuscripts (described by Pigeaud, II, pp. 25-49), some Arabic manuscripts (reference in P. Voorhoeve, Handlist, 2nd ed., p. 569) and Batak manuscripts (described in P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batatici (Leiden 1977), p. 230.

See E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts (Leiden 1998), vol. 1, pp. 33-34.
Earlier provenances: The fly-leaf bears a dedication to A. Reland (1676-1718), and the manuscript was possibly given to him by François Valentijn (1666-1727). Later the manuscript came into the possession of J. Willmet (1750-1835), whose name is written in the book as well. It is not clear how it has come out of Willmet's collection. It must be said here that Willmet's Oriental manuscripts came into the possession of the Royal Academy of Arts and Sciences in Amsterdam, and are presently kept as a permanent loan in the Leiden library. It can only be observed, but not explained, that the present manuscript had somehow come in the collection of the Delft Academy, and from there into the possession of Leiden University library.

Added is a detailed list by P. Voorhoeve (1899-1996) describing the contents of the volume. For the description below, this list has been extensively used.
(1) pp. 1-2. Malay. Mantra.
(2) p. 3. Arabic. Hadith. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(3) pp. 4-6. Arabic. Du`a', partly taken from a work entitled Nasihat al-Muslimin. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(4) p. 7. Malay. Fa'ida. Divination. Fa'idat al-Sargi.
(5) pp. 8-18. Arabic, Malay. Bab Fadilat Laylat al-Qadr wa-Sharafiha (pp. 8-11, Arabic with interlinear Malay. pp. 12-18, mixture of Malay and Arabic). Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(6) pp. 19-103. Arabic. Silah al-Fuqara'. Anonymous collection of prayers. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 337. In fact, the treatise contains rather a great number of pious formulas which must be said for specific purposes or to obtain specific goals.
(6a) p. 104. A circular drawing, with some letters and numbers, but the purpose is not clear. Follow 6 unnumbered pages.
(7) pp. 105-106. Malay, Arabic. Doa menembelih `aqiqat. On shaving the hair.
(8) pp. 107-108. Malay. Drawings of Payung Rasulullah, Kupiah Umar Umayya, Panji-panji Muhammad, all meant as talismans.
(9) pp. 109-136. Malay. Mohor nubuat (the seal of prophecy). Divination, eschatological drawings.
- p. 121. The bindu matuga as Cincin Sulaiman.

- p. 124. Tapah Suleman, as amulet (Azimat Hamza).
- p. 125. Kubur Rasul Allah and kayu Sidrat al-Muntaha.
- p. 126. Masjid Nabi, kubur Nabi, serumai besar, bukit Kaf.
- pp. 127-128. An overview of the mosque in Mekka (right) and the mosque in Medina (left). To judge from the style of these overviews one must come to the conclusion that they were copied from the Dala'il al-Khayrat by al-Gazuli (d. 870/1465), GAL G II, 252. See also No. 14, below.
- p. 129. Rumpat Fatimah, with the graves of the Prophet Muhammad, the first four caliphs, and a great number of other, smaller, graves.
- p. 130. Padang Mahshar. People coming out of their graves.
- p. 131. Tiang `Arsh.
- p. 132. Padang Mawqif, Panju-panju Rasul Allah, Payung Fatimah.
- p. 133. Padang Mawqif, with scales, and scissors, Malik Hambabi, Shafi Hanafi.
- p. 134. Naraka yang tujuh, the seven hells, sungai dalam surga.
- p. 135. Maligai dalam surga.
- p. 136. Pakan dalam surga. Followed by 1 unnmubered leaf.

(10) pp. 137-139. Arabic. Hadith and fiqh notes. Also on circumcision.
(11) pp. 139-141. Malay. Mystical names of the embryo. Notes about the development of the embryo. With small drawings (p. 141).
(12) pp. 142-326. Arabic, Malay. Fasal pada menyatakan Sharh Du`a' `Aqasha dan Fadilatnya. A commentary in Malay, followed by the prayer itself in Arabic. This is followed by more such prayers in Arabic (large script), preceded by the Sharh in Malay (smaller script). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 67. Illuminated double page, and illuminated circles in the margins, containing the names of the prayers. On p. 220 a gadwal, containing elements from surat al-Ikhlas (Qur'an 112). From p. 319 onwards also selections from Qur'anic ayat, to be said as prayer.
(13) p. 326. Malay. On cutting the nails.
(14) pp. 327-501. Arabic. Dala'il al-Khayrat wa-Shawariq al-Anwar by Muhammad b. Sulayman al-Gazuli (d. 870/1465), GAL G II, 252. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 56. Title and author on pp. 328-329. Dated 29 Shawwal 1229 (1814 AD, copied at Bandar Natar, Sumatra (colophon on p. 501). See also the illustrations (Mekka and Medina) on pp. 127-128, above. Double illuminated opening page, smaller illuminations. Sifat al-Rawda begins on p. 349. A detailed view of the mosque in Medina, from a distance, is on p. 352. Between pp. 415-416 are 10 unnumbered pages with notes, unrelated to the Dala'il al-Khayrat.
(15) pp. 501-514. Arabic, Malay. Doa (Arabic and Malay*), Fa'ida pada menyatakan mandi pada bulan Safar* (Malay).
(16) pp. 515-517. Arabic. Notes.
(17) pp. 518-538. Malay. The tale of ten Jewish priests who put questions to the Caliph Umar. Comparable to the text in Or. 1758 (2), below, and similar to the text in Or. 3234 (3), below. See also Voorhoeve, Handlist, pp. 199-200.
(18) pp. 538-559. Malay. Hikayat Fatimah berkata-kata dengan pedang Ali yang bernama Dhulfakar. See also Or. 1953 (9) and 2199 E (3), below.

(19) pp. 560-583. Malay. Hikayat tatkala Nabi Musa munajat kepada bukit Tur Sina. Similar to Or. 1744 (1), above. Dated a Friday at noon in the month of Ramadan (colophon on p. 583), the owner's name Khatib Orang Airangat (p. 583).
(20) pp. 584-592. Arabic/Malay ??. Note of reciting the La ilaha ten thousand times, which protects against the Fire. Illustrated by stories from a work by Yafi`i and from a work by Ahmad Qushashi, entitled al-Kanz al-Makhfi (= Ahmad b. Muhammad b. `Abd al-Nabi al-Daggani al-Madani al-Qushashi (d. 1071/1660), GAL G II, 392).

(26) pp. 648-657. Malay. Doa and amulets (pp. 652-653 blank). Doa aqiqa (p. 649), Kayfiyyat sembahyang haja (p. 650), and other shorter texts, in several different hands.
¶ This manuscript is the so-called prayer book of Imam Bonjol, written in Natal (West coast of Sumatra, cf. text 14). This provenance does not, however, seem to be corroborated by the manuscript itself. It is said with so many words by H.H. Juynboll, Catalogus van de Maleische en Sundaneesche handschriften der Leidsche Universiteits-Bibliotheek. Leiden 1899, p. 310.
See for a survey of the full contents, with reproduction of pp. 107-108, E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts, vol. 1 (Leiden 1998), pp. 111-114. See T. Iskandar, Catalogue (1999), pp. 29-31 (No. 76).
Supposed earlier provenance: Tuangku Imam Bonjol (1796-1864).

Javanese, paper, 4 vols., 363, 361, 405, 381 pp., quadratic kraiton script, written in Surakarta, dated 1267 A.H. and 1778 A.J., i.e. 1850 A.D..
Parta Yagna, poem in macapat verse on four episodes of Parta (Arjuna)'s life as dramatized in the wayang purwa plays: Parta Krama (Arjuna's marriage with Sembadra), Srikandi maguru manah (Arjuna winning Srikandi, contest in archery), Sembadra larung (murder of Sembadra, who is brought to life again by Antareja, Werkodara's chthonic son), and Cekel Endralaya (i.e. Kama Jaya who favours the union of Arjuna and Sembadra). In the last tale Arjuna is killed by Kama Jaya's fire, (but afterwards brought to life again), hence the name Parta Yagna, 'Offering of Parta'. In several tales Burisrawa appears as Arjuna's antagonist, competing with him for Sembadra. The poem has a lengthy introduction mentioning ancient history and the genealogies of the right hand (panengen, the prophets) and the left hand (pangiwa, the gods and the epical heroes). The Manik Maya and Jaya Baya tales are also referred to. The author (or editor) raden rangga Nayadipura seems to be continuing the work of his father on the wayang plays Lokapala and Parta Krama, dated 1245 A.H. and 1757 A.J., i.e. 1829 A.D., and written at the order of the princes Purubaya and Arya Maitaram in the Pijenan period. Ngabehi Sindusastra is mentioned as the author of the genealogies. See Arjuna Sasra Bahu, Or. 1813, below. Cat. Vreede pp. 227-240 has an extensive Dutch epitome and references to older literature. See also Partha Yajna in Or. 5024, below. Or. 6788, below, is a romanized copy, from the collection Pigeaud. Or. 10.660, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, a copy of of which is also kept in BCB 142 I, 142 II., below. See Pigeaud II, pp. 30-31. Notes by G.A.J. Hazeu on this work are in Or. 6310 e, below.

Javanese, paper, 358 pp., dated 1772 A.J., i.e. 1844 A.D., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta.
Bustam, didactic poem in macapat verse, compendium on Islam, Muslim religious law (fiqh), some mysticism and much eschatology. The text ends abruptly. Several Arabic religious textbooks are mentioned as authorities. Cat. Vreede p. 308 has a Dutch epitome. The (corrupt) names of Arabic textbooks are: Masa'il, Mukarar (al-Muharrar), Ibnu Kajar (Ibn Hagar), Makalli (al-Mahalli), further on usul (dogmatics): Semarakandi (al-Samarqandi), Durat (Durrat ...), Bayan Tasdik, Hidayah Juwahir, Adkiya, Sukbah, Tamhidin, Ad-jul Ngabidin, Madinil Maklum, Daka, Insan Kamil. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, pp. 32-33.
(Mal. 68)

Or. 1816
Javanese, paper, 414 pp., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta, dated 1746 A.J., i.e. 1818 A.D.
Kuda Narawangsa, Panji romance in verse. Kuda Narawainsa is the name adopted by Candra Kirana, the Panji's favourite wife, at the time of his marriage with Wadal Kardi, the odious princess of Ngurawan. Cat. Vreede pp. 161-163 has an extensive Dutch summary. The end of the tale seems to be missing. See Poerbatjaraka, "Pandji Verhalen", in KBG 1940. See Pigeaud II, p. 33.
(Mal. 69)

Or. 1817
Javanese, paper, 160 pp., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta.
Yuda Nagara, didactic and moralistic poem in macapat verse, mostly on statecraft. Koja Jajahan, the King of Mesir's servant, is mentioned (p. 52-94). The next passage is called Yuda Nagara (probably the Sanskrit word udaharana, example) in particular. The concluding part of the text is a tale of the travels of adipati Ngawanggi from Java to Malaya (Johor). The troubles in Java at the time of Senapati Mataram's taking over the hegemony from the last Pajang sultan are mentioned as the cause of the travels. The tale ends abruptly. The term Yuda Nagara is also found as the name of a passage beginning p. 43 which is a dialogue of two birds called Arga Suksma and Sura Santa. The idiom of the text seems 18th century North Coast. See Poerbatjaraka, "Kapustakan Djawi", 1952, p. 96, on an old text of the Koja Jajahan poem. Cat. Vreede pp. 291-293 has a Dutch epitome. The connection of this Yuda Nagara text with the Wirata Parwa, mentioned by de Hollander, is not clear. Or. 10.867 A, below, contains a list of initial lines of canitos by J. Soegiarto. See also Or. 1828 (2) and Or. 1865 (3), below. See Pigeaud II, p. 33.

(Mal. 70)

Or. 1818
Javanese, paper, 369 pp., dated 1773 AJ / 1845 AD, quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta, copied by ngabehi Kartapati IV of the Kadipaten.
Kanci1, animal stories in macapat verse. Kancil is the chevrotin (Dutch: dwerghert), the small but gallant hero of the stories. According to C. F. Winter's notes the author was ki rangga Among Sastra, carik kadipaten in the reign of Paku Buwana V (1820-1823). Cat. Vreede pp. 313-314 has references to old editions. See Pigeaud, II, p. 33.
(Mal. 71)

Or. 1819
Javanese, paper, 182 pp., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta, dated 1770 A.J., i.e. 1842 A.D.
Mursada, romance in macapat verse, relating Mursada's quest for a medicine to cure the illness of his step-mother the Queen of Rum, who was a Princess of Malaka. As a child Mursada was (together with his mother) repudiated by his father the King of Rum. He was taken in by poor people, ki and ni Nambi, caught a magic fish with golden scales which became his protector, and had many adventures with beautiful princesses, both spirits and humans, in the course of his quest. The tale ends abruptly. Cat. Vreede pp. 194-196 has a Dutch epitome and references to literature. Or. 4881, below, is a Madurese version, called Morsada, of the same tale (with some differences in the names), continuing it to the end (see Catalogue by Juynboll I, pp. 36-37). Or. 10.618, below, is J. Soegiarto's romanized copy of Or. 1816, a copy of which is also kept in BCB 71. See Pigeaud II, pp. 33-34.

Taju Salatin by Imam Bukari, didactic moralistic poem in macapat verse, in 25 chapters (according to the introduction), examples taken from ancient (Near Eastern) history and literature mostly referring to statecraft and good wordly behaviour. Taju Salatin versions and tales are known in Malay and in other Indonesian languages. Cat. Vreede pp. 297-302 has references to old editions and literature. See also Or. 1828 (3), below. See Pigeaud II, p. 34.
(Mal. 74)

Javanese, paper, 294 pp., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta.
Bayan Budiman, didactic and moralistic poem in macapat verse, examples of adventures and enterprises which end unluckily as a consequence of bad behaviour or bad judgement. The introduction resembles the beginning of the Arabian Nights: the King of Sam desires every night another girl; the vizir offers his daughter; she amuses the King with telling stories. She is called dyah Canitri (also Cantri, as in Or. 4579, below). She begins with the story of Budiman, King of the bayan birds (Malay, parrakeet, Javanese: betet). Budiman has many adventures and tells stories to other personages. In the text several persons known from other tales are mentioned: raden Pekik, son of Gajah Mada, vizir of Majapahit, Gluga, Slusur and Sari, Jugul Muda and Kunitara-Manawa, Udajaya, vizir of Majapahit, and his son. In Or. 1822 the end of the last tale was missing. It has been completed from a manuscript offered to 'Volkslektuur' Batavia, 1930. The vizir's son is called Yudayaka. The origin of the 'Parrot's Book' is Persian, Tuti Nama. In Malay literature it is also known as Hikayat Kojah Maimun. Cat. Vreede pp. 309-313 has an extensive Dutch summary and references to literature. Brandes, 'Iets over het Papegaai-book', TBG 41 (1899), supplies valuable information. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, pp. 34-35.
(Mal. 75)

Or. 1823
Javanese, paper, 454 pp., clear quadratic (though not kraton) script, written in Surakarta, dated A.J. 1771, i.e. A.D. 1843.
Dipa Nagara history in macapat verse, a version of the Regent of Purwareja (Cakra Nagara)'s book (also called buku Kedung Kebo). He fought in the war against Dipa Nagara on the side of the Dutch Government. The idiom is not scholarly Surakarta, but rather commonplace North Coast. Cat. Vreede op. 136-143 has a Dutch epitome, references to literature and collations with the Or. 2163 and Or. 2115, below. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, p. 35.
(Mal. 76)

Javanese, paper, 275 double pp., cursive Cerbon script, dated on the title-page 1843 A.D. and 1258 A.H., and the end of the text: 1772 A.J., i.e. 1844 A.D., copied according to the title-page in Kajene (i.e. Kuninan), copy of a Cerbon text.
Sela Rasa, romance in macapat verse. Tale of four Cempa Princes, sons of King Sek Beren, Selangkara, Sela Cara, Sela Gada and Sela Rasa. At his accession to the throne in succession to his father the eldest drives away his three brothers. Sela Rasa leads them. They are taken in by ki Lubama, whose daughter, ni Rum Sari, gets married to Sela Rasa. The brothers have many adventures with foreign Kings, who are converted to Islam; their daughters are married. Several names of Kings and countries are identical with those found in the Menak Amir Hamza romances. The tale ends with Sela Rasa's death as the head of a numerous family. The idiom and (the spelling show clearly Cerbon peculiarities. The spelling rakah instead of raka is an indication that the a sound was not å, as it is in Central Java. At the end of words the h was not heard (spelling linggi instead of linggih). The spelling atureh is an indication that the e sound was è, as it is in Sundanese. Cat. Vreede pp. 198-200 has an extensive Dutch summary. BCB 217 contains a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto. A list of initial lines of cantos is added. Or. 10.867, below, contains another list of initial lines. See Pigeaud II, p. 35.
(Mal. 77)

Javanese, paper, 306 pp., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta, dated 1735 A.J., i.e. 1808 A.D.
Murta Smara, Panji romance in macapat verse. Tale of the war between the Javanese kingdom, especially Jenggala, and Bali. Panji, appearing as a foreign prince, vanquishes the Bali ruler who proves to be his promised wife Candra Kirana, princess of Kadiri, in disguise. In the final battle Panji has the shape of Smara (Asmara). The Balinese pseudo-King is called Klana Puspita. Panji's brother Braja Nata helps him, disguised as wasi Jaladara. Another brother, Carang Waspa, also called Sujana Sastra, marries ni Kumuda, princess of Ngurawan (Gagelang or Bahuwarna). The theatre of the war is said to be Pasuruhan (Gembol)). The tale ends with the union of Panji and Candra Kirana. Cat. Vreede pp. 163-166 has an extensive Dutch summary. See Poerbatjaraka, "Pandji-Verhalen onderling vergeleken", in KBG 1940. Or. 6751, below, is a romanized copy. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, pp. 35-36.
(Mal. 78)

Or. 1826
Javanese, paper, 53 pp., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta.
Pawukon, wuku chronology and divination, version in prose and in verse. Cat. Vreede p. 366 has references to literature and old editions. The Pawukon texts have been published repeatedly in the Javanese almanacks edited by "Volkslektuur" and by Messrs. Buning, Yogyakarta, about 1920 and later. See Pigeaud II, p. 36.

Or. 1827
Javanese, paper, 192 pp., dated 1739 A.J., i.e. 1812 A.D.
Johar Sah, romance in macapat verse, said to be a tale of a sayid muda of Salsah or Sahalsah, belonging to Arabia. Bahantana Salsah, having succeded to the throne, ousts his younger brother Johar Sah, who, wandering, marries first Sinarah Wulan, the daughter of a poor widow of Madaldah, who took him in. After being separated as a consequence of various circumstances Johar Sah and Sinarah Wulan are reunited, mostly by Sinarah Wulan's energy. She acquires a piece of the bark of the tree tapsir, which can bring the dead back to life. Their enemy the King of Madaldah is vanquished and Johar Sah succeeds his brother. Cat. Vreede pp. 202-205 has an extensive Dutch summary. Or. 10.616, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, another copy of which is also kept in BCB 71. See also Or. 10.345, below, (Krt 10.096, from Lombok). Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, p. 36. See also Or. 4217, below (same text, different names), Cat. Juynboll II, p. 90 has a collation of the two texts.

Or. 1828
Collective volume with texts in Javanese, paper, 99 double pp., probably from the Central North Coast of Java, the script is quadratic Pasisir, dated 1718 A.J., i.e. 1791 A.D, copied by Sumadirana. At the end the date 1720 A.J., i.e. 1793 A.D., probably referring to the whole of the compilation, is found. A colophon written by another hand has the date 1723 A.J. and the name of a scribe Jaya Sularja of Kamagangan in Semarang.
Compilation of didactic and moralistic texts, in macapat verse, containing:
(1) ff. 1-15a. Sewaka, by Yasadipura. Cat. Vreede pp. 285-287 has references to literature and old editions.
(2) ff. 15a-26a. Kojah Jajahan, also found as a passage in Yuda Negara, Or. 1817, above, on statecraft. Mentioned in cat. Vreede p. 293.
(3) ff. 26b-51a. Tanjung Salantin, i.e. Tajul Salatin, tale of Raja Mahmud. Cat. Vreede p. 302 has a comparison of this text with the Mahmud tale in Or. 1821, above. See also Or. 5766, below.
(4) ff. 51b-61a. Niti Surti, cat. Vreede, p. 273. The date A.J. 1720, mentioned by Vreede, belongs at the end of the last text of Or. 1828, Sila Krama. The Niti Surti is immediately followed by:
(5) ff. 61a-67a. A didactic text on religious duties in the metre Wukir Gramya, which is common Dandang Gula, mentioning in the beginning caritaning kiyamat. It is not eschatological, though. Mentioned in cat. Vreede p. 371 separately as cod. 1828 (5).
(6) ff. 67a-70b. Lesson of kyahi Rejasa, on good behaviour and a simple life, in the metre Wuluh Remek, which is common Dandang Gula. Mentioned in cat. Vreede p. 371.
(7) ff. 70b-77b. Asta Praja, on statecraft, with examples taken from epical literature, dated in the 2nd stanza 1680 A.J., i.e. 1754 A.D. (nis murda gajah oyag ing bumi), mentioned in cat. Vreede p. 371. At the bottom of the page the text is called Paniti Sastra, which is inaccurate.

(8a) ff. 84a-94b. Mostly moralistic, beginning with an explanation of sadu, guna, kaya, purun.
(9) ff. 94b-99a. Ni Sila Krama's lessons, given her during a dialogue with her husband, on married life.
Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, pp. 36-37.
(Mal. 81)

Or. 1829
Collective with texts in Javanese and Sundanese, treebark paper (dluang), 165 ff., Central North Coast script, the ms has been in the possession of a raden ayu, wife of a Regent of Semarang.
(1) Kartasura history in verse, beginning about 1703 A.D. until about 1740 A.D., redaction mostly conforming to the Major Babad. Cat. Vreede p. 107 has a Dutch epitome.
(2) 7 pp. On the reverse side Or. 1829 contains a short biography in prose of prince Mangku Nagara I (called in the beginning: panerang adipati satriya Raja Metaram, Amengku Nagara Senapati ingayuda, Lalana Jaya Misesa, Prawira Adiningrat), the founder of the Mangkunagaran princedom in Surakarta, mentioning his warlike deeds up to 1682 A.J., i.e. 1756 A.D.
(3) 7 pp. Also on the reverse side is a short Sundanese story in verse in Javanese (not Sundanese-Javanese) script referring to courtly festivities, at the end called Uran-uran Sunda, by a Regent of Tegal. It is dated in the beginning 1815-1743-1231. Urang-urang Sunda. See Edi S. Ekadjati, Naskah Sunda. Inventarisasi dan Pencatatan. Bandung 1988, p. 401.

Javanese, paper, 183 ff., dated 1773 A.J. and 1844 A.D., Rustic spelling and writing, Central North Coast script cursive. Leather bound volume with flap (Arabic kitab style).
Jaka Sulewah, romance in macapat verse, by kyahi Jakariya of Karang Malang rendered into Javanese verse. Cat. Vreede pp. 186-188 has an extensive Dutch summary. Or. 10.724, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, a copy of which is also kept in BCB 207. Manuscript NBG 152, below (Cat. Juynboll II, p. 80), in Arabic script seems to be older and more detailed. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto.

Contents: Jaka Sulewah, a prince of Purwa Kanda, is born one side black and one side white. For that reason he is, together with his mother, repudiated by his father King Istikna. He is told by the sage of Waringin Jamba that Allah is his father, so he goes in search of Allah. Climbing a tree he falls, dies and in the end is given by Allah a new fair shape. Under the name Surya Kusuma he returns with his companion the robber Bondan Peksa Jandu to his father's kingdom, wins the princess of Sela Arja, defeats many unbelieving Kings, i.a. Manon Bawa of Bojantara, and Ambar Kasturi, his sister, finds his own mother, who was changed into a queen of demons, Sokarini, and exorcises her by means of a weaver's lath (wlira), succeeds his father in Purwa Kanda, and begets a son Jati Swara, who takes Bondan Peksa's son for companion. The text ends with a relation of the young men's adventures.

Or. 1832
Collective volume with texts in Javanese, paper, 253 ff., quadratic kraton script written in Surakarta, dated at the end 1771 A.J., i.e. 1843 A.D.
Compendium of ancient lawbooks in prose, containing:
(1) ff. 1-217a. According to the title: Kuntara Raja Niti, Surya Ngalam, Raja Kapa-kapa, Jugul Muda. The text contains: A. statecraft (ratu-pangulu-jaksa-patih), B. rules of Muslim Law (fiqh), C. rules of common law, decisions in lawsuit (sometimes with references to Undang-undangs of Kings, e.g. Undang-undang Minangkabo. The three component parts are very much mixed up.
(2) ff. 220a-253a. Salokatara by senapati Jimbun, said to be an extract from 1044 cases, brought under 8 heads. It is difficult to find a system in the text. Or. 6203a No. 20a, below, is a copy.
Throughout both texts 1 and 2 are many salokas, i.e. apophthegms of law, which are difficult to explain, are mentioned, and in many cases fines are fixed in terms of (hundreds or thousands of) Chinese cash (coppers with a hole).
Cat. Vreede pp. 339-342 has an extensive Dutch summary. See Pigeaud II, pp. 38-39.

Hall al-Rumuz wa-Mafatih al-Kunuz, by Ibn Ghanim al-Maqdisi (d. 678/1279?), GAL G I, 450. However, in this MS the text is ascribed to Ibn al-`Arabi (d. 638/1240). There exists a printed edition in which the author is identified as Ibn `Abd al-Salam al-Sulami (d. 660/1262), GAL S II, 768. This copy has an interlinear translation in Javanese. It dates from before 1180 AH, as it was then in the possession Sultan Muhammad `Arif Zainul-`Ashiqin khalifat al-Rifa`i wal-Qadiri in Banten (West Java). CCO 2844 (VI, p. 232). Or. 1842 Collective volume with texts in Arabic, Javanese, Dutch paper, 385 ff.
A magmu`a of mystical and ethical works, in a bold Arabic handwriting of calligraphic quality, in the Banten kraton style, all with interlinear translation in Javanese. With several igazat and owner's marks, related to the Banten court in the second half of the 18th century. On f. 1r is an owner's mark of Raden Muhammad Musa, son of Sultan Abu al-Mafakhir Muhammad `Ali al-Din of Banten (reigned 1777-c. 1801), quoted in Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 463. CCO VI, pp. 232-233 (No. 2845). The dates 1168 AH and 1186 AH in the two colophons (ff. 311r and 377v) are probably a mistake. It makes more sense that the same year is given, either 1168 AH or 1186 AH. The manuscript is not in Pigeaud, vol. 2.
(1) ff. 1v-128r. A mystical, parenetical work. Anonymous. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 463, quotes the beginning.
(2) ff. 130v-172r. Wasiyya. Made for Sultan Abu al-Fath Muhammad `Arif Zayn al-`Ashiqin (who is most probably the sultan of Banten, who reigned 1753-1777). The difference between the kunya Abu al-Fath and the kunya Abu al-Nasr can be explained if one realizes that they are in fact synonyms. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 399, for further references.
(3) ff. 173v-246r. A mukhtasar of Gawami` Adab al-Sufiyya by Abu `Abd al-Rahman (Muhammad b. al-Husayn) al-Sulami (d. 421/1021), GAL G I, 201. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 98. Ff. 246v-258r are blank.
(4) ff. 258r-311r. Marghub al-Qulub by Yusuf b. `Abd al-Rahim al-Husayn(i?) al-Rifa`i. On the khirqa, with a silsila of the author via Ahmad al-Rifa`i (his teacher 15 or 16 degrees removed) to the Prophet Muhammad. Colophon on f. 311r: completed on Wednesday 28 Gumada I of the year 1168, with mention of the owner: al-khalifa min ba`d al-khalifa al-Sultan b. al-Sultan Abu al-Nasr Muhammad `Arif Zayn al-`Ashiqin al-Qadir(i) al-`Alwani al-Rifa`i al-Bantani al-Shafi`i. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 194.
(5) ff. 315v-346v. Incomplete copy (beginning not there) of a Rifa`i tract. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 463, quotes the beginning.
(6) ff. 352r-379r. A Qadiriyya tract. Over the beginning (f. 352v) and on ff. 378r-379r there are igazat from Muhammad b. `Ali al-Tabri al-Husayn(i) al-Shafi`i to Sultan Abu al-Nasr Muhammad `Arifin of Banten (reigned 1753-1777). In the colophon (ff. 377r-v) the tract is ascribed to Muhyi al-Din `Abd al-Qadir Gilani, and the date of completion of the copying is given as Tuesday 11 Gumada II of the year 1186.

(7) ff. 378r-379r. Igaza. See previous description.
(8) ff. 379r-382r. Formula of admission into the tariqa. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 463, for further and more detailed references on the last three texts.

Kanda, mythological history of ancient kingdoms in verse, referring to sunan Giri as authority, beginning with creation up to Majapahit, tale of Bandung who builds Candi Sewu and marries the King's daughter, containing Manik Maya and Serat Kanda tales. Cat. Vreede pp. 20-22 has a Dutch epitome and collations with other texts. Or. 6505 (3), below, is a list of initial lines of the cantos. BCB 39 contains a romanized copy. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, pp. 46-47.
(Mal. 145)

Or. 1869
Javanese, paper, 582 pp., quadratic kraton script, written in Surakarta, dated 1772 A.J., i.e.
1844 A.D.
Bale Gala-gala, Pandawa tale, wayang purwa play versified. Cat. Vreede p. 226 refers to H. Kern's paper Eene Indische sage in Javaansch gewaad, Amsterdam 1877 (Verhandelingen der Koninklijke Akademie van Wetenschappen. Afd. Letterkunde, No. 9 [1]), which contains the text and Javanese version of Jatugrhaparvan in the Adiparvan of the Mahabharata, entitled Lalampahan obongabongan bale si Galagala. Also in Kern's Verspreide geschriften vol. 10 (The Hague 1922). According to C. F. Winter's notes the origin of the tale was an Old Javanese work of the Kadiri era. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, p. 47.

(Mal. 146)

Or. 1870
Javanese, paper, 946 pp., dated 1748 A.J., i.e. 1820 A.D., copy of a book made by Panca Senitika for tumenggung Jengrana II of Panaraga (Pancer anom Wringin Petak), written in quadratic kraton script in Surakarta.
Rengganis, Menak Amir Hamza romance in verse. Rengganis, princess of Jamintoran, is the bride of Amir Hamza's son Iman Suwangsa, also called Repotmaja, King of Kelan. Cat. Vreede pp. 65-68 has an extensive Dutch summary. See Poerbatjaraka, 'Menak verhalen' (KBG 1940). Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, p. 47. See also Or. 2164. Cat. Vreede pp. 404-405 has a short collation with Or. 2220, above (Pigeaud II, p. 87). Cat. Juynboll II, p. 23 has a collation with Or. 4829, below.
(Mal. 147)

Or. 1871
Javanese, paper, 3 vols., 429, 432, 414 pp., quadratic kraton script of Surakarta, copies of a manuscript of the Susuhunan's library made for C.F. Winter (1799-1859).
Panji Jaya Lengkara and Angreni romance in verse, dated in the beginning of vol. I (perhaps erroneously) 1678 A.J., i.e. 1752 A.D. and 1246 A.H., i.e. 1830 A.D. The latter date is in accordance with the year of the finishing of the writing of the manuscript given at the end of vol. III: 1759 A.J., 1831 A.D. and 1247 A.H. Cat. Vreede pp. 159-160 has a Dutch epitome. The text contains the Angreni romance and the Bali expedition, like NBS 243, and further, in vol. III, the tale of Bermana Kanda Sekti from oversea and his son Bambang Sutirta who as a false (tiron) Panji tries to possess himself of the real Panji's bride Candra Kirana. The fraud is exposed. The tale of the expedition to Tanite to ask for the hand of the princess is also found in Or. 1871. See Poerbatjaraka, Pandji-verhalen, KBG, 1940. Or. 6752, below, is a romanized copy. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, 47.
(Mal. 148-150)

(Mal. 95)

Or. 1873
Javanese, paper, 30 pp., written in Cerbon script like Or. 1872.

Niti Praja in macapat verse, 52 stanzas. See cat. Vreede p. 284. See Pigeaud II, p. 48.
(Mal. 96)

Or. 1874
Javanese, Dutch, paper, 72 pp., cursive Surakarta script.
Collection of Wayang plays in concise prose with, on the opposite page, Dutch translations:
(1) Sembadra larung.
(2) Pandawa kaobong (the burning of the Pandawas i.e. Bale si Gala-gala).
(3) Setya Bama.
Dutch lists of the names of the personages appearing in the plays are added. In Nos. 1 and 2 Semar and Bagong appear as *panakawan*s. See cat. Vreede p. 256. See Pigeaud II, p. 48.
(Mal. 151)

Or. 1875
Javanese, palmleaf, 32 ff, Balinese script, dated in the Javanese-Balinese colophon Saka 1673, i.e. 1751 A.D., written in Gologor.
Arjuna Wiwaha, Old Javanese poem in Indian metres, See cat. Vreede p. 391 for literature, and Poerbatjaraka's edition with Dutch translation (BKI, vol. 82, 1926). See Pigeaud II, p. 48.
(Lont. 23)

Or. 1876
Javanese, palmleaf, 32 ff., Balinese script, dated in the Javanese-Balinese colophon: Saka (16) 89, i.e. 1767 A.D., written in Sumerta banjar Wanghaya (Bali).
Arjuna Wiwaha, Old Javanese poem in Indian metres. See cat. Vreede p. 391. See also the previous number. See Pigeaud II, p. 48.
(Lont. 24)

Or. 1877
Javanese, palmleaf, 91 ff., rather clumsy Balinese writing.
Incomplete copy of the Ahmad Muhamad romance in macapat verse. Abrupt beginning and ending. Cat. Vreede p. 405 has a Dutch epitome. The tale of Or. 1877 differs from the tale as contained in Or. 1985 I on some points. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, p. 48.
(Lont. 25)

Or. 1878
Javanese, palmleaf , folded, 10 ff., Balinese script.
Fragment of the Ramayana, Old Javanese poem in Indian metres, passage describing Hanuman's fight in Lengka. See cat. Vreede p. 389. See Pigeaud II, p. 48.
(Lont. 20)

Or. 1879
Javanese, Balinese, palmleaf, 71 ff., Balinese script, illustrations, unnumbered leaves in disorder.
Usada, Javanese-Balinese notes on medicine, incantations and divination, magic, with some *rajah*s. Incoherent; the leaves are not numbered. See cat. Juynboll II, p. 252. See Pigeaud II, p. 48.
(Lont. 5)

Or. 1880
Javanese, palmleaf, 70 ff., Balinese script.
Bharata Yuddha, Old Javanese poem in Indian metres. Or. 1880 has a rather elaborate colophon. See cat. Vreede p. 392. See Pigeaud II, p. 49.
(Lont. 6)

Or. 1881
Javanese, palmleaf, 77 ff., Balinese script, leaves partly unnumbered and in disorder.
Incomplete copy of Malat, Panji romance, Javanese-Balinese in tengahan metres, mentioning i.a. the King of Malayu, Gunung Sari, Andaya Prana and Nawang Wulan, Panji's beloved. See cat. Vreede p. 385, and Poerbatjaraka, "Pandji-verhalen", KBG, 1940. See Pigeaud II, p. 49.
(Lont. 7)

Or. 1882
Javanese, palmleaf, 45 ff., written in so-called buda script: quadratic resembling the script of Old Javanese charters (Holle's Tabel no 70 and 71), perhaps 17th cent., kept in a decorated kropak.
Notes on incantations, mantras and magic, divination, pre-Islamic, in prose, rather archaic idiom of (East?) Java. Javanese scholars of the Central Javanese Courts called the script gunung script, i.e. belonging to the uncultured people of the hills. See cat. Vreede p. 400. The wooden box is decorated with a flowery design. See Pigeaud III, p. 22, plate 23, and pp. 57-58 for a reproduction, transliteration and translation of the text on ff. 1a-b. See Pigeaud II, p. 49.
(Lont. 8)

Or. 1883 - Or. 1886
Miscellaneous acquisitions, registered in 1864 or 1865. CCO IV, pp. 40, 114 mentions the provenance of Or. 1885 and Or. 1886 as 'having been transferred in 1864 from Delft to Leiden'. Voorhoeve gives Delft as the provenance of Or. 1883. It is therefore possible that these four manuscripts were indeed part of the Delft collection (Or. 1689 - Or. 1882, above). => autopsy! stempels? nog nazien!

Or. 1883
Batak, treebark, 30 ff., Mandailing Batak script, old-fashioned –na, 14.5 x 10 cm, original covers.
Pustaha, in Mandailing Batak script. Without chain of transmission. The main subject is pitunang, infallible bullets. Other subjects treated are panaor baju, a medicine, and putaran, an amulet against bullets. See Or. 12.322, ff. 508-510. Many Malay words. See P. Voorhoeve, Codices Batacici (Leiden 1977), p. 230.
Provenance: From the Delft Academy, transferred to Leiden in 1864.
(Bat. 155)

Balinese, palmleaf, embat-embatan, 21 ff. (f. 7 is missing)
Geguritan Jayaprana. The story of a young man, Jayaprana, who is educated by the ruler of the country, then marries the beautiful Layon Sari, but who is then treacherously killed by the ruler. In ginada metre. See H.H. Juynboll, Supplement op den Catalogus van de Sundaneesche handschriften en Catalogus van de Balineesche en Sasaksche handschriften der Leidsche Universiteits-Bibliotheek (Leiden 1912), p. 108 (No. 265).

Or. 1885
Arabic, paper, 89 ff., dated 1857 AD.
Fath al-Qarib al-Mugib, by Muhammad Ibn al-Qasim al-Ghazzi (d. 918/1512), a commentary on al-Taqrib fil-Fiqh, or Ghayat al-Ikhtisar, or Mukhtasar fil-Fiqh `ala Madhhab al-Imam al-Shafi`i, by Abu Shuga` al-Isfahani (d. after 500/1106), GAL G I, 392. Copied by Th. Nöldeke (1836-1930) from a copy in the possession of Gustav Weil (1808-1889), which was copied in 1197 AH. This fact makes the Delft provenance of this manuscript unlikely. CCO 1790 (IV, p. 114). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 368.
(Ar. 1172)

Arabic, Javanese/Malay, paper, 141 ff., before 1825 AD.
Vol. 1 only of Tafsir al-Galalayn, by Galal al-Din al-Mahalli (d. 864/1460), GAL G II, 114, and continuated by Galal al-Din al-Suyuti (d. 911/1505), GAL G II, 145. Contains the explanation of sura 1-17. With Javanese glosses. CCO IV, p. 40 (No. 1696) describes the interlinear translation as being Malay. CCO 1696 (IV, p. 40). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 353. See M.N. Sefercioglu, World Bibliography of Translations of the Holy Qur'an in Manuscript Form. Istanbul 2000, p. 82 (No. 142/6).

Or. 1901
Javanese, paper, 46 ff., dated 1263 A.H., 1846 A.D. and 1774 A.J.

Sasmita Wiwara, didactic moralistic poem by Citra Soma VII, Regent of Japara, Central North Coast, lessons on good behaviour given to his children. Originally presented by the author to Mr Roorda van Eysinga. According to an autograph letter of Professor Roorda of Delft, appended to the manuscript, it was in 1868 given to the Leiden University Library by Mr. van den Bergh van Eysinga, who found it among the papers of his father-in-law. The Regent's Javanese letter, written in North Coast literary idiom, with a flowery style, like the poem, is appended. See cat. Vreede p. 373. Or. 10.867 contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. See Pigeaud II, p. 49.
Provenance: Gift from Mr. M.H.Ph. van den Bergh van Eysinga, from the estate of his father-in-law P.P. Roorda van Eysinga (1796-1856), received February 1868. See Or. 1925, below, for the same provenance.

Or. 1904 - Or. 1921
Collection of Indonesian (Javanese and Malay) manuscripts, purchased from the estate of Salomon Keyzer (1823-1868). Salomon Keyzer had since 1850 been professor of Javanese and Indigenous Law in the Royal Academy in Delft. When that institution was closed in 1864, he became director of the newly founded municipal Indian Institute ('Indische Instelling') in Delft. After his demise his manuscripts were purchased by the Leiden library.

Or. 1904
Collective volume with texts in Javanese (Nos. 1b, 1, 2, 3) and Arabic (Nos. 1a, 2a, 4), treebark paper (dluang), 308 pp., Arabic script (pegon).
(1a) 2 pp. Several shorter pieces (prayers) in Arabic. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.

(1b) 6 pp. A short treatise in Javanese about portents. Also a short text in Javanese script.
(1) pp. 1-279. Javanese. Tuhfah, compendium of Muhammadan law (fiqh) ordered in paragraphs (fasal). A Javanese version of a Malay and Arabic original. Ending with a paragraph on butchery and animals. See cat. Vreede, p. 351. Romanized transcript by J. Soegiarto is BCB 218.
(2) p. 280-290. A passage of the Surya Ngalam lawbook with eight *saloka*s, Cat. Vreede p. 317. Romanized transcript by J. Soegiarto is Or. 10.747.
(2a) pp. 291-297. Arabic. Khutba, preceded by a short niyya. Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
(3) pp. 298-302. A Shattariya pedigree of masters. Silsila.
(4) pp. 303-308. Arabic. Several shorter pieces: p. 303: prayer; pp. 304-305. Khutba, preceded by a short niyya formula; pp. 305- Several prayers, introduced by the words punika dua; p. 316. prayer, partly in Javanese, partly in Arabic; p. 322. evening prayer (punika dua malam). Not in Voorhoeve's Handlist.
BCB 218 contains a romanized copy of Or. 1904 (1). A short Dutch survey of the contents of the entire volume, made in October 1949 by J. Soegiarto, is added. Or. 10.747 is J. Soegiarto's romanized copy of Or. 1904 (2). See Pigeaud II, p. 50.
Earlier provenance: At the end of the volume, a note by a former owner (remains unidentified) is pasted in. From this one may understand that the present MS is probably not from Keyzer's estate, but rather from the library of the Delft Academy, where, however, it never was properly registered. Keyzer's own copy of the Tuhfah to which reference is made on this paste-in is probably Or. 1905, below.
[* Mal. 152]

Or. 1905
Javanese, paper, 225 pp., Arabic script (pegon)
Tuhfah, compendium of Muhammadan law (fiqh), ordered in paragraphs, the last one on animals. See cat. Vreede p. 352. See Pigeaud II, p. 50.
Earlier provenance: This is probably the copy of Keyzer himself, to which reference is made in the pasted-in note in Or. 1904, above.
(Mal. 153)

Or. 1906
Javanese, paper, 73 pp., Arabic script (pegon), dated 1263 AH (1864 AD)
Treatise on Muhammadan inheritance law (fiqh, Kitab al-Fara'id), according to the colophon a Javanese version of a Kitab Fath al-Wahhab. See cat. Vreede pp. 352-353. See Pigeaud II, p. 50.
(Mal. 154)

Or. 1907
Javanese, paper, 75 pp. (half written), written in small quadratic (kraton) script of Surakarta, with a Javanese colophon written in Cerbon script mentioning the dates 1606 A.J., i.e. 1681 A.D., and the two Cerbon Sultans Samsudin and Kamarudin.

Cerbon lawbook (Papakem Cerbon). A Dutch epitome of the colophon is added at the beginning. The Dutch Resident of Cerbon, called petor (Portuguese feitor: factor) Tersmitten is mentioned too. Cat. Vreede pp. 354-355 contains some notes on the manuscript. See Pigeaud II, p. 50. Notes in Dutch by (?) J.L. Brandes on this MS in Or. 6589 d, pp. 92-94, below.
(Mal. 155)

Or. 1908
Javanese, Dutch, paper, 79 ff.
Cerbon lawbook (Papakem Cerbon) written in Cerbon script and idiom, on the left page, with an old Dutch translation on the opposite page. The preamble contains the Resolution of April 18, 1768. Cat. Vreede pp. 353-354 has notes on old editions and literature. See also Hazeu's edition (Verh. KBG, vol. 55, 1905). The Cerbon lawbook refers as autorities to the lawbooks Raja Niscaya, Undang-undang Mataram, Jaya Lenkara, Kontara Manawa and Adilulah. Or. 1908 contains an old Dutch list of contents. See Pigeaud II, p. 50.
(Mal. 156)

Or. 1909
Javanese, Malay, paper, 53 ff.
Cerbon lawbook, written in rather archaic script, the Javanese text on the left page, an old vulgar Malay translation on the opposite page, dated at the end: Tangkil 7/III/1827. It seems to be mostly an epitome of the major Cerbon lawbook. In some points there are differences. See cat. Vreede p. 357. See Pigeaud II, pp. 50-51. See also E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts 1 (Leiden 1998), p. 153. Earlier provenance: The MS was once in the possession of Mr Rollin Couquerque, who called it 'Recueil de loix et de coutumes javanais en matière de procédure criminelle'. According to the title-page, he donated the MS to Keyzer.
(Mal. 97)

Or. 1910
Collective volume with texts in Javanese, paper, 69 + 70 pp.
Compilation of Javanese lawbooks (Surya Alam) in prose, copies made personally by S. Keyzer (1823-1868) of manuscripts belonging to the Royal Asiatic Society and the British Museum, London.
- On one side of the volume:
(1) pp. 1-6. A collation of MS Br.Mus. Add. 12.303 (see Ricklefs & Voorhoeve, pp. 47-48) with Roorda's edition of Javanese laws (of Surakarta and Yogyakarta), dated A.J. 1712, i.e. A.D. 1785.
(2) pp. 7-28. A copy of the Surya Alam lawbook, with a Dutch title dated 1812, R.As.Soc. No. 33, cf. Raffles, History of Java, vol. 1, p. 312 and App. C. Note: This information of Pigeaud is erroneous. The present text is a copy of R.A.S., Raffles Java 36 (M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, pp. 82-83).

(3) pp. 29-58. A copy of another Surya Alam text, R.As.Soc. no 43. Note: This reference by Pigeaud is erroneous. It is a copy of R.A.S. Raffles Java 42 (M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, p. 83).
(4). pp. 59-69. A copy of another Surya Alam text, without number, mistakenly called Raja Kapa-kapa, Jugul Muda, Surya Alam, dated at the end A.J. 1741, i.e. 1813 A.D. Note: This is a copy of R.A.S., Raffles Java 6 C (M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, p. 78).
(5) p. 70. An additional page of the Surya Alam.
- On the reverse side of the volume:
(6) pp. 1-20. A copy of a Surya Alam text, Br.Mus. Add. 12.329 (M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, p. 51).
(7) pp. 21-44. Another Surya Alam text, copy of Br.Mus. Add. 12.323 (Not found in Ricklefs & Voorhoeve!).
(8) pp. 45-49. Angger-angger Pradata of Yogyakarta dated 1723 A.J., i.e. 1796 A.D.
(9). pp. 50-68. Treaties of the Yogyakarta and Surakarta Kings on the extension of their lands dated 1706 A.J., i.e. 1780 A.D. and later.
(10). p. ?. A note on the names of airs of Javanese music (*gendin*s), copied from Br.Mus. Add. 12.324. (See M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Oxford 1977, pp. 50-51, but the identification is not certain).
Br. Mus. Add. 12.303 (M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve, Indonesian manuscripts in Great Britain. Oxford 1977, p. 47), may have been originals for Or. 1919 (1, 8, 9).
Cat. Vreede p. 348 has a short Dutch epitome of Or. 1910. See Pigeaud II, p. 51.
(Mal. 157)

Or. 1911
Collective volume with texts in Javanese, and some Malay, treebark paper (dluang), 130 pp., Arabic script (pegon).
Notes, treatise on Muhammadan theology and mysticism.
(1) pp. 1-66. Mentioning in the beginning the opinions of 13 holy men: the pangerans of Bonan, Kali Jaga, Cerbon, Giri Gajah Kadaton, Giri Kadaton, Adilanu, Kudus, Majagung, Lemah Ban, Alas(?), Tembayat, Pali(m)ban(?), Pahus (Pati?).
(2) pp. 67-106. Treatises on napas etc. and on Salat da'im, mentioning `ilmu ildune, i.e. iladuni (secret).
(3). pp. 107-130. Some private family notes and religious notes, partly in Malay (on wujud, syahada, aqida, etc.).

Yusup romance in verse. See cat. Vreede, p. 402. See Pigeaud II, pp. 51-52.
(Lont. 13)

Or. 1913
Javanese, palm leaf, 65 ff., Balinese script.
Singha Langgala Parwa, Old Javanese didactic allegoric poem in Indian metres. Kama Rupini, a Buddhistic princess of Singha Langgala, is desired and attacked by King Caya Purusa and King Laksmi Kirana. See cat. Vreede p. 399. Cat. Juynboll II pp. 169-170 has a short Dutch epitome of a prose redaction of the tale, belonging to the KBG collection (see Poerbatjaraka, in Jaarboek KBG 1933, p. 356). The two Kings are mentioned in the Rangga Lawe (ed. C.C. Berg, in KBG 1930), canto I, stanza 7. Or. 10.517, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto of Or. 1913, another copy of this in BCB 23.
(Lont. 14)

Or. 1914
Collective volume (portfolio, with sheaves) with texts in Arabic, Javanese, Malay, English and Dutch , paper, ff.
(1) Cerbon lawbook (Papakem Cerbon), copy, with a Javanese-Dutch glossary.
(2) Javanese-Dutch glossary (?).
(3) Javanese letters, original contract of the Pasuruhan Regent Nitidiningrat with the Dutch Company (V.O.C.), made at thetime of his appointment in 1800 A.D. With wax seals.
(4) Javanese legends. Prophecy by Iman Sampurna, Surakarta 1819, and legends about localities in the districts of Malang and Pasuruhan.
(5) 20 ff. Kitab al-Wasa'il ila Ma`rifat al-Awa'il, a compendium by Galal al-Din al-Suyuti (d. 911/1505) of Kitab al-Awa'il by Abu Hilal al-Hasan al-`Askari (d. after 395/1005), GAL G I, 126. See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 30, where the text is referred to as Or. 1914 (1). Written by a European scholar, for the greater part provided with collation notes with another manuscript ('Cod. B').
(6 A) Malay, Arabic script, one sheet of paper, scrolled, 90 x 34 cm.
Silsilah Palembang. Genealogy of the rulers of Palembang. MS UBL 1a in M.O. Woelders, Het Sultanaat Palembang 1811-1825. Leiden 1975, pp. 44-45. See E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts, vol. 1, p. 154-155.
(6 B-J) Malay, Arabic script. Several documents, concerning Palembang affairs, and other subjects. See E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts, vol. 1, p. 155-157, where detailed contents are given.
See for texts (1-4) Cat. Vreede pp. 373, 354. See also Pigeaud II, p. 52.
(7) Glossary of the Cerbon Lawbook (Papakem Cerbon).
(8) Sheaf with several documents, apparently all notes by S. Keyzer (1823-1868):
- a. Dutch. Qur'an, sura 99-114, in Dutch translation. This is possibly Keyzer's autograph.
- b. Dutch. 'Leven van Mohammed en de vier apostelen van den Islam'. Possibly from Keyzer's introduction to his translation of the Qur'an.
- c. Arabic and Latin. A list of works on Islamic law 'Libri Canonico Civiles', containing an enumeration of titles in Arabic script of Arabic texts on law, with an explanation in Latin. The list is possibly part of a greater survey, as the items are numbered 634-713 and 852. Some of these titles are provided with their Or.-numbers. Added is a sheaf of papers, with notes taken from texts mentioned in the list, with reference to the Leiden manuscripts:

No. 635 of the list concerns the Leiden MS Or. 101, above.
No. 636 of the list concerns the Leiden MS Or. 220, above, with table of contents.
No. 638 of the list concerns the Leiden MS Or. 238 (1), above, with quotations.
No. 639 of the list concerns the Leiden MS Or. 293, above, with table of contents, and quotations.
No. 640 of the list concerns the Leiden MS Or. 318, above, with quotations.
No. 642 of the list concerns the Leiden MS Or. 373, above, with full table of contents.
No. 643 of the list concerns the Leiden MS Or. 378, above.
(9) Documents concerning slavery. S. Keyzer apparently had an interest in the issue and collected the material and the information.
(9a) Dutch. Property document of a Buginese slave woman, Tjadewa of Tanette, later called Minerva of Tanette, with several transfers of following owners, from a Bugis owner, to two successive Chinese owners, and then to two successive Dutch owners. The transfers take place between May 3, 1809 and July 1, 1810. With signatures, and a stamp, in Chinese. A transcript by J.J. Witkam is <h:\doc\slavin1.doc>.
(9b) Transcripts (by Keyzer?) of English regulations, both concerning slavery and other issues, imposed by the British in the East-Indies. The source of thes transcripts appears to be Proclamations, regulations, advertisements and orders. Printed and published in The island of Java by the British Government and under its authority. Vol. I: From September 1811 to September 1813, both inclusive Batavia, printed by A.H. Hubbard. At the Honorable Company's Printing office. 1813. Vol. II: From September 1813 to September 1815, both inclusive 1816.
(10) List of answers to questions, apparently from the examinations in the Delft Academy. In Dutch.
(11) The former cover of Or. 1914, with description of the contents, in several older and more recent hands (including the hand of Pigeaud).
(Mal. 158) [* partly by autopsy]

Or. 1915

Or. 1922 - Or. 1923
Two Buginese and Makassarese manuscripts, received in March 1869 as a gift of W.R. Baron Van Hoëvell (1812-1879).

Or. 1922
Collective volume with texts in Buginese, large format paper, 97 ff.
Historical texts on Wadjo' and Bone. Added is the draft of an incomplete description in Dutch of the contents of the MS (2 ff.). It is evident from this list that the volume contains historical material on Wadjo' and Bone. It is not clear who made this description.
See on the text on ff. 2-12a, which contains part of the the Chronicle of Wadjo', J. Noorduyn, Een achttiende-eeuwse kroniek van Wadjo'. Buginese historiografie. (The Hague 1955), p. 21 (A1).
On f. 43bis are trial prints of seals with (illegible) text in Arabic script.
[* Mal. 245]

Or. 1923
Collective volume in which several texts in Makassarese, Buginese and English are bound together, paper of different kinds, ff. (unnumbered), apparently originating from the region of Wadjo'. Added is a detailed description of the contents, written in Dutch, by A.A. Cense (1901-1977), dated April 27, 1950, which has been used for the description hereunder.

(1) Makassarese. A letter (with seal with the Qur'anic text 'Tilka Ayat Bayyinat 1181') to the gouvernor concerning a murder case.
(2) Buginese. 30 pp (+ 15 blank pp.). Wadjo'. Transliteration of a Buginese text concerning the oldest history of Wadjo' till the 4th Arong Maton Puang in Ma'galatung (Dutch transliteration system with oe and dj).
(3) Buginese.List of Buginese words, noted down on 11.2.1244 (August 22, 1828) (2 pp.).
(4) Buginese. Sayings of the ancestors about law and justice, numbered 1-79. (34 pp.).
(5) Buginese. Table of contents of the previously mentioned 79 sections (4 pp.).

Or. 1924
Arabic, paper, 104 ff., dated 1257 AH (1841 AD), copied from the autograph.
The part on al-muhlikat from an ethical work by Ibrahim b. al-Husayn b. `Ali al-Faradi al-Qadiri (718/1318), GAL S II, 147. CCO V, p. 256 (No. 2660) gives a survey of the contents. CCO 2660 (V, pp. 256-257). See Voorhoeve, Handlist, p. 448.
Provenance: Gift received in 1869, or shortly after, from Mr. J.F.E. Prince from Gouda, who had found the manuscript in the camp of the emperor Theodorus II of Abessynia (reigned 1855-1868) in Magdala. Mr. Prince had participated in the British punitive expedition to Magdala in 1868. The fragments of a printed work in Ethiopic (6 ff.), which according to CCO V, p. 225, were kept with this MS have been removed in the meantime. Their present whereabouts are unknown. Another manuscript found by Mr. Prince is Or. 2273, below.

Or. 1926 - Or. 1929
Manuscripts transferred in the course of 1870 from the department of Western Manuscripts of the Library to the Legatum Warnerianum.

Or. 1926
Tamil, palm leaf, ff., without the original covers.
Unidentified text.
Formerly Voss. Omn.Gen. 45 in the department of Western Manuscripts. Earlier provenance: Isaac Vossius (1618-1689).
[* Skr. 58]

Or. 1927
Tamil, palm leaf, 126 ff., 1.6-2.4 x 16.8 cm, two holes (one filled with rope, the other with a wooden pin), wooden covers.
A fragment only of Tirukkural, the Tamil classic, being a guide to moral, material, and spiritual prosperity, written by Tiruvalluvar. On the reverse side of each leaf are predictions for the day on which one turns the page.
Formerly Perizon. Oct. 7 in the department of Western Manuscripts. Earlier provenance: Jacobus Perizonius (1651-1715).
[* Skr. 59]

Or. 1928
Javanese, treebark paper (dluang), 83 pp., ancient quadratic Javanese script from the North Coast.
Notes, treatise on Muhammadan theology and mysticism in prose, mentioning as authority Sèk ul-Bari. Edited by B.J.O. Schrieke, Het boek van Bonang. Utrecht 1916, and re-edited and translated by G.W.J. Drewes, The admonitions of Seh Bari. A 16th century Javanese Muslim text attributed to the Saint of Bonan. The Hague 1969 (Bibliotheca Indonesica, No. 4).

Formerly Vulcan. 57 B in the department of Western Manuscripts. Earlier provenance: Bonaventura Vulcanius (1538-1614), who probably acquired it from one of the first Dutch navigators who visited Java at the end of the 16th century. The book is since 1614 in the Leiden library.
See Pigeaud II, p. 52 (description), III, p. 31 (plate 34, illustration of the first page) and III, pp. 70-71 (transliteration and translation of the text on the first page).

Or. 1929 a,b
Chinese, Portuguese, European paper, volume A contains 159 ff, volume B contains 160 ff.
Two almost identical Chinese-Portuguese dictionaries.
Volume A has shorter Portuguese texts, and words and characters are not as neatly written as in volume B.
It is tempting to see a connection between these dictionairies and no 5 on p. 26 of the Golius auction catalogue of 1696: Vocabularium in quo characteres Chinenses Latinis litteris expressi Lusitan. explicantur in fol. charta serica. (Duyvendak, 1936, p. 315).
Formerly BPL 11 C in the department of Western manuscripts. Its previous history is unknown, but to judge by its low number it must have been part of the older manuscript collection of the University Library. It is tempting to see a connection between these dictionairies and no 5 on p. 26 of the Golius auction catalogue of 1696: Vocabularium in quo characteres Chinenses Latinis litteris expressi Lusitan. explicantur in fol. charta serica. (Duyvendak, 1936, p. 315).

Or. 1930 - Or. 1943 (and also Or. 1959)
Manuscripts purchased at the auction of the library of Prof. H.C. Millies (1810-1868), professor of Oriental languages in Utrecht University, and before that employed by the Dutch Bible Society in the Dutch East-Indies. See for succinct biographical details Encyclopædie van Nederlandsch-Indië (2e druk), II, pp. 729-730, and the references there. His library was auctioned off shortly after his death. See the catalogue: Catalogue de la bibliothèque délaissée par feu M. le Dr. H.C. Millies. Vente 7 mai 1870 (Utrecht, Beijers, 1870, 262 pp.) [UBL: 752 E 16, partly annotated with prices], which is, with its 4361 titles and 68 objects, a witness of Millies' wide and varied interests. In the auction catalogue there are some manuscript materials mixed with the majority of the printed books. Several of these were purchased by the Library of Leiden University and were then registered as Or. 1930-1943, 1959 ('Journaal', p. 43). At the end of the auction catalogue there are three pages with objects from Borneo, which were also sold. In 1905 the Leiden Library purchased another collection of manuscripts from Millies' estate, not in auction but from a descendant of Millies. These are registered as Or. 4996 - Or. 5011. A Buginese manuscript was purchased at the auction by G.K. Niemann (1823-1905), and came later to the Leiden library (Or. 5450, below). A western manuscript purchased at the Beijers auction in 1870 is BPL 969 (three letters and additional materials, including the well-known engraving, on the Chinese massacre in Batavia in 1740), where there is, interestingly enough also a connection with David van Royen, secretary of the town of Leiden and also secretary of the University.

Turkish, paper, 4, 61 pp.
French Itinerary of the Turkish envoy Muhammad Efendi, made in 1142/1730. The Turkish text is preceded by a geographical index, in a European hand, with explanations in Italian. CCO 2602 (V, p. 191), as supplement to CCO 745 (II, p. 141). In CCO 2602 (V, p. 191), the provenance of the manuscript is described as being a gift of Mr. T. Lycklama à Nyeholt. In the MS itself there is no clue to either provenance, Millies nor Lycklama à Nyeholt. There is, however, a pasted-in fly-leaf at the front board, which seems to be a letter cover with a red wax-seal, and on the inside of which the addressee can be read as Mr. Arthur Browne, merchant in Aleppo.

Malay, paper, 273 pp., dated Rijswijk (Batavia) September 3, 1825.
Syair Bidasari. H.H. Juynboll, Catalogus (1899), p. 2, refers to this manuscript as MS C of the edition by W.R. van Hoëvell, 'Sjaïr Bidasari, een oorspronkelijk Maleisch gedicht, uitgegeven en van eene Vertaling en Aanteekeningen voorzien'. In Verhandelingen van het Bataviaasch Genootschap 19 (1843). See E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts, vol. 1 (Leiden 1998), p. 191, copies this note, with a correction of the date of copying as given by Juynboll, and leaves it at that. However, the divergence in the data of the two colophons, to which my attention was drawn by Mr. Julian Millie of Monash University, makes it impossible that MS Or. 1964 is indeed MS C of Van Hoëvell's edition. In the Van Hoëvell edition the colophon of MS C is given on pp. xxvi-xxvii. It contains dates in two eras: 8 January 1825 and Gumada I 1240. The colophon mentions as place: 'Kantor Sekretari Gubernemen'. Or. 1964 has an entirely different colophon. On p. 273 it gives as date of copying 3 September 1825, as place of copying the General Secretariat in Rijswijk (Batavia) and mentions the name of the copyist: Muhammad Cing Sa`idullah. The identification of the Leiden MS with Van Hoëvell's MS C is done by Juynboll, who quotes on p. 2 of his catalogue the colophon. However, he does not quote the colophon as it appears in the MS, but as it is given by Van Hoëvell on p. xxvii of his introduction! To compound matters even more, the textual differences between 'MS C' of the edition and MS Or. 1964 are very small. All this conflicting evidence can only be reconciled if one postulates that Or. 1964 is either a direct copy of Van Hoëvell's MS C, made by Muhammad Cing Sa`idullah later in the same year (1825), or a direct copy of the exemplar of the Van Hoëvell MS. The only question that remains unanswered, if one accepts either postulate, is: where is MS C of the Van Hoëvell edition now?

(Mal. 183-184)

Or. 1977
Collective volume with texts in Malay, Arabic and Javanese, paper, 271 pp, Arabic script, divinatory drawings and tables.

The description made by E.P. Wieringa, Catalogue of Malay and Minangkabau manuscripts, vol. 1 (Leiden 1998), pp. 205-206, is mostly followed here. For most (but not all) of the Arabic texts reference is made to Voorhoeve's Handlist. For the Javanese texts reference is made to Pigeaud's descriptions (II, p. 53). These cannot easily be combined with Wieringa's descriptions. The present description of the contents of this volume could only be completed by autopsy with the manuscript. This resulted in a more subtle division of the volume, than any of my predecessors had made. In order to keep the arrangement of texts compatible with previous divisions, the texts that have not been described in earlier catalogues are provided here with an additional letter.
(1) pp. 1-5. Several Javanese notes, also on medicine (tetamba).

PREFACE

The arrangement of the present volume of the Inventories of Oriental manuscripts in Leiden University Library does not differ in any specific way from the volumes which have been published earlier. For the sake of brevity I refer to my prefaces in those volumes. A few essentials my be repeated here.

Not all manuscripts mentioned in the present volume were viewed by autopsy (but quite a number was indeed inspected). The sheer number of manuscripts makes this impossible. At a later stage this may be achieved, but trying to achieve this at the present stage of inventorizing would seriously hamper the progress of the present project. When a manuscript was not inspected this can be seen from a simple typographical device. Whenever the indication of the shelf-mark is put between round brackets, I have not, or not extensively or sufficiently, inspected the manuscript, and its entry in the inventory is based mostly or entirely on secondary sources, be they published or not. These have, of course, always been indicated. When the shelf-mark is put between square brackets and preceded by an asterisk, this means that I have had the manuscript in my hands, at least once but probably more often, and that the description contains elements that can only be seen in the original manuscript. Such autopsy does not mean that I am, automatically, the author of all information given under that particular class-mark.

The basic elements for each entry of the present inventory are: 1. class-mark, 2. language(s), 3. details of physical description, 4. survey of the contents, 5. provenance, 6. location on the shelf. Depending on the nature of the material, exceptions and divergences are made from this strict arrangement. The collective provenance of a series of manuscripts may be concentrated into a short text, preceding that series, without being repeated under each class-mark.

I am aware of the fact that references of some recently published catalogues, in particular volume 2 of the Catalogue of Turkish manuscripts by Jan Schmidt (Leiden 2002), have not yet been added to the descriptions in the present volume. This will be done in an updated version, in the near future. Then there will be ample occasion to give answers to the question marks which are now still in the text. However, the fact that the present list has been for nearly complete for quite a while made me decide to put it at the disposal of the public without further delay.

I end with an important note. Although the inventories which I am publishing here contain descriptions of public and private collections, which will no doubt profit of the existence of electronic versions of my work, none of my inventories has ever been made at the express insistence or by the specific demand of these institutions. The idea to compile such inventories, the invention of their structure, the acquisition of the necessary information from a multitude of primary and secondary sources, the way of publishing, all this is my idea and my work alone. It is therefore my sole property and I assert the moral right of the authorship of form and content of these inventories, with reference, of course, to what I have said elsewhere about the method of compilation.

INVENTORY OF THE ORIENTAL MANUSCRIPTS
OF THE LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LEIDEN

VOLUME 3

MANUSCRIPTS OR. 2001 – OR. 3000

REGISTERED IN LEIDEN UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
IN THE PERIOD BETWEEN 1871 AND 1883

Sequel to the Collection of the Rijks-Instelling in Leiden (Or. 1953 - Or. 2055)

With a few exceptions (Or. 1959), this collection of manuscripts in Javanese, Malay and other languages, has been transferred to the University Library in or around 1871, from the 'Rijks-Instelling tot Opleiding van Indische Ambtenaren' in Leiden. Previously they had been in the possession of A.D. Cornets de Groot (1804-1829).

Or. 2001

Javanese, paper, 85 pp., Javanese (Cerebon) script.
Incomplete copy of Jaran Sari Jaran Purnama, historical romance in verse, tale of two rival brothers from Sukadana, afterwards Blambangan, fostered by Gajah Bango. Purnama tries to cheat Sari, who had killed a demon Lembu Andana, appearing in the shape of a mliwis duck, but he is exposed in the end. Jaran Sari, i.e. Jaka Grenten, becomes King of Majapahit. Cat. Vreede p. 185 has a Dutch epitome. See also Brandes (Notulen KBG, vol. 31, 1893, pp. 43-45) on this romance. Or. 2001 is clumsily written in Cerbon spelling, idiom and script. Pigeaud II, p. 56.
(Mal. 104)

Or 2002

Javanese, paper, 179 pp., Javanese script (rather antique, quadratic, North Coast).
Fragmentary copy of Anbiya. History of the prophets, in verse, beginning with creation up to Musa, i.e. Moses. Cat. Vreede p. 24 has a short Dutch epitome. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, pp. 56-57.
(Mal. 105)

Or. 2003

Collective volume with texts in Javanese, treebark paper (dluang), 317 pp., Javanese script (rather ancient large cursive script of Central Java).
*Suluk*s and treatises in verse on theology and mysticism, etc. Cat. Vreede pp. 317, 374, 15, 270, 147 has a Dutch short epitome. Or. 10.678, below, is a romanized copy by J. Soegiarto, another copy of which is BCB 161. A concise Dutch epitome by J. Soegiarto is added. The texts are:
(1) pp. ?-?. Bayan Mani (fragmentary).
(2) pp. 3-12. Johar Mungkim.

(3) pp. 12-35. Mani Arki, mentioning Bayan Maot.
(4) pp. 35-54. Explanations of Arabic terms.
(5) pp. 55-98. Kadis Kudusi, on soul and body and death (Karun wa Nakirun).
(6) pp. 98-126. Muhammad's death-bed, his navel kissed by a disciple.
(7) pp. 127-212. Samud's 1000 questions, incomplete.
(8) pp. 214-246. Jaya Baya prophecies and *pralambang*s, cryptic sentences, the ajar's dishes, Kitab Musarrar, Rum.
(9) pp. 247-254. Kekaplok, moralistic lesson of ki gede Sesela, Papali.
(10) pp. 255-299. Lessons on statecraft, allegoric, beginning with `Abdul Asma Ibnu Napsi, also called raden Ma`rifat, mentioning the country Bahrul Nafsi.
(11) pp. 291-294. A short Babad sangkala beginning with Ratu Baka (year 1001) up to Surakarta, called Salakerta, with a family date in 1797 A.D, in prose.
(12) pp. 296-315. Lessons on mysticism of two pandita's on the salat, and musawaratan, discussions of the *wali*s, in verse.
(13) pp. ???-???. Finally notes on divination.
Pigeaud II, p. 57.

Collective volume with texts in Javanese, paper, 21 ff., East-Javanese script.
Local historical legends from Pasuruhan, Surabaya, in prose, written by a clerk of the Regent of Malang in East Javanese script, idiom and spelling.
(1) Story about a man attacked by a tiger;
(2) Dampu Awang's boat: mount Prahu (Bangil district), and juragan Padati's cart: Karang Kebo, in sea, near Gresik.
(3) Putri Jajawi, Bangil district, desired by Kebo Suwayuwa of Bangbangan.
(4) Menak Supetak, son of Putri Tumpang and a dog who fetched her weaver's shuttle. He founded Kuta Saketi or Pasuruhan, with assistance of Blambangan people, was succeeded by his son adipati Dengkol, who had a daughter, Dewut, from a female dog. Putri Dewut killed herself for shame. After Denkol's death Pasuruhan went to ruin and was called Kita Bedah.

(5) Belahan, residence of Wandan Sari, demon queen of Bra Wijaya of Majapahit, and mother of Jaka Unduran, who afterwards was called Jaka Dilah by his father the King. His foster-mother was given a candi in Derma.
(6) Ki Supa the smith: beginning in Sanggariti, he went to Blambangan to reclaim the Majapahit King's criss Jong Biru, calling at many places on the way.
(7) Gribik, formerly Ngibik, in the Sengguruh district, converted to Islam by sèh Menganti, an uncle (paman) of the sunan wali of Giri.
(8) Local history of the *adipati*s Wiranagara and Miayakusuma of Malang and Selagah, buried in Gribik.
(9) Local history of the *kyahi*s of Sukun, Malang.
(10) Bedali plain, battle-field of the war of the Singasari king against a Balinese invader, Klana Rengga Puspita. The Balinese were defeated by Panji Wimodra Murtasmara of Ngurawan.
(11) Local history of Sengguruh; the kyahi sheltered the last Majapahit grand-vizir fleeing from the Demak forces. The kyahi's son afterwards submitted to the Demak Sultan, but the vizir's son, Rangga Pramana, held out in Gadang and Supit Urang for some time till he was defeated by an expedition. He disappeared on mount Burin.
(12) Legend of the Jago temple: a demon bird which ruined the work of the maker Batara Suging Adi Luwih was attacked by mice climbing the bamboo on which it perched.

Or. 2037
Collective volume with texts in Javanese, paper, 37 ff., Javanese script.
(1) ff. 1-31a. Moralistic religious lessons in prose (supposedly) given by suhunan Kali Jaga in order to restore the peace between sultan Pajan, and ki gede Pamanahan with his son Sutawijaya Lor-ing-Pasar, containing several passages borrowed from the Bible, even from Gospel, mentioning the prophets and concluding with an adhortation to study Niti Sruti, Sewaka and Niti Praja.
(2) ff. 31a-36a. Niti Sruti, in verse.
(3) ff. 36a-38a. Sewaka, in verse. The ending is abrupt. Evidently the author of the MS was influenced by Christianity. The writing is rather clumsy, perhaps the MS was not written by a native-born Javanese. Cat. Vreede p. 106 calls the text erroneously a babad.

Or. 2041
Javanese, with Malay, treebark paper (dluang), 385 pp., damaged, (Central) Javanese and Arabic scripts, illustrations.
History of Javanese kingdoms in verse, beginning with Aji Saka, Banjaran Sari, Bandung, down to the Demak history and Jaka Tingkir. Beginning and end are missing. In the middle of the book more than 100 pp. are written in Arabic script (but the pages are ordered in the Javanese way). The Javanese spelling uses under-written aksaras in cases where the normal spelling does not. The script and the idiom are Central Javanese. At the end some notes with figures referring to divination (courtyard with pendapa and omah buri in the centre) are added. Cat. Vreede p. 22-23 has a short Dutch epitome. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 62.

It is likely that this MS and MS Manchester, JRUL Javanese 1, are part of one and the same manuscript. The note in Malay in the Leiden MS (see cat. Vreede, p. 22) and the Manchester manuscript (cat. M.C. Ricklefs & P. Voorhoeve (1977), p. 73 is a proof in that direction. The similarity of material, size and execution corroborate this assumption.

Book of Notes and fragments, containing :
(1) 34 pp. Menak Amir Hamza tale, fragmentary (beginning and end are missing). See cat. Vreede p. 62.
(2) 24 pp. Parama Sastra kawi, in prose, according to the 18th century Central Javanese tradition, beginning with aksara sandi sutra.

(3) 11 pp. Candra Sankala.
(4) 40 pp. Dasa Nama: short paragraphs containing synonymous Javanese words, both kawi and modern.
(5) 74 pp. Katuranggan, especially medicines of horse, with *rajah*s.
(6) 5 pp. Notes on palintangan, Arabic divination.
The texts are mentioned in Cat. Vreede, p. 375. Pigeaud II, p. 64.
(Mal. 182)

Or. 2050
Javanese, paper, 317 ff., Javanese script, written in Magelang, Central Java, dated 1764 A.J., i.e. 1836 A.D. According to the colophon the scribe was raden Mangkuprawira. Fine copy written in a rather antique quadratic script (Yogyakarta).
Taju Salatin in verse. See Cat. Vreede p. 301. Pigeaud II, p. 64
(Mal. 110)

Or. 2051
Collective volume with texts in Javanese, paper, 141 ff, 124 pp., written in large quadratic script, resembling so-called kraton script.
(1) 141 pp. Maknawi book, in verse, containing moralistic Muhammadan tales, beginning with an Iskandar tale, ending with suluk-like passages: questions of Raja Maleka put before Ngabdul Ngalim. This major text of the MS is dated 1749 A.J., i.e. 1821 A.D
(2) 124 pp. The Nawawi in verse, dated 1754 A.J., i.e. 1826 A.D. It is written in the same kind of script, but (towards the end) smaller.
Cat. Vreede p. 306 has a Dutch epitome and collations with other texts, mentioning a passage on iman Sapingi and pirasat (physiognomy). Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 64
(Mal. 240)

Or. 2052
Javanese, paper, 189 ff., fine West Javanese script, severely damaged.
Archives of the Banten Sultanate, census of the population. Royal servants and dependants, all mentioned by name, in total (mentioned at the end): 31.848 men of Surasowan. The census was held by order of Sultan Abdul Mahasin Muhammad Jenul Ngabidin in 1620 A.J., i.e. 1696 A.D. under supervision of pangeran Natawijaya (colophon). The MS is written in fine West Javanese script, idiom and spelling. It contains much useful information on the state of the Banten Sultanate in the 17th century. Or. 2055, below, and Or. 7709, below, are similar texts. Or. 5625 - 5628, below, with copy Or. 7740, below, Register of the Banten supreme judge's court, and the 'Resumé van het onderzoek naar de regten van den inlander op den grond in de Residentie Bantam', Batavia 1871, are also to be mentioned in this connection. See Pigeaud II, pp. 64-65. See the facsimile in Pigeaud III, plate 32, and Pigeaud III, p. 68, for the transcript and transliteration.

episode. Cat. Vreede p. 61 has a short Dutch epitome and collations with other texts. Pigeaud II, p. 65.
(Mal. 242)

Or. 2054
Javanese, treebark paper (dluang), 410 pp., The script is partly large quadratic, resembling so-called kraton script, partly large cursive Surakarta, damaged.
Rama epic, kawi miring, in (quasi) Old Javanese metres. Cat. Vreede p. 7 has a collation with other texts; the texts of Or. 1791, above, and the present MS have much in common. Or. 10.867, below, contains a list of initial lines of cantos by J. Soegiarto. Pigeaud II, p. 65.
(Mal. 243)

Or. 2055
Javanese, paper, 323 ff., fine West Javanese script.
Archives of the Banten Sultanate, census of the population. Royal servants and dependants, all mentioned by name, in total (mentioned at the end): 36.302 men. No date. A loose note contains references to events in 1120 A.H., i.e. 1708 A.D. and 1639 A.J., i.e. 1715 A.D. Evidently this manuscript is of a later date than Or. 2052, above. They are arranged approximately in the same manner. Written in fine West Javanese script, idiom and spelling. Pigeaud II, p. 65.
¶ Or. 2052, Or. 2055, Or. 7709, are similar texts, with population registers. Or. 5625, Or. 5626, Or. 5627 and Or. 5628 (with their copy Or. 7740), Register of the Banten supreme judge's court, and the 'Resumé van het onderzoek naar de regten van den inlander op den grond in de Residentie Bantam', Batavia 1871, are also to be mentioned in this connection.

Or. 2056
Pali, palm leaf, 4 ff., Sinhalese script.
A fragment of a Pali grammar.
Provenance: Gift of Professor L.W.E. Rauwenhoff (1828-1889), received in 1871 or 1872.
(in: Skr. 54)

Or. 2057
Javanese, palmleaf, 3 ff., Balinese script, letters not blackened.
Incantations against smallpox, called pangeling wisada kacacar, Javanese-Balinese medicines (usada). Cat. Juynboll II, p. 382 refers to texts on medicine. Pigeaud II, p. 65.

Provenance: Presented to the Library by Mr Modderman, about 1872. The 'Journaal' gives no initials an therefore he is difficult to identify. Could this manuscript come from the estate of the littérateur Antonius Modderman (1793-1871) and have been presented after his demise to the Leiden library?

Collection of manuscripts in several different languages, which was transferred in September 1873 from the Royal Library to Leiden University Library. Recently (June 22, 1999), Mrs. H.F. Peeters of the Special Collections department in the Royal Library in The Hague kindly provided more detailed information on earlier provenances of most of the manuscripts, based on the archives of the Royal Library. That information has been incorporated in the here following survey. Generally speaking, the reason why transfer from The Hague to Leiden took place, was the consideration, from the part of the Royal Librarian, that these Oriental manuscripts, which had been present for quite a while in the Royal Library, were considered there as not more than curiosities, and that they would be better used when transferred to Leiden. When M.J. de Goeje (1836-1909) enquired for the compilation of volume V of the CCO after the presence of Oriental manuscript materials in the Royal Library, it was decided that the moment of transfer had come. With ministerial consent the manuscripts were then transferred to Leiden (see Mr. Campbell's letter to M.J. de Goeje of September 7, 1873, as Appendix II A in A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (1977), p. 24. They have been first described by M.J. de Goeje in CCO V (Leiden 1873), pp. 319-328 (Or. 2065-2092) and H.H. Juynboll, Catalogus van de Maleische en Sundaneesche handschriften (Leiden 1899), p. 31 (Or. 2093). A letter to De Goeje by M.F.A.G. Campbell, dated October 24, 1873, contains some additional information on the earlier provenance of the manuscripts (text published as appendix II B by A. van der Heide, Hebrew manuscripts (1977), p. 25). The original of the letter seems to be kept in the archive of the Legatum Warnerianum, but could not be found in 1999.
